FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE TO MEET SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS OF EDUCATIONALLY DEPRIVED CHILDREN

Comparability of Services

Pursuant to the authority contained in section 141(a)(3) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, section 109, 84 Stat. 124, 20 U.S.C. 241e(a)(3), the Commissioner of Education, with the approval of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, proposes to revise § 116.26 of Part 116 of Title 45 of the Code of Federal Regulations as set forth below.

The proposed revision would effect the following changes in the regulations implementing the comparability requirement in title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act:

(a) The three staff ratios (§ 116.26(c)(1), (2), and (3) of the present regulations) would be superseded by a single ratio of the number of instructional staff to the total number of instructional staff members. The three separate ratios by which comparability is currently determined tend to restrict local educational agencies to conventional staffing patterns which are not necessarily the most effective for schools serving children from low-income areas.

(b) The requirement to collect and report data on the expenditure per pupil for other instructional costs (textbooks, materials, etc., § 116.26(c)(5) of the present regulations), would be deleted from the criteria for determining comparability, except for those local educational agencies which fail to meet one or more of the other indicators of comparability. However, all applicants would be required to provide an assurance that such materials are being distributed on a comparable basis.

(c) Under the proposed regulation, school districts would be required to collect data for comparability determinations as of a particular date (to be specified annually by the Commissioner) in the fall of each school year and to report that data to the State educational agency by mid-year. The use of such data on an annual basis would eliminate the necessity of using obsolete data from the second preceding fiscal year.

(d) The term "corresponding grade levels" has been defined.

(e) Provision has been made for the separate comparison of schools enrolling 100 students or less.

(f) Local educational agencies would be required to maintain and have readily available the records from which the required comparability data were obtained.

Additional comparability regulations affecting school districts serving substantial numbers of migratory children of migratory agricultural workers will be proposed in the near future as part of a comprehensive set of regulations for the program for migratory children under section 141(c) of the Act.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Interested persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections pertaining to this proposal may present their views in writing to the U.S. Commissioner of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, 400 Maryland Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20202, on or before April 20, 1973. Comments may be inspected in Room 3642, Seventh and D Streets SW., Washington, D.C., between 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Dated: February 20, 1973.

JOHN OTTINA,
Acting U.S. Commissioner of Education.

Approved: March 13, 1973.

CASPAR W. WEINBERGER,
Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Section 116.26 is revised to read as follows:

§ 116.26 Comparability of services.

(a) A State educational agency shall not approve an application of a local educational agency for a grant under section 141(a) of the Act, or make payments of title I funds under a previously approved application of such agency, unless that local educational agency has demonstrated, in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section, that services provided with State and local funds in title I project areas are at least comparable to the services being provided with State and local funds in schools serving attendance areas not designated as title I project areas. Such approval shall not be given unless the local educational agency also provides the assurance and the additional information required by paragraph (d) of this section with respect to the maintenance of comparability. For the purpose of this section, State and local funds include those funds used in the determination of fiscal effort in accordance with § 116.45.

(b) The State educational agency shall require each local educational agency, except as provided in paragraph (g) of this section, to submit a report in such form as the Commissioner will prescribe, containing the information required by the State educational agency to make the determinations specified in paragraph (c) of this section. Such report shall include the following data for each public school serving a project area and, on a combined basis, for all other schools of corresponding grade levels (as grouped in accordance with paragraph (e) of this section):

(1) The number of children enrolled,

(2) The full-time equivalent number of certified and noncertified instructional staff members who are paid with State or local funds, assigned to such public school or schools,

(3) The total portion of salaries for such instructional staff members which is based on length of service (longevity),

(4) The total amount of State and local funds being expended on an annual basis for salaries for such instructional staff members less the amount of such salaries based on length of service (longevity),

(5) The number of enrolled children as reported under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph per instructional staff member as reported under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph,

(6) The amount expended per enrolled child for salaries for instructional staff as reported under paragraph (b)(4) of this section.

The data required by this paragraph shall be current data as of a date specified annually by the Commissioner. Such data will be no later than April 15 for fiscal year 1973 and no later than November 1 of each succeeding fiscal year. Such reports shall be filed with the State educational agency not later than May 15 of fiscal year 1973 and not later than December 1 of each succeeding fiscal year. All data reported to the State educational agency in accordance with this paragraph shall be as of the same date. The term "instructional staff members" as used in this section means staff members who render direct and personal services which are in the nature of teaching or the improvement of the teaching-learning situation. The term includes teachers, principals, consultants, or supervisors of instruction, librarians, and guidance and psychological personnel; it also includes aides or other paraprofessional personnel employed to assist such instructional staff members in providing such services.

(c) The services being provided by the local educational agency with State and local funds in a title I project area shall be deemed to be comparable to the services being provided with such funds in areas not being served under said title I upon the determination by the State educational agency that for schools serving corresponding grade levels:

(1) The number of children enrolled per instructional staff member reported in accordance with paragraph (b)(5) of this section for each public school serving a title I project area is not more than 105 percent of the average number of children per instructional member in all other public schools in the applicant's district;

(2) The annual expenditure per child determined in accordance with paragraph (b)(6) of this section in each public school serving a title I project area is not less than 95 percent of such expenditure per child in all other public schools in the applicant's district;

(3) Such local educational agency has provided an assurance that the expenditure per child for textbooks, library resources, instructional equipment, supplies, and other instructional materials actually available for use in each school serving a title I project area, for the fiscal year for which the report specified in paragraph (b) of this section is filed, will be at least comparable to such expenditure per child during such fiscal year in all other public schools in the applicant's district. In addition, a local educational agency which fails to meet the requirements of either paragraph (c)(1) or (2) of this section shall include in the report required by paragraph (b) of this section a seventh category, which shall be the amount expended per enrolled child (in the most recent school year for which such data are available) for textbooks, library resources, instructional equipment, supplies, and other instructional materials.

If any school serving a title I project area is deemed not to be comparable under this paragraph, no further payments of title I funds shall be made to the local educational agency until that agency has demonstrated that it has taken sufficient action to overcome such lack of comparability.

(d) On or before July 1, 1973, and July 1 of each succeeding year each local educational agency shall file with the State educational agency:

(1) An assurance that the comparability of services previously demonstrated with respect to title I project areas in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section will be maintained in all such areas including areas serving migratory children of migratory agricultural workers, that will be designated as title I project areas for the fiscal year beginning that July 1, and

(2) Data on schools serving attendance areas, if any, that will be designated for title I projects for the fiscal year beginning that July 1 but were not designated for such projects in the preceding fiscal year. Such data shall show either that such schools would have been comparable during the preceding fiscal year if those areas had been designated for projects or will, as the result of specific action by the local educational agency, be comparable during the fiscal year beginning that July 1.

(e) For purposes of this section a local educational agency shall group its schools by corresponding grade levels not to exceed three such groups (generally designated as elementary, intermediate or junior high school, and high school or secondary) for all the schools in the agency's district. A school serving grades in two or three such groups shall be included in that group with which it has the greatest number of grades in common. Where the number of grades in common are equal between two or more groups, the school shall be included in the lower grade division. For example, a local educational agency might have the following grade span organization: K-6 (elementary), 7-9 (junior high), and 10-12 (senior high). In addition, the local educational agency might have an intermediate school serving grades 5-8. Since this intermediate school has two grades in common with the elementary division (grades 5 and 6) and two grades in common with the junior high division (grades 7 and 8), it would be included in the lower grade division (elementary) for determining comparability.

(f) A school with an enrollment of 100 children or less (as of the date or dates the data required by paragraph (b) of this section are collected) shall not be included for purposes of this section unless the local educational agency operates schools of such size with corresponding grade levels both for areas to be served and areas not to be served under title I of the Act, in which event such schools shall be considered as a separate group.

(g) The requirements of this section are not applicable to a local educational agency which is operating only one school serving children at the grade levels at which services under said title I are to be provided or which has designated the whole of the school district as a project area in accordance with § 116.17(d).

(h) Local educational agencies required to report under this section shall maintain, by individual schools (1) appropriate resource records, including records of children's enrollment, the total expenditure for salary and the amount thereof based solely on longevity for each full-time instructional staff member and the prorated total salary less the amount thereof based solely on longevity for each part-time instructional staff member; (2) worksheets showing the total number of full-time instructional staff members, and the total amount of State and local funds being expended for salaries for such full-time and part-time staff members less the total amount of such salaries based solely on longevity; and (3) appropriate records documenting the amount expended per pupil during the year for textbooks, library resources, instructional equipment, supplies, and other instructional materials. Such records and worksheets, demonstrating the maintenance of comparability for the entire school year, shall be filed, indexed, and maintained in such a manner that they may be readily reviewed by appropriate local, State, and Federal authorities and shall be retained in accordance with applicable record retention requirements.

(i) By January 1 of each year the State educational agency shall submit to the Commissioner in such form as he will prescribe a copy of the comparability report for each local educational agency in the State which he has determined to be in a national sample of such agencies for that year. The State educational agency shall also submit to the Commissioner by January 1 of each year a report identifying each local educational agency that failed to meet the comparability requirement of paragraph (c) of this section on the date specified by paragraph (b) of this section and indicating for each such agency either (a) that such local educational agency has allocated or reallocated sufficient additional resources to title I project areas so as to come into compliance with such requirements and has filed a revised comparability report reflecting such compliance or (b) that the State educational agency is withholding the payment of title I funds to the non-complying local educational agency. A copy of each revised comparability report in such form as the Commissioner will prescribe shall be included with the State educational agency's report to be submitted by January 1. Not later than March 31, the State educational agency shall report to the Commissioner whether any noncomplying local educational agencies have come into compliance, and if so, the State educational agency shall include revised comparability reports for such local educational agencies reflecting such compliance. If local educational agencies remain out of compliance as of that date, the entitlements of such agencies shall be made available for reallocation to complying local educational agencies in the State in accordance with the procedures set forth in § 116.9.

Title 7—Agriculture

CHAPTER I—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (STANDARDS, INSPECTIONS, MARKETING PRACTICES), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

PART 51—FRESH FRUITS, VEGETABLES AND OTHER PRODUCTS (INSPECTION, CERTIFICATION AND STANDARDS)

REQUIREMENTS FOR PACKER IDENTIFICATION

On page 798 and 799 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of January 4, 1973, there was published a notice of proposed rule making to amend the Regulations Governing Inspection, Certification and Standards for Fresh Fruits, Vegetables and other Products<sup>2</sup> (7 CFR 51.1-51.61) by providing requirements for packer identification and concise instructions for approval of each packer's or distributor's labels or other container markings bearing official identification marks under continuous inspection.

These regulations are issued under authority of the Agricultural Marketing Act of 1946 (secs. 203, 205, 60 Stat. 1087, as amended, 1090 as amended 7 U.S.C. 1622-1624), which provides the authority for official inspection and certification of fresh fruits and vegetables and other products.<sup>3</sup> Such inspection and certification is voluntary and is made available only upon request of financially interested parties and upon payment of a fee to cover the cost of the service.

Statement of considerations leading to the amendment of the regulations. Following publication of the proposed amendment in the FEDERAL REGISTER, copies of the proposal were distributed to packers, distributors, and others interested in continuous inspection. The proposed amendment of the regulations provided for changes in §§ 51.49 and 51.59 needed to guard against improper use of approved U.S. grade designations, approved grade marks and inspection legends on containers packed under continuous inspection.

Section 51.49 of the proposed amendment provided requirements for packer identification and an example of such identification. In addition, subparagraph

(8) of paragraph (e) of § 51.59 was reworded to provide that drawings or printer's proofs of each packer's or distributor's labels, or other container markings, bearing official USDA identification marks be submitted for approval by the Chief, Fresh Products Standardization and Inspection Branch, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, prior to printing.

Interested persons were given until March 1, 1973, to submit written data, views or arguments regarding the proposal. No comments have been received and the proposed amendments are hereby adopted without change and are set forth below.

These amendments shall become effective on May 15, 1973.

Dated: March 16, 1973.

JOHN C. BLUM,
Acting Administrator.

§ 51.49 Approved identifications.

(d) Packer identification The packer's name and address or assigned code number or other mark identifying the packer as may be approved by the Administrator, shall appear on any container bearing grade marks or inspection legends approved under paragraph (a), (b), or (c) of this section, as illustrated by the example in figure 6.

(e) Other identification marks. Products may be inspected on a lot inspection basis as provided in this part and identified by an official inspection mark similar in form and design to figure 7 of this paragraph. The use of this mark or other comparable identification marks may be required by the Administrator whenever he determines that such identification is necessary in order to maintain the identity of lots which have been inspected and certified.

CHAPTER VII—AGRICULTURAL STABILIZATION AND CONSERVATION SERVICE (AGRICULTURAL ADJUSTMENT), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

SUBCHAPTER B—FARM MARKETING QUOTAS AND ACREAGE ALLOTMENTS

[Amdt. 4]

PART 711—MARKETING QUOTA REVIEW REGULATIONS

Certain Areas of Venue

On pages 3986 to 3987 of the FEDERAL REGISTER of February 9, 1973 (38 FR 3986), was published a notice of proposed rule making to issue an amendment to the Marketing Quota Review Regulations.

Interested persons were given until March 9, 1973, after the publication of the notice of proposed rule making on February 9, 1973, to submit written data, views, or recommendations with respect to the proposed amendment. No data, views, or recommendations were received. Accordingly, the amendment as proposed is adopted with the following additions:

1. The basis and purpose title is added to the introductory paragraphs.
2. An authority clause is added.
3. An effective date provision is added immediately following the authority clause.

Since there is a possibility of it being necessary to schedule applications for review of one or more farm marketing quotas in areas of venue where changes are being made by this amendment, it is important that this amendment be issued and made effective as soon as possible. Accordingly, it is hereby found that compliance with the 30-day effective date requirements of 5 U.S.C. 553 is unnecessary and contrary to the public interest, and this amendment shall become effective on March 22, 1973.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on March 15, 1973.

KENNETH E. FRICK,
Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Basis and purpose. The purpose of this amendment is to revise the marketing quota review committee areas of venue in several States. States in which there are farms producing certain crops subject to marketing quotas are divided into one or more areas of venue. An area of venue consists of one or more counties (parishes in Louisiana). A panel of six or more eligible farmers appointed by the Secretary serve as members of a review committee panel for each area of venue. The review committee which is composed of three members selected from the panel meets when necessary, to hear appeals of farmers who are dissatisfied with their farm quota for extra long staple cotton, peanuts, rice, and certain kinds of tobacco. The present areas of venue in a number of States were established at a time when more crops and farms were subject to marketing quotas than are at present. Accordingly, fewer areas of venue and review committees are currently necessary.

Section 711.29 of the Marketing Quota Review Regulations (35 FR 15355, 16235, 36 FR 1463, 37 FR 10656, 11465, 38 FR 967) is amended for certain named States to read as follows:

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Navel Orange Reg. 293]

PART 907—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

This regulation fixes the quantity of California-Arizona Navel oranges that may be shipped to fresh market during the weekly regulation period March 23-March 29, 1973. It is issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and Marketing Order No. 907. The quantity of Navel oranges so fixed was arrived at after consideration of the total available supply of Navel oranges, the quantity currently available for market, the fresh market demand for Navel oranges, Navel orange prices, and the relationship of season average returns to the parity price for Navel oranges.

§ 907.593 Navel Orange Regulations 293.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 907, as amended (7 CFR Part 907), regulating the handling of Navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The need for this regulation to limit the respective quantities of Navel oranges that may be marketed from District 1, District 2, and District 3 during the ensuing week stems from the production and marketing situation confronting the Navel orange industry.

(i) The committee has submitted its recommendation with respect to the quantities of Navel oranges that should be marketed during the next succeeding week. Such recommendation, designed to provide equity of marketing opportunity to handlers in all districts, resulted from consideration of the factors enumerated in the order. The committee further reports that the fresh market demand for Navel oranges remained active this week, with prices significantly higher than a week ago. Prices f.o.b. averaged $3.75 a carton on a reported sales volume of 836 cartons last week, compared with an averaged f.o.b. price for $3.67 per carton and sales of 1,030 cartons a week earlier. Track and rolling supplies at 235 cars were down 20 cars from last week.

(i) Having considered the recommendation and information submitted by the committee, and other available information, the Secretary finds that the respective quantities of Navel oranges which may be handled should be fixed as hereinafter set forth.

(3) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Navel oranges and the need for regulations; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Navel oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on March 20, 1973.

(b) Order. (1) The respective quantities of Navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California which may be handled during the period March 23, 1973, through March 29, 1973, are hereby fixed as follows:

- (i) District 1: 855,108 cartons;
- (ii) District 2: 375,000 cartons;
- (iii) District 3: Unlimited movement.

(2) As used in this section, "handled," "District 1," "District 2," "District 3," and "carton" have the same meaning as when used in said amended marketing agreement and order.

section until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this section is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for Valencia oranges and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such Valencia oranges; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. CHAPTER XIV—COMMODITY CREDIT CORPORATION, DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE*SUBCHAPTER C—EXPORT PROGRAMS

[Amdt. 1]

PART 1490—PAYMENT ON EXPORTS OF CERTAIN KINDS OF TOBACCO*Subpart—Tobacco Export Program*CONTRACTS TO EXPORT TOBACCO

The Tobacco Export Program regulations issued by Commodity Credit

Corporation and published in 34 FR 13464 and 13920 are hereby amended principally to limit the tobacco which may be included in any contract which an exporter may enter into with CCC under § 1490.6 to tobacco which the exporter or his subsidiary had purchased or contracted to purchase prior to entering into the contract with CCC. The regulations now afford exporters protection against reduced payment rates or termination of the program not only on tobacco which exporters have already purchased, but also on tobacco purchased after entering into the contract with CCC. This amendment would retain the protection on tobacco which exporters have purchased with the expectation of receiving an export payment at the rates in effect at the time of such contract. For administrative convenience, the manner in which CCC may enter into such contracts is also changed. Instead of an acceptance of an exporter's offer being by letter, as the regulations now provide, acceptance would be in the form of a copy of the exporter's offer returned to the exporter with appropriate endorsement and a contract acceptance number shown thereon.

It is generally known by exporters that notice of termination of the Tobacco Export Program is to be published prior to April 1, 1973. On the basis of that general knowledge, trade organizations representing a preponderant portion of the exporters have requested the limitation set forth in this amendment with respect to tobacco which may be included in contracts with CCC under § 1490.6. Since such limitation is desired by both the trade organizations and by CCC and since it could not be effected after notice of termination, it is essential that the amendment become effective immediately. Accordingly, it is hereby found and determined that compliance with the notice, public procedure and 30-day effective date provisions of 5 U.S.C. 553 is impracticable and contrary to the public interest.

Accordingly, paragraphs (a) and (c) of § 1490.6 are amended to read as follows:

§ 1490.6 Contracts to export tobacco.

(a) An exporter, who desires to obtain an export payment rate which will not be subject to reduction under paragraph (c) of § 1490.3, may submit an offer, in an original and one copy, during a 90-day period beginning with the date of publication of the rate reduction in the FEDERAL REGISTER, to export eligible tobacco of the then current or prior crops which the exporter or a subsidiary of the exporter has either purchased or contracted to purchase at the time the offer is submitted. A crop shall be identified by the calendar year in which the marketing year (July 1 for flue-cured tobacco and October 1 for other kinds of tobacco) for such crop began. If such an offer is accepted by CCC, an exporter, who otherwise complies with this program, shall receive an export payment at the rate in effect on the date the offer is submitted. The exporter's offer shall state:

(1) That the offer is subject to the terms and conditions of this program in effect at the time the offer was submitted;

RULES AND REGULATIONS

(2) The kind and type of tobacco of the then current or prior crops or both which the exporter agrees to export;

(3) The unstemmed-leaf packed-weight or the unstemmed-leaf packed weight equivalent of the tobacco the exporter agrees to export;

(4) That the tobacco will be exported within 48 months following the month of acceptance of the exporter's offer by CCC; and

(5) That the exporter or a subsidiary of the exporter has already purchased or contracted to purchase the tobacco which the exporter agrees to export.

(c) Any offer containing terms and conditions other than those authorized in this program shall not be accepted. An acceptance by CCC of an exporter's offer shall be made by endorsement of a copy of the exporter's offer, giving a contract acceptance number, and mailing such endorsed copy to the exporter. The contract resulting from such acceptance shall consist of the exporter's offer, CCC's endorsement of the copy of the offer, and the terms and conditions of this program in effect on the date of submission of the offer. The date of the CCC endorsement of the copy of the exporter's offer shall be the date of the contract.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective March 22, 1973.

Title 14—Aeronautics and Space*CHAPTER I—FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

[Docket No. 70-CE-20-AD, Amdt. 39-1609]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES*Beech Models Airplanes

Amendment 39-1120 (35 FR 18451, 18452), as amended by Amendment 39-1331 (36 FR 21668, 21669, 21670), AD 70-25-1, applicable to Beech Models 65, 65-80, 65-A80, and 65-B80 airplanes, is an airworthiness directive (AD) which requires repetitive inspection of specific wing components to detect fatigue cracks.

After issuing Amendment 39-1331, the agency determined that certain Beech Model 65-A80 aircraft were eligible for increased gross weight on the installation of Beech Modification Kit Nos. 80-4004-1 or 80-4004-3. At the higher gross weight these aircraft now require the same AD inspection criteria as Beech Model 65-B80 aircraft. In addition, paragraph A of the AD is erroneously lettered paragraph F. Accordingly, the applicability statement and paragraphs A, B, C(3), and F of AD 70-25-1 must be modified to reflect these changes.

Since this amendment in part corrects an error and is in the interest of safety, notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making the amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator 14 CFR 11.89 (31 FR 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations, Amendment 39-1331, AD 70-25-1, is being amended as follows:

(1) Amend the applicability statement by inserting the phrase "65-A80 (Serial Nos. LD-245 through LD-269) when Beech Modification Kit Nos. 80-4004-1 or 80-4004-3 is installed" after the phrase "Serial Nos. L-1, L-2, L-6, LF-7 through LF-76 and LC-1 through LC-180".

(2) a. Change the designation of the first lettered paragraph from "(F)" to "(A)".

b. Amend paragraph A by inserting the phrase "65-A80 (Serial Nos. LD-245 through LD-269) when Beech Modification Kit No. 80-4004-1 or 80-4004-3 is installed" after the phrase "Serial Nos. L-1, L-2, L-6, LF-7 through LF-76 and LC-1 through LC-180".

(3) Amend paragraph B by inserting the phrase "65-A80 (Serial Nos. LD-245 through LD-269) when Beech Modification Kit No. 80-4004-1 or 80-4004-3 is installed" after the phrase "Serial Nos. L-1, L-2, L-6, LF-7 through LF-76 and LC-1 through LC-180".

(4) Amend paragraph C(3) by inserting the phrase "65-A80 (Serial Nos. LD-245 through LD-269) when Beech Modification Kit No. 80-4004-1 or 80-4004-3 is installed" prior to the phrase "65-B80 (Serial Nos. LD-270 and up)".

(5) Amend paragraph F by inserting the phrase "65-A80 (Serial Nos. LD-245 through LD-269) when Beech Modification Kit No. 80-4004-1 or 80-4004-3 is installed" prior to the phrase "65-B80 (Serial Nos. LD-270 and up)".

This amendment becomes effective March 28, 1973.

would amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the transition area at Millersburg, Ohio.

Interested persons were given 30 days to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed amendment.

No objections have been received and the proposed amendment is hereby adopted without change and is set forth below.

This amendment shall be effective 0901 G.m.t., May 24, 1973.

(Sec. 307(c), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348; sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

Issued in Des Plaines, Ill., on February 26, 1973.

H. W. FOGGEMEYER,
Acting Director,
Great Lakes Region.

In § 71.181 (37 FR 2143), the following transition area is amended to read:

MILLERSBURG, OHIO

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 6-mile radius of the Holmes County Airport (latitude 40°32'20" N., longitude 81°57'05" W.) and within 3 miles each side of the 085° bearing from the airport extending from the 6-mile radius area to 12 miles east, and within 2 miles each side of the Tiverton, Ohio VOR 059° radial extending from the 6-mile radius area to the VOR.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Alteration of Transition Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to alter the Fort Smith, Ark., transition area.

On February 2, 1973, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (38 FR 3200) stating the Federal Aviation Administration proposed to alter the Fort Smith, Ark., transition area.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rule making through submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., May 24, 1973, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (38 FR 435), the Fort Smith, Ark., transition area is amended in part by adding after "20 miles southwest of the VORTAC," "within 3.5 miles each side of the VORTAC 119° radial extending from the VORTAC to 11.5 miles southeast of the VORTAC."

Since publication of the notice of proposed rule making on February 2, 1973, a minor change has been made to the final approach course on the proposed instrument approach procedure to the Twin City Airport, Van Buren, Ark., from 116° to 119°. This change will have no significant airspace effects on the public, and additional notice and public procedures are not considered necessary.

PART 71—DESIGNATION OF FEDERAL AIRWAYS, AREA LOW ROUTES, CONTROLLED AIRSPACE, AND REPORTING POINTS

Designation of Transition Area

The purpose of this amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is to designate the Henryetta, Okla., transition area.

On February 2, 1973, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (38 FR 3201) stating the Federal Aviation Administration proposed to designate a transition area at Henryetta, Okla.

Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to participate in the rule making through submission of comments. All comments received were favorable.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended, effective 0901 G.m.t., May 24, 1973, as hereinafter set forth.

In § 71.181 (38 FR 435), the following transition area is added:

HENRYETTA, OKLA.

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the Henryetta Municipal Airport (latitude 35°24'40" N., longitude 96°00'50" W.), and within 3.5 miles each side of the 186° bearing from the Henryetta RBN extending from the 5-mile radius area to 8.5 miles south of the RBN.

(Sec. 307(a), Federal Aviation Act of 1958, 49 U.S.C. 1348; sec. 6(c), Department of Transportation Act, 49 U.S.C. 1655(c))

PART 97—STANDARD INSTRUMENT APPROACH PROCEDURES

Miscellaneous Amendments

This amendment to Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations incorporates by reference therein changes and additions to the Standard Instrument Approach Procedures (SIAP's) that were recently adopted by the Administrator to promote safety at the airports concerned.

The complete SIAP's for the changes and additions covered by this amendment are described in FAA Forms 3139, 8260-3, 8260-4, or 8260-5 and made a part of the public rule making dockets of the FAA in accordance with the procedures set forth in Amendment No. 97-696 (35 FR 5609).

SIAP's are available for examination at the rules docket and at the National Flight Data Center, Federal Aviation Administration, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20591. Copies of SIAP's adopted in a particular region are also available for examination at the headquarters of that region. Individual copies of SIAP's may be purchased from the FAA Public Document Inspection Facility, HQ-405, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20591 or from the applicable FAA regional office in accordance with the fee schedule prescribed in 49 CFR 7.85. This fee is payable in advance and may be paid by check, draft or postal money order payable to the Treasurer of the United States. A weekly transmittal of all SIAP changes and additions may be obtained by subscription at an annual rate of $150 per annum from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402. Additional copies mailed to the same address may be ordered for $30 each.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this amendment,

I find that further notice and public procedure hereon is impracticable and good cause exists for making it effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 97 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended as follows, effective on the dates specified:

In the Matter of Joe Marks, an Individual, Trading and Doing Business as Home Improvement Center

Consent order requiring an Akron, Ohio, seller and distributor of residential aluminum siding products, among other things to cease violating the Truth in Lending Act by failing to disclose to consumers, in connection with the extension of consumer credit, such information as required by Regulation Z of the said Act.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Joe Marks, an individual trading and doing business as Home Improvement Center, or any other name or names, his successors and assigns, and respondent's agents, representatives, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with any extension or offer to extend or arrange for the extension of consumer credit, as "consumer credit" is defined in Regulation Z (12 CFR 226) of the Truth in Lending Act (Public Law 90-321, 15 U.S.C., 1601 et seq.), do forthwith cease and desist from:

- (1) Failing to disclose the "unpaid balance of cash price" to describe the difference between the cash price and the total downpayment, as prescribed by § 226.8(c)(3) of Regulation Z.
- (2) Failing to disclose the "amount financed" to describe the amount of credit extended, as prescribed by § 226.8(c)(7) of Regulation Z.
- (3) Failing to disclose the "finance charge" to describe the sum of all charges required by § 226.4 of Regulation Z to be included therein, as prescribed by § 226.8(c)(8)(i) of Regulation Z.
- (4) Failing to disclose the sum of the cash price, all charges which are included in the amount financed but which are not part of the finance charge, and the finance charge, and to describe that sum as the "deferred payment price", as prescribed by § 226.8(c)(8)(ii) of Regulation Z.
- (5) Failing to disclose the annual percentage rate, computed in accordance with § 226.5 of Regulation Z, as prescribed by § 226.8(b)(2) of Regulation Z.
- (6) Failing to disclose the number, amount, and due dates or periods of payments scheduled to repay the indebtedness, as prescribed by § 226.8(b)(3) of Regulation Z.
- (7) Failing to describe the type of any security interest held or to be retained or acquired by the creditor in connection with the extension of credit, as prescribed by § 226.8(b)(5) of Regulation Z.
- (8) Failing, in any consumer credit transaction or advertisement, to make all disclosures determined in accordance with § 226.4 and § 226.5 of Regulation Z, in the manner, form, and amount required by § 226.6, § 226.7, § 226.8, § 226.9, and § 226.10 of Regulation Z.

It is further ordered, That respondent deliver a copy of this order to cease and desist to all present and future personnel of respondent engaged in the consummation of any extension of consumer credit or in any aspect of preparation, creation, or placing of advertising, and that respondent secure a signed statement acknowledging receipt of said order from each such person.

It is further ordered, That the individual respondent named herein promptly notify the Commission of the discontinuance of his present business or employment and of his affiliation with a new business or employment. Such notice shall include respondent's current business or employment in which he is engaged, as well as a description of his duties and responsibilities.

It is further ordered, That respondent notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days prior to any proposed change in the respondent's business organization such as incorporation, partnership, or sale, resultant in the emergence of a new business organization, or any other change in the business organization which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the order.

It is further ordered, That respondent shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth, in detail, the manner and form in which he has complied with the order to cease and desist contained herein.

Issued: February 7, 1973.

In the Matter of Marcus Bros. Co., a Corporation, and Alan Marcus, Individually and as an Officer of Said Corporation

Consent order requiring a Hialeah, Fla., importer and wholesaler, among other things to cease manufacturing for sale, selling, importing, or distributing any product, fabric, or related material which fails to conform to an applicable standard of flammability or regulation issued under the provisions of the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows.

It is ordered, That respondents Marcus Bros. Co., a corporation, its successors and assigns, and its officers, and Alan Marcus, individually and as an officer of said corporation, and respondents' agents, representatives and employees, directly or through any corporation, subsidiary, division or other device, do forthwith cease and desist from manufacturing for sale, selling, offering for sale, in commerce, or importing into the United States, or introducing, delivering for introduction, transporting or causing to be transported in commerce, or selling or delivering after sale or shipment in commerce any product, fabric or related material, or manufacturing for sale, selling or offering for sale any product made of fabric or related material which has been shipped or received in commerce, as "commerce," "product," "fabric" and "related material" are defined in the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended, which product, fabric or related material fails to conform to an applicable standard or regulation continued in effect, issued or amended under the provisions of the aforesaid Act.

It is further ordered, That the respondents notify all of their customers who have purchased or to whom have been delivered the products which gave rise to the complaint, of the flammable nature of said products and effect the recall of said products from such customers.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein either process the products that gave rise to the complaint so as to bring them into conformance with the applicable standard of flammability under the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended, or destroy said products.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall within ten (10) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a special report in writing setting forth the respondents' intentions as to compliance with this order. This special report shall also advise the Commission fully and specifically concerning (1) the identity of the products which gave rise to the complaint, (2) the number of said products in inventory, (3) any action taken and any further actions proposed to be taken to notify customers of the flammability of said products and effect the recall of said products from customers, and of the results thereof, (4) any disposition of said products since June 23, 1971, and (5) any action taken or proposed to be taken to bring said products into conformance with the applicable standard of flammability under the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended, or destroy said products, and the results of such action. Such report shall further inform the Commission as to whether or not respondents have in inventory any product, fabric, or related material having a plain surface and made of paper, silk, rayon and acetate, nylon and acetate, rayon, cotton or any other material or combinations thereof in a weight of 2 ounces or less per square yard, or any product, fabric, or related material having raised fiber surface. Respondents shall submit samples of not less than 1 square yard in size of any such product, fabric or related material with this report.

It is further ordered, That respondents notify the Commission at least 30 days prior to any proposed change in the corporate respondent such as dissolution, assignment or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries or any other change in the corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the order.

It is further ordered, That the individual respondent named herein promptly notify the Commission of the discontinuance of his present business or employment and of his affiliation with a new business or employment. Such notice shall include respondent's current business or employment in which he is engaged as well as a description of his duties and responsibilities.

It is further ordered, That the respondent corporation shall forthwith distribute a copy of this order to each of its operating divisions.

It is further ordered, That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

Title 18—Conservation of Power and Water Resources

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

SUBCHAPTER A—GENERAL RULES

[Docket No. R-362; Order No. 383-3]

PART 2—GENERAL POLICY AND INTERPRETATIONS

Reliability and Adequacy of Electric Service—Reporting of Data—Participation of Regulatory Personnel in Regional Councils

MARCH 15, 1973.

This order revises the information which is requested in the annual reports of all electric systems participating in the program of adequacy and reliability established by prior orders of the Commission pursuant to section 202 (a) of the Federal Power Act, 16 U.S.C. 824a(a).<sup>1</sup> The revision is accomplished by substituting Appendix A-1, issued herewith, for Appendix A as the latter is set forth in § 2.11(c), Informational Reporting, (d), Part 2, General Policy and Interpretations, Chapter I, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

By notice of Proposed Change in Docket No. R-362, Statement of Policy Informational Reporting (Appendix A), the Commission sought public comments with respect to changes in the information to be reported annually by the Nation's electric utilities. The notice issued November 10, 1972, 37 FR 24447, stated in part:

• • • The changes would expand the reported load and capacity data from a forward projection of 10 years to a period of 20 years into the future. Similarly, the transmission network projections would extend 20 years • • • The changes would also provide for the submission of increased annual energy requirements data; information relative to alternate fuel use capability • • • scheduled maintenance • • • relation to summer and winter peaks • • • transmission transfer capability within regions and among regions, operating reserve policies and interregional coordination in scheduled maintenance • • •

The comments of responding parties include a number of suggested technical clarifying changes in the proposed appendix, as noticed. They are discussed, infra, and those changes are reflected in the revised form of Appendix A-1 issued herewith.

The comments also provide a useful discussion of the nature of utility planning and distinguish between planning projections of a definitive nature and planning projections of a conceptual nature; the former being essentially those within the first 10-year period and the latter being those within the second 10-year period. Planning of both types is essential to electric utility operations upon an interconnected basis and is generally carried out by all major electric systems throughout the Nation. The responding parties articulate a number of the inherent difficulties and uncertainties which attend any program of future projections. Collectively, the comments discuss uncertainties 5, 10, 15, and 20 years into the future, regarding national population and demographic trends, electric generation and transmission technology, fuel availability of the required types, quantities and chemical content, fuel technology to meet environmental standards, the definitive nature of those standards as they may be promulgated from time-to-time, as well as the manner in which general public control mechanisms governing air, land, and water environments may affect or constrain utility, industrial, commercial, residential, or recreational uses of fuels and the environment. They note that numerous planning assumptions must be made to complete any planning projections and that, as the range of time increases to 20 years, the impact of intervening circumstances which are unforeseen or beyond the control of the planning entity, may alter projections or completely preclude the execution thereof.

We agree that appropriate uses of definitive and conceptual planning projections differ. Beneficial uses of publicly reported data 10 to 20 years forward must recognize the underlying variables and the consequences thereof. Plans reported at any one time can change and, in many instances, will change.

A number of comments expressed concern lest unwarranted certainty be accorded plans which are publicly reported. We recognize the possibility that such inferences could be drawn. Our remarks are directed to that matter.

We do not accept propositions expressed in some comments that 10- to 20-year projections should not be disclosed because of the variables discussed above, or because of possible misinterpretation of data which is to be reported. In our judgment, what is required is a full and complete understanding by all who use reliability council data as to inherent limitations of the utility planning processes, the necessary qualifications relative to data projections, and the need for continuing revisions of publicly reported information. Just as there is a legitimate public interest in advance disclosure of electric utility operations and planning activities, there is a legitimate interest of the utility that its plans and projections be fully understood and not misinterpreted.

The public reporting procedures as reflected in Appendix A-1, issued herewith, will serve the interests of the public and the interests of the reporting utilities. They will serve the purposes of the Commission's adequacy and reliability program. Long-range planning is an indispensable element to the accomplishment of the objectives of section 202(a) of the Federal Power Act "• • • assuring an abundant supply of electric energy throughout the United States with the greatest possible economy and with regard to the proper utilization and conservation of natural resources • • •". It is essential to area and regional coordination. It is necessary for the timely construction of necessary bulk power supply facilities, all with due regard to equipment delivery, fuel availability, governmental requirements governing air, land, and water environments, licensing or certification procedures and construction lead times. In short, long-range utility planning, adequately disclosed, is required for all beneficial public and private purposes.

Some of the commenting parties proposed a split reporting procedure whereby data for the period 1 to 10 years (Appendix A-1, Items 1-9), would be reported in physically separate documents and at different dates from the reporting of data for the period 11 to 20 years (Items 10, 11); the former to be reported in Docket No. R-362 and the latter to be reported as a part of other Commission activities such as the Commission's National Power Survey. The underlying reasons for this proposed division are those which prompted some respondents to oppose public disclosure of planning during the second 10-year period, as we have discussed in regard to definitive and conceptual planning. We believe that our discussion of that problem in this order eliminates any need for physical separation of data. Moreover, if that result did obtain, there would be additional administrative processing expenditures and use of Commission funds which need not be expended. The purposes of the Commission's adequacy and reliability program, pursuant to section 202(a) of the Federal Power Act, are continuing. They include long-range planning. Specific studies, such as the Commission's National Power Survey, however recurrent, do not have the special focus of the Commission. State regulatory agencies and the participant utilities, as required in Docket No. R-362 reporting.

Technical clarifying changes in various portions of Items 1-11 of the appendix (A-1, as noticed), are discussed seriatim.

Item 1, as noticed, specifies the reporting of monthly energy requirements for the first 2 years of the 10-year projection and annual energy requirements for the succeeding 8 years. The term energy was not defined, e.g., "gross energy", gross generator output, or "net energy", energy supplied to loads after station and utility uses and losses. Clarity of meaning and uniformity of reporting will be achieved by specifying the reporting of gross energy and net energy for the entire 10-year projection; the first 2 years on a monthly basis and succeeding 8 years on an annual basis. The comments disclosed the need for this change.

Item 2, as noticed, specifies the reporting of individual generating station primary fuel, alternate fuel capability, handling and storage facilities. The length of time alternate fuel burn capability could be sustained was not specified. Physical factors and operating conditions in many types of combustion equipment make the length of time alternate fuels can be burned a factor highly important to adequacy and reliability. Various of the comments make this point. Accordingly, length of alternate fuel use is specified in the revision adopted in this order.

Item 3, as noticed, specifies the reporting of estimated capacity which will be scheduled for maintenance during the immediately succeeding 5 years, both at summer and winter peak periods. The change adopted herein adds "other known causes" to the condition of scheduled maintenance, when capacity may be out-of-service at peak periods and is, therefore, to be reported. A number of the comments pointed out the difficulty of scheduling maintenance in advance and opposed the additional reporting of data 5 years ahead. We believe that generalized reporting of maintenance scheduling will assist the regional and interregional coordination of bulk power supply facilities and should be adopted. The need for the word change to include "other known causes" is prompted by the comments.

Item 6, as noticed, specifies the reporting of transmission transfer capability between adjacent regions and between subdivisions of a region, with an identification of limiting factors, i.e., operating conditions or facilities. Comments received show that the change, as noticed, is not susceptible to uniform interpretation. Clarity of meaning and uniformity of reporting will be achieved by specification of the change as follows: "a tabulation based upon calculated operating limits specifying the transmission capability between the region and adjacent regions and between subdivisions of the region."

Item 7, as noticed, specifies the annual reporting of information relative to communication and control equipment. Previously, that information was reported initially and updated only with "significant changes." The yearly reporting of such information is adopted, as noticed. It will serve a useful administrative or convenience purpose in the processing of R-362 reports and be a convenience to members of the public which use these reports. A number of the comments generally opposed annual reporting.

Item 9, as noticed, specifies the annual reporting of a series of data relative to coordinated operational practices and programs under normal and emergency conditions. Included within the items to be reported, and not previously expressly specified, are "h. operating reserve policy" and "l. maintenance planning including interregional coordination of maintenance outages." Comments received show that annual reporting of sub-item "h." data must be general and of a broad narrative description to be meaningful, due, principally, to the myriad combinations of electrical operating conditions which may occur within interconnected networks. Also, it should be noted that reserve data reported pursuant to item 3 relates essentially to installed reserves. Accordingly, item 9h requests for operating reserve policies do not, as some comments suggest, duplicate item 3 data. This type of response will meet the purposes of the Commission. Additionally, the comments show that sub-item "l." data would substantially duplicate maintenance scheduling data to be reported pursuant to sub-item "f." of item 9. Therefore, "l." is eliminated. As in the case of item 7 data, item 9 data were previously reported initially and updated only with "significant changes." The change adopted herein specifies the reporting of all data annually. The Commission's reasons are those as set forth in respect to the annual reporting of item 7 data.

Item 10, as noticed, specifies the annual reporting during the second 10-year projection (11-20 years) of estimated loads and generating capacity, categorized by type of prime mover, size of unit, and whether intended for base load or peaking operation. The comments received show that conceptual planning and projections which are used in the second 10-year period of utility planning do not provide that type of specificity. The underlying reasons are the variable factors discussed supra. Generally, qualitative data are employed in this area of the utility planning process, in contrast to quantitative materials as indicated in the descriptive wording set forth in the Commission's notice. It was the Commission's intent to secure only such data as may be available and for which a beneficial use may be made through rational application thereof. Item 10 is revised as follows:

For each year in the period of 11-20 years in the future show projected load and generating capability which will be necessary to serve this load. Include a statement as to the percentages of the projected capacity to be installed in the 11-20-year period which will be hydro, nuclear, and fossil fueled, respectively.

Item 11, as noticed, specifies the reporting of transmission configurations giving consideration to subregional and interregional factors with indicated voltage levels, transfer limits, and maps of these projected networks at the 10th and 20th years. For reasons similar to those discussed under item 10, supra, and raised in the comments, as well as duplication with item 6 data, it is apparent that requested data pursuant to item 11 should be revised as follows:

For the 10th year, include a map which shows the general configuration of the transmission network both within the region and the ties to adjacent regions. In addition, state voltage levels of possible transmission overlays being considered and approximate timing of the system overlay during the period 11-20 years in the future. Diagram possible patterns of transmission as of the 20th year.

The time of reporting annual data pursuant to appendix A procedures is April 1 of each calendar year. Submitting the reports due on or before April 1, 1973, may necessitate the furnishing of supplemental reports by various of the electric reliability councils incorporating data requested in the changes to appendix A-1. We ask that the reports to be filed on or before April 1, 1973, be as complete as possible and that, where necessary, supplemental reports be submitted by September 1, 1973. We request that complete reports be submitted annually thereafter, on or before April 1, in accordance with appendix A-1.

The Commission further finds:

- (1) The effective date provisions of section 553 of subchapter II of chapter 5, title 5 of the United States Code, do not apply with respect to the amendment here adopted.

- (2) It is appropriate and in the public interest in administering part II of the Federal Power Act to promulgate Commission policy on the collection of data relating to reliability and adequacy of electric service, all in the manner hereinafter provided.

- (3) The basic authority of the Commission to take these actions is as set forth in the Federal Power Act, 16 U.S.C. 791(a) et seq., particularly 16 U.S.C. 824a(a), 825h (49 Stat. 848, 858) and the Administrative Procedure Act, 5 U.S.C. 553.

The Commission orders:

(A) Sections 2.11(c), Informational Reporting, (d), Part 2, General Policy and Interpretations, Chapter I, Title 18 of the Code of Federal Regulations, are amended by substituting appendix A-1 for appendix A as heretofore promulgated by Commission Order No. 383-2; and by revising § 2.11(d) to read as follows:

§ 2.11 Reliability and adequacy of electric service.

(d) The information requested for inclusion in the annual reports is set forth in appendix A-1 to this section. Initial reporting is to be for the period 1973-92, inclusive. The annual report and four conformed copies are to be filed with the Federal Power Commission. Two conformed copies are to be filed with the commission of each State which is wholly or partly within the geographic boundaries of the reporting council. Reports are to be filed not later than April 1 of each year, except that for reports due April 1, 1973, the reporting date is extended to September 1, 1973, for the submission of supplemental reports as may be necessary.

APPENDIX A-1

INFORMATION TO BE REPORTED BY REGIONAL COUNCILS ON COORDINATED REGIONAL BULK POWER SUPPLY PROGRAMS

Information to be reported annually should include:

1. Estimates of monthly peak loads for the first 2 years of the projection; estimates of summer and winter peak loads for the following 8 years; and monthly gross and net energy requirements for the first 2 years and annual gross and net energy requirements the following 8.

2. Itemization of all existing capacity resources in the region and new capacity resources (or retirements) as committed or projected for each year, 10 years into the future; including, where known, inservice dates, locations, ownership, types of future generating units, primary fuel and capability for use of alternate fuels including length of time alternate fuel can be used, handling and storage capacity, and capacity exchanges with others at the time of summer and winter peak demands.

3. For each year of the 10-year projection, show the indicated capacity margins for reserves at the time of summer and winter peak loads, based on items (1) and (2) above, with an assessment of adequacy of reserves for the first 5 years of the projection. Include a statement of the criteria now being used in determining reserve requirements by the Council or its appropriate subdivisions; also include an estimate of the magnitude of the capacity which will be unavailable for service due to scheduled maintenance or other known reasons at the time of the summer and winter peaks for the next 5 years.

4. For each steam generating unit of 300 MW or more, and for which construction has begun, or is scheduled to begin within 2 years from the date of reporting, a status report on the proposed plan of cooling, and for fossil-fired plants, the fuels proposed and the plan for controlling stack emissions; also, the status of principal studies or model tests and the status of consultations with appropriate local, State, or Federal authorities concerned.

5. A plan of the bulk power transmission network of the region in service at the time of the report (including interties with adjoining regions) and the general routing of facilities committed or tentatively projected for service within 6 years including identification of principal substations, operating voltages and projected inservice dates. In addition, show the transmission facilities projected for the balance of the 10-year period based upon the best information available.

6. A plotting and a description of the base case for load flow studies of the bulk power network of the region (or principal subdivisions) as it exists substantially at the time of reporting and as projected four to six years in the future; and a tabulation based upon calculated operating limits specifying the transmission capability between the region and adjacent regions and between subdivisions of the region; and a tabulation and brief statements on the results of a representative number of contingency cases studied; and similarly, information on stability analyses of the network, and including the criteria adopted by the regional council relating to network stability.

7. A description of the principal communication and control systems operating or planned within the region and listing of functions performed by such facilities.

8. For each transmission segment designed to operate at 230 kv. (nominal) or higher for which construction has begun or is scheduled to begin within 2 years from the date of the report, information on the status of consultations with affected local communities and groups and status of applications to State or regional authorities, as appropriate.

9. Information on the following coordinated regional practices:

a. Load shedding programs, including estimated steps of load reduction at various steps in declining frequency.

b. Emergency power and shutdown facilities to prevent damage to equipment if station loses system power.

c. Power facilities available for unit start-up in the event of total loss of system power.

d. Availability of continuous power independent of system sources for communication and control facilities.

e. Provisions for sustaining the operation of generating units on local loads.

f. Programs for scheduling maintenance outages of generation and transmission facilities.

g. Programs for the selection, setting and maintenance of relays that affect the overall reliability of the interconnected network.

h. Operating reserve policy.

10. For each year in the period of 11-20 years in the future show projected load and generating capability which will be necessary to serve this load. Include a statement as to the percentages of the projected capacity to be installed in the 11-20 year period which will be hydro, nuclear and fossil-fueled, respectively.

11. For the tenth year, include a map which shows the general configuration of the transmission network both within the region and the ties to adjacent regions. In addition, state voltage levels of possible transmission overlays being considered and approximate timing of the system overlay during the period 11-20 years in the future. Diagram possible patterns of transmission as of the 20th year.

(B) The amendments prescribed herein shall be effective upon the issuance of this order.

(C) The Secretary of the Commission shall cause prompt publication of this

CHAPTER I—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

SUBCHAPTER C—AIR PROGRAMS

PART 52—APPROVAL AND PROMULGATION OF IMPLEMENTATION PLANS

Approval of Plan Revisions

On May 31, 1972 (37 FR 10842), the Administrator approved certain portions of the implementation plan submitted by the State of Pennsylvania for attainment and maintenance of national ambient air quality standards in accordance with the Clean Air Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1857 et seq.). At the same time, Pennsylvania was granted an 18-month extension for submission of a plan to attain secondary standards for particulates and sulfur oxides in the Southwest Pennsylvania Intrastate Region (including Allegheny County) and in Pennsylvania's portion of the Metropolitan Philadelphia Interstate Region.

Subsequent to the submission and approval of the original plan, a more extensive review of the requirements of the plan, as applied to certain U.S. Steel facilities, led the State to change these requirements, tailoring them more closely to the specific steps required to control emissions from these facilities. On December 14, 1972, after due notice and public hearing, the Governor of Pennsylvania submitted these changes as proposed revisions to the Pennsylvania implementation plan. The proposed revisions related to the coke-making operations at the U.S. Steel Clairton Works, Allegheny County, and to the industrial boilers of the U.S. Steel Corp. in Allegheny County. The submission included a revision to the control strategy for particulates, a revision to the control strategy for sulfur oxides, and compliance schedules relating to coke ovens, coke-oven gas combustion, industrial boilers and coke quenching.

The control strategy revisions continue to satisfy the requirement of 40 CFR §§ 51.13 and 51.14 in demonstrating that the primary national ambient air quality standards will be achieved by the approved attainment date of July 31, 1975. Accordingly, the proposed revisions are approved. The compliance schedules relating to coke ovens, coke quenching, and all industrial boilers except Clairton Boiler No. 1 and Irving Boiler No. 7 meet all requirements of 40 CFR 51.15 and are approved. The compliance schedules relating to coke-oven gas combustion and industrial boilers Clairton Boiler No. 1 and Irving Boiler No. 7 are approved with respect to their final compliance date of February 1, 1975. Such schedules are still being reviewed in accordance with 40 CFR 51.15(a)(2) to determine whether they satisfy the requirement of 40 CFR 51.15(c) with respect to the inclusion of increments of progress toward compliance. Approval or disapproval of these compliance schedules as meeting this requirement is required by section 110 of the Clean Air Act and 40 CFR Part 51 by no later than June 15, 1973. If the schedules are disapproved on the basis of failure to include adequate increments of progress, incremental steps will be proposed by the Administrator in accordance with section 110(c) of the Act.

Copies of the Pennsylvania implementation plan, as revised, are available for public inspection at the Office of Public Affairs, Environmental Protection Agency, 401 M Street SW., Washington, DC, at the agency's regional office, Curtis Building, Sixth and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia, PA 19106, and at the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Resources, Bureau of Air Quality and Noise Control, 505 Pittsburgh State Office Building, 300 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, PA 15222.

This regulation is effective on March 22, 1973. The Agency finds that good cause exists for not publishing the regulation as a notice of proposed rule-making and for making it effective immediately upon publication, for the following reasons:

1. The implementation plan revision was adopted in accordance with procedural requirements of State and Federal law, which provided for adequate public participation through notice and public hearings, and consequently further public participation is unnecessary.

2. Immediate effectiveness of the approval enables the source involved to proceed with certainty in conducting its affairs, and persons wishing to seek judicial review of the approval may do so without delay.

Dated: March 15, 1973.

ROBERT W. FRY,
Acting Administrator.

CHAPTER I—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

SUBCHAPTER E—PESTICIDE PROGRAMS

PART 180—TOLERANCES AND EXEMPTIONS FROM TOLERANCES FOR PESTICIDE CHEMICALS IN OR ON RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES

N-(Mercaptomethyl)phthalimide S-(O,O-Dimethyl Phosphorodithioate)

In response to a petition (PP 3E1328) submitted by Dr. C. C. Compton, Coordinator, Interregional Research Project No. 4, State Agricultural Experiment Station, Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N.J. 08903, on behalf of the IR-4 Technical Committee and the Agricultural Experiment Stations of Florida, Louisiana, and North Carolina, a notice was published by the Environmental Protection Agency in the FEDERAL REGISTER of February 12, 1973 (38 FR 4275), proposing establishment of a tolerance for residues of the insecticide N-(mercaptomethyl)phthalimide S-(O,O-dimethyl phosphorodithioate) and its oxygen analog N-(mercaptomethyl)-phthalimide S-(O,O-dimethyl phosphorothioate) in or on the raw agricultural commodity sweetpotatoes at 10 parts per million from postharvest application. No comments or requests for referral to an advisory committee were received.

It is concluded that the proposal should be adopted.

Therefore, pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (sec. 408(e), 68 Stat. 514; 21 U.S.C. 346a(e)), the authority transferred to the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency (35 FR 15623), and the authority delegated by the Administrator to the Deputy Assistant Administrator for Pesticide Programs (36 FR 9038), § 180.261 is amended by revising the paragraph "10 parts per million * * *", as follows:

§ 180.261 N-(Mercaptomethyl)phthalimide S-(O,O-dimethyl phosphorodithioate) and its oxygen analog; tolerances for residues.

Ten parts per million in or on apples, cherries, grapes, peaches, pears, and sweetpotatoes (from postharvest application).

Any person who will be adversely affected by the foregoing order may at any time on or before April 23, 1973, file with the Hearing Clerk, Environmental Protection Agency, Room 3902A, Fourth and M Streets SW., Waterside Mall, Washington, DC 20460, written objections thereto in quintuplicate. Objections shall show wherein the person filing will be adversely affected by the order and specify with particularity the provisions of the order deemed objectionable and the grounds for the objections. If a hearing is requested, the objections must state the issues for the hearing. A hearing will be granted if the objections are supported by grounds legally sufficient to justify the relief sought. Objections may be accompanied by a memorandum or brief in support thereof.

Effective date. This order shall become effective on March 22, 1973.

Title 41—Public Contracts and Property Management

CHAPTER 114—DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

PART 114-52—ESTABLISHMENT OF QUARTERS RENTAL RATES

Pursuant to the authority of the Secretary of the Interior contained in 5 U.S.C. 301, a new Part 114-52 is added to Chapter 114, Title 41, of the Code of Federal Regulations as set forth below.

These regulations set forth the Department's policies concerning the establishment of rates charged employees for rental quarters and utilities furnished by the Government. They codify into the Code of Federal Regulations policies currently promulgated in Part 424 of the Departmental Manual.

Since these regulations merely codify existing policies it is determined that the public rule making procedure is unnecessary and these regulations shall become effective on March 22, 1973.

RICHARD R. HITE,
Deputy Assistant Secretary
of the Interior.

Subpart 114-52.1—General

§ 114-52.101 Scope of subpart.

The regulations in this Part 114-52 apply to all Government-owned or leased personnel quarters rented in support of Federal programs, whether rented to employees of the holding Bureau, to employees of another Interior Bureau or other Federal agency, or to nonfederally employed tenants who are housed in order to facilitate the accomplishment of a Federal program. They apply to rental quarters in the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the territories and possessions, and Puerto Rico. These regulations do not apply to:

- (a) Government-owned or leased quarters, custody of which has been transferred to a non-Federal entity pursuant to a written lease or contract authorized by law.
- (b) Quarters, which under proper authority, are rented to the public for revenue pending future official use or disposal.
- (c) Quarters provided employees on vessels.

§ 114-52.102 Statutory authority.

Public Law 88-459, approved August 20, 1964, 5 U.S.C. 5911, provides that quarters rental rates shall be based upon the reasonable value of the quarters to the employee in the circumstances under which provided, occupied, or made available.

§ 114-52.103 Regulatory authority.

Office of Management and Budget Circular No. A-45, Revised, dated October 31, 1964, establishes basic regulations governing the setting of quarters rental rates and charges for utilities.

§ 114-52.104 Statutory restrictions.

Rental rates for quarters and charges for utilities may not be set so as to provide an inducement (a) in the recruitment or retention of employees or (b) to encourage the occupancy of available rental quarters. (See 5 U.S.C. 5536.)

§ 114-52.105 Definitions.

The terms used in this Part 114-52 are defined as follows:

- (a) Rental quarters. All quarters owned by or leased to the Government which are supplied as an incidental service in support of Interior programs whether rented to Government employees, to contractors and contractors' employees, or to other persons provided housing incidental to the performance of the Department's programs.

(b) Comparable housing. Housing which is generally equivalent in size with the rental quarters, with the same number of bedrooms, and with generally equivalent amenities and facilities, including garage.

(c) Private housing. Housing rented on a "landlord" basis, with the rental rates reflecting the fair market value of the accommodations to the tenant. This is distinguished from housing rented on an "employer-employee" basis, for which other considerations may have influenced rental rates. Examples of housing which is not "private housing" within the meaning of these regulations and, which should not be used in rental rate surveys, are other federally owned housing, housing owned by States or their subdivisions, housing provided by private firms for their employees, parsonages, and caretakers' homes or apartments.

(d) Established community. A population center offering the following minimal community services on a year-round basis, or, alternatively, on approximately the same seasonal basis as the occupancy of the rental quarters under consideration, regardless of population size or other criteria:

- (1) Medical. One physician and one dentist.
- (2) Educational. Public elementary and high school (unless transportation is provided without charge to a county or district school). Public library, school library available to the public, or scheduled mobile library.
- (3) Shopping. Grocery, drugs, clothing, hardware, and general household needs.
- (4) Religious. Congregations of two faiths or denominations.
- (5) Public transportation. Connection with at least one major town or city by common carrier.

(6) Minimal social, cultural, or entertainment facilities.

(e) Nearby representative private community. The nearest community to the rental quarters which offers sufficient private housing to form the basis of an adequate rental rate survey, together with the minimal community services set forth in IPMR 114-52.105(d). It must be a community which is not unreasonably affected by conditions of seasonal agriculture or tourism, population explosion, severe economic depression, or other conditions which may have created an inequitable rent structure in that community not shared by the general region in which the rental quarters are located.

(f) Amenities. Amenities include:

- (1) Paved streets.
- (2) Street lighting at least at intersections.
- (3) Sidewalks.
- (4) Lawns, trees, and landscaping.
- (5) General attractiveness of the neighborhood.

- (6) Community sanitation services.
- (7) Reliability and adequacy of water safe for household use.
- (8) Reliability and adequacy of electrical service.
- (9) Reliability and adequacy of telephone service.
- (10) Reliability and adequacy of fuel for heating, hot water, and cooking.
- (11) Police protection.
- (12) Fire protection.
- (13) Unusual design features of the dwelling.
- (14) Absence of disturbing noises or offensive odors.
- (15) Standards of maintenance.

(g) Basic rental rate. The basic rental rate is the monthly rental value of the quarters determined in accordance with subpart 114-52.2 of this part, before applying any deduction or additions. (Line 1, app. 2, subpart 114-52.2 of this part.)

§ 114-52.106 Rental rate principle.

Basic rental rates and charges for utilities will be set at the rates prevailing for comparable private housing in the same general area in which the rental quarters are located. (See subpart 114-52.2 of this part.)

§ 114-52.107 Application of modified principle of comparability.

The principle of comparability with private rental practice may be modified in the following circumstances:

- (a) Where employees must occupy space for use as quarters which is generally unsuitable for that purpose, or where they must reside in quarters which are suitable only for particular types of occupancy, such as, rooming houses, bunkhouses, bachelor quarters, residence hotel-type structures, barracks-type structures, or guard and lookout cabins. In these circumstances, where no comparable rental data are obtainable or professional appraisals are not made, rental rates will be determined by the square footage occupied, at a rate equivalent to one-half the basic rental rate per square foot charged for the nearest adequate rental quarters of the same or any other Federal agency. Rates established in this manner apply only to the shelter rental, with a separate charge for any other facilities and services provided (such as water, heat, light, and furniture) at rates comparable to those in the area.

(b) Where quarters are occupied on a temporary or transient basis—normally for 60 days or less. Quarters so occupied will be charged for at rates equivalent to private transient quarters of comparable type and quality when available. Rates may be set on a nightly or weekly basis, or both. Where comparable private transient quarters are not available in the area, rates may be established by determining the reasonable monthly rental rate for the quarters and adding thereto an additional charge of 20 percent. The sum of these will be divided by 30 to determine the nightly rate, or by 4 1/3 to determine the weekly rate.

§ 114-52.108 Quarters in the territories and possessions.

The general policies outlined in this part 114-52 apply to quarters located in the territories and possessions. However, the method to be used in determining rates in each area requires the advance approval of the Office of Management and Budget. Where two or more Interior bureaus administer rental quarters in the same area, a coordinated method of determining rates shall be developed for Office of Management and Budget consideration.

(a) Proposals must demonstrate that the method to be used will be impartial and consistent for all rental quarters in the same area, and that rents and other charges will be set at the reasonable value of the quarters and other facilities.

(b) Original proposals outlining the method to be used in setting rates, or proposed revisions to existing methods, shall be submitted to the Assistant Secretary—Management, for consideration and transmittal to the Office of Management and Budget.

§ 114-52.109 Employees in leave status.

Employees on leave, with or without pay, for 30 calendar days or less will continue to be charged for quarters. Employees on leave for more than 30 days may be permitted to vacate quarters and make them available for reassignment. Where the employee is to be separated at the end of a leave period, however, no charge should be made once the quarters are made available for reassignment.

§ 114-52.110 Workroom used as quarters.

An employee who alone, or with his family, utilizes his workroom for quarters, shall not be charged a rental rate for such facilities. Examples of facilities which might be used in this manner are lookout towers, cabins, observatories, et cetera.

§ 114-52.111 Limitation.

No employee shall be charged a rental rate, excluding utilities, in excess of 20 percent of his gross salary—pay and allowances. (See IPMR 114-52.305.)

(a) The limitation specified in this section applies to the monthly shelter rental rate—line 4, appendix 2, subpart 114-52.2 of this part.

(b) The monthly net rental rate charged an employee (line 9, app. 2, subpart 114-52.2 of this part), which includes charges for utilities, may exceed 20 percent of his gross salary without limitation.

Subpart 114-52.2—Surveys and Appraisals

§ 114-52.201 Basic rent principle.

As provided in subpart 114-52.1 of this part, rental quarters shall be rented at shelter rates and utilities and services charged for at rates prevailing for comparable private housing and services in the same general area as where the rental quarters are located. Rates lower than those prevailing in the area may not be charged for comparable housing, since this would be a form of employee subsidization specifically forbidden by statute, Comptroller General's decisions, and Office of Management and Budget regulations. Conversely, rates higher than those prevailing in the area should not be charged as the Department's purpose in providing rental quarters is not to profit as a landlord, but to advance its programs by having its employees adequately housed.

§ 114-52.202 Determination of survey community.

The determination as to which community shall be used for rental rate survey purposes shall be made in accordance with the following:

(a) Where rental quarters are situated within an established community, as defined in IPMR 114-52.105(d), or not more than 5 miles from the boundary of such a community, basic rental rates shall be set at rates prevailing for comparable private housing in that community. Provided, That a sufficient number of private housing units exist in the community to form the basis for an adequate survey. It is sufficient that an adequate number of private housing units exist and it is not necessary that there be numerous vacancies.

(b) Where rental quarters are not situated as in paragraph (a) of this section, basic rental rates may be set by comparison with:

(1) Rental rates charged for comparable private housing in the nearby representative private community, as defined in IPMR 114-52.105(e), or,

(2) The average of rental rates for comparable private housing in an economically homogeneous area in which the rental quarters are located. The area selected should be large enough to permit an adequate sampling of comparable quarters, but small enough to maintain economic homogeneity. The area may comprise several communities and it must be clearly defined and reflected in the survey report.

§ 114-52.203 Establishment of basic rental rates.

Bureaus and Offices are authorized to establish basic rental rates based on impartial recommendations arrived at by any of the methods set forth below. Regardless of the method used, conformance with the basic principles set forth in Office of Management and Budget circular A-45, revised, and this part 114-52 is required.

(a) Outside professional appraisers. Use of outside appraisers is encouraged. This method will be found particularly advantageous at locations where it is not possible to form a quarters evaluation board composed of Government employees who do not reside in rental quarters. Care should be taken both in the selection of local professional appraisers and in the evaluation of their findings and recommendations to avoid any conflict of interest:

(1) Professional appraisers are authorized to employ the so-called real estate concept of "rental value" only in those rare instances when no private rental housing is available for comparison purposes in the established community, the nearby representative private community, or in the homogeneous area in which the Government quarters are located.

(2) The fact that a professional appraiser may be called upon to recommend rental rates does not relieve the bureau or office administering the rental quarters of the responsibility for insuring that prescribed rental rate principles are adhered to in arriving at such rates. On the contrary, it is incumbent on the bureau or office to insure that the survey is properly performed and to cause the entire rental rate process to be repeated if it is not.

(b) FHA appraisers. Rental rate appraisals made by Federal Housing Administration appraisers permit the use of generally accepted real estate concepts. Should any bureau or office desire to use this method to establish rates, it should submit its proposal to the Director of Management Operations for consideration and referral to the Washington, D.C., headquarters office of the Federal Housing Administration.

(c) Professional staff appraisers. Professional staff appraisers may be used to recommend, to the appropriate approving official, rates to be charged for quarters, utilities, services, and furnishings. A staff appraiser occupying rental quarters may not be used to recommend rates at the location where his own quarters are situated.

(d) Quarters evaluation boards. Quarters evaluation boards, appointed in accordance with Bureau regulations, shall recommend to the appropriate approving official the rates proposed to be charged for rental quarters, utilities, services, and furnishings. Each board shall be composed of Government employees. As a general rule, membership on each board should be limited to three employees, except where joint boards are concerned, a larger number may be expedient. Employees occupying rental quarters at a given location or subordinates of such occupants, may not serve on the Quarters Evaluation Board appointed to recommend rental rates at that location.

§ 114-52.204 Intradepartmental coordination.

Where two or more bureaus of the Department of the Interior administer rental quarters at the same location or in the same general geographical area, the following criteria shall be observed:

(a) A single rental rate survey shall be made in all cases where two or more bureaus administer rental quarters at the same site.

(b) Rental rate processes shall be coordinated with all Interior bureaus administering rental quarters within a 25-mile area. The only exception to this requirement is where different "established communities" properly apply to the separate housing sites. In each instance where a determination is made to proceed independently, the basis for the determination shall be appropriately documented and made a part of the records.

(c) It is incumbent upon each bureau to take the initiative in contacting the other bureau(s) having quarters within 25 miles of its quarters. The initial contact shall be made:

(1) With respect to existing quarters—at the time the next triennial resurvey of rates becomes due, if not made sooner.

(2) With respect to newly constructed quarters—at the time rates are to be set for such quarters.

(d) Coordination with other Interior bureaus should result in an agreement either to:

(1) Use the rates established by the bureau having the preponderance of housing in the area involved, provided the size and quality of the quarters are reasonably the same or,

(2) Undertake an immediate joint resurvey without regard to the due dates for the next triennial resurveys of any of the bureaus involved.

(e) In any case where agreement cannot be reached by the bureaus involved as to the method to be followed in setting rates, full particulars describing the specific points or areas of disagreement shall be transmitted to the Assistant Secretary—Management through appropriate bureau channels for consideration.

§ 114-52.205 Interagency coordination.

(a) Where another Federal agency administers rental quarters in the same area as where Interior housing is located, an effort shall be made to coordinate rental rate processes with such other agency or agencies.

(b) Bureaus and offices are authorized to deviate from established departmental criteria (such as the isolation scale in Subpart 114-52.3 of this part) where deviation is necessary to accomplish interagency coordination, provided that any such deviation shall not violate any of the principles and standards set out in Office of Management and Budget Circular No. A-45, Revised.

§ 114-52.206 Establishment of charges for utilities.

(a) Charges to occupants of rental quarters for utilities such as heat, electricity, gas, and water, will be established as follows:

(1) When furnished by the Government and measured through a meter, by application of the domestic rates for similar services in the community or locality used for comparison of rental rates.

(2) When utilities are not metered or otherwise measured, charges will be arrived at by comparison with the cost of such services to tenants of comparable private rental housing.

(b) Charges for utilities shall be clearly identified and distinguished from charges for rent. (See Appendix 2 of this Subpart 114-52.2.) In establishing rental rates for nonhousekeeping rooms however, the room rent may combine shelter rent and utilities without distinction.

§ 114-52.207 Records.

A complete record shall be maintained at the approving office level showing all actions taken in the rate making process, including:

(a) A description of both the rental quarters being evaluated and the private housing used for comparison purposes. This record should be maintained on a form similar to that illustrated in Appendix 1 of this Subpart 114-52.2.

(b) The findings and recommendations of the Quarters Evaluation Board or professional appraiser, and

(c) Rental rate schedules, including charges for utilities, services, and furnishings. This record should be maintained on a form similar to that illustrated in Appendix 2 of this Subpart 114-52.2.

§ 114-52.208 Review of rental rate schedules.

A copy of each rental rate schedule shall be reviewed by and maintained at the headquarters office level of the Bureau. These schedules will provide a means whereby management will be informed as to the status of the administration of the requirements of this Part 114-52.

§ 114-52.209 Resurvey of existing rates.

Rates for quarters, utilities, services, and furnishings shall be reviewed at least once each 3 years to insure that adjustments, upwards or downwards, are made to reflect changes in the private market. This resurvey will include the entire ratemaking process, including a resurvey of comparable private rental housing. Adjustments in authorized deductions from, and additional charges to, the basic rental rate may be made from time to time during the 3-year period as necessary, but frequent changes in rates should be avoided.

Subpart 114-52.3—Adjustments to Basic Rental Rates

§ 114-52.301 General.

In those cases where direct application of the principle of comparability with private rents results in either higher or lower rental rates than the "reasonable value of the quarters" to the employee, deductions from or additions to the basic shelter rental rate shall be made within the limits and to the extent authorized in this Subpart 114-52.3. The total of all deductions for all reasons must not be so great that it results in a rental rate that is less than the reasonable value of the quarters, since this would constitute a supplementation of salary specifically forbidden by statute.

§ 114-52.302 Isolation deduction.

An isolation deduction will be granted in those situations where the rental quarters are located at some distance from a community where minimal community services are available.

(a) The nearest community to the housing location which qualifies as an "established community," as defined in § 114-52.105(d) must always be used for purposes of computing the isolation deduction even though a more distant community may have been used for rental rate survey purposes.

(b) A more distant community may be used for computing the isolation deduction only when the nearest community is deficient in two or more of the services listed in § 114-52.105(d) of this part.

(c) The isolation deduction is intended to offset only the unusual transportation costs incurred by the employees in obtaining necessary community services. Thus, an isolation deduction of less than the maximum will be appropriate and should be granted in certain situations such as, where part of the community services are available at: (1) The quarters location, or (2) a location nearer to the quarters site than the nearest shopping district of the established community. In any case, the deduction shall be consistent for all quarters at the location in accordance with the scale contained in Appendix 1 to this Subpart 114-50.3.

(d) Where travel to and from the rental quarters location is fully dependent upon Government operated or public transportation and personally owned vehicles cannot be used, the deduction may be computed on the basis of scheduled elapsed time of a round trip in lieu of the foregoing scale. For details concerning this method of computing the deduction, see paragraph 6.c.(1) of Office of Management and Budget Circular A-45, Revised.

(e) In those instances where the monthly transportation deduction established in accordance with the scale shown in Appendix 1, of this Subpart 114-52.3, is $45 a month or less, the maximum allowable adjustment for all reasons shall not exceed 50 percent of the basic shelter rental rate—Line 1 of the evaluation schedule illustrated in Appendix 2, Subpart 114-52.2 of this part. Where the transportation deduction exceeds $45 a month, the maximum adjustment for all reasons may not exceed 67 percent of the basic shelter rental rate.

§ 114-52.303 Adjustment for differences in amenities.

An adjustment in the basic rental rates shall be made to reflect differences in amenities (higher or lower) which may exist for rental quarters in relation to those of the private housing used for comparison.

(a) When the rates are recommended by a Quarters Evaluation Board, each of the amenities listed in § 114-52.105(f) will be assigned the value of two percentage points. The difference in total points between those assigned the rental quarters and those assigned to the private housing will determine the deduction from or addition to the basic rental rate. For example: The amenities listed are all present in much the same degree for both the rental quarters and the private housing, except that police and fire protection at the rental quarters location is inferior to that in the survey community. In this example, the total points related to the rental quarters would be four points lower and the rental would be reduced in an amount equal to 4 percent of the basic rental rate.

(b) The two percentage point formula referred to in paragraph (a) of this section need not be used to determine the adjustment for differences in amenities where appraisals are made by a professional appraiser. He may arrive at the recommended adjustment by means other than the two percentage point formula. However, in determining this adjustment, a professional appraiser may not take into consideration any amenities not listed in § 114-52.105(f) of this part. The record supporting his recommendations should show the extent to which amenities are reflected in the recommended rate.

§ 114-52.304 Invasion of privacy.

A deduction from the basic rental rate will be granted whenever a portion of the rental quarters are used for the purpose of accommodating official visitors, for official office space, or for the general convenience of the public. The frequency of the official demands and the extent to which the employee's private use of the family area is restricted should be taken into consideration in computing the deduction.

(a) Where the imposition is virtually a daily occurrence and the private use of the family area is seriously affected, a deduction of 10 percent of the basic rental rate is allowable.

(b) Deductions of less than 10 percent of the basic rental rate will be granted in proportion to situations of either lesser frequency or lesser seriousness in their impact upon privacy.

§ 114-52.305 Excessive size or quality.

At some locations, due to lack of available alternate housing, an employee may be required to occupy rental quarters larger or of better quality than he would select in a private community. In these circumstances, the rent charged the employee shall not exceed 20 percent of his gross salary (pay and allowance).

(a) Employees will not be charged for unused rooms in quarters in those instances where he is required to accept quarters larger than needed due to lack of available alternate housing. In these instances, the basic rental rate for the particular rental quarters will be determined by comparison with private housing having the same number of rooms as are used by the occupant of the rental quarters. For example: Where an employee is required to occupy a three-bedroom house and one bedroom is closed off and not used because it is clearly in excess of his family's needs, the basic rental rate for the quarters will be arrived at by comparison with a two-bedroom private house.

(b) This adjustment for unused rooms will not continue beyond 1 month subsequent to the availability of:

(1) Any private housing more suitable to the employee's needs, or,

(2) Rental quarters more suitable to the employee's needs, unless it is determined in each instance that reassignment to other rental quarters will not serve to benefit the Government.

§ 114-52.306 Inadequate size.

Where an employee, because of lack of available private housing or rental quarters, is required to accept quarters which are clearly inadequate in size for the needs of his family, a deduction of not to exceed 10 percent of the basic rental rate is allowable. This deduction will not continue beyond 1 month subsequent to the availability of adequate alternate quarters as provided in § 114-52.305(b) (1) and (2).

§ 114-52.307 Lack of all-weather construction.

Where, because of poor design or lack of all-weather construction, a particular rental quarters require expenses to the occupant in excess of $50 per heating season over the average heating costs for comparable private housing as determined by a suitable survey, 90 percent of such excessive costs (those in excess of $50 over the average) may be deducted from the annual rental rate. The total deduction will be applied to the months of the heating season.

§ 114-52.308 Documentation.

The records required by § 114-52.207 shall clearly reflect the facts and circumstances which support any adjustments (deductions or additions) allowed in accordance with the provisions of this Subpart 114-52.3.

Subpart 114-52.4—Implementation of New and Revised Rates

§ 114-52.401 Effective date of new rates.

Rates for newly constructed or acquired rental quarters, and utilities, furnishings, and services should be established before the quarters are to be occupied or the services furnished. In any case where this cannot be done, the rates proposed by the Quarters Evaluation Board or appraiser shall be used pending date of official establishment. Final rates shall be established at the earliest practicable time and shall not be applied retroactively.

§ 114-52.402 Effective date of revised rates.

Once rates have been established initially, subsequent revisions shall become effective on the first day of a biweekly pay period beginning not less than 30 and not more than 90 days after approval thereof.

§ 114-52.403 Notice to employees.

Whenever new or revised rental rates for quarters, utilities, furnishings, and services are to be established, the employee affected shall be notified of this fact, in writing, at least 30 days in advance of the effective date thereof.

§ 114-52.404 Rental period.

Rates shall be set on a biweekly basis for quarters, utilities, and services, except that rates for dormitory rooms and similar accommodations may be set on a daily basis. Biweekly rates shall be converted to annual rates by multiplying by 26, and daily rates by 364. Daily rate of accommodations shall be one-fourteenth of biweekly rates.

Subpart 114-52.5—Employee Participation and Appeals

§ 114-52.501 Employee participation in rate fixing processes.

Employees occupying Government-furnished quarters should be furnished the criteria and procedures to be followed in establishing the rental rates to be charged for such quarters, and utilities, furnishings, and services. They should also be afforded an opportunity, both as individuals or through employee organizations, to have their views and representations considered by the Quarters Evaluation Board during the rent fixing process.

§ 114-52.502 Appeals.

Employees should be notified of their right to appeal to the official approving the rental rate schedule for a reconsideration of an existing or proposed rate. It is desirable that such appeals be made through the usual channels.

Title 49—Transportation

CHAPTER III—FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

SUBCHAPTER B—MOTOR CARRIER SAFETY REGULATIONS

PART 393—PARTS AND ACCESSORIES NECESSARY FOR SAFE OPERATION

Discharge Location of Bus Exhausts

The Director of the Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety is amending § 393.83(b) of the Motor Carrier Safety Regulations to permit greater design freedom in locating the point at which the exhaust systems of other than gasoline-powered buses discharge to the atmosphere.

This amendment stems from a petition for rule making filed by General Motors Corp., which sought removal of some of the current restrictions on the location of the discharge point in order to accommodate an "Environmental Improvement Package" it had developed. The purpose of the Environmental Improvement Package is to reduce noxious exhaust emissions from diesel buses. A notice of proposed rule making, inviting interested persons to comment on an amendment to the rule, was issued on October 30, 1972 (37 FR 23579). The proposal would have changed the existing rule, which requires the exhaust system of every diesel-powered bus to discharge to the atmosphere at or within 15 inches forward of the rearmost part of the bus, with a rule providing two options: (a) Discharge at or within 15 inches forward of the rearmost part of the bus; or (b) discharge above and to the rear of any door or window designed to be opened for ventilation or passenger egress.

The comments of two bus manufacturers pointed out that the second option would not permit the use of new exhaust systems, such as the one developed by General Motors, in buses that have rear windows that open as emergency exits in conformity with Federal Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 217. One manufacturer also said that the proposed rule did not take into consideration buses designed so that a side door extends up into the roof section of the bus.

The Director has concluded that these comments have validity, and the rule now being issued has been drafted with a view to accommodating the design problems they raised. In addition, the Bureau has reconsidered the purpose of the rule and has decided that it should be written in a manner that is much less design restrictive. In the case of other than gasoline-powered buses, the primary safety hazard which may arise owing to improper location of the exhaust discharge point is fumes seeping into the passenger compartment through doors and windows during the vehicle's operation. If the discharge point is not located forward of those doors and windows, or if it is close to the rear of the vehicle, there appears to be little or no safety risk. Hence, the amended rule requires the discharge point to be located rearward of all doors or windows except windows designed to be opened solely as emergency exits or located at or within 15 inches forward of the rearmost part of the bus.

One bus manufacturer who filed comments asked the Director to amend the rule to permit the exhaust system to extend rearward of the rear of the vehicle. This comment raises issues quite different from those considered in the context of this proceeding—there is, for example, the matter of structural integrity of the exhaust system. The Director has decided not to deal with the request at this time. If the manufacturer believes that rulemaking proceedings to extend permitting exhaust systems to extend rearward of the vehicle's body should be undertaken, he may file a petition for rulemaking supported by appropriate data.

In consideration of the foregoing, paragraph (b) of § 393.83 of the Motor Carrier Safety Regulations (Subchapter B in Chapter III of title 49, CFR) is revised to read as follows:

§ 393.83 Exhaust system location.

- (a) The exhaust system of a bus powered by a gasoline engine shall discharge to the atmosphere at or within 6 inches forward of the rearmost part of the bus. The exhaust system of a bus powered by other than a gasoline engine shall discharge to the atmosphere either:

- (1) At or within 15 inches forward of the rearmost part of the vehicle; or
- (2) To the rear of all doors or windows designed to be open, except windows designed to be opened solely as emergency exits.

Effective date. This amendment is effective on April 1, 1973. Since this amendment relieves a restriction and imposes no additional burden on any person, it is effective less than 30 days after the date of publication.

MDEWAKANTON AND WAHPAKOOTA TRIBE OF SIOUX INDIANS AND SISSETON AND WAHPETON MISSISSIPPI SIOUX TRIBE

Qualifications for Enrollment and Deadline for Filing Applications

Notice is hereby given that it is proposed to amend § 41.3, Part 41, Subchapter F, Chapter I, Title 25 of the Code of Federal Regulations by adding two new paragraphs designated (q) and (r). The new paragraphs would establish requirements for enrollment and a deadline for filing applications for enrollment with the Mdewakanton and Wahpakoota Tribe of Sioux Indians pursuant to title I, section 101(b) of the Act of October 25, 1972 (86 Stat. 1168), and the Sisseton and Wahpeton Mississippi Sioux Tribe pursuant to title II, section 201(b) of the Act.

The purpose of the amendment is to carry out the provisions of the Act of October 25, 1972 (86 Stat. 1168), which require that the Secretary prepare rolls to distribute the money in accordance with title I, section 102 and title II, section 202 of the Act. The proposed amendment establishes a deadline for filing applications and outlines the requirements for enrollment to share in the funds.

It is the policy of the Department of the Interior, whenever practicable, to afford the public an opportunity to participate in the rulemaking process. Accordingly, interested persons may submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed revision to the Director of Community Services, Bureau of Indian Affairs, 1951 Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20245, on or before April 23, 1973.

It is proposed to amend § 41.3 of Part 41, Subchapter F, Chapter I, Title 25 of the Code of Federal Regulations to read as follows:

§ 41.3 Qualifications for enrollment and the deadline for filing applications.

(q) Mdewakanton and Wahpakoota Tribe of Sioux Indians. (1) All lineal descendants of the Mdewakanton and Wahpakoota Tribe of Sioux Indians who were born on or prior to and were living on October 25, 1972, whose names or the name of a lineal ancestor appears on any available records and rolls acceptable to the Secretary of the Interior and who are not members of the Flandreau Santee Sioux Tribe of South Dakota, the Santee Sioux Tribe of Nebraska, the Lower Sioux Indian Community at Morton, Minn., the Prairie Island Indian Community at Welch, Minn., or the Shakopee Mdewakanton Sioux Community of Minnesota shall be entitled to be enrolled under title I, section 101(b) of the Act of October 25, 1972 (86 Stat. 1168), to share in the distribution of funds derived from a judgment awarded the Mississippi Sioux Indians.

(2) Applications for enrollment must be filed with the Area Director, Aberdeen Area Office, Bureau of Indian Affairs, 820 South Main Street, Aberdeen, SD 57401, and must be received no later than November 1, 1973. Applications received after that date will be denied for failure to file in time regardless of whether the applicant otherwise meets the requirements for enrollment.

(3) Each application for enrollment with any of the tribes named in paragraph (q) (1) of this section which may be rejected by the Director to determine whether the applicant meets the requirements for enrollment as a descendant of the Mdewakanton and Wahpakoota Tribe of Sioux Indians under paragraph (q) (1) of this section. Each rejection notice issued by the tribes shall contain a statement to the effect that the application is being given such review.

(r) Sisseton and Wahpeton Mississippi Sioux Tribe. (1) All lineal descendants of the Sisseton and Wahpeton Mississippi Sioux Tribe who were born on or prior to and were living on October 25, 1972, whose names or the name of a lineal ancestor appears on any available records and rolls acceptable to the Secretary of the Interior and who are not members of the Devils Lake Sioux Tribe of North Dakota, the Sisseton and the Wahpeton Sioux Tribe of South Dakota, or the Assiniboine and Sioux Tribes of the Fort Peck Reservation shall be entitled to be enrolled under title II, section 201(b) of the Act of October 25, 1972 (86 Stat. 1168), to share in the distribution of certain funds derived from a judgment awarded the Mississippi Sioux Indians.

(2) Applications for enrollment must be filed with the Area Director, Aberdeen Area Office, Bureau of Indian Affairs, 820 South Main Street, Aberdeen, SD 57401, and must be received no later than November 1, 1973. Applications received after that date will be denied for failure to file in time regardless of whether the applicant otherwise meets the requirements for enrollment.

(3) Each application for enrollment with any of the tribes named in paragraph (r) (1) of this section which may be rejected by the tribes shall be reviewed by the Director to determine whether the applicant meets the requirements for enrollment as a descendant of the Sisseton and Wahpeton Mississippi Sioux Tribe under paragraph (r) (1) of this section. Each rejection notice issued by the tribes shall contain a statement to the effect that the application is being given such review.

No further changes are proposed to be made in the text of Part 41.

Proposed Mandatory Safety Standards; Notice of Public Hearing

Pursuant to the authority contained in section 101(a) of the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act of 1969 (83 Stat. 745; 30 U.S.C. 811(a)), there was published, as proposed rule making, in the FEDERAL REGISTER for December 12, 1972 (37 FR 26422), §§ 75.524, 75.1001-1, 75.1003-2, 75.1101-23, 75.1600-1, 75.1600-2, and 75.1704-2 of Part 75, subchapter O, chapter I, title 30, Code of Federal Regulations, setting forth mandatory standards which would: (1) Establish a requirement that electric current permitted to exist between frames of electric face equipment be limited to not more than 1 ampere; (2) provides for frequent testing and calibration of devices for overcurrent protection; (3) specify requirements for movement of off-track mining equipment in areas where energized trolley wires or trolley feeder wires are present; (4) provide for instruction in the location and use of fire fighting equipment, escapeways, exits, routes of travel and for fire drills; (5) improve two-way communication between working sections and the surface; and (6) require improved escapeways and periodic drills in their use.

Interested persons were afforded a period of 45 days following publication within which to submit to the Director, Bureau of Mines, written comments, suggestions, or objections to these proposed mandatory safety standards, stating the grounds therefor, and to request a public hearing on such objections.

Written objections were timely filed with the Director Bureau of Mines, stating the grounds for objections and requesting a public hearing on proposed §§ 75.524, 75.1001-1, 75.1003-2, 75.1101-23, 75.1600-1, 75.1600-2, and 75.1704-2 of part 75. In accordance with section 101 (f) of the Act, a Notice of Objections Filed and Hearing Requested was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER for March 14, 1973 (38 FR 6900).

Pursuant to section 101(g) of the Act, notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on April 10, 1973, beginning at 9 a.m., e.s.t., in Room 102, Law Building, University of Kentucky, South Limestone Street, Lexington, KY 40506, for the purpose of receiving relevant evidence on the following issues:

(1) That technology is not presently available to permit compliance with the requirement in proposed 30 CFR 75.524 that electric current permitted to exist between frames of electric face equipment be limited to not more than 1 ampere;

(2) That the Bureau of Mines should establish ways and means to enable coal mine operators to comply with the requirements of proposed 30 CFR 75.524;

(3) That the requirements of proposed 30 CFR 75.524 should not become effective until 1 year after promulgation;

(4) That automatic circuit interrupting devices described in proposed 30 CFR 75.1001-1 should be tested and calibrated at intervals not to exceed 12 months, rather than 6 months as specified in paragraph (b) of proposed § 75.1000-1;

(5) That a certified person need not be physically present at all times during the movement of off-track mining equipment in areas where energized trolley wires or trolley feeder wires are present as prescribed in paragraph (c) of proposed 30 CFR 75.1003-2, but rather only when the height of the coal seam does not permit 12 inches of vertical clearance between the farthest projection of the equipment being moved and the energized trolley or trolley feeder wires;

(6) That in mines which utilize direct current such current should be permitted to supply the trolley wire system from inby the unit of equipment being moved rather than be restricted to being supplied from outby such equipment as specified in proposed CFR 75.1003-2(f)(1);

(7) That lower current rated fuses be permitted as an alternative to the use of circuit breakers under the conditions described in proposed paragraph (f) of § 75.1003-2;

(8) That in mines which utilize direct current supplied to the trolley wire system from inby the equipment being moved, a miner should be stationed at the control switch inby the equipment in addition to a miner stationed outby as described in proposed § 75.1003-2(f)(3), provided that the inby miner has adequate personal protective equipment;

(9) That the exclusion for equipment being transported in mine cars specified in paragraph (g) of proposed § 75.1003-2 should be extended to equipment being transported on skids if no part of the equipment extends closer to the trolley circuit than the closest projection of track-mounted equipment normally used on the haulage road;

(10) That the training required in proposed 30 CFR 75.1101-23 should be verified during the course of coal mine inspections rather than requiring the operator to submit a training program to the District Manager for approval as specified in paragraph (a) of § 75.1101-23;

(11) That communication facilities located on the surface should be installed only near those main portals through which miners normally enter the mine rather than near all main portals as prescribed in proposed § 75.1600-1;

(12) That communication facilities located on the surface should be installed only near those main portals through which miners normally enter the mine rather than near all main portals as prescribed in proposed § 75.1600-1;

(13) That the responsible person described in proposed § 75.1600-1 should only be on duty during production or maintenance shifts rather than being on duty whenever men are underground;

(14) That communication facilities located on the surface should be capable of being heard or observed by the responsible person described in proposed § 75.1600-1 rather than restricted to only being heard by such person;

(15) That communication facilities provided at working sections should be located not more than 500 feet outby the last open crosscut and not more than 800 feet from the farthest point of penetration of the working places on the working section rather than the 300 feet and 700 feet distances specified in proposed 30 CFR 75.1600-2.

(16) That designated escapeways should follow the safest routes as directly as practicable to the nearest mine opening suitable for safe evacuation rather than the most direct route of travel to the nearest mine opening as specified in paragraphs (a) and (b) of proposed 30 CFR 75.1704-2;

(17) That all escapeways should not be examined weekly by a certified person as prescribed in § 75.1704-2(e)(1);

(18) That a map showing only the main escape system should be posted for the information of all miners, and that maps showing the designated escapeways from each working section to the main escape system should be posted in such working section rather than the map requirements described in proposed § 75.1704-2(d);

(19) That the escapeway drills prescribed by proposed § 75.1704(e) should be conducted with the same frequency as the fire drills prescribed by proposed § 75.1101-23(c);

(20) That escapeway drills should require each miner only to enter the section escapeway at its junctions with the working section and the main escapeway rather than requiring travel throughout the escapeway as specified in proposed § 75.1704-2(e); and

(21) That at least two miners, including the section foreman, on each producing section should travel the designated escapeways from the working section to the main escape system once every 3 months, and to the nearest mine opening suitable for safe evacuation from the working section once every 6 months rather than traveling through the main escapeways up to the portal at least once every 5 weeks as prescribed in proposed § 75.1704-2(e).

Donald P. Schlick, Deputy Director—Health and Safety, is designated Chairman of the hearing.

The hearing shall be conducted in an informal manner and a verbatim transcript will be maintained. All written statements, charts and other data will be received in the record. Within 60 days after completion of the hearing, findings of fact concerning the issues presented at the hearing shall be made and such findings shall be made public.

Persons who desire to testify at the hearing should notify the Director, Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240, not later than April 6, 1973. Copies of comments, suggestions, and objections filed may be examined at, or obtained from, the office of the Deputy Director—Health and Safety, Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, Washington, D.C. 20240, telephone (202) 343-4041.

JOHN B. RIGG,
Deputy Assistant Secretary
of the Interior.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Marketing Service

[7 CFR Part 206]

PURCHASES OF PROCESSED FRUITS AND VEGETABLES, OLIVE OIL, HONEY, NUTS, AND NUT PRODUCTS

Proposed Plant Sanitation Requirements

Notice is hereby given that the U.S. Department of Agriculture is considering revision of plant sanitation requirements relating to its purchases of processed fruits and vegetables, olive oil, honey, nuts, and nut products by revoking those prescribed in 7 CFR 205, adopting the Good Manufacturing Practices regulations (21 CFR Part 128) issued under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, and adding requirements for prebid survey and predelivery approval of plant sanitation conditions. It is anticipated that the effective date of this proposed regulation will be June 1, 1973.

All persons who wish to submit data, views, or arguments with respect to this proposal should file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than April 21, 1973 in order to be sure of consideration. Written submissions received pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

The proposal would revoke 7 CFR Part 205 and replace it with the following:

- Sec.
- 206.1 Purpose and scope.
- 206.2 Plant sanitation regulation.
- 206.3 Submission of bids.
- 206.4 Sanitation surveys.
- 206.5 Time to request sanitation surveys.
- 206.6 Cost of sanitation surveys.
- 206.7 Other rules and regulations.

AUTHORITY: 5 U.S.C. 301; sec. 32, 49 Stat. 774, as amended, 7 U.S.C. 612c; and sec. 6, 60 Stat. 281, as amended, 42 U.S.C. 1755.

§ 206.1 Purpose and scope.

This part prescribes plant sanitation requirements for plants which process canned, dried, dehydrated or frozen fruits and vegetables or their products, olive oil, honey, nuts, or nut products for delivery under purchase contracts with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (hereinafter referred to as "USDA"), acting through the Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, (hereinafter referred to as "FV Division").

§ 206.2 Plant sanitation regulation.

Any of the products specified in § 206.1 to be delivered to USDA shall be packed in conformity with the requirements of the regulations issued under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act by the Federal Food and Drug Administration, U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, entitled "Human Foods: Current Good Manufacturing Practice (Sanitation) in Manufacture, Processing, Packing, or Holding" (21 CFR Part 128), and any amendments or modifications thereof.

§ 206.3 Submission of bids.

In submitting bids for the products specified in § 206.1, bidders, including brokers and distributors, shall specify that the product to be delivered to USDA will have been processed in a plant which falls within at least one of the following categories:

(a) A plant which, at the time of processing such product, operated under continuous in-plant inspection of the Processed Products Standardization and Inspection Branch of the FV Division (hereinafter referred to as "PPSI Branch"); or

(b) A plant which, at the time of processing such product, operated under pack-certification in-plant inspection of the PPSI Branch; or

(c) A plant which, at the time of processing such product, was surveyed and approved by the PPSI Branch in accordance with the provisions of § 206.4.

§ 206.4 Sanitation surveys.

(a) In instances in which bids for a product specified in § 206.1 are due prior to the packing season, bids will be considered from plants which are not within the categories specified in paragraphs (a) or (b) of § 206.3 only if such plants have been surveyed by the PPSI Branch for compliance with the requirements of § 206.2. Surveys relating to facilities shall be made prior to bidding. Surveys relating to sanitation practices shall be made during packing of such product.

(b) In instances in which bids for a product specified in § 206.1 are due during or after the packing season from plants which are not within the categories specified in paragraphs (a) or (b) of § 206.3, the same survey requirements as in paragraph (a) of this section shall apply, except that both facility and practices surveys for the product offered shall have been made prior to bidding and that facility and sanitation practices surveys may be conducted simultaneously.

§ 206.5 Time to request sanitation surveys.

The responsibility of obtaining USDA sanitation approval is that of the bidder making an offer. Bidders who will not operate under continuous in-plant inspection or pack-certification in-plant inspection and who contemplate sale of any of the products specified in § 206.1 to USDA at any time during the marketing year should request sanitation surveys required under § 206.4 prior to packing. Bidders shall arrange for any such survey from the nearest PPSI Branch office at least ten (10) days prior to the time when the bidder desires such survey. The FV Division cannot guarantee to provide a survey within a shorter time. Upon receipt of the request, a sanitation survey will be arranged at a time acceptable to the applicant and the FV Division.

§ 206.6 Cost of sanitation surveys.

Applicants will be charged by the hour for the time required to perform each sanitation survey, plus travel expenses; but in no case shall the total cost exceed $100 for each survey of each plant.

§ 206.7 Other rules and regulations.

Compliance with the requirements of this part does not excuse failure to comply with any other applicable Federal, State or local sanitary rules and regulations.

Dated: March 16, 1973.

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service

[7 CFR Part 717]

HOLDING OF REFERENDA

Canvassing by County Committee

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to the authority contained in applicable provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended, the Department proposes to amend the regulations governing the holding of referenda.

The purpose of this amendment is to provide the State committee with authority to designate the county executive director and a county or State ASCS office employee in lieu of two members of the county ASC committee as presently required to canvass and report ballots in a marketing quota referendum. This authority is to be exercised only when the number of eligible voters for the commodity for which the referendum is being conducted is so limited that the requirement for having two members of the county committee present to carry out this function is impractical.

Prior to the issuance of this amendment, any data, views, or recommendations pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Commodity Stabilization Division, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, will be given consideration provided such submissions are postmarked on or before April 23, 1973.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at such times and places and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

It is proposed that § 717.21(b), canvassing by county committee of Part 717—Holding of Referenda (33 FR 18345), be amended to read as follows:

§ 717.21 Canvassing voted ballots.

(b) Canvassing by county committee. The canvassing shall be in the presence of at least two members of the county committee and open to the public: Provided, That if two or more counties have been combined and are served by one county office, the canvassing of ballots shall be conducted by at least one member of the county committee from each county served by the county office: Provided further, That the State committee may designate the county executive director and a county or State ASCS office employee to canvass the ballots and report the results, as provided in paragraph (c) and § 717.22, instead of two members of the county committee, when the State committee has determined that the number of eligible voters for the commodity for which the referendum is being conducted is so limited that having two members of the county committee present for this function is impractical.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on March 15, 1973.

Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service

[9 CFR Parts 108, 117]

VIRUSES, SERUMS, TOXINS, AND ANALOGOUS PRODUCTS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given in accordance with the provision contained in section 553(b) of title 5, United States Code (1966), that it is proposed to amend certain of the regulations relating to viruses, serums, toxins, and analogous products in Part 108 and Part 117 of title 9, Code of Federal Regulations, issued pursuant to the provisions of the Virus-Serum-Toxin Act of March 4, 1913 (21 U.S.C. 151-158).

The regulations in § 108.3 have been incorporated into the revised Part 117.

This proposed revision of Part 117 would, in part, revoke obsolete regulations written to control the spread of diseases from hog cholera antiserum production facilities. These facilities are no longer used for this purpose and the need for these regulations no longer exists.

Regulations for the admittance, maintenance, and disposition of animals used for test purposes or for production of biological products are included in this proposal.

PART 108—SANITATION AT LICENSED ESTABLISHMENTS

1. Section 108.3 is amended to read:
§ 108.3 (Reserved)

PART 117—ANIMALS

2. Part 117 is amended to read:
Sec.

- 117.1 Applicability.
- 117.2 Animal facilities.
- 117.3 Admittance of animals.
- 117.4 Test animals.
- 117.5 Segregation of animals.
- 117.6 Removal of animals.

§ 117.1 Applicability.

(a) All animals used in licensed establishments in the preparation or testing of biological products shall meet the regulations in this subchapter and special requirements as may be prescribed by the Deputy Administrator to prevent the preparation, sale, and distribution of worthless, contaminated, dangerous, or harmful biological products.

(b) Unless otherwise authorized or directed by the Deputy Administrator, animals used in the preparation or testing of biological products shall be admitted to and maintained at the licensed establishment and ultimately disposed of in accordance with the regulations in this part, and with the Act of August 24, 1966 (Public Law 89-544) as amended by the Animal Welfare Act of 1970 (Public Law 91-579) and the regulations in Parts 1, 2, and 3 of this chapter. Personnel who supervise the care and welfare of such animals shall be qualified by education, training, and experience to carry out the regulations in this part.

§ 117.2 Animal facilities.

Animal facilities shall be maintained in a clean and sanitary condition as provided in Part 108 of this chapter.

§ 117.3 Admittance of animals.

(a) No animal which shows clinical signs or other evidence of disease shall be admitted to the premises of licensed establishments, except as provided in paragraphs (d) and (e) of this section. The health status of all animals offered for admission shall be determined by a veterinarian prior to admission. If the determination cannot be made prior to admission, the animals shall be kept separate from animals already on the premises and in a quarantine area to be provided by the licensee for this purpose until the animal's health status is determined.

(b) If special test requirements for admittance of the animals are specified in the outline of production for the product to be produced, the animals shall remain in the quarantine area until such tests have been performed and the results obtained. Animals which do not meet the requirements shall not be admitted to the production area or allowed to contact production animals.

(c) All animals admitted to the premises of a licensed establishment shall be permanently identified by the licensee with tags, marks, or other means acceptable to the Deputy Administrator.

(d) When an animal which has a disease is to be used to prepare a biological product for control of such disease, the animal shall be admitted directly to the processing facilities in which the product is to be prepared but shall not be permitted contact with other animals on the premises.

(e) The Deputy Administrator may authorize the maintenance of diagnostic facilities at the licensed establishment and diseased animals may be admitted to such facilities provided admission is through an entrance separate from that used for traffic of other animals in the establishment and the sick animals do not contact such other animals.

§ 117.4 Test animals.

(a) All test animals shall be examined for clinical signs of illness, injury, or abnormal behavior prior to the start of a test and throughout the observation period specified in the test protocol.

(b) All animals used for test purposes shall be identified either collectively or individually in a manner conducive to an accurate interpretation of the results of the test.

(c) No test animal shall be given a biological product during the preconditioning period which would affect its eligibility according to the test requirements. No treatment, with a biological product or otherwise, shall be administered to a test animal during a test period which could interfere with a true evaluation of the biological product being tested.

§ 117.5 Segregation of animals.

Animals which have been infected with or exposed to a dangerous, infectious, contagious, or communicable disease shall be kept effectively segregated in a quarantine area at a licensed establishment until such time as they are humanely destroyed or successfully treated and removed as healthy animals.

§ 117.6 Removal of animals.

Production animals or ex-test animals which are no longer useful at the licensed establishment may be removed from the premises of the licensed establishment; provided, such removal is accomplished in a manner as shall preclude the dissemination of disease and in accordance with the following conditions:

(a) Animals which received a biological product containing inactivated micro-organisms and adjuvants within 21 days shall not be removed; or

(b) Animals which received viable micro-organisms within 30 days shall not be removed; or

(c) Only animals that are in a healthy condition as determined by a veterinarian shall be removed, except as provided in paragraph (d) of this section.

(d) Other animals that are injured or otherwise unhealthy, except when affected with a communicable disease, may be removed for immediate slaughter to an abattoir operated in accordance with the Federal Meat Inspection Act of March 4, 1907, 34 Stat. 1260, as amended by the Wholesome Meat Act of 1967, 81 Stat. 585 (21 U.S.C. sec. 601 et seq.). Provided, That such animals shall be properly marked for identification and the inspector in charge of slaughter operations is given due notice in advance.

(e) All animals on the premises shall be disposed of in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in this part and where specific provision is not made therefor shall be disposed of as required by the Deputy Administrator.

Interested persons are invited to submit written data, views, or arguments regarding the proposed regulations to Deputy Administrator, Veterinary Services, USDA, Washington, D.C. All comments received before May 21, 1973, will be considered.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at such times and places and in a manner convenient to the public business (7 CFR 1.27 (b)).

Done at Washington, D.C., this 16th day of March 1973.

G. H. WISE,
Acting Administrator, Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Coast Guard

[46 CFR Part 146]
[CGD 73-42 PH]

SHIPMENT OF DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE MATERIAL SOLD TO SHIPPER

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The Coast Guard is considering amending the dangerous cargo regulations to permit shipment of hazardous materials sold by the Department of Defense in packaging of equal or greater strength and efficiency than those specified for hazardous materials in 46 CFR Part 146.

Interested persons may participate in this proposed rule making by submitting written data, views, or arguments to the U.S. Coast Guard (GCMC), 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590. Each person submitting comments should include his name and address, identify the notice (CGD 73-42 PH), and give reasons for any recommendations. Comments received will be available for examination by interested persons in Room 8234, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC.

The Coast Guard will hold a hearing on April 17, 1973, at 9:30 a.m. in Conference Room 8332, Department of Transportation, Nassif Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC. Interested persons are invited to attend the hearing and present oral or written statements on this proposal. It is requested that anyone desiring to attend the hearing notify the U.S. Coast Guard (GCMC), 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590.

All communications received before April 24, 1973, will be evaluated before final action is taken on this proposal. The proposed regulations may be changed in the light of comments received.

This proposal is intended to remove the need for a special permit to transport materials purchased from the Department of Defense but packaged in packages that meet or exceed Department of Transportation specifications (49 CFR parts 173 and 178). However, these packages are marked only in conformance with military specifications that correspond to the Department of Transportation specifications.

In the text "airspace docket No. 71-NW-14" is deleted and "airspace docket No. 72-NW-28" is substituted therefor.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend part 146 of title 46 of the Code of Federal Regulations by revising paragraph (a) of § 146.02-8 to read as follows:

§ 146.02-8 U.S. Government shipments.

(a) Shipments of hazardous materials offered by or consigned to the Department of Defense (DOD) of the U.S. Government must be packaged, including limitations of weight, in accordance with the regulations in this subchapter or in containers of equal or greater strength and efficiency as required by DOD regulations.

(1) Hazardous materials sold by DOD in packaging that are not marked in accordance with the requirements of title 49 CFR 170 to 179 may be shipped from DOD installations if the DOD certifies in writing that the packaging is equal to or greater in strength and efficiency than the packaging prescribed in this subchapter and title 49 CFR parts 170 to 179. The shipper shall obtain such a certification in duplicate for each shipment. He shall give one copy to the originating carrier and retain the other for no less than 1 year.

Withdrawal of Proposed Alteration; Correction

FR Doc. 73-3959 withdrew a proposed alteration of the description of the Twin Falls, Idaho transition area. In the text of the document, it was stated that airspace docket No. 71-NW-14 is canceled. The airspace docket number given is incorrect. Action is taken herein to correct this error.

Since this correction is editorial in nature and no change in the regulation is effected, notice and public procedure thereon is unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, effective on March 23, 1973, FR Doc. 73-3959 (38 FR 5658) is amended as herein-after set forth.

In the text "airspace docket No. 71-NW-14" is deleted and "airspace docket No. 72-NW-28" is substituted therefor.

CONTROL ZONE AND TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration; Correction

On March 2, 1973, FR Doc. 73-3962 published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (38 FR 5657) described the proposed alteration of the Iliamna, Alaska, control zone and transition area. Airspace docket No. 72-AL-4 was inadvertently assigned to this proposed rule making action in lieu of No. 73-AL-4. Additionally, two typographical errors were noted in the printing.

Since this action effects no substantive change to the proposed rule, the comment period closing date may remain unchanged.

In consideration of the foregoing FR Doc. 73-3962 (38 FR 5657) is corrected as hereinafter set forth:

In the heading delete "airspace docket No. 72-AL-4" and substitute "airspace docket No. 73-AL-4" therefor.

In numbered paragraph 1. of the text, delete "§ 1.171" and substitute "§ 71.171" therefor.

In numbered paragraph 2. of the text, delete "§ 71.171" and substitute "§ 71.181" therefor.

This amendment is made under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348 (a)) and section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655 (c)).

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate the Cookeville, Tenn., transition area.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Southern Region, Air Traffic Division, Post Office Box 20636, Atlanta, GA 30320. All communications received on or before April 23, 1973, will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace and Procedures Branch. Any data, views or arguments presented during such conference must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received.

The official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Southern Region, Room 724, 3400 Whipple Street, East Point, GA.

The Cookeville transition area would be designated as:

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 6.5-mile radius of Putnam County Airport (Lat. 36°11'45" N, Long. 85°29'15" W); within 3 miles each side of the 331° bearing from Cookeville RBN (Lat. 36°11'34" N, Long. 85°29'04" W), extending from the 6.5-mile radius area to 8.5 miles northwest of the RBN.

The proposed designation is required to provide controlled airspace protection for IFR operations at Putnam County Airport. A prescribed instrument approach procedure to this airport, utilizing the Cookeville (Private) Nondirectional Radio Beacon, is proposed in conjunction with the designation of this transition area.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348 (a)) and of section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in East Point, Ga., on March 12, 1973.

Hazardous Materials Regulations Board [49 CFR Parts 172, 173, 174, 178, 179]

[Docket No. HM-106; Notice No. 73-2]

TRANSPORTATION OF HAZARDOUS MATERIALS

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering amendments to several unrelated sections of the Department of Transportation Hazardous Materials Regulations. Commenters need only identify the particular proposal on which they wish to comment when responding. The proposals covered in this document are:

- A—Iodine pentafluoride and other fluoride materials.
- B—DOT specification 51 portable tanks.
- C—Flammable liquids, n.o.s., in tank motor vehicles.
- D—Mercaptans in DOT specification 51 portable tanks.
- E—Sodium hydrosulfide in DOT specification 56 portable tanks.
- F—Lithium metal wire and certain alkali materials.
- G—Wet zirconium metal powder in DOT 37M/25 packaging.
- H—Bromine in MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks.
- I—Fluorosulfonic acid in cargo tanks.
- J—Liquefied petroleum gas in DOT specification 2P and 2Q containers.
- K—Audible fire alarm systems and fire extinguishers.
- L—Hydrogen sulfide in multiunit tank car tanks.
- M—Deletion of obsolete specifications.

PROPOSAL A—IODINE PENTAFLUORIDE AND OTHER FLUORIDE MATERIALS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to §§ 172.5, 173.246, 173.283, 173.284, and 173.285 of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to identify iodine pentafluoride by name as a hazardous material and to authorize the shipment of iodine pentafluoride in Specification 3A, 3AA, 3BN, 3E, and 4BA cylinders and in Specification 106A and 110AW multiunit tank car tanks. In addition, the Board proposes to make certain editorial changes which will group a number of the fluoride materials presently covered in different sections into one section, to delete the authorization for 10 pounds or less of these materials to be shipped in cylinders approved by the Bureau of Explosives, and to further delete unnecessary references to DOT-106A500 tanks.

Iodine pentafluoride is not presently listed by name in the regulations. However, it is shipped as a corrosive liquid, not otherwise specified, and is subject to the packagings prescribed in § 173.245. Because of the similar characteristics between iodine pentafluoride and other fluoride materials (i.e., antimony pentafluoride, bromine pentafluoride, chlorine trifluoride, et al.) which are listed by name in § 172.5, the Board proposes to incorporate iodine pentafluoride in the list of hazardous materials in roman type so that it may be used as a proper shipping name to be shown on outside packagings.

For packagings, the Board proposes that iodine pentafluoride be authorized to be shipped in the specific cylinders and multiunit tank car tanks previously described. The proposed authorization to use these packagings is based on 7 years of satisfactory shipping experience reported to the Board and on the experience obtained with these packagings now in use for the transportation of other fluoride materials. This regulation change would give shippers an alternate method of packaging without detriment to the safe transportation of this commodity.

A review of the present regulations reveals that antimony pentafluoride, bromine pentafluoride, bromine trifluoride, and chlorine trifluoride are found under different sections even though basically the packagings prescribed for each material are similar. To simplify the regulations the Board proposes to combine the fluoride materials presently listed with the proposed iodine pentafluoride entry into a single § 173.246.

Each fluoride section except § 173.246 covering antimony pentafluoride authorizes 10 pounds or less of material to be shipped in cylinders approved by the Bureau of Explosives. The Board believes that this packaging authorization is no longer used because it appears that it was established many years ago for specific needs at the time. Therefore, the authorization based on Bureau of Explosives approval is proposed to be canceled. Any person who may be using such cylinders or may know of their use is requested to notify the Board.

On January 28, 1970, in Docket No. HM-14; Amendment 173-18 (35 FR 1108) the hazardous materials regulations were amended to remove the specification designation 106A500 from sections affected since the "grandfather" authorization for the use of this specification is provided for in § 173.31(a)(2). Section 173.285 was overlooked in making this editorial change. The Board proposes to delete the unnecessary reference to DOT-106A500 tanks in § 173.285. However, since the provisions of § 173.285 are proposed to be combined into § 173.246 the reference to 106A500 tanks in this latter section is also proposed to be omitted.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Parts 172 and 173 as follows:

I. Part 172—List of Hazardous Materials Containing the Shipping Name or Description of all Materials Subject to Parts 170-189 of this subchapter.

In § 172.5, paragraph (a), the list of hazardous materials would be amended as follows:

§ 172.5 List of hazardous materials.

Article	Classed as	Exemption and packing (see sec.)	Label required if not exempt	Maximum quantity in 1 outside container by rail express
(Add)
Iodine pentafluoride . . .	Cor.	No exemption, 173.246 . . . . .	Corrosive . . . . .	100 pounds.
(Change)
Antimony pentafluoride . . .	Cor.	No exemption, 173.246 . . . . .	Corrosive . . . . .	25 pounds.
Bromine pentafluoride . . .	Cor.	No exemption, 173.246 . . . . .	Corrosive . . . . .	100 pounds.
Bromine trifluoride . . . . .	Cor.	No exemption, 173.246 . . . . .	Corrosive . . . . .	100 pounds.
Chlorine trifluoride . . . . .	Cor.	No exemption, 173.246 . . . . .	Corrosive . . . . .	100 pounds.

II. Part 173—Shippers:

(A) In Part 173—Table of contents, § 173.246 would be amended; §§ 173.283, 173.284, and 173.285 would be canceled as follows:

Sec.
173.246	Antimony pentafluoride, bromine pentafluoride, iodine pentafluoride, bromine trifluoride, and chlorine trifluoride.
173.283	[Canceled]
173.284	[Canceled]
173.285	[Canceled]

(B) In § 173.246, the heading, paragraph (a), and paragraph (a)(1) would be amended; paragraph (a)(2) would be added to read as follows:

§ 173.246 Antimony pentafluoride, bromine pentafluoride, iodine pentafluoride, bromine trifluoride, and chlorine trifluoride.

(a) Antimony pentafluoride must be commercially anhydrous. Materials cited in the heading of this section must be packed in specification packagings as follows:

(1) Specification 3A150, 3AA150, 3B240, 3BN150, 4B240, 4BA240, 4BW240, or 3E1800 (§§ 178.36, 178.37, 178.38, 178.39, 178.50, 178.51, 178.61, 178.42 of this subchapter). Cylinders. Each valve outlet must be sealed by a threaded cap or a threaded plug. Cylinder valves must be protected as specified for corrosive gases in § 173.301(g). No cylinder may be equipped with any safety relief device. Specification 3E1800 cylinders must be packaged in accordance with the requirements of § 173.301(k).

(2) Specification 106A500X or 110A 500W (§§ 179.300, 179.301 of this subchapter). Tanks. Authorized for iodine pentafluoride and chlorine trifluoride only. Each tank must be equipped with a valve protection cover and with solid steel plugs in place of fusible plug safety devices. No tank may be equipped with any safety relief device.

§§ 173.283, 173.284 and 173.285 [Canceled]

(C) Section 173.283 would be canceled.
(D) Section 173.284 would be canceled.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

(E) Section 173.285 would be canceled.

PROPOSAL B—DOT SPECIFICATION 51 PORTABLE TANKS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to §§ 173.32, 173.206, and 178.245 of the Department's hazardous materials regulations to limit the requirement for a reflective exterior surface finish on DOT Specification 51 portable tanks to only those tanks containing compressed gas, and to eliminate this requirement for other substances, such as flammable liquids. The Board is also proposing to refine the language that provides for this requirement.

The present requirements in § 178.245-1(c) specify that every uninsulated or nonjacketed DOT Specification 51 portable tank must be painted a white, aluminum, or similar reflecting color. This requirement applies to all DOT Specification 51 portable tanks containing hazardous materials, except when otherwise provided in the regulations.

This proposal is based primarily on a petition submitted by the Manufacturing Chemists Association, Inc.

The petitioner states that sunlight and its reflection on a DOT Specification 51 portable tank is a significant concern only for tanks containing liquid products having relatively high vapor pressures such as liquefied compressed gases.

The Board considers that the petitioner's comments with regard to the effect of sunlight on these tanks have merit and proposes to require that only those uninsulated DOT Specification 51 portable tanks used to transport compressed gases have a reflective exterior surface.

Section 173.206(c)(4) presently exempts DOT Specification 51 portable tanks from the painting requirements of § 178.245-1(c) when these tanks are used exclusively to transport metallic sodium. Confining the application of the light reflecting exterior surface requirement only to DOT specification 51 portable tanks containing compressed gases makes this exemption redundant for metallic sodium. Therefore, the Board proposes to amend § 173.206(c)(4) by removing the redundant sentence.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Parts 173 and 178 as follows:

I. Part 173—Shippers:

(A) In § 173.32, paragraph (a)(3) would be added to read as follows:

§ 173.32 Qualification, testing, maintenance, and use of portable tanks.

(a) . . .

(3) Each uninsulated portable tank used for the transportation of compressed gases, as defined in § 173.300, must have an exterior surface finish complying with § 178.245-1(c) of this subchapter.

(B) In § 173.206, paragraph (c)(4) would be amended as follows:

(4) Specification 51 (§ 178.245 of this subchapter). Portable tank. Each tank must have a minimum design pressure of 150 p.s.i.g. Each tank must be equipped with safety valves having a start-to-discharge pressure of 150 p.s.i.g. If a tank has exterior heating coils these coils must be welded to the tank and must be stress relieved. The material must be in molten condition when loaded and the tank must be held for sufficient time to allow the material to be completely solidified before being offered for transportation. Outage must be five percent or more at sodium fusion temperature of 208° F.

II. Part 178—Shipping Container Specifications.
In § 178.245-1, paragraph (c) would be amended as follows:
§ 178.245 Specification 51; steel portable tanks.
§ 178.245-1 Requirements for design and construction.

(c) Each uninsulated tank used for the transportation of compressed gas, as defined in § 173.300 of this subchapter, must have an exterior surface finish that is significantly reflective such as a light reflecting color if painted, or a bright reflective metal or other material if unpainted.

(c) Each uninsulated tank used for the transportation of compressed gas, as defined in § 173.300 of this subchapter, must have an exterior surface finish that is significantly reflective such as a light reflecting color if painted, or a bright reflective metal or other material if unpainted.

(c) Each uninsulated tank used for the transportation of compressed gas, as defined in § 173.300 of this subchapter, must have an exterior surface finish that is significantly reflective such as a light reflecting color if painted, or a bright reflective metal or other material if unpainted.

PROPOSAL C—FLAMMABLE LIQUIDS, N.O.S. IN TANK MOTOR VEHICLES

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to § 173.119(e)(3) of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to prohibit the transportation of flammable liquids, having a Reid vapor pressure between 16 p.s.i.a. and 27 p.s.i.a. at 100° F., in certain tank motor vehicles.

The Manufacturing Chemists Association, Inc. (MCA) submitted a petition to the Board which proposed to prohibit the use of certain tank motor vehicles for products having vapor pressures in excess of 18 p.s.i.a. except under certain conditions. MCA stated that many products which fall within § 173.119(e)(3) can generate up to 12 p.s.i.g. The Board is aware that with such pressures, intermittent or continuous venting of flammable vapors will occur if the tank motor vehicle is equipped with safety relief devices of 3 p.s.i.g. or less.

The Board does not agree completely with the MCA petition because it does not provide for safety relief valves of a proper design and setting for the flammable materials involved. Also, some of these tanks do not have adequate design pressures to prevent the venting of vapors under normal conditions of transportation.

Therefore, the Board proposes to amend § 173.119(e)(3) to prohibit use of certain lower design pressure cargo tanks in order to more adequately preclude venting of flammable vapors during transportation of these products.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Part 173 as follows:

In § 173.119, paragraph (e)(3) would be amended to read as follows:

§ 173.119 Flammable liquids not specifically provided for.

(3) Specification MC 304, MC 307, MC 330, or MC 331 (§§ 178.340, 178.342, 178.337 of this subchapter). Tank motor vehicles. Necessary interior cleaning of the tanks must be performed between changes in lading. Each safety relief device must have a start-to-discharge pressure of not less than 25 p.s.i.g. Each tank must meet the following requirements as applicable:

(i) Bottom outlets on each specification MC 304 cargo tank must be equipped with valves conforming to the requirements of § 178.342-5(a) of this subchapter; and

(ii) Bottom outlets on each specification MC 330 and MC 331 cargo tank must be equipped with valves conforming to the requirements of § 178.337-11(c) of this subchapter. Safety relief devices on these tanks must be in accordance with specification MC 331 (§ 178.337 of this subchapter) requirements.

PROPOSAL D—MERCAPTANS IN DOT SPECIFICATION 51 PORTABLE TANKS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to § 173.141 of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to authorize shipment of amyl mercaptan, butyl mercaptan, ethyl mercaptan, isopropyl mercaptan, propyl mercaptan, and aliphatic mercaptan mixtures in specification 51 steel portable tanks.

This proposal is based on a petition from a special permit holder who has reported to the Board that he has had satisfactory shipping experience with DOT Specification 51 portable tanks in transporting the previously mentioned materials.

The proposed amendment would require the use of a safety-relief valve with the specification 51 tank. In the case of extremely dangerous poisons, the likelihood of leakage of a valve must be weighed against the probability of the tank being involved in a fire. Probabilities may sometimes indicate that a valve would be more hazardous under overall continual exposure in transportation. Mercaptans do not pose this type of toxic hazard. Therefore, the Board proposes to require safety relief valves.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Part 173 as follows:

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In § 173.141, paragraph (a) (10) would be added to read as follows:

§ 173.141 Amyl mercaptan, butyl mercaptan, ethyl mercaptan, isopropyl mercaptan, propyl mercaptan, and aliphatic mercaptan mixtures.

(a) * * *

(10) Specification 51 (§ 178.245 of this subchapter). Portable tank. Each tank must be equipped with safety relief valves which must be in compliance with all requirements of § 173.315(i) except for paragraphs (i) (9), (10), and (11). A tank must not be liquid full at 130° F.

PROPOSAL E—SODIUM HYDROSULFITE IN DOT SPECIFICATION 56 PORTABLE TANKS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to section 173.204 to authorize the shipment of sodium hydrosulfite in DOT Specification 56 portable tanks.

This proposal is based on a petition by a special permit holder who has submitted reports indicating satisfactory shipping experience for over 3 years with the packaging authorized under the special permit.

To insure safety in transportation with sodium hydrosulfite in DOT Specification 56 portable tanks, the proposal requires that each tank be shipped in closed transportation equipment to protect against moisture contact. For trailer-on-flat-car and container-on-flat-car service each tank must be secured in accordance with Bureau of Explosives' Pamphlet 6C to prevent damages under normal conditions of transportation.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Parts 173 and 174 as follows:

I. Part 173—Shippers:

In § 173.204, paragraph (a) (8) would be added to read as follows:

§ 173.204 Sodium hydrosulfite.

(a) * * *

(8) Specification 56 (§§ 178.251, 178.252 of this subchapter). Portable tank. Authorized only for shipment in a closed transport vehicle. For rail transportation see § 174.534 of this subchapter. Not authorized for transportation by water.

II. Part 174—Carriers by Rail Freight:

In § 174.534, paragraph (b) would be added to read as follows:

§ 174.534 Portable containers or tanks.

(b) Specifications 52, 53, 56, and 57 (§§ 178.251, 178.252, 178.253 of this subchapter) portable tanks must be shipped only in a rail car that provides specific facilities for bracing and tie down of these tanks. If TOFC or COFC service is utilized, tanks must be secured in trailer bodies in compliance with Bureau of Explosives' Pamphlet 6C.

PROPOSAL F—LITHIUM METAL WIRE AND CERTAIN ALKALI MATERIALS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to § 173.206 of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to authorize the shipment of lithium metal wire in a Specification 12B fiberboard box with inside air-tight nonsparking metal packagings, and to authorize the shipment of certain alkali metal and alkali metal compounds in either a Specification 19A or 19B wooden box with inside air-tight metal packagings.

The lithium metal wire proposal is based on a petition by a special permit holder who has submitted reports indicating satisfactory shipping experience for over 7 years with the packaging authorized under the special permit.

The proposal to amend § 173.206(a) (1) is based on a petition by a special permit holder, that proposes use of the packaging authorized by the special permit. The petitioner contends that the integrity of Specifications 19A and 19B outer packagings is equal to or exceeds that of other wooden boxes authorized by the Hazardous Materials Regulations in section 173.206.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Part 173 as follows:

In § 173.206, paragraph (a) (1) would be amended and (a) (11) would be added to read as follows:

(a) * * *

(1) Specification 15A, 15B, 19A, or 19B (§§ 178.168, 178.169, 178.190, 178.191 of this subchapter). Wooden boxes must have inside air-tight metal packagings. Each inside air-tight metal packaging must have a closing device securely fastened by positive means (not friction). For shipments of lithium aluminum hydride, each inside metal packaging must not exceed 1 gallon capacity and must be securely closed, positive means not required. Each inside metal packaging containing lithium aluminum hydride must be cushioned in outside packagings with sufficient incombustible packaging material.

(11) Specification 12B (§ 178.205 of this subchapter). Fiberboard box. Authorized only for lithium metal in wire form. Fiberboard box must have inside nonsparking metal packaging. Each inside nonsparking metal packaging must be tin coated and sealed by rolled-on lids. The contents of each inside packaging must be coated with heavy mineral oil or petroleum and wound on a 3-inch by 3-inch nonsparking metal spool. The net weight of the contents in each inside packaging must not exceed one-fourth pound.

PROPOSAL G—WET ZIRCONIUM METAL POWDER IN DOT 37M/2S PACKAGING

§ 173.214(c) of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to authorize the shipment of wet zirconium metal powder in a DOT specification 37M non-reusable cylindrical steel overpack with an inside DOT specification 2S polyethylene container. The overpack would be required to be constructed of 24-gage steel throughout and the packaging would be restricted to a maximum capacity of 5 gallons.

Under the present regulations wet zirconium metal powder may be shipped in a 5 gallon capacity 24-gage non-reusable steel drum (DOT-37P) with an inside polyethylene container having a minimum thickness of 0.010 inch. Also, this material has been shipped under special permit for over 5 years without any loss of product in a 5 gallon capacity, 24-gage steel drum (DOT-6D) with an inside polyethylene container (DOT-2S) having a minimum thickness of 0.0625 inch. The permit prohibited reuse of the packaging. The proposed packaging would allow use of a 5 gallon capacity, 24-gage nonreusable steel drum (DOT-37M) with an inside polyethylene container (DOT-2S) having a minimum thickness of 0.0625 inch.

The Board considered a petition requesting an amendment to the regulations which would have provided for the use of nonreusable DOT-6D/2S packagings with wet zirconium metal powder based on the satisfactory shipping data that was reported under special permit. However, in the regulations, the DOT-6D outside packaging is reusable. The Board believes that a change to make this reusable packaging nonreusable for shipment of one hazardous material could be confusing and increase the possibility of reuse of the packaging which could detrimentally affect the safe transportation of this material. Therefore, the Board proposes that wet zirconium metal powder be authorized for shipment in a non-reusable DOT specification 37M, made of 24 gage throughout and restricted to 5 gallons capacity, with an inside DOT specification 2S polyethylene container.

The fact that a DOT-37M nonreusable packaging is required to be constructed similar to the DOT-6D reusable packaging except for gage requirements lends support to the Board's proposal. By requiring the DOT-37M to be constructed of 24 gage, it is the Board's opinion that the proposed packaging is equivalent to the DOT-6D packaging currently authorized under special permit and is better than the DOT-37P packaging presently authorized. This regulation change would give shippers an alternate method of packaging without detriment to the safe transportation of this material.

In § 173.214, paragraph (c) (4) would be added to read as follows:

(c) * * *

(4) Specification 37M (§ 178.134 of this subchapter). Cylindrical steel overpack with inside specification 2S (§ 178.35 of this subchapter) polyethylene container. Each overpack must be constructed of at least 24-gage steel. Each packaging may not exceed a capacity of 5 gallons. Net weight of contents may not exceed 50 pounds of dry material.

PROPOSAL H—BROMINE IN MC 310 AND MC 312 CARGO TANKS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to § 173.252 of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to change the quantity requirements for bromine authorized in MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks, to change the cladding and lining requirements for these cargo tanks, and to make editorial changes in Specification 105A300W tank car requirements.

This proposal is based, in part, on a petition from a holder of a special permit to amend the regulations applying to the amount of bromine which may be transported in MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks. The petitioner has proposed that the reference to product weight be deleted from the regulations and that the filling of bromine shipped in cargo tanks be controlled by a percentage of the water weight capacity of the tank. The regulations now permit up to 30,000 pounds of bromine to be transported in these tanks. Data reported to the Board in connection with a special permit allowing the transportation of 45,000 pounds of bromine in these cargo tanks indicates satisfactory shipping experience.

The quantity of bromine loaded into these tanks is controlled by the design of the cargo tank. Therefore, the Board is of the opinion that the quantity of bromine shipped in MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks need not be restricted by product weight and it is proper to restrict filling by a stated percentage of the water weight capacity of the tank. Accordingly, the Board proposes that § 173.252(a) (4) be amended so that the maximum quantity of bromine loaded into a tank must not exceed 300 percent of the water weight capacity of the tank.

Section 173.252(a) (3) requires a Specification 105A300W tank car used for bromine to be lined with lead at least 3/16-inch thick. Section 173.252(a) (4) currently requires Specification MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks used for bromine to be lined with lead at least 3/16-inch thick. The 3/16-inch lead lining appears overly restrictive in relation to the 3/16-inch requirement for rail tank cars. Therefore, the Board proposes to amend the present regulations applicable to Specification MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks in bromine service to authorize a minimum 3/16-inch lead lining which is similar to the rail tank car requirement in § 173.252(a) (3).

Section 173.252(a) (3) provides an alternative (either cladding or lead lining) on all authorized tank cars. Section 173.252(a) (4) provides only a lead lining for certain Specification MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks, and § 173.252(a) (5) provides only for cladding of Specification MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks. The Board proposes to include in one paragraph all the alternatives for Specification MC 310 and MC 312 cargo tanks in bromine service.

The Board also proposes minor editorial and format changes in § 173.252(a) (3) for Specification 105A300W tank cars.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Part 173 as follows:

In § 173.252, paragraphs (a) (3) and (a) (4) would be amended; and paragraph (a) (5) would be canceled as follows:

§ 173.252 Bromine.

(3) Spec. 105A300W (§§ 179.100, 179.101 of this subchapter). Tank car. Each tank must have a nickel cladding material on the inside surface comprising at least 20 percent of the total thickness, or be lined with lead no less than 3/16-inch thick. Openings in tank heads are authorized and must be closed in an approved manner. All closures and appurtenances which are in contact with the lading must be lead lined or must be made of metal not subject to rapid deterioration by contact with the lading. All interior welds in nickel clad tanks must be protected by pure nickel butt straps. Except as otherwise provided herein, the water weight capacity of the tank must not be more than 20,400 pounds, and the maximum quantity of liquid bromine loaded into the tank must not be more than 60,000 pounds or 300 percent of the water weight capacity of the tank, whichever quantity is less. The total quantity loaded must not be less than 98 percent of the quantity the tank is authorized to carry.

(4) A tank constructed and maintained in full compliance with the requirements of a Specification DOT-105A500W is authorized for larger capacities of bromine. However, this tank may be marked DOT-105A300W and may be equipped with manway cover plates, safety valves, venting valves, loading valves, and unloading valves that are in compliance with the requirements of a Specification DOT-105A300W tank. The water weight capacity of this tank must not be more than 37,400 pounds, and the maximum quantity of liquid bromine loaded into the tank must not be more than 110,000 pounds or 300 percent of the water weight capacity of the tank, whichever quantity is less.

(4) Specification MC 310 or MC 312 (§ 178.343 of this subchapter). Tank motor vehicles. Each tank must have a shell and head thickness of at least three-eighths inch. Each tank must have a nickel cladding material on the inside surface comprising at least 20 percent of the total thickness or be lined with lead at least 3/16-inch thick. The cladding material must conform to requirements of ASTM Specification B-162-69. The composite plate must conform to requirements of ASTM Specification A-265-69. The maximum quantity of liquid bromine loaded into the tank must not exceed 300 percent of the water weight capacity of the tank. The total quantity loaded must not be less than 98 percent of the quantity the tank is authorized to carry.

PROPOSAL I—FLUOSULFONIC ACID IN CARGO TANKS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to § 173.274 of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to authorize the shipment of fluosulfonic acid in DOT specifications MC 310, MC 311, and MC 312 cargo tanks.

This proposal is based on several years of satisfactory shipping experience reported to the Board under special permit. These changes would provide alternate methods of packagings without affecting the safe transportation of this commodity.

On the basis of the satisfactory shipping experience the Board is proposing to incorporate the provisions of the special permit into the regulations.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Part 173 as follows:

In § 173.274, paragraph (a) (4) would be added to read as follows:

§ 173.274 Fluosulfonic acid.

(a) * * *

(4) Specification MC 310, MC 311, or MC 312 (§ 178.343 of this subchapter). Tank motor vehicles.

PROPOSAL J—LIQUEFIED PETROLEUM GAS IN DOT SPECIFICATION 2P AND 2Q CONTAINERS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to § 173.804(d) (3) (ii) of the Department's hazardous materials regulations to provide for the transportation of liquefied petroleum gas in specification 2P and 2Q containers, without safety relief devices, with slightly increased charging pressures. Also, specification 2Q containers with safety relief devices are proposed as alternate shipping containers for the shipment of liquefied petroleum gas.

This proposal is based on a petition from the Chemical Specialties Manufacturers Association, Inc., and several special permit holders. Five years of satisfactory experience reported under special permits issued by the Department supports the position of the petitioners that liquefied petroleum gas may be shipped safely in specification 2P and 2Q containers, without safety relief devices, with maximum charging pressures of 35 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 100 p.s.i.g. at 130° F. The maximum charging pressures now authorized at 26 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 84 p.s.i.g. at 130° F.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Part 173 as follows:

Type of container	Maximum capacity		Maximum charging pressure—p.s.i.g.
	Cubic inches	Gallons
DOT-2P or DOT-2Q (see Note 1)	31.83		45 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 105 p.s.i.g. at 130° F. (see Note 2)
DOT-2P or DOT-2Q (see Note 1)	31.83		35 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 100 p.s.i.g. at 130° F.
DOT-3C or DOT-4C	3,881	16+8% tolerance	116 p.s.i.g. at 130° F.

Notes 1 and 2 remain the same.

PROPOSAL K—AUDIBLE FIRE ALARM SYSTEMS AND FIRE EXTINGUISHERS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering amendments to § 173.306 of the Department's hazardous materials regulations to change the requirements for exemption from specification packaging, marking, and labeling for the shipment of audible fire alarm systems and fire extinguishers. The present exemption requirements for audible fire alarm systems and fire extinguishers are found in §§ 173.306(b) (6) and 173.306(c), respectively.

The part of this proposal which deals with changing the exemption requirements for audible fire alarm systems is based on a petition from a holder of a special permit. The special permit exempts audible fire alarm systems from specification packaging, marking, and labeling requirements when the alarm system complies with all of the requirements of § 173.306(b) (6) except the system must have a minimum burst pressure of 850 p.s.i.g. The reported experience under special permit which has been in effect for over 2 years without any incidents appears to justify a change in the regulations. However, the petitioner requested that the present regulations requiring a 1,000 p.s.i.g. burst pressure be amended to require the system to withstand a burst pressure of four times the charged pressure at 130° F. In essence, the petitioner is requesting that the burst pressure of the system be reduced from its present 1,000 p.s.i.g. requirement to 720 p.s.i.g. This request is a further reduction of requirements of the special permit which requires a minimum burst pressure of 850 p.s.i.g. After careful consideration of all the facts and a review of the cylinder used under the involved special permit, the Board has determined that the requirements for exempting cylinders used in audible fire alarm systems must include a burst pressure of not less than five times its charged pressure at 130° F. This requirement would preserve the integrity of the system at a level more similar to that presently maintained by the provisions of the special permit.

In § 173.304 paragraph (d) (3) (ii), the table would be amended to read as follows:

Type of container	Maximum capacity		Maximum charging pressure—p.s.i.g.
	Cubic inches	Gallons
DOT-2P or DOT-2Q (see Note 1)	31.83		45 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 105 p.s.i.g. at 130° F. (see Note 2)
DOT-2P or DOT-2Q (see Note 1)	31.83		35 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 100 p.s.i.g. at 130° F.
DOT-3C or DOT-4C	3,881	16+8% tolerance	116 p.s.i.g. at 130° F.

Type of container	Maximum capacity		Maximum charging pressure—p.s.i.g.
	Cubic inches	Gallons
DOT-2P or DOT-2Q (see Note 1)	31.83		45 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 105 p.s.i.g. at 130° F. (see Note 2)
DOT-2P or DOT-2Q (see Note 1)	31.83		35 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and 100 p.s.i.g. at 130° F.
DOT-3C or DOT-4C	3,881	16+8% tolerance	116 p.s.i.g. at 130° F.

The portion of this proposal which changes the exemption requirements for fire extinguishers was developed by the Hazardous Materials Regulations Board on the basis of a need, as explained below, to improve the regulations covering cylinders used as fire extinguishers by making these requirements performance oriented.

It is proposed to amend § 173.306(c), which provides the requirements for exemption for fire extinguishers to permit an increase in the maximum charging pressure of the cylinder, to require that the cylinder be designed and fabricated to a burst pressure at 70° F., and to require the cylinder to be marked with a statement that it complies with the requirements of this section.

The proposed increase in the maximum charging pressure has been justified by the satisfactory experience reports received by the Board on these cylinders shipped under special permit.

The proposed requirement that the cylinder must have a burst pressure of six times its charged pressure at 70° F. is based on the premise that the prescribed test pressure of three times the service pressure may cause unsafe stressing of the fire extinguisher if the burst pressure is not specified. Therefore, a minimum ratio of burst pressure to service pressure at 70° F. is necessary. In keeping with well established design concepts, a ratio of six times the pressure at 70° F. is considered safe for all materials.

The proposed requirement that each cylinder be marked with a compliance statement is considered necessary by the Board to verify after the initial shipment that the nonspecification cylinder complies with the exemption requirements of § 173.306(c).

The Board believes that its regulations should be as compatible as possible with the regulations of other Federal agencies. In past rule making activities such as Docket No. HM-57 (37 FR 5946) and Docket No. HM-96 (37 FR 20554), the Board has adopted references to other Federal agency regulations. Likewise, in this proposed notice of rule making, the Board has referenced the Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration regulations with respect to retesting requirements for fire extinguishers to reduce the number of duplications and to avoid non-essential variations in specifications between agencies.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Part 173 as follows:

In § 173.306, paragraph (b) (6) and paragraph (c) would be amended to read as follows:

§ 173.306 Exemptions from compliance with regulations for shipping compressed gas.

(b) Audible fire alarm systems powered by a compressed gas contained in an inside metal container when shipped under the following conditions:

(i) Each inside container must have contents which are not flammable, poisonous, or corrosive as defined under this part;

(ii) Each inside container may not have a capacity exceeding 35 cubic inches (19.3 fluid ounces);

(iii) Each inside container may not have a pressure exceeding 70 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. and the liquid portion of the gas may not completely fill the inside container at 130° F.; and

(iv) Each inside container must be designed and fabricated with a burst pressure of not less than five times its charged pressure at 130° F.

(c) Fire extinguishers. Fire extinguishers charged with a compressed gas to not more than 240 p.s.i.g. at 70° F. are exempt from specification packaging, marking, and labeling requirements when shipped under the following conditions, except that marketing name of contents on outside packaging is required for shipments via carriers by water. In addition to the above exemptions, shipments via highway carriers are exempt from Part 177 of this subchapter, except § 177.817.

(1) Each fire extinguisher must be shipped as an inside packaging;

(2) Each fire extinguisher must have contents which are not flammable, poisonous, or corrosive as defined under this part.

(3) Each fire extinguisher under stored pressure may not have an internal volume exceeding 1,100 cubic inches. For fire extinguishers not exceeding 35 cubic inches capacity, the liquid portion of the gas plus any additional liquid or solid must not completely fill the container at 130° F. Fire extinguishers exceeding 35 cubic inches capacity may not contain any liquefied compressed gas;

(4) Each fire extinguisher must be designed and fabricated with a burst pressure of not less than six times its charged pressure at 70° F. when shipped;

(5) Each fire extinguisher must be tested, without evidence of failure or damage, to at least three times its charged pressure at 70° F. but not less than 120 p.s.i.g., before initial shipment. For any subsequent shipment, each fire extinguisher must be in compliance with the retest requirements of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration regulations of the Department of Labor, 29 CFR 1910.157(d), and

(6) Each fire extinguisher manufactured after (effective date of amendment) and filled and shipped under this paragraph must be legibly and durably marked "This extinguisher meets all requirements of 49 CFR 173.306(c)."

(7) When Specification 2P or 2Q packagings are used, subparagraphs (4) through (6) of this paragraph are not applicable provided each packaging meets the requirements of paragraph (a) of this section.

PROPOSAL L—HYDROGEN SULFIDE IN MULTI-UNIT TANK CAR TANKS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering an amendment to §§ 173.314 and 179.302 of the Department's Hazardous Materials Regulations to require use of safety relief devices on multiunit tank car tanks transporting hydrogen sulfide.

This proposal is based on a petition by the Compressed Gas Association, Inc., to amend the regulations as described above. The present regulations prohibit the use of safety relief devices on multiunit tank car tanks containing hydrogen sulfide but they are required on cylinders transporting this same material. Also, tank cars and tank trucks transporting hydrogen sulfide are required to have safety relief devices. The petitioner stated that the regulations are inconsistent in their requirements concerning the transportation of hydrogen sulfide.

It must be noted that the safety relief device prohibition on multiunit tank car tanks was based on the belief that an important hazard for packaging considerations was the high toxicity of hydrogen sulfide even though this material has always been classed as a flammable gas. The Board's proposal continues to recognize this property but seeks to provide against any violent rupture in a fire. The overriding concern is considered to be a violent rupture in a fire because of a gas container having no relief devices. The Board is of the opinion that the adoption of this proposal would make the transportation of hydrogen sulfide in multiunit tank car tanks safer. The present regulation, although prohibiting use of a safety relief device, does require the multiunit tank car tanks to be equipped with solid steel plugs in the safety relief device openings. If a tank were subjected to a fire environment, the high temperature created by the fire would cause an increase in pressure within the tank which could result in its violent rupture. However, if the tank were equipped with adequate fusible plug type safety relief devices instead of the required solid steel plugs, in the same fire environment, the safety relief devices should permit controlled release of the material and prevent a rupture of the tank.

When reviewing this proposal it will be necessary to review Docket No. HM-97, Notice No. 72-1 (37 FR 4295) Proposed H for a complete understanding of these proposed changes.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

posol H for a complete understanding of these proposed changes.

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend 49 CFR Parts 173 and 179 as follows:

I. Part 173—Shippers:
In § 173.314, paragraph (c), Table, Note 8 would be amended to read as follows:

§ 173.314 Requirements for compressed gases in tank cars.

(c) . . . . .
Note 8: Each tank must be equipped with adequate safety relief devices of the fusible plug type having a yield temperature not over 170° F., nor less than 157° F. Each device must be resistant to extrusion of the fusible alloy and leak tight at 130° F. Each valve outlet must be sealed by a threaded cap or a threaded solid plug. In addition, all valves must be protected by a metal cover.

II. Part 179—Specifications for Tank Cars:

In § 179.302 paragraph (a), the table would be amended; footnote 7 would be added to read as follows:

§ 179.302 Special commodity requirements for multiunit tank car tanks.
(a) . . . . .

Commodity	Safety relief device	Valve protective housing	Miscellaneous

PROPOSAL M—DELETION OF OBSOLETE SPECIFICATIONS

The Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is considering amendments to Parts 173 and 178 of the Department's hazardous materials regulations affecting those sections that authorize use and construction of wooden barrels and kegs made under Specifications 10A, 10B, 10C, 11A, and 11B (§§ 178.155, 178.156, 178.157, 178.160, 178.161). The Board proposes to cancel these specifications and the many authorizations for their use.

The reasons for this proposal are:
1. The Board believes these specifications are no longer used for shipment of hazardous materials, or if so, for very limited purposes;

2. The testing requirements (if any) specified for these packages are considered incomplete and inconsistent with testing requirements currently prescribed; and

3. The Board wishes to continue its effect to remove obsolete specifications from the hazardous materials regulations.
Any person using one of the above-listed specification barrels or kegs who desires that it be continued in the regulations for either construction or use should provide the Board with information concerning its use, including the number being used and the type of use. Also, any commenter may supply the Board with information concerning performance criteria for these containers including criteria pertaining to their capability of withstanding a 4-foot drop test such as is specified in § 178.116-12.

In consideration of the foregoing, the above specifications and references thereto would be deleted from the following sections:

Interested persons are invited to give their views on these proposals. Communications should identify the docket number and the proposal and be submitted in duplicate to the Secretary, Hazardous Materials Board, Department of Transportation, 400 Sixth Street SW., Washington, DC 20590. Communications received on or before April 24, 1973, will be considered before final action is taken on these proposals. All comments received will be available for examination by interested persons at the Office of the Secretary, Hazardous Materials Regulations Board, both before and after the closing date for comments.

Further Notice of Hearing Regarding Environmental Effects of Transportation of Fuel and Waste From Nuclear Power Reactors

On March 13, 1973, the Hearing Board designated by the Commission in the above-entitled proceeding, held a Procedure Planning Session in Washington, D.C., pursuant to telegraphic invitations which were extended to all participants who had filed appearances and/or statements in the matter. The purpose of the Planning Session, among other things, was to inform the participants of the procedures which were to govern the hearings on April 2, 1973, to set up schedules for appearances by participants, and to assign dates and time to be allowed for oral presentations by each group and participant who had filed notices and requests for opportunity to make an oral presentation.

Pursuant to the information and requests received by the Board at the Planning Session, together with the understandings and agreements expressed by the participants, the Board has determined upon a schedule of appearances for participants who are to make oral presentations in addition to the submission of written statements.

Accordingly, the following schedule will govern the conduct of the hearings to be held commencing 10 a.m., April 2, 1973, in Room 2008, New Executive Office Building, 17th and H Streets NW., Washington, D.C., and the following list will indicate the participants and the dates and time allowed for oral presentation:

MONDAY, APRIL 2, 1973

MORNING SESSION—10 A.M.

1. Regulatory Staff, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (Lester Rogers and James P. Murray, Esq.), 60 minutes.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

2. U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (W. D. Rowe, Deputy Assistant Administrator for Radiation Programs), 30 minutes.
3. Richard H. Sandler (Energy Consultant to Ralph Nader Organization), 30 minutes.

AFTERNOON SESSION—2 P.M.

4. Baltimore Gas & Electric Co. and other named utility companies appearing jointly (George C. Freeman, Jr., Esq.), 60 minutes.
5. Atomic Industrial Forum, Inc. (Edwin A. Wiggin, executive vice president and George L. Gleason, Esq.), 60 minutes.

As the participants have been advised, the Commission's notice of rule making herein, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 5, 1973, provided that written comments or suggestions on the proposed amendments to Appendix D, Part 50 of the rules, or on the Environmental Survey of Transportation of Radioactive Materials issued by the Staff in December 1972, are to be filed with the Secretary of the Commission by March 22, 1973.

Further, the participants appearing at the Oral Hearings commencing April 2d are requested, in accordance with the understandings reached at the Planning Session, to furnish the individual members of the Board, at least 48 hours in advance, with copies of any additional written submissions proposed to be presented on April 2d and with brief outlines of the major areas to be presented orally; and, at the same time, to file 10 additional copies of such additional written submissions in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission at 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC 20545. Further, it is likewise requested, in accordance with the aforesaid understandings, that the participants appearing at the April 2d hearing provide the other participants in the proceedings, named in the attached list, with copies of such additional written submissions and with other documents filed in this proceeding.

Office of the Secretary MANDELIC ACID FROM JAPAN Antidumping Proceeding Notice

On February 14, 1973, information was received in proper form pursuant to §§ 153.26 and 153.27, Customs regulations (19 CFR 153.26, 153.27), indicating a possibility that mandelic acid from Japan is being, or is likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160 et seq.).

There is evidence on record concerning injury to or likelihood of injury to or prevention of establishment of an industry in the United States.

Having conducted a summary investigation as required by § 153.29 of the Customs regulations (19 CFR 153.29) and having determined as a result thereof that there are grounds for so doing, the Bureau of Customs is instituting an inquiry to verify the information submitted and to obtain the facts necessary to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to reach a determination as to the fact or likelihood of sales at less than fair value.

A summary of information received from all sources is as follows:

The information received tends to indicate that the prices of the merchandise sold or offered for sale for exportation to the United States are less than the estimated home market price.

This notice is published pursuant to § 153.30 of the Customs regulations (19 CFR 153.30).

Proposed Withdrawal and Reservation of Lands

The Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, has filed an application, Serial No. A 7066, for the withdrawal of lands from location and entry under the general mining laws, but not the mineral leasing laws, subject to valid existing rights.

The applicant desires the lands described below as an addition to the existing Santa Rita Experimental Range and will be used in ecological studies that involve the measurement of vegetation or other changes over a period of time. It will also afford opportunities to study the effects of extensive grazing over both short and long terms on semi-desert ecosystems. The proposed addition of land is representative of southwestern range dominated by creosote bush and white-horn acacia. The present Experimental Range does not include comparable land, and such an addition will broaden research opportunities. The lands are situated in the eastern portion of Pima County approximately 18 miles south of Tucson near the community of Continental. The subject lands are presently under the administrative jurisdiction of the Bureau of Land Management.

All persons who wish to submit comments, suggestions, or objections in connection with the proposed withdrawal may, on or before April 23, 1973, present their views in writing to the undersigned officer of the Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior, 3022 Federal Building, Phoenix Ariz. 85025.

If circumstances warrant it, a public hearing will be held at a convenient time and place, which will be announced.

The determination of the Secretary on the application will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. A separate notice will be sent to each interested party of record.

The lands involved in the application are:

GILA AND SALT RIVER MERIDIAN
SANTA RITA EXPERIMENTAL RANGE ADDITION
T. 18 S., R. 14 E.,
Sec. 7, lot 4 and E $\frac{1}{2}$ SE $\frac{1}{4}$ ;
Sec. 18, lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, NE $\frac{1}{4}$ NE $\frac{1}{4}$ ,
S $\frac{1}{2}$ NE $\frac{1}{4}$ , SE $\frac{1}{4}$ SW $\frac{1}{4}$ , and SE $\frac{1}{4}$ ;
Sec. 19, lots 1, 2, and 3, E $\frac{1}{2}$ W $\frac{1}{2}$ , and E $\frac{1}{2}$ ;
Sec. 20, all.

The area described aggregates approximately 1,797.54 acres of public lands in Pima County.

This proposed withdrawal, if consummated, will vest management responsibility of the subject lands with the Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Dated: March 13, 1973.

The areas described aggregate 2,824.71 acres.

2. The lands are located in Hot Springs, Sweetwater, and Washakie Counties. They have values for watershed, grazing, wildlife, and recreation.

3. The mineral rights in the lands were not exchanged. Therefore, the mineral status of the lands is not affected by this order.

4. Subject to valid existing rights, the provisions of existing withdrawals, and the requirements of applicable law, the above-described lands will at 10 a.m. on April 18, 1973, be open to application, petition, and selection under the public land laws. All valid applications received at or prior to 10 a.m. on April 18, 1973, shall be considered as simultaneously filed at that time. Those received thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

5. Inquiries concerning the lands should be addressed to the Bureau of Land Management, Post Office Box 1828, Cheyenne, WY 82001.

[Order 77]

DIRECTORS OF NATIONAL PARK SERVICE REGIONS

Delegation, Redelegation, and Revocation of Authority

SECTION 1. Delegation. The Directors of National Park Service Regions in the administration, operation, and development of areas and offices under their supervision, are authorized to exercise all the authority now or hereafter vested in the Director, National Park Service, except with respect to the following:

(1) Authority to approve changes in policies and to establish new policies.

(2) Authority for final approval of Servicewide or regionwide program and financial plans for construction, professional services, land acquisition, park operations, and other programs.

(3) Authority for final approval of the location of new roads.

(4) Authority to perform the responsibilities set forth in title I and section 205(a) of title II of the Historic Preservation Act of October 15, 1966 (80 Stat. 915), as amended, except that the responsibilities of the Director under section 106 of title I as head of an undertaking agency are hereby delegated.

(5) Authority to initiate investigations of areas suggested or proposed for inclusion in the National Park System and sites under consideration for National Landmark status.

(6) Authority vested in the Secretary of the Interior by the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949, as amended (40 U.S.C. 484) relating to evaluation of the historical significance of surplus Federal property proposed for demolition or transfer and relating to the plans for restoration, rehabilitation, maintenance, operation, and use of transferred historic monuments.

(7) Authority to execute, amend, assign, and terminate concessions contracts and permits in excess of 5 years duration or when anticipated annual gross receipts will amount to $100,000 or more.

(8) Authority to issue general travel authorizations as defined in 347 DM 2.2C.

(9) Authority to approve the payment of actual subsistence expenses for travel.

(10) Authority to approve attendance at meetings of societies and associations.

(11) Authority to approve acceptance of payment of travel, subsistence and other expenses incident to attendance at meetings by an organization which is tax exempt.

(12) Authority with respect to making and enforcing rules and regulations for the Government, conduct, and discipline of the U.S. Park Police, under the Act of October 11, 1962 (76 Stat. 907).

(13) Authority to make certifications required in connection with reports made to the Secretary on each appropriation or fund under National Park Service control.

(14) Authority to approve Standard Form 1151, Nonexpenditure Transfer Authorization, in connection with internal transfer of funds.

(15) Authority to approve the use of a Government-owned or leased motor vehicle between domicile and place of employment.

(16) Authority to approve payment of dues for library memberships in societies or associations.

(17) Authority to approve rates for quarters and related services.

(18) Authority over those matters for which specific authority is delegated in internal management directives and unpublished delegations of authority arising in the Washington office.

Sec. 2. Redelegation. Subject to the following exceptions: the Directors of the Regions may, in writing, redelegate to their officers and employees, the authority delegated in this order and may authorize written redelegations of such authority:

(1) Master Plan approval authority may not be redelegated.

(2) In the regional offices, procurement and contracting authority in excess of $2,000 may only be redelegated to the Chief, Division of Property Management and General Services and the Chief, Office of Finance and Control. Authority to contract for supplies, equipment and services, including construction, may be redelegated by the Directors to Superintendents as follows: Superintendents, Grade GS-12 and below not to exceed $2,000; Superintendents, Grade GS-13 not to exceed $50,000; Superintendents, Grade GS-14 not to exceed $100,000; Superintendents, Grade GS-15 not to exceed $200,000. Authority to contract for supplies, equipment and services, including construction, may be redelegated by the Director, Northeast Region to District Director, New York Office not to exceed $200,000. The limitations in this subsection (2) of section 2 apply only to open market or non-mandatory sources of supply. Employees and officers who are otherwise authorized may continue to issue orders to GSA Centers and sources under established Federal Supply Schedules of Contracts in amounts exceeding $2,000.

(3) Authority to approve land acquisition priorities may not be redelegated. Authority to execute the land acquisition program, including contracting for acquisition of lands and related property, and options and offers to sell related thereto, may be redelegated only to the chief land acquisition officer in the Regional Office and field land acquisition officers.

(4) Authority to conduct archeological investigations and salvage activities may not be redelegated.

Each redelegation shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Sec. 3. Revocation. This order revokes National Park Service Order 66 (36 FR 21218), Amendment No. 1 (37 FR 4001), Amendment No. 2 (37 FR 12854), and National Park Service Order 63 (36 FR 5629). However, redelegations based thereon are continued in effect to the extent that they are not inconsistent with this Order No. 77.

[Docket No. S-334]

CHAS. KURZ &amp; CO., INC.

Notice of Application for Operating-Differential Subsidy Contract

Notice is hereby given that Chas. Kurz & Co., Inc., has filed Supplement No. 2, dated February 28, 1973, to its application of October 24, 1972, with respect to the modification of its Operating-Differential Subsidy Contract No. MA/MSB-188 to carry bulk cargoes to expire on June 30, 1973 (unless extended only for a subsidized voyage in progress on that date). The additional bulk cargo carrying vessels proposed to be subsidized, and the trade in which they propose to engage is presented below:

Applicant's name and address	Types of ships	Names of ships
Chas. Kurz & Co., Inc., 313 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. 19106.	Tanker....	SS Fort Fetterman.
	..do.....	SS Gaines Mill.
	..do.....	SS Mill Spring.
	..do.....	SS Northfield.

The application may be inspected in the Office of the Secretary, Maritime Subsidy Board, Maritime Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C. during regular working hours.

The vessels are to engage in the carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities in the foreign commerce of the United States (U.S.) from ports in the United States to ports in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (U.S.S.R.), or other permissible ports of discharge. Liquid and dry bulk cargoes may be carried from U.S.S.R. and other foreign ports inbound to U.S. ports during voyages subsidized for carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities to the U.S.S.R.

Full details concerning the U.S.-U.S.S.R. export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities subsidy program, including terms, conditions, and restrictions upon both the subsidized operators and vessels, appear in the regulations published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on November 16, 1972 (37 FR 24349).

For purposes of section 605(c), Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (Act), it should be assumed that the above-listed ships will engage in the trades described on a full-time basis through June 30, 1973 (with extension to termination of any approved subsidized voyage in progress on that date). Each voyage must be approved for subsidy before commencement of the voyage. The Maritime Subsidy Board (Board) will act on each request for a subsidized voyage as an administrative matter under the terms of the operating-differential subsidy contract for which there is no requirement for further notices under section 605(c) of the Act.

Any person having an interest in the granting of such application and who would contest a finding of the Board that the service now provided by vessels of U.S. registry for the carriage of cargoes as previously specified is inadequate, must, on or before March 30, 1973, notify the Board's Secretary, in writing, of his interest and of his position, and file a petition for leave to intervene in accordance with the Board's rules of practice and procedure (46 CFR Part 201). Each such statement of interest and petition to intervene shall state whether a hearing is requested under section 605(c) of the Act and with as much specificity as possible the facts that the intervenor would undertake to prove at such hearing.

In the event a hearing under section 605(c) of the Act is ordered to be held with respect to the application, the purpose of such hearing will be to receive evidence relevant to: (1) Whether the application hereinabove described is one with respect to the vessels to be operated in an essential service, served by citizens of the United States which would be in addition to the existing service, or services, and if so, whether the service already provided by vessels of U.S. registry is inadequate, and (2) whether in the accomplishment of the purposes and policy of the Act additional vessels should be operated thereon.

If no request for hearing and petition for leave to intervene is received within the specified time, or if the Board determines that petitions for leave to intervene filed within the specified time do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Board will take such action as may be deemed appropriate.

Dated: March 19, 1973.

Secretary.

ECOLOGICAL SHIPPING CORP. AND MONTICELLO TANKER CO.

Notice of Multiple Applications for Operating-Differential Subsidy Contract

Notice is hereby given that the following corporations have filed application for an operating-differential subsidy contract to carry bulk cargoes to expire on June 30, 1973 (unless extended only for subsidized voyages in progress on that date). The bulk cargo carrying vessels proposed to be subsidized and the trades in which each proposes to engage are presented also.

Applicant's name and address	Types of ships	Names of ships
Ecological Shipping Corp., 551 7th Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017	Tanker	SS Notre Dame Victory
Monticello Tanker Co., 555 7th Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017	do	SS Monticello Victory

The foregoing applications may be inspected in the Office of the Secretary, Maritime Subsidy Board, Maritime Administration, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C., during regular working hours.

These vessels are to engage in the carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities in the foreign commerce of the United States (U.S.) from ports in the U.S. to ports in the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (U.S.S.R.), or other permissible ports of discharge. Liquid and dry bulk cargoes may be carried from U.S.S.R. and other foreign ports inbound to U.S. ports during voyages subsidized for carriage of export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities to the U.S.S.R.

Full details concerning the U.S.-U.S.S.R. export bulk raw and processed agricultural commodities subsidy program, including terms, conditions and restrictions upon both the subsidized operators and vessels, appear in the regulations published in the Federal Register on November 16, 1972 (37 FR 24349).

For purposes of section 605(c), Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (Act), it should be assumed that each vessel named will engage in the trades described on a full-time basis through June 30, 1973 (with extension to termination of approved subsidized voyages in progress on that date). Each voyage must be approved for subsidy before commencement of the voyage. The Maritime Subsidy Board (Board) will act on each request for a subsidized voyage as an administrative matter under the terms of the individual operating-differential subsidy contract for which there is no requirement for further notices under section 605(c) of the Act.

Any person having an interest in the granting of one or any of such applications and who would contest a finding of the Board that the service now provided by vessels of U.S. registry for the carriage of cargoes as previously specified is inadequate, must, on or before March 30, 1973, notify the Board's Secretary, in writing, of his interest and of his position, and file a petition for leave to intervene in accordance with the Board's rules of practice and procedure (46 CFR Part 201). Each such statement of interest and petition to intervene shall state whether a hearing is requested under section 605(c) of the Act and with as much specificity as possible the facts that the intervenor would undertake to prove at such hearing. Further, each such statement shall identify the applicant or applicants against which the intervention is lodged.

In the event a hearing under section 605(c) of the Act is ordered to be held with respect to any application(s), the purpose of such hearing will be to receive evidence relevant to (1) whether the application(s) hereinabove described is one with respect to vessels to be operated in an essential service, served by citizens of the U.S. which would be in addition to the existing service, or services, and if so, whether the service already provided by vessels of U.S. registry is inadequate and (2) whether in the accomplishment of the purposes and policy of the Act additional vessels should be operated thereon.

If no request for hearing and petition for leave to intervene is received within the specified time, or if the Board determines that petitions for leave to intervene filed within the specified time do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Board will take such action as may be deemed appropriate.

MONTICELLO TANKER CO.

Notice of Application for Operating-Differential Subsidy Contract

Notice is hereby given that application has been filed under the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, as amended, for operating-differential subsidy with respect to bulk cargo carrying service in the U.S. foreign trade, principally between the United States and the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics, to expire on June 30, 1973 (unless extended only for subsidized voyages in progress on that date). Inasmuch as the below listed applicant, and/or related persons, or firms, employ ships in the domestic intercoastal or coastwise service, written permission of the Maritime Administration under section 805 (a) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended, will be required for each such applicant if its application for operating-differential subsidy is granted.

The following applicant has requested permission involving the domestic intercoastal or coastwise services described below:

Name of applicant. Monticello Tanker Co. (Monticello).

Description of domestic service and vessels. The applicant, Monticello, a subsidiary of Victory Carriers, Inc., owns the Monticello Victory and has requested written permission to, directly or indirectly, own, operate, or charter one or more vessels in the domestic intercoastal or coastwise service, and to own a pecuniary interest, directly or indirectly, in any person or concern that owns, charters or operates any vessels in the domestic intercoastal or coastwise service. The applicant is also affiliated with Mount Vernon Tanker Co., Mount Washington Tanker Co., and Montpelier Tanker Co.

Written permission is now required by the applicant, Monticello, notwithstanding that a voyage in the proposed service for which subsidy is sought would not be eligible for subsidy if the vessel carried domestic commerce of the United States on that voyage.

Interested parties may inspect this application in the Office of the Secretary, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce Building, 14th and E Streets NW., Washington, D.C. 20235.

Any person, firm, or corporation having any interest (within the meaning of section 805(a)) in any application and desiring to be heard on issues pertinent to section 805(a) or desiring to submit comments or views concerning the application must, by close of business on March 30, 1973, file same with the Maritime Administration, in writing, in triplicate, together with petition for leave to intervene which shall state clearly and concisely the grounds of interest, and the alleged facts relied on for relief.

If no petitions for leave to intervene are received within the specified time or if it is determined that petitions filed do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Maritime Administration will take such action as may be deemed appropriate.

In the event petitions regarding the relevant section 805(a) issues are received from parties with standing to be heard, a hearing has been tentatively scheduled for 10 a.m., April 2, 1973, in Room 4896, Department of Commerce Building, 14th and E Streets NW., Washington, D.C. 20235. The purpose of the hearing will be to receive evidence under section 805(a) relative to whether the proposed operation (a) could result in

REGULATORY GUIDES

Notice of Issuance and Availability

The Atomic Energy Commission has issued a guide in its regulatory guide series. This series has been developed to describe and make available to the public methods acceptable to the AEC regulatory staff of implementing specific parts of the Commission's regulations and, in some cases, to delineate techniques used by the staff in evaluating specific problems or postulated accidents and to provide guidance to applicants concerning certain of the information needed by the staff in its review of applications for permits and licenses.

Regulatory Guide 1.36, "Non-Metallic Thermal Insulation for Austenitic Stainless Steel," is being issued in Division 1, "Power Reactor Guides." This guide describes an acceptable method for the selection and use of nonmetallic thermal insulation for stainless steel portions of the reactor coolant pressure boundary and other systems important to safety in light water cooled reactors.

Comments and suggestions in connection with improvements in the guides are encouraged and should be sent to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Chief, Public Proceedings Staff. Copies of issued guides may be obtained by request to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Director of Regulatory Standards.

Other Division 1 regulatory guides currently being developed include the following:

Operating Status Indication for Nuclear Power Plant Safety Systems.

Availability of Electric Power Sources.

Preoperational Testing of Redundant Onsite Electric Power Sources to Verify Proper Load Group Assignments.

Qualification Tests of Continuous-Duty Motors Installed Inside the Containment of Nuclear Power Plants.

Requirements for Instrumentation To Assess Nuclear Power Plant Conditions During and Following an Accident for Water-Cooled Reactors.

Shared Emergency and Shutdown Power Systems at Multi-Unit Sites.

Physical Independence of Safety Related Electric Systems.

Isolating Low Pressure Systems Connected to the Reactor Coolant Pressure Boundary.

Assumptions for Evaluating a Control Rod Ejection Accident for Pressurized Water Reactors.

Assumptions for Evaluating a Control Rod Drop Accident for Boiling Water Reactors.

Quality Assurance Requirements for Cleaning of Fluid Systems and Associated Components of Nuclear Power Plants.

Quality Assurance Requirements for Packaging, Shipping, Receiving, Storage, and Handling of Items for Nuclear Power Plants.

Housekeeping Requirements for Nuclear Power Plants.

Requirements for Collection, Storage, and Maintenance of Quality Assurance Records for Nuclear Power Plants.

Requirements for Assessing Ability of Material Underneath Nuclear Power Plant Foundations To Withstand Safe Shutdown Earthquake.

Design Basis Floods for Nuclear Power Plants.

Design Phase Quality Assurance Requirements for Nuclear Power Plants.

Qualification Tests of Electric Valve Operators for Use in Nuclear Power Plants.

Fire Protection Criteria for Nuclear Power Plants.

Protective Coatings for Nuclear Reactor Containment Facilities.

Quality Assurance for Protective Coatings Applied to Nuclear Power Plants.

Application of the Single-Failure Criterion to Nuclear Power Generating Station Protective Systems.

Protection Against Pipe Whip Inside Containment.

Additional Material Requirements for Bolted.

Inservice Surveillance of Grouted Prestressing Tendons.

Stainless Steel Overlay Welding.

Design Loading Combinations for Fluid System Components.

Design Loading Combinations for Primary Metal Containment Systems.

Reactor Coolant Pressure Boundary Leak Detection System.

Concrete Placement in Category I Structures.

Control of Sensitized Stainless Steel.

Design Spectra for Seismic Design of Nuclear Power Stations.

Seismic Input Motion to Uncoupled Structural Model.

Control of Preheat Temperature for Low Alloy Steel Welding.

Rules for Inservice Inspection of Class 2 and Class 3 Nuclear Power Plant Components.

Primary Reactor Containment (Concrete) Design and Analysis.

Preservice Testing of In-Situ Valve Systems.

Installation of Over-Pressure Devices.

Nondestructive Examination of Tubular Products.

Category I Structural Foundations.

Maintenance of Water Purity in BWRs.

REGULATORY GUIDES

Notice of Issuance and Availability

The Atomic Energy Commission has issued a new guide, Regulatory Guide 3.5, entitled "Guide to the Contents of Applications for Uranium Milling Licenses." The guide provides specific guidance on the contents of an application for an AEC Source Material License authorizing uranium milling activities. The new guide is in Division 3, "Fuels and Materials Facilities Guides," of the Regulatory Guide series developed to describe and make available to the public methods acceptable to the AEC Regulatory staff of implementing specific parts of the Commission's regulations and, in some cases, to delineate techniques used by the staff in evaluating specific problems or postulated accidents and to provide guidance to applicants concerning certain of the information needed by the staff in its review of applications for permits and licenses.

Comments and suggestions in connection with improvements in the guides are encouraged and should be sent to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Chief, Public Proceedings Staff. Copies of issued guides may be obtained by writing to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Director of Regulatory Standards.

Other Division 3 Regulatory Guides currently being developed include the following:

Contents of Technical Specifications for Fuel Reprocessing Plants.

Preparation of Environmental Reports for Uranium Mills.

Seismic Design Classification for Plutonium Processing and Fuel Fabrication Plants.

Monitoring of Combustible Gases and Vapors in Plutonium Processing and Fuel Fabrication Plants.

Design of Embankment Retention Systems for Uranium Mills.

Stabilization, Maintenance and Long Term Control of Uranium Mill Tailings Retention Systems.

Ventilation Systems Criteria for Plutonium Processing and Fuel Fabrication Plants.

NOR-AM AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS, INC.

Notice of Filing of Pesticide and Food Additive Petitions

Pursuant to provisions of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (secs. 408 (d) (1), 409(b) (5), 68 Stat. 512, 72 Stat. 1786; 21 U.S.C. 346a(d) (1), 348(b) (5)), notice is given that a pesticide petition (PP 3F1351) has been filed by NOR-AM Agricultural Products, Inc., 11710 Lake Avenue, Woodstock, IL 60098, proposing establishment of tolerances (40 CFR Part 180) for residues of the insecticide formetanate hydrochloride (m-[[dimethylamino)methyl]phenyl methylcarbamate hydrochloride) and its metabolites containing the m-aminophenol moiety (calculated as formetanate hydrochloride) in or on grapes at 5 parts per million; liver and kidney of cattle, goats, hogs, horses, poultry, and sheep at 0.1 part per million; meat, fat, and meat byproducts (excluding liver and kidney) of cattle, goats, hogs, horses, poultry, and sheep; milk; and eggs at 0.05 part per million.

Notice is also given that the same firm has filed a related food additive petition (FAP 3H5025) proposing establishment of food additive tolerances (21 CFR Part 121) for residues of formetanate hydrochloride and its metabolites containing the m-aminophenol moiety in or on dried grape pomace and raisins at 45 parts per million and raisins at 20 parts per million resulting from application of the insecticide to growing grapes.

The analytical methods proposed in the pesticide petition for determining residues of the insecticide are procedures in which residues are (a) hydrolyzed to 3-aminophenol, which is brominated to 2,4,6-tribromo-3-aminophenol and determined using a gas chromatograph equipped with an electron-capture detector or (b) hydrolyzed to 3-aminophenol and then analyzed colorimetrically by diazotization and coupling with N-1-naphthylethylenediamine dihydrochloride.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. E-8011]

CAROLINA POWER & LIGHT CO.

Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 15, 1973.

Take notice that Carolina Power & Light Co. (Carolina), on January 31, 1973, tendered for filing supplements to Carolina's contracts with customers. The rate schedule numbers for such contracts are FPC Nos. 47, 48, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67. The supplements amend the contracts with various cooperatives to allow the cooperatives to receive power from another source upon reasonable written notification to the company and agreement by the parties on such measures or conditions, if any, as may be required for the protection and liability of both systems.

The proposed effective date of the supplements contained in the filing is 30 days after filing.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before April 3, 1973. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

COLUMBIA GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.

Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 15, 1973.

Take notice that Columbia Gas Corp. (Columbia) on February 26, 1973, tendered for filing two sets of proposed changes in its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 1. Both sets of tariff sheets are submitted in response to the Commission's order issued February 9, 1973, in Docket No. RP71-18 et al., and contain proposed increased rates and charges tracking advance payments pursuant to Article V of Columbia's stipulation and agreement approved by the Commission in order issued October 19, 1972, in Docket No. RP71-18 et al. Together, the two filings would increase jurisdictional rates in the amount of $1.9 million annually, based upon sales for the 12-month period ended October 31, 1972, and reflect a $15.2 million increase in advance payments to producers as permitted by Article V.

The first set of tariff sheets reflects that portion of the $1.9 million rate increase which was approved by the Commission's order of February 9, and are proposed by Columbia to become effective as of February 10, 1973, as permitted by the order. The second set of tariff sheets reflects the remaining portion of the proposed $1.9 million rate increase which was made subject to hearing and suspended for 1 day by the Commission's order. In addition, Columbia filed a motion pursuant to section 4(e) of the Natural Gas Act to make the second set of tariff sheets effective as of February 11, 1973, at the end of the 1-day suspension period, in accordance with the provisions of the February 9 order. Columbia requests waiver of the requirements of § 154.67(a) of the Commission's regulations under the Natural Gas Act so as to permit the second set of tariff sheets to become effective as of February 11, 1973.

Comments or protests relating to the proposed changes in rates and charges may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, on or before March 30, 1973.

CONTINENTAL OIL CO. ET AL.

Notice of Rate Change

MARCH 20, 1973.

Take notice that the producers listed in the appendix attached hereto have filed proposed increased rates to the applicable area new gas ceiling based on the interpretation of vintaging concepts set forth by the Commission in its Opinion No. 639, issued December 12, 1972.

The information relevant to each of these sales is listed in the appendix.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said filing should on or before April 5, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in

EL PASO NATURAL GAS CO.

Postponement of Procedural Dates

MARCH 14, 1973.

On March 2, 1973, El Paso Natural Gas Co. (El Paso), filed a motion requesting an indefinite postponement of the procedural dates in the above-designated matter (Dockets Nos. RP72-150, RP72-151, RP72-155). On March 9, 1973, Commission Staff Counsel filed an answer opposing a postponement of more than 3 weeks and stating that it would be ready to serve its evidence on March 16, 1973. Answers in support of El Paso's motion were filed by Southwest Gas Corp., San Diego Gas & Electric Co., and Pacific Gas and Electric Co. On March 12, 1973, El Paso filed a telegram amending its motion to provide that Commission staff's evidence be filed on March 16, 1973, and that the remaining procedural dates be postponed consistent with its motion. On March 13, 1973, El Paso filed a letter suggesting, in view of Commission staff's readiness to serve its evidence on March 16, that the remaining procedural dates be postponed 3 weeks.

Upon consideration, notice is hereby given that the procedural dates are modified as follows:

Service of staff's evidence, March 16, 1973 (no change in date).
Service of interveners' evidence, April 27, 1973.

Service of El Paso's rebuttal evidence, May 11, 1973.

Hearing and commencement of cross-examination, May 22, 1973 (10 a.m., e.d.t.).

KANSAS POWER & LIGHT CO.
Notice of Initial Rate Schedules

MARCH 14, 1973.

Take notice that the Kansas Power & Light Co. (KPL) on March 5, 1973, tendered for filing initial rate schedules, to be filed as a supplemental rate schedule to KPL Rate Schedule FPC No. 123. The proposed effective date of the rates contained in the filing is June 1, 1973. KPL alleges that the rate schedule provides participation power service capacity in the amount of twenty-seven (27) megawatts to be made available to Central Kansas Power Co., Inc. (CKP) from KPL Lawrence Unit No. 5 of the period June 1, 1973, through May 31, 1974. KPL states that due to unknown requirements, an estimate of revenues from energy sales cannot be made at this time and the capacity charge for 27,000 kw. will be $33,750 per month. KPL further states that copies of the proposed rate schedule have been furnished to the president of CKP and the Kansas State Corporation Commission.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before March 29, 1973. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Docket No. CP72-26]

MICHIGAN WISCONSIN PIPE LINE CO.
Application to Amend

MARCH 14, 1973.

Take notice that on March 7, 1973, Michigan Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. (Michigan Wisconsin), One Woodward Avenue, Detroit, MI 48226, filed in Docket No. CP72-26, pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act, an application to amend further the Commission's order issued November 4, 1971, in said docket (46 FPC 1138), as amended May 19, 1972 (47 FPC —), by authorizing an increase in the daily and annual storage service rendered to Central Indiana Gas Co., Inc. (Central Indiana), all as more fully set forth in the application to amend further which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The order of November 4, 1971, as amended, authorized an annual storage volume for Central Indiana of 1,500,000 Mcf with a redelivery rate of up to 15,000 Mcf daily during the period from November 1 through the next succeeding February 28. Michigan Wisconsin states that it has entered into second amendatory agreement, dated February 21, 1973, with Central Indiana providing for an increase in annual storage volume from 1,500,000 Mcf to 2,900,000 Mcf and an increase in the daily redelivery rate from 15,000 Mcf to 29,000 Mcf. During the period March 1 through October 31, Central Indiana will supply Michigan Wisconsin with the additional gas for storage injection from Central Indiana's present annual entitlement from its supplier, Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

The application indicates that Central Indiana's firm gas requirements continue to grow and that Central Indiana has been informed that it must expect significant curtailments of deliveries from Panhandle which will further affect Central Indiana's ability to meet its firm requirements. Consequently, Michigan Wisconsin states that Central Indiana has requested the increased storage service.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application to amend should on or before April 9, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

PHILLIPS PETROLEUM CO.

Notice of Application

MARCH 19, 1973.

Take notice that on March 9, 1973, Phillips Petroleum Co. (Applicant), Bartlesville, Okla. 74004, filed in Docket No. C173-603 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas to Northern Natural Gas Co. from Applicant's Benedum and Spraberry Plants in Upton and Midland Counties, Tex., respectively, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant states that it commenced a sale of natural gas from the Benedum Plant on February 16, 1973, within the contemplation of § 157.29 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.29) and that it intends to make an emergency sale from the Spraberry Plant within the contemplation of said regulation. Applicant proposes to continue each sale for 10 months from the end of the 60-day emergency period within the contemplation of § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70). Applicant would sell approximately 9,000 Mcf of gas per month at $0.40 per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a., subject to upward and downward B.t.u. adjustment.

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 3, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

NOTICES

TENNESSEE GAS PIPELINE CO.

Notice of Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 20, 1973.

Take notice that on March 2, 1973, Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co. (Tennessee) tendered for filing a gas sales contract dated December 1, 1972, between Tennessee as seller, and Consolidated Gas Supply Corp., as buyer. Tennessee requested that the gas sales contract become effective 30 days after filing. Tennessee states that this contract is being filed to reflect (a) Tennessee's conversion from a pressure base of 15.025 p.s.i.a. to a pressure base of 14.73 p.s.i.a., as authorized by the Commission at Tennessee's Docket No. RP71-6, (b) a corrected description of Tennessee's Rate Schedule CD-4 delivery point to Consolidated Gas at No. (2) to Main Line Valve 313A-202 from Main Line Valve 3136-102, and (c) the inclusion of the Marillo delivery point as authorized by the Commission by its order of November 3, 1970 at Docket No. CP71-46.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with sections 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before April 4, 1973. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

TEXACO INC.

Notice of Application

MARCH 19, 1973.

Take notice that on March 12, 1973, Texaco Inc. (Applicant), Post Office Box 52332, Houston, TX 77052, filed in Docket No. C173-604 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation from the Long Mott Field, Calhoun County, Tex., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant states that it commenced the sale of natural gas on March 6, 1973, within the contemplation of § 157.29 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.29) and that it proposes to continue said sale for 1 year within the contemplation of § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70). Applicant proposes to sell approximately 45,000 Mcf of gas per month at $0.40 per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a., subject to upward and downward B.t.u. adjustment. Estimated initial upward B.t.u. adjustment is $0.01 per Mcf.

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 3, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

TRANSCONTINENTAL GAS PIPE LINE CORP.

Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 14, 1973.

Take notice that on February 26, 1973, Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Co. (Transco) tendered for filing as part of its FPC Gas Tariff, Original Volume No. 2, First Revised Sheet No. 351 of said tariff. Transco states that a transportation agreement between Transco and Southern Natural Gas Co. (Southern) dated October 4, 1972, by changing its term and by increasing the rate to be charged for such transportation. Transco alleges that Southern will pay Transco a transportation charge of $0.08 per Mcf.

Transco states that the amendment was authorized by the Commission by order issued January 29, 1973, in that docket. This sheet has a proposed effective date of January 29, 1973, and the Commission is requested to waive such provisions of its rules and regulations and grant whatever special permissions as may be required to permit this filing to become effective on such date.

Transco further states a copy of this filing is being mailed to Southern this date.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before March 30, 1973. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

UPPER PENINSULA GENERATING CO. Notice of Application

MARCH 15, 1973.

Take notice that on February 7, 1973, Upper Peninsula Generating Co. (Applicant), filed an application with the Federal Power Commission seeking authority pursuant to section 204 of the Federal Power Act to issue unsecured promissory notes not to exceed $15 million face value at any one time outstanding.

The Applicant is incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan with its principal business office at Houghton, Mich. and is engaged in the generation of electric energy for sale only to Upper Peninsula Power Co. and the Cliffs Electric Service Co.

The Applicant proposes to issue unsecured promissory notes, payable to such bank or banks from which the Applicant may borrow for periods not exceeding 12 months from the date of original issue or renewal thereof, as the case may be, such notes, issued either originally or upon renewal from time to time, to have maturity dates not later than July 1, 1975.

The interest rate on the notes to be issued to commercial banks not for resale to the public will be at a rate not exceeding one-half of 1 percent over the floating prime rate in effect from time to time, meaning by "prime rate" the lowest rate at which the banks to whom the notes are payable are then making short term commercial loans to depositors.

The proceeds from the sale of the notes will be used, pending permanent financing, to finance the buildup of its coal stock to last through the nonnavigation months and to finance a portion of the Applicant's construction program for the years 1973 through 1975 having an estimated cost of $41,981,200.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before March 28, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, DC 20426, petitions to intervene or protests in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Persons wishing to become parties to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file petitions to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules. The application is on file with the Commission and available for public inspection.

FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

ALABAMA BANK OF GUIN

Order Approving Acquisition for Merger of Banks

Alabama Bank of Guin, Guin, Ala., a proposed State member bank of the Federal Reserve System, has applied for the Board's approval pursuant to the Bank Merger Act (12 U.S.C. 1828(c)) of the merger of that bank with Marion County Banking Co., Guin, Ala., under the name of Marion County Banking Co.

As required by the Act, notice of the proposed merger, in form approved by the Board, has been published, and the Board has requested reports on competitive factors from the Attorney General, the Comptroller of the Currency, and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The Board has considered the application in light of the factors set forth in the Act.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized in the Board's order of this date relating to the application of The Alabama Financial Group, Inc., to acquire the successor by merger to Marion County Banking Co., provided that said merger shall not be consummated: (a) Before the 30th calendar day following the date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,<sup>1</sup>

ALABAMA FINANCIAL GROUP, INC.

Order Approving Acquisition of Bank

The Alabama Financial Group, Birmingham, Ala., a bank holding company within the meaning of the Bank Holding Company Act, has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 80 percent or more of the voting shares of the successor by merger to Marion County Banking Company, Guin, Ala. (Bank). The bank into which Bank is to be merged has no significance except as a means to facilitate the acquisition of the voting shares of Bank. Accordingly, the proposed acquisition of shares of the successor organization is treated herein as the proposed acquisition of the shares of Bank.

Notice of the application, affording opportunity for interested persons to submit comments and views, has been given in accordance with section 3(b) of the Act. The time for filing comments and views has expired, and none has been timely received. The Board has considered the application in light of the factors set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Applicant, the fourth largest banking organization in Alabama, controls four banks<sup>1</sup> with deposits totaling approximately $514.5 million, representing 8.4 percent of the commercial banking deposits in the State. (All banking data are as of June 30, 1972, and reflect holding company formations and acquisitions approved by the Board through December 31, 1972.)

Bank ($14.8 million in deposits), the largest of five banks in Marion County (which approximates the relevant banking market), controls 45.3 percent of the county deposits. Applicant's closest subsidiary to Bank is located 85 miles away. There is no meaningful competition between any of applicant's subsidiary banks and Bank, nor does it appear likely that such competition will develop in the future in the light of the distances separating Bank from applicant's subsidiaries, the number of intervening banks, and the fact that the market is not attractive for de novo entry. This proposal represents the initial entry of a holding company into the market. Despite the size of Bank's market share, it has not been an aggressive competitor in the past. Bank does not appear to be dominant in the market and four other vehicles remain for entry. Consummation of the proposal would not appear to have an adverse effect on any competing bank and the Board concludes that competitive considerations are consistent with approval.

The financial and managerial resources of Bank and of applicant are regarded as satisfactory and future prospects of both appear favorable. Accordingly, considerations relating to the banking factors are consistent with approval. Applicant proposes to assist Bank in arranging loan participation which should enable Bank to undertake loans in excess of its current lending limit thereby increasing the capacity of Bank to fulfill the capital needs of the area's new and expanding industry and to make the expertise of its staff available to Bank. Considerations relating to the convenience and needs of the community to be served lend weight toward approval. It is the Board's judgment that the proposed acquisition would be in the public interest and that the application should be approved.

On the basis of the record, the application is approved for the reasons summarized above. The transaction shall not be consummated: (a) Before the 30th calendar day following the effective date of this order or (b) later than 3 months after the effective date of this order, unless such period is extended for good cause by the Board or by the Federal Reserve Bank of Atlanta pursuant to delegated authority.

By order of the Board of Governors,<sup>2</sup>
effective March 13, 1973.

Acquisition of Bank

Dominion Bankshares Corp., Roanoke, Va., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(3)) to acquire 100 percent of the voting shares (less directors' qualifying shares) of the First National Exchange Bank of Washington County (Bank), Bristol, Va., a proposed new bank. The factors that are considered in acting on the application are set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

In a related matter, Applicant intends to present to the Comptroller of the Currency an application authorizing Bank to purchase certain of the assets and assume certain of the liabilities of the Bristol branch offices of Applicant's largest banking subsidiary. The First National Exchange Bank of Virginia,

EASTERN UTILITIES ASSOCIATES

Proposed Amendment of Declaration of Trust and Order Authorizing Solicitation of Proxies

MARCH 15, 1973.

Notice is hereby given that Eastern Utilities Associates (EUA), Post Office Box 2333, Boston, MA 02107, a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Act), designating sections 6(a), 7, and 12(e) of the Act and Rule 62 promulgated, thereunder as applicable to the proposals. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transactions.

EUA proposes to amend its Declaration of Trust in order to broaden the indemnification of its trustees and officers against liabilities and expenses, including counsel fees, imposed or reasonably incurred in connection with litigation or threatened litigation in which a trustee or officer may be involved by reason of his position. It would also provide for similar indemnification of persons who serve at EUA's request as directors, officers or trustees of another organization in which EUA has an interest. Under the proposed provisions, indemnification would be withheld as to any matter as to which the trustee or officer is adjudicated "not to have acted in good faith in the reasonable belief that his action was in the best interests of the association." It is stated that the proposal conforms to the express statutory standard which a business corporation organized under the laws of Massachusetts is permitted to establish for indemnification of its directors and officers and that the proposed provisions are consistent with the Massachusetts law on this subject.

EUA intends to submit the proposed amendment of its Declaration of Trust to its shareholders for their approval at its annual meeting of shareholders to be held on April 23, 1973. In connection therewith, EUA proposes to solicit proxies from the holders of its common stock through the use of solicitation material which sets forth the proposed amendment in detail. The declaration states that the favorable vote of the holders of two-thirds of the common shares of EUA outstanding and entitled to vote will be required for the proposed amendment and that EUA now has outstanding 2,784,945 common shares.

The fees and expenses incurred and to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions are to be filed by amendment. The declaration states that no State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

EUA has requested that the effectiveness of its declaration with respect to the solicitation of proxies from the preferred stockholders be accelerated as provided in Rule 62.

LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NORTH AMERICA AND LIFE INSURANCE CO. OF NORTH AMERICA SEPARATE ACCOUNT A

Notice of Application

MARCH 16, 1973.

Notice is hereby given that Life Insurance Co. of North America (LINA), a stock life insurance company organized under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, and Life Insurance Co. of North America Separate Account A (Separate Account), 1600 Arch Street, Philadelphia, PA 19101, a unit investment trust registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (Act), (hereinafter called "Applicants"), have filed an application pursuant to section 6(c) of the Act for an order of the Commission exempting Applicants from certain provisions of sections 22(d), 26(a) and 27(c)(2) of the Act, and for approval of an offer of exchange under sections 11(a) and 11(c), as described below. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations therein which are summarized below.

LINA established Separate Account on June 18, 1968, pursuant to the laws of Pennsylvania, as a facility through which it sets aside and invests assets attributable to variable annuity contracts (Contracts) issued by LINA to certain persons who qualify for tax deferred benefits under sections 401, 403(a) and 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as amended (Code). Applicants also offer variable annuity contracts to persons who may not qualify for similar tax treatment. Under Pennsylvania law, the income, gains, and losses of Separate Account are credited to or charged against the amounts allocated to it in accordance with the Contracts, without regard to any other income, gains, or losses of LINA or arising out of any other business LINA may conduct.

Net purchase payments under Contracts issued by LINA are allocated to one of five divisions of the Separate Account and are invested in shares of Decatur Income Fund, Inc., National Investors Corp., Oppenheimer Fund, Inc., Trustees' Equity Fund, or Dreyfus Third Century Fund (collectively called "Fund" or "Funds"), which are open-end diversified management investment companies registered under the Act. Purchasers of Contracts may also allocate a portion of their net purchase payments to the LINA fixed accumulation account to provide for a fixed annuity.

In the event the shares of any Fund become unavailable or if in the opinion of LINA the investment policies or other policies of such Fund are no longer compatible with the objectives of the Contracts offered by Applicants, LINA may, with the prior approval by a majority of the votes cast by persons having a voting interest in the affected Fund and the prior approval of the Securities and otherwise than on a national securities exchange be summarily suspended, this order to be effective for the period from March 17, 1973 through March 26, 1973.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than April 13, 1973, request in writing that a hearing be held with respect to the proposed amendment of the Declaration of Trust, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

It appearing to the Commission that EUA's declaration regarding the proposed solicitation of proxies should be permitted to become effective forthwith pursuant to Rule 62 and that jurisdiction should be reserved with respect to the fees and expenses thereof.

It is ordered, That the declaration regarding the proposed solicitation of proxies be, and hereby is, permitted to become effective forthwith pursuant to Rule 62 and that jurisdiction be, and hereby is, reserved with respect to the fees and expenses thereof.

FIRST LEISURE CORP.

Order Suspending Trading

MARCH 16, 1973.

It appearing to the Securities and Exchange Commission that the summary suspension of trading in the common stock, $0.10 par value and all other securities of First Leisure Corp., being traded otherwise than on a national securities exchange is required in the public interest and for the protection of investors;

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 15(c)(5) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, that trading in such securities Exchange Commission, substitute such Fund with another.

SECTION 11(a)

Section 11(a) of the Act provides that it shall be unlawful for any registered open-end company or any principal underwriter for such a company to make or cause to be made an offer to the holder of a security of such company or of any other open-end investment company to exchange his security for a security in the same or another such company on any basis other than the relative net asset values of the respective securities to be exchanged, unless the terms of the offer have first been submitted to and approved by the Commission. Section 11(c) provides that, irrespective of the basis of exchange, the provisions of subsection (a) shall be applicable to any type of offer of exchange of the securities of registered unit investment trusts for the securities of any other investment company.

Applicants request an order under sections 11(a) and 11(c) to permit, under the Group Variable Annuity Contract, the Single Premium Deferred Variable Annuity Contract, the Installment Premium Variable Annuity Contract and the Flexible Premium Variable Annuity Contract, the transfer of the total value of a Separate Account Division to another Separate Account Division prior to the annuity starting date, provided that no transfer may be made within 1 year of a previous transfer or within a year from date of issue of the contract, except that a final transfer may be made 1 month prior to the date annuity payments commence without regard to the 1-year limitation. This substitution of shares of one underlying Fund for the shares of another participating Fund will be on the basis of relative net asset value of the Funds without an additional sales charge or administrative charge.

Applicants represent that the right to substitute the shares of one underlying Fund for another will permit the contract owner or participant to choose a Fund having different investment objectives from those of the Fund which was previously selected, such objectives being more suitable to the participant's retirement needs than the other.

Applicants request exemptions from the following provisions of the Act to the extent set forth below:

SECTION 22(d)

Section 22(d) of the Act provides, in pertinent part, that no registered investment company shall sell any redeemable security issued by it to any person except at a current public offering price described in the prospectus.

1. Applicants wish to permit, with the exception of the Single Premium Immediate Variable Annuity Contract, transfer of the total or partial value of the fixed accumulation account to a specified Separate Account Division prior to the annuity starting date, provided that no transfer may be made within 1 year of a previous transfer or within 1 year from the date of issue of the contract and no partial transfer may be made if the value of the account from which amounts are transferred is less than $250 after such transfer. Any such transfer would be made without the imposition of any additional sales and administrative charge. Applicants request an exemption from section 22(d) to the extent necessary to permit such transfer without the imposition of a sales and administrative charge.

Applicants represent that the imposition of an additional sales and administrative charge would be inequitable, because a sales and administrative charge has already been paid with respect to the amounts being transferred. Imposition of an additional charge would subject some participants to higher charges than others who had paid the exact same amount of dollars under an identical contract.

2. Applicants wish to permit, in the case of single premium immediate and deferred variable annuity contracts, transfer to said contracts of amounts payable under contracts of Life Insurance Company of North America, INA Life Insurance Company of New York and INA Life Insurance Co. or any other life insurance company affiliated with Life Insurance Company of North America, at a reduced charge of 1 percent for sales and administrative expense. Life Insurance Company of North America and INA Life Insurance Co. are wholly owned subsidiaries of Insurance Company of North America and INA Life Insurance Company of New York is a wholly owned subsidiary of Life Insurance Company of North America. Applicants request an exemption from section 22(d) to the extent necessary to permit such transfers at the reduced sales and administrative charge.

Applicants' single premium immediate and deferred variable annuity contracts provide for deductions of 8.5 percent of the first $20,000 of payment; 6 percent of the next $30,000 of payment; and 4 percent of the amount of payment in excess of $50,000. Of the applicable deduction, 6 percent, and 4 percent respectively are for sales expenses, and the balance of 2.5 percent with respect to the first $20,000 of payment is for administrative expenses. With respect to payments made under single premium immediate and deferred variable annuity contracts of Life Insurance Company of North America and other life insurance companies listed above, a deduction of 1 percent of the payment would be charged with 0.5 percent representing sales charge and 0.5 percent representing administrative expenses.

Applicants represent that reduction of the sales and administrative expense charge in the instant case would be consistent with the policies of the Act and would result in no unfair discrimination among participants.

SECTIONS 26(a) AND 27(c) (2)

Sections 26(a) and 27(c) (2) provide, in pertinent part, that periodic payment plan certificates of a unit investment trust may not be sold unless the proceeds of all payments, other than sales loads, are deposited with a qualified bank as trustee or custodian and are held under an agreement of custodianship. Under the Act, such agreement must provide, in pertinent part, that (i) the custodian bank shall have possession of all property of the unit investment trust and shall segregate and hold the same in trust; (ii) that the custodian bank shall not resign until either the unit investment trust has been liquidated or a successor custodian has been appointed; (iii) that the custodian may collect fees from the income and, if necessary, from the corpus of the unit investment trust for services performed and reimbursement of expenses incurred; and (iv) that no payment to the depositor or principal underwriter shall be allowed the custodian bank as an expense except a fee, not exceeding such reasonable amount as the Commission may prescribe, as compensation for performing bookkeeping and other administrative services normally performed by the custodian.

All assets of Life Insurance Company of North America Separate Account A are held by National Boulevard Bank of Chicago, Chicago, Ill., in custody for safekeeping pursuant to the terms of a written agreement. An exemption is requested from sections 26(a) and 27(c) (2) of the Act to the extent necessary to permit assets of Separate Account A to be held in custody for safekeeping by the Separate Account. Applicants represent that all provisions of the Act will be complied with in terminating the current custodian agreement, transfer of assets and implementation of safekeeping procedures.

Under provisions of the Pennsylvania Insurance Laws, funds allocated by Life Insurance Company of North America to the Separate Account may not be held by the Company as trustee. Net purchase payments under variable annuity contracts allocated to the Separate Account will be invested in one of several mutual funds available as underlying investment mediums for the Separate Account. The shares of these funds are issued under an open account arrangement without the use of stock certificates and ownership of mutual fund shares will be shown only on the books and records of the Separate Account and each mutual fund; ownership will not be represented by securities which would require a custodianship for safekeeping purposes.

Applicants consent that the order granting the requested exemption may be subject to the conditions that: (1) Any charges under the Contracts for administrative services shall not exceed such reasonable amounts as the Commission shall prescribe, and the Commission shall reserve jurisdiction for such purpose, and (2) the payment of sums and charges out of the assets of the Separate Account shall not be deemed to be exempted from regulation by the Commission by reason of the order, provided that consent to this condition shall not be deemed to be a concession to the Commission of authority to regulate the payment of sums and charges out of such assets, other than charges for administrative services, and LINA and Separate Account reserve the right in any proceeding before the Commission or in any suit or action in any court, to assert that the Commission has no authority to regulate the payment of such other sums and charges.

SECTION 6(c)

Section 6(c) provides that the Commission, by order upon application, may conditionally or unconditionally exempt any person, security, or transaction or any class or classes of persons, securities, or transactions from any provision or provisions of the Act and the Rules promulgated thereunder if and to the extent such exemption is necessary or appropriate in the public interest and consistent with the protection of investors and the purposes fairly intended by the policy and provisions of the Act.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than April 11, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted or he may request he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon Applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney at law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time later than said date as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application, unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Notice of Filing of Application for Orders Exempting Transaction and Authorizing Participation in Transaction

Notice is hereby given that Rico Argentine Mining Co. (Rico), Consolidated Eureka Mining Co. (Conseureka), Bonneville-On-The-Hill Co. (Bonneville), George H. Hogle, James E. Hogle, James E. Hogle, Jr., Sherman B. Hinckley, R. Gordon Bader, Donald M. Hogle, and Hugh Hogle (hereinafter referred to collectively as "Participants") have filed an application pursuant to section 17(d) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "Act") and Rule 17d-1 thereunder for an order permitting their participation in the proposed acquisition by American Metal Climax, Inc. (Amax) of Banner Mining Co. (Banner), 220 Kearns Building, Salt Lake City, Utah 84101, by means of the merger of Banner with Amax Copper Mines, Inc. (AMC), a Delaware corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of Amax. Banner, Rico, and Conseureka have also applied for an order under section 17(d) of the Act exempting the proposed transaction from section 17(a) of the Act to the extent that such transaction may involve a purchase and sale of securities between Rico and Banner or between Conseureka and Banner. All interested persons are referred to the application on file with the Commission for a statement of the representations therein, which are summarized below.

THE PARTIES AND HOLDINGS OF BANNER STOCK

By orders dated December 9, 1970, and December 15, 1970, respectively (Investment Company Act Releases Nos. 6282 and 6290), the Commission granted to Rico and Conseureka a temporary exemption from the provisions of section 7 of the Act until such time as the Commission should act on each of the respective applications for orders of the Commission pursuant to section 3(b) (2) of the Act declaring that Rico and Conseureka each is primarily engaged in a business or businesses other than that of investing, reinvesting, owning, holding or trading in securities through controlled companies conducting similar types of businesses. These orders had the effect, among others, of treating Rico and Conseureka each as an investment company within the meaning of section 3(a)(3) of the Act and subjecting Rico and Conseureka and other persons in their relations and transactions with each, with certain specified exceptions, to all provisions of the Act (including sections 17(a), 17(b), and 17(d) of the Act and the rules and regulations thereunder) as though Rico and Conseureka were each a registered investment company.

Banner, a Nevada corporation, has been primarily engaged in holding, exploring for and developing mineral properties, and its income has been primarily derived from advanced production royalties, payments under a mining and milling contract, and sales of mineral properties under contracts of sale and lease option agreements. Banner's principal assets are its mineral properties located in Pima County, Ariz. These properties are leased to the Anaconda Co. (Anaconda) under a long-term lease agreement, and payments under that lease have been Banner's principal source of revenue since 1968. Banner has outstanding 6,960,360 shares of common stock with a par value of $0.0833 a share, of which 731,532 shares (approximately 10.51 percent) are owned by Rico. By reason of such holdings Banner is an affiliated person of Rico as defined in section 2(a)(3) of the Act. The common stock of Banner is listed on the Intermountain Stock Exchange, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Amac, a New York corporation, is engaged in the exploration for and mining of ores and minerals and smelting, refining and other treatment of minerals and metals. Its principal products are molybdenum, aluminum, iron ore, coal, copper, lead, zinc, and potash. Amac does not mine copper in the United States. Amac also fabricates and markets various aluminum products. In addition, Amac has substantial foreign operations and investments in other mining companies. At December 31, 1972, Amac had outstanding 786,868 shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock, par value $1 per share, and 23,692,011 shares of common stock, par value $1 per share. The Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock and Amac common stock are listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Bonneville owns 15.26 percent of the common stock of Rico, which, in turn, owns 13.68 percent of the outstanding common stock of Conseureka. George H. Hogle owns 106,315 shares (10.96 percent) of the outstanding common stock of Rico and 492,833 shares (12.6 percent) of the outstanding common stock of Conseureka; James E. Hogle owns 78,072 shares (8.05 percent) of the outstanding common stock of Rico, and is the president and a director of Conseureka; James E. Hogle, Jr. is vice president and a director of Rico; Sherman B. Hinckley is a director of both Rico and Conseureka, the president of Rico and vice president of Conseureka; R. Gordon Bader, Donald M. Hogle, and Hugh Hogle each serve Bonneville as a director. As a result of their described relationships, Rico and Conseureka, each treated as a registered investment company, are each an affiliated person of the other, as defined in section 3(a)(3); Bonneville is an affiliated person of Rico; George H. Hogle, James E. Hogle, and Sherman B. Hinckley are each an affiliated person of Rico and Conseureka; James E. Hogle, Jr. is an affiliated person of Rico; and R. Gordon Bader, Donald M. Hogle, and Hugh Hogle are each an affiliated person of an affiliated person (Bonneville) of Rico.

The shareholdings of the Participants in Banner and the percentage interest represented thereby as shown in the application are set forth in the following table:

Rico	731,532	10.51
Conseureka	89,224	2.25
Bonneville	389,120	4.87
G. H. Hogle	13,080	0.33
J. E. Hogle	23,150	0.33
J. E. Hogle, Jr.	19,440	0.28
S. B. Hinckley	10,800	0.27
R. G. Bader	500	0.01
D. M. Hogle	21,090	0.30
H. Hogle	17,740	0.25
Total	1,235,676	17.75

THE PROPOSED MERGER

As a result of the proposed merger, Banner will become a wholly owned subsidiary of Amac under the name Amac Copper Mines, Inc.

In general the proposed merger involves the following steps:

1. Amac owns all of the outstanding capital stock of ACM consisting of one share of common stock, par value $1,000 per share. The authorized capital stock of ACM consists of 10,000 shares of such common stock.

2. ACM will merge into Banner, which shall be the surviving company with the name Amac Copper Mines, Inc. Upon the effectiveness of the merger each outstanding share of common stock of Banner will be converted into 0.137553 of a share of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock (0.139479 of a share if the Banner merger occurs after May 10, 1973); and the issued and outstanding share of capital stock of ACM owned by Amac will be converted into 300,000 shares of common stock, par value $0.8½ per share of the surviving corporation, Banner.

Each share of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock is entitled to one vote on all matters submitted to Amac shareholders, is convertible into 2.43351 shares of Amac common stock, and is entitled to a preferred cumulative annual dividend of $5.25. The Series A Convertible Preferred Stock is not redeemable by Amac prior to September 1, 1976 but is redeemable at $105 commencing on that date; the redemption price will then be reduced by $1.25 biennially until September 1, 1984, at which date it will become and remain at $100.

3. The stockholders of Banner will be notified promptly of the effective date of the merger after it has been consummated, and will be advised as to the procedure for surrender and exchange of their certificates representing Banner common stock for share certificates representing Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock. No dividends or other distribution payable to holders of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock will be paid to the holders of certificates formerly representing shares of Banner common stock until they surrender their certificates to the Exchange Agent, at which time they will receive any such dividends and other distributions to which they are entitled, without interest. No fractional shares of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock will be issued. Instead, a holder of Banner Stock entitled to a fractional interest in Series A Convertible Preferred Stock shall for a period not exceeding 60 days following the effective date of the merger have the election at the time of the surrender of his certificate, through the Exchange Agent, to: (1) Sell such interest, or (2) purchase any additional fractional interest necessary to make up a full share of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock. After the expiration of such period the Exchange Agent will, as agent for the holders of the then unsurrendered Banner common stock certificates who are entitled to fractional interests, sell shares of Series A Convertible Preferred Stock equivalent to the total number of such shares represented by such fractional share interests. Thereafter and until the expiration of 3 years after the effective date of the merger the Exchange Agent will pay to such holders on surrender of their Banner certificates, their pro rata share of the net proceeds of such sale and any dividend payments in respect of the shares so sold, but without interest. After such 3-year period any such funds remaining in the hands of the Exchange Agent shall be transferred to and become the property of Amac.

The merger agreement, which has been approved by the boards of directors of Banner, Amac, and ACM, is to be submitted for approval by the stockholders of Banner at a special meeting of Banner's stockholders. The affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding common stock of Banner is required to authorize the proposed merger.

Under Nevada law, stockholders of Banner do not have appraisal or similar rights in the event they dissent from the proposed merger. Certain of Banner's employees are expected to remain with Banner following the merger. However, Amac is not entering into employment contracts in connection with the merger.

If the Banner merger is consummated, Amac and Anaconda intend to contribute their respective interests in the aforesaid lease (of Banner's Pima County properties to Anaconda) to a partnership formed by them. Banner's Pima County mining properties, including its Twin Buttes mine, will, therefore, no longer be subject to the lease but rather will be developed in accordance with the new partnership arrangements. Amac and Anaconda intend to develop and expand the Twin Buttes mining operations following the merger, and such development and expansion is expected to involve expenditures in excess of $200 million over the next 3 years.

Amac also proposes to acquire Tintic Standard Mining Co., a Utah corporation (Tintic), following the Banner merger. Tintic holds 11.33 percent of the outstanding common stock of Banner, and Tintic, U-Tex Oil Co., an affiliated company of Tintic, and Tintic's directors and their families own in the aggregate approximately 30 percent of the outstanding common stock of Banner. Amac's acquisition of Tintic is not a condition of the Banner merger, although Amac will not acquire Tintic unless the Banner merger occurs. The terms of the Tintic merger call for each share of Tintic common stock to be converted into 0.108671 of a share of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock, representing: (1) The per-share portion of the Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock which Tintic will receive in respect of its Banner shares as a result of the Banner merger (i.e., 0.095161 of a share of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock for each share of Tintic common stock), and (2) an additional 0.013510 of a share of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock attributable to Tintic's other assets. For purposes of determining the number of shares of Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock issuable for such other assets, those assets were valued at their book value as of December 31, 1971 and, for this purpose, the Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock was taken into the calculation at $95 per share.

Section 17(d) of the Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder, taken together, provide, as here pertinent, that it shall be unlawful for an affiliated person of a registered investment company or an affiliated person of such a person, acting as principal, to participate in or effect any transaction in connection with any joint enterprise or arrangement in which any such registered investment company is a participant unless an application regarding such enterprise or arrangement has been filed with the Commission and granted by an order of the Commission; and that in passing upon such application the Commission shall consider whether the participation of such registered investment company is consistent with the provisions, policies and purposes of the Act and the extent to which such participation is on a basis different from or less advantageous than that of other participants. The Participants intend to participate in the Banner merger, including the probable voting of their shares in favor of the merger, and they would upon the merger receive Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock in exchange for their shares of Banner. Thus, the Participants, including Rico and Conseureka, will be carrying out a joint arrangement within the meaning of section 17(d) and Rule 17d-1 to dispose of Banner stock and to acquire Amac Series A Convertible Preferred Stock. Section 17(d) and the rule are therefore applicable and require that an application regarding the proposed joint arrangement be filed with and granted by the Commission prior to the taking of any action.

Section 17(a) of the Act, in pertinent part, makes it unlawful for an affiliated person of a registered investment company to purchase securities from or sell securities to such registered company or a company controlled by such registered company. Section 17(b) provides for the granting of an exemption from such prohibition if evidence establishes that the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned and are consistent with the investment policies of such registered investment company and the general purposes of the Act. To the extent that the proposed Banner merger may involve the purchase and sale of securities as between either Rico or Conseureka and Banner, it must meet the requirements of section 17(b).

In support of the request for an order pursuant to section 17(d) of the Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder, the applicant states that none of the Banner shareholders will participate in the proposed Banner merger on a basis different from or less advantageous than that of any other Banner shareholder, including Rico and Conseureka; and that there is nothing in the terms, conditions, or circumstances of the proposed Banner merger which would make participation of Rico, Conseureka, Banner, or of the Participants inconsistent in any way with the provisions, policies, and purposes of the Act.

With respect to the request for an order pursuant to section 17(b) of the Act, the application states that the proposed transaction was negotiated at arms-length; that there is no affiliation between Amac or any of its subsidiaries on the one hand and Banner or any of Banner's affiliates on the other; and that the proposed transaction is fair to all Banner shareholders.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than April 6, 1973, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter, accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues of fact or law proposed to be controverted, or he may request that he be notified if the Commission shall order a hearing thereon. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request shall be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon applicants at the address stated above. Proof of such service (by affidavit or in case of an attorney-at-law by certificate) shall be filed contemporaneously with the request. At any time after said date, as provided by Rule 0-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, an order disposing of the application herein may be issued by the Commission upon the basis of the information stated in said application unless an order for hearing upon said application shall be issued upon request or upon the Commission's own motion. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Investment Management Regulation, Pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

MOTOR CARRIER, BROKER, WATER CARRIER AND FREIGHT FORWARDER APPLICATIONS

MARCH 16, 1973.

The following applications (except as otherwise specifically noted, each applicant (on applications filed after March 27, 1972) states that there will be no significant effect on the quality of the human environment resulting from approval of its application), are governed by Special Rule 1100.247<sup>1</sup> of the Commission's general rules of practice (49 CFR, as amended), published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of April 20, 1966, effective May 20, 1966. These rules provide, among other things, that a protest to the granting of an application must be filed with the Commission within 30 days after date of notice of filing of the application is published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. Failure seasonably to file a protest will be construed as a waiver of opposition and participation in the proceeding. A protest under these rules should comply with section 247(d)(3) of the rules of practice which requires that it set forth specifically the grounds upon which it is made, contain a detailed statement of protestant's interest in the proceeding (including a copy of the specific portions of its authority which protestant believes to be in conflict with that sought in the application, and describing in detail the method—whether by joinder, interline, or other means—by which protestant would use such authority to provide all or part of the service proposed), and shall specify with particularity the facts, matters, and things relied upon, but shall not include issues or allegations phrased generally. Protests not in reasonable compliance with the requirements of the rules may be rejected. The original and one copy of the protest shall be filed with the Commission, and a copy shall be served concurrently upon applicant's representative, or applicant if no representative is named. If the protest includes a request for oral hearing, such requests shall meet the requirements of section 247(d)(4) of the special rules, and shall include the certification required therein.

Section 247(f) of the Commission's rules of practice further provides that each applicant shall, if protests to its application have been filed, and within 60 days of the date of this publication, notify the Commission in writing; (1) that it is ready to proceed and prosecute the application, or (2) that it wishes to withdraw the application, failure in which the application will be dismissed by the Commission.

Further processing steps (whether modified procedure, oral hearing, or other procedures) will be determined generally in accordance with the Commission's general policy statement concerning motor carrier licensing procedures, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of May 3, 1966. This assignment will be by Commission order which will be served on each party of record. Broadening amendments will not be accepted after the date of this publication except for good cause shown, and restrictive amendments will not be entertained following publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of a notice that the proceeding has been assigned for oral hearing.

COMMISSION
 [Docket RM73-1]

PART 3001—RULES OF PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE

Evidentiary and Filing Requirements in Rate and Classification Cases

By notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on July 18 and 28, 1972, the Commission initiated this proceeding for the purpose of revising its requirements for the filing of data in postal rate and mail classification proceedings (37 FR 14243 and 15437). The notices included a staff task force proposal for amending our rules of practice (39 CFR Part 3001) in this respect. In response to the staff proposal and our notices, 23 parties filed comments and counter proposals; 10 also filed reply comments (see Appendix A). After studying the comments, the Commission has decided that there is a need to modify the July staff proposal but, as modified, the proposal should be adopted.

I. THE NEED FOR REVISED RULES

The central goal of this proceeding is to improve the quality of information presented in Commission proceedings. Although the U.S. Postal Service (Postal Service or the Service) contends that rulemaking action is now "premature" and should be deferred until after "at least several (litigated) cases," we cannot agree.

Experience convinces us that the parties must be encouraged to present more and better evidence in Commission proceedings. In the first rate case, Docket R71-1, the Commission recognized that there were many areas in which more complete data would have been desirable. Among other things, the Commission pointed out the need to refine techniques for apportionment and to present data representing the Service's functionalized operations. The Commission cannot defer its obligation to secure the best possible evidence in future proceedings.

Moreover, prompt adoption of new rules will assist the Commission in conducting its proceedings "with utmost expedition consistent with procedural fairness to the parties." (See 39 U.S.C. 3624 (b).) As the Commission noted in the July 18 notice, the first rate case showed that inadequate data submissions led to significant delay. Delays in future proceedings cannot be avoided unless we can reduce the time needed to conclude the discovery phase of Commission proceedings. One way to shorten Commission proceedings is to devise some means whereby parties seeking relevant information from the Service will have it available to them when the Service files a rate or mail classification request. Prompt establishment of procedures accomplishing that end is in the interest of the Commission, the mailers, and the Service.

Nonetheless, the Service has made a persuasive case for modifying the July staff proposal. Some of the staff's July proposals, and those presented by certain mailers, are very comprehensive and do not appear capable of being achieved at this stage of postal regulation. In reaching this conclusion we have taken account of the Service's statement that it "is now engaged in a major revision of its accounting, budget, and reporting systems." We expect that such revisions will not eliminate data compilations which the Service has agreed to retain in its offices. We do not, however, wish to hinder this program and unnecessarily lengthen the transitional period.

In sum, while we are acutely aware that it is impossible to perfect a filing or reporting system at this stage of postal regulation, we are satisfied that a beginning must be made. The rules which we adopt here represent a general approach to the problem of filing requirements which will alert the Service to the types of evidence it should file. At the same time, the rules avoid onerous requirements which could disrupt current efforts to establish meaningful data systems. Although the rules do not encompass all of the parties' suggestions, this proceeding must be viewed as the first of its genre. Future proceedings will refine our filing requirements. The rules adopted at this time, however, will provide a sound foundation for future modifications.

II. THE SERVICE'S FILINGS IN RATE
PROCEEDINGS

As contemplated by the July staff proposal, our revised rules (39 CFR Part 3001, Subpart B) increase the evidence which the Postal Service must file with its formal requests for rate changes. These rules are designed to enable the Commission staff and interested parties to analyze the scope of each filing, fully understand its contents, and thereby avoid protracted discovery procedures.

General requirements. The July staff proposal contemplated that the Service would file all the specified evidence with every rate request. The Service contends that such a requirement would be enormously expensive. We are convinced that means are available to obtain satisfactory regulatory information, albeit not perfect, without the incurrance of inordinate burdens.

With this in mind, we have revised our present rule (39 CFR 3001.54(a)) so that it requires that the specified evidentiary data (set out in the new paragraphs (b) through (e) of 39 CFR 3001.54) need be provided only "to the extent information is available or can be made available without undue burden." This will avoid burdening the Postal Service by mandatory reports of data not truly available to it.

As a concomitant provision, the rules also direct the Service to supply detailed explanations when it asserts that data are unavailable. Interested parties will thus be informed why such information is not available, what action would be needed to make it available, whether the Postal Service contemplates making it available, and, if so, when.

The rule also states that it is "not in derogation" of the Commission's normal discovery procedures. Upon request, the presiding officer can direct the Service to file any relevant and material information which was omitted from the filing.

Rates and standards information. The July staff proposal asked the Service to identify the existing and proposed new rates, and the related services rendered by the Postal Service. It thus called for a succinct specification of all mail services and the related rules, regulations, and practices which establish the conditions of mailability and standards of service.

The Service takes the position that this information need not be specified because much of it is already available in the Code of Federal Regulations and in the Postal Service Manual. These documents, however, contain "regulations . . . for both public and internal use" and do not readily reflect a separate catalog of all the necessary information. As we see it, the Service has an obligation to identify the services which it renders in exchange for the users' payment of a prescribed rate.

The Commission, however, will change the July proposal in several respects. As revised, the rule (39 CFR 3001.54(b)) allows the postal regulations to be set forth in summary fashion and tariff-like form. In addition, at the Service's suggestion, we have modified the rule's provision asking the Service to state the degree of substitutability between the various mail classes and subclasses. It is now clear that the rule is aimed at "economic" substitutability.<sup>1</sup>

Mail characteristics. The rules (39 CFR 3001.54(c)) will retain the staff's proposal that the Service identify the characteristics of the mailer and recipient—and describe the items being mailed. The Service has indicated a willingness to provide this information to the extent it is available. As noted earlier, the rules contain a general provision exempting information which is unavailable.

Physical attributes of mail. The July staff proposal sought information on the "physical attributes of mail." Although the Postal Service stated that it cannot achieve substantial compliance with this rule in the immediate future, the rule is of fundamental importance and will be retained as a goal (39 CFR 3001.54(d)). The Service states that it has accumulated certain data relating to physical shapes in connection with its own studies. Moreover, as we understand the Service's response to staff's proposed PRC Form C-1, certain additional data will become available in the future. Such information can constitute a beginning in this important area.

Special service arrangements. Another feature of the July staff proposal was a request that the characteristics of the postal service rendered be identified. As revised (39 CFR 3001.54(e)), the rule asks the Service to supply a "summary statement" describing any "special service arrangements."

<sup>1</sup>The revised rule also incorporates the third-class mailers' suggestion that the rate schedules filed by the Service identify, where applicable, the phased rates and the adjusted rates proposed by the Service under 39 U.S.C. §§ 3626 and 3627, respectively. This requirement is applicable, however, only to the "circumstances known at the time of filing."

The new rule reflects the salutary principle that there should be no undue service discrimination among mail users within a given class. In other utility industries, arrangements have existed whereby a utility company has incurred additional costs for a small segment of users within a given service class without all such users obtaining proportionate benefits. These arrangements may signal the need for rate adjustments. The rule will enable the Commission to know about and to evaluate any such arrangements for mailers.

Total functionalized costs. The July staff proposal sought to obtain information regarding the Postal Service's total costs for the most recent past year and as projected for the future. Such cost information, which must be keyed to the different postal functions, is important for effective rate regulation. Our final rule (39 CFR 3001.54(f)) will endorse the staff's concept, with several changes of detail.

In this and other related rules, the Commission has uniformly incorporated the Service's suggestion that the reported data be presented solely on a fiscal-year basis. In addition, the Commission has expanded this rule so as to require estimated costs for the fiscal year in which the filing is made. This latter change will ensure that the Commission has comprehensive current data before it.<sup>2</sup>

Like other rules drafted by the staff task force last July, this rule incorporated certain proposed reporting forms. After studying the parties' comments on the forms, we have decided to delete the forms at this time. The Service has available much of the summary data sought in some forms and can present those data in evidentiary proceedings. Other forms need substantial refinement or request data which are not available at this time or cannot be made readily available. Given the expected changes in the Service's data collection and accounting systems, we are of the view that the reporting forms are now premature. Further action on the report forms should await future developments.<sup>3</sup>

<sup>3</sup> Meanwhile, we shall direct the staff to continue its work on these forms and, further, urge the Postal Service to carefully consider the data collection requests contained therein, as well as the intervenors' suggested changes—particularly the extensive and detailed report form submitted by Foster Associates. Also see the initial comments of American Business Press pp. 3-6 (mail delivery costs, peaking patterns, zone rate information); Association of American Publishers pp. 2-3 (handling costs for special fourth class mail); Council of Public Utility Mailers pp. 5-7 (functional costs of subclasses comprising first class mail, costs of local mail and peaking patterns); Magazine Publishers of America pp. 7-11, 25-27 (capacity requirements, peaking patterns, mailer preparation, level of service, and various specific cost related data); Mail Advertising Corporation of America pp. 3-6 (mail forwarding costs, certain revenue and cost data for specified types of mail service, and peaking patterns); Readers Digest pp. 7-10 (functionalized unit costs, larger mailer volumes); United Parcel Service pp. 2-4 (periodic reports).

The revised rule also incorporates a proposal submitted by certain third-class mailers. Thus, the estimated costs are to be shown on two bases: (i) At the pre-filing rates, and (ii) at the suggested rates. This information is designed to show potential interclass shifts of volume or loss of volume due to changed rates.

Under the new rule, the Service will be required—when it assigns and distributes costs by account to functional categories—to include the related mail volumes. We recognize that this might initially entail considerable effort on the part of the Service. Nonetheless, we believe that substantial functionalization of costs and related volumes, if achieved, will aid in the development of functionalized unit costs.<sup>4</sup>

Another modification proposed by the Postal Service relates to reporting these data only "in final, complete form" for the fiscal year just ended. That is, if data for the most recently concluded fiscal year have not been audited in complete form, the Postal Service wants to present the data for the fiscal year preceding it. We have not adopted this suggested modification. Instead we have modified the rule to require "preliminary or pro forma" fiscal year data for the most recently concluded fiscal year if the accounting data for that year have not been completed in final form. A final complete statement is to be substituted for the preliminary data when it becomes available. This requirement is necessary to avoid the use of "stale" data and to expedite rate cases.

Costs of prior years. The July staff proposal required the Service to show its total costs for each year since its last request for a change in rates. Under the staff rule, this historic data had to be in a form "consistent" with the cost information provided for the most recent year. The Service fears that the rule's phraseology might preclude the reporting of costs reflecting "newly-developed reporting concepts . . . (which) may . . . provide more detailed information than was available in previous years." The rule as revised (39 CFR 3001.54(g)) now recognizes that departures from consistent reporting could occur in the future and requests the Service to provide an explanation of their effect.

Separation of costs. Perhaps the most controversial staff proposal was a draft rule which contemplated the allocation of costs to the mail classes. Primarily because the draft rule was tied to certain reporting forms, the Service and others construe it as requiring the Service to present a "fully distributed cost" study. Not only has the Commission decided to postpone consideration of the contested forms, but it has also substantially rewritten this rule.

<sup>4</sup> In this connection, see our discussion in Docket R71-1 concerning the need for unit cost evidence relating to the "various postal processing operations" (Vol. I, 1-284). References to the record in the Docket R71-1 proceeding are to the four volumes published in eight parts by the Government Printing Office under 39 U.S.C. 3625 (e).

As revised, the rule (39 CFR 3001.54 (h)) tracks the provisions of 39 U.S.C. 3622(b) (3). Although some parties urge the Commission to rule on the use of "fully distributed costs" in Commission proceedings, we still consider the final disposition of this question to be premature and adhere to our views expressed in this matter in the first mail rate proceeding in Docket R71-1, see Volume I, 1-279 to 280. Thus, this rule states that "[t]he Commission neither requires nor approves any particular methodology." Similarly, we do not wish to foreclose the submission of data by any other participant related to any particular costing methodology.

Also, the Service cautions that it will not be able to quantify various factors which the rule lists as a part of the costing analysis. For example, it will not be able to measure the effect of peaking patterns until some future time. Apparently, for the present, a quantification "simply [is] not available." To a large degree, the rules we are adopting at this time have been written in anticipation of foreseeable future developments and it is not unreasonable to seek some measurement of these factors listed in the rule, subject to the availability clause of 39 CFR 3001.54(a). For this reason, the rule continues to list those factors which bear importantly upon utility costing.

In view of the Service's statement of its difficulties in providing the information already requested, the requests of the third-class mailers and American Business Press for additional data will not be granted at this time.

Criteria for rate schedule. In its July proposal, the staff task force requested, among other things, a statement of the criteria used by the Postal Service to distribute costs which are not directly "associated" with any class or subclass of mail. In this connection, the staff draft called for the submission of "studies, information and data relevant to the criteria established by section 3622 of the Act with appropriate explanations" which will assist the Commission in establishing an appropriate rate schedule. The Commission will adopt the rule with several changes (39 CFR 3001.54(i)).

One change stems from the Service's objection to the proposal that it be required to state the "relative importance of each criterion." According to the Service, this requirement unrealistically implies comparability among the criteria and more precision than is normally achieved in the ratemaking process. The objection appears sound, and this phrase is deleted from the adopted rules.

In response to the third-class mailers' suggestion, the rule will also be modified to speak in terms of costs "attributed to" mail classes, rather than "associated with" them.

Revenues and volumes. On this subject, the July staff proposal is not questioned insofar as it asked for fundamental information about revenues and volume, by mail classes. These provisions are therefore adopted without further discussion (39 CFR 3001.54(j)(1)-(5)).

In connection with the estimate of revenue, the July draft rule also required the submittal of a demand analysis for each subclass of service, with the analysis addressed to a number of economic factors—variables in customer demand, price elasticity and cross-elasticity of demand for each class of mail, the relationship of mail volume to various elements (population, income, etc.), and peaking patterns. The Postal Service's comments relate almost entirely to problems flowing from the quantifications implicit in this demand analysis.

Thus, the Service objects to the requirement that a forecast of future mail volume and related estimates of future revenues identify the relationship of total mail volume to "population, income, substitutable services, business activity, and any other nonprice variables affecting volume." (See 39 CFR 3001.54(j)(6).) Although the Postal Service states that it cannot currently comply with the rule as phrased, it nevertheless has "begun a program to increase its ability to furnish the required information." The "availability" rule in 39 CFR 3001.54(a) would appear to allay the Service's concern. This "availability" proviso should also obviate the Service's concern that the rule requires a quantitative identification of (1) the price elasticity of demand for each class and subclass of mail and service as well as (2) the cross-elasticities for such classes and subclasses and (3) peaking patterns of postal usage. Considering the complexity and the current status of the Service's data systems, we are aware that quantitative measurements of these factors must "await a prolonged period of development," as stated by the Service. However, the Service itself recognized in the first rate request proceeding the importance of elasticity concepts for the purpose of estimating demand for postal services. While we agree that the implementation of these concepts and the development of refined and reliable measurements may present analytical problems, we nonetheless think that further exploration of these techniques could produce information valuable to the setting of postal rates.

Financial statements. Included in the July staff draft was a rule introducing the report forms which the Service was to have utilized in its rate filings for the reporting of various information. We have modified the rule (39 CFR 3001.54(k)) by eliminating all references to those forms. Instead, the rule now requires, in general terms, five categories of information which track the staff's forms but eliminate the reporting rigidity inherent in the forms. Thus, for the time being, the Service is free to report the data in its own format.

* One minor change is noted, see footnote 2, supra.

Performance goals. The staff's July draft of the rules required the Service to submit every quarterly issue of the National Service Index, not previously filed with the Commission, as part of its formal rate requests. We have totally eliminated this evidentiary requirement from the new rule (39 CFR 3001.54(l)), as suggested by the Postal Service. The Service correctly notes that this document is publicly available upon request and that its inclusion in rate filings is unnecessary. In lieu of staff's rule we have required the Service to identify the performance goals it has established for the various mail classes and achieved levels of service where such goals have been set.

Workpapers. The staff task force proposed in its July draft that the Service be required to submit workpapers at the time it files a rate request with the Commission. With certain changes, the proposed rule will be adopted (39 CFR 3001.54(m)).

The staff's draft of this rule required that the workpapers meet certain uniformity requirements of the evidentiary rules, and the Service properly objects that such requirements are foreign to the nature of workpapers. We agree and have modified the rule to eliminate such requirements.

The Service also objects to the requirement that eight sets of workpapers be submitted. We have reduced this number to seven. Five sets of workpapers will be needed by Commission staff members who analyze the Service's filings. The remaining two will be available at the Commission's offices so that the public may inspect and copy them. The purpose of this rule is to reduce the amount of time needed to analyze the filing after it is lodged with the Commission. However, we agree with the Service's observation that certain elements of workpapers such as computer tapes and related programs cannot be duplicated and submitted as a part of a filing. Such items must be the object of special requests.

Certifications. The Commission has decided to adopt rules requiring that certain filed information be certified by postal officials and an independent public accountant (39 CFR 3001.54(n) and (o)). The final rules have been modified to incorporate the substance of suggestions submitted by the Service in its comments upon the staff's proposed rules.

Minor rate cases. The staff's July proposal made no provision for the waiver of certain filing requirements where the Service files a rate request involving minor changes. The rules (39 CFR 3001.54(p)) now include appropriate provision for such action.

Failure to comply. The Service expresses considerable consternation over the staff's July proposal governing instances where the Service fails to comply with the evidentiary filing requirements. The staff's draft rule authorized the Commission to reject the Service's filing or to accept it provisionally. We have eliminated the staff's proposal from the revised rules and in place thereof have substituted the rule expressed in 39 CFR 3001.56. We agree with the staff that the Commission should have procedural controls to insure expeditious regulatory treatment of rate and mail classification filings. The July draft rule, however, would foster potential procedural difficulties, particularly with respect to the establishment of temporary postal rates. These problems can be avoided and the Commission can still fulfill its responsibilities by adopting a rule providing for a stay of proceedings where the Commission makes an express finding that the Service's failure to supply information interferes with the Commission's ability to expedite a rate request.

III. THE SERVICE'S FILING IN CLASSIFICATION CASES

Threshold questions. Before dealing with the classification rules themselves, the Commission must decide whether it is premature to adopt any such rules at this time and, if not, when those rules should become effective. The Service, Association of American Publishers and certain third-class mailers believe that no classification rules should be adopted now. We disagree. If the parties to the present classification case, Docket MC73-1, have the rules before them, they will be far more likely to become aware of which rules need additional refinement. To promulgate the rules now will help both the Commission and the parties.

At the same time, the Commission recognizes that it would be impractical to make the new rules mandatory for the present classification case. The Postal Service has been preparing that filing for some time and cannot now be expected to acquire all the newly required data. Consequently, the new rules (including those related to intervenors' evidence) will not apply to Docket MC73-1. This, of course, does not preclude the presiding officer from requiring the production of any relevant and material evidence.

Filings affecting rates. The July staff proposal contained a special rule for classification filings which change rates or establish new postal services. In such cases, the staff proposal directed the Service to supply supporting cost (and other) information. The Service does not object to the rule's basic thrust, and we will adopt the rule (39 CFR 3001.64(h)) with modifications.

The Service voices several objections to the applicability provisions of this rule. First, it characterizes the rule as being too broad in that it would require the Service to submit excessively burdensome filings for "relatively minor changes in rates or classifications." As a curative we have added a paragraph to the rule which enables the Service to ask for a waiver of "certain . . . (rate request) requirements if in the Commission's judgment . . . the proposed change in the classification schedule does not significantly change the rates and fees or the cost-revenue relationships . . ."

Secondly, the Postal Service asserts that the rule should be restricted to those services over which the Commission has jurisdiction. At this early stage of postal regulation, the Service should not attempt to make unilateral interpretations as to the extent of the Commission's jurisdiction. If the Service believes that a given service falls outside the Commission's jurisdiction, it is always free to request the Commission to disclaim jurisdiction. As now drafted, the rule allows these questions to be resolved in the context of actual controversies presented to the Commission or in proceedings initiated by the Commission.

Other classification rules. The remaining classification rules are parallel or related to the rate case rules discussed in Part II of this preamble. Since the parties' comments on these two sets of rules are similar, the Commission has made essentially the same changes in the classification rules which it explained in connection with the rate case rules.*

IV. INTERVENORS' FILINGS

In the July draft, the staff proposed entirely new rules soliciting information from intervenors. If this information is provided as part of the intervenors' original evidentiary filing, the Service and the Commission staff can study it promptly and thus expedite the hearings. After careful study of the mailers' thoughtful comments, the Commission will adopt the proposed rules in modified form.† (39 CFR 3001.91-3001.92.)

Voluntary submissions. Although many mailers object to the rules, much of their opposition is predicated upon the misconception that the proposed rules are mandatory. To clarify this, the rules now specify that the intervenors are "invited" to submit the information, as part of their direct cases, "on a voluntary basis."

Although intervenors are thus not required to file the specified information with their direct cases, in appropriate instances they may properly be asked to supply relevant data in response to discovery requests. Insofar as the Commission needs data in order to evaluate the mailers' claims, the rules specify that they are not in derogation of the agency's authority to compel discovery.

This approach is, we believe, preferable to the Service's suggestion that provision of all the specified information be made mandatory, unless a special "waiver" is granted. At this stage of regulation, the Service's suggestion would impose an overly rigid presumption favoring discovery. In our view, the existing discovery procedures are better suited for adjudicating contentions that information is privileged or that the expense of furnishing it outweighs its probative value. The Service's suggested "waiver" system would hamper the presiding officer's ability to appraise the facts of each situation and to balance the conflicting considerations.

† As noted in Part III of this preamble, these rules (and those governing Service filings in classification cases) will not apply to the pending proceeding in Docket MC73-1.

Description of intervenors' operations. The July staff proposal called for intervenors to describe their businesses, their use of postal services, and their mailing operations. We will modify the rule in several respects.

First, in response to some trade associations' requests, such associations will be allowed to limit their response to a "general" description of their members' businesses (39 CFR 3001.92(a)). Next, data regarding postal costs may be supplied on an "estimated" basis (39 CFR 3001.92(b)). Finally, as suggested by the Service, the rules ask for a functional breakdown of intervenors' mailing operations (39 CFR 3001.92(c)). This is a potentially burdensome requirement, but given the voluntary nature of the rule we have incorporated it because of the obvious value of such information.

A few intervenors state that some information regarding their mailing operations is not generally available. So far as the intervenors' direct evidentiary filings are concerned, however, compliance with the rule is voluntary. The presiding officer will be able to assess claims of unavailability if such information is requested through interrogatories.

Postage costs. In the July draft, the staff task force asked for a statement of the relationship between the intervenors' postage costs and their other expenses. Although some mailers believe that this information is difficult to obtain, other intervenors will find it feasible to present such information. In this connection we have expanded the rule, as suggested by American Business Press and the Service, so as to obtain an itemization of postage costs by mail class and as related to total operating expenses (39 CFR 3001.92(d)).

Financial impact. The July staff proposal requested each intervenor to estimate the financial impact on itself of proposed rate and classification changes. As requested by Magazine Publishers Association and Parcel Post Association, the rule will be revised so that trade associations can present this information on an aggregate basis for their members (39 CFR 3001.92(e)). The Commission reserves the right to require this information to be provided by subgroups of companies.

Absorption of rate changes and demand for postal service. Another staff proposal sought information bearing upon the extent to which intervenors can absorb or avoid rate changes. Although mailers question this rule, the Commission finds that no modifications are required, particularly in light of the 39 CFR 3001.91 applicability section (39 CFR 3001.92(f)). For the same reason, no change to 39 CFR 3001.92(g)—requesting information on the demand for postal service—is indicated.

Information from competitors and suppliers. One of the most important July proposals concerned information on competitive operations between the Postal Service and its competitors, like United Parcel Service. We have expanded this rule (39 CFR 3001.92(h)) to request an intervenor's costs relating to competitive services, as requested by the Postal Service. No opposition was voiced to this additional request.† Similarly, no reply comments were opposed to the Service's proposed expansion of another rule (39 CFR 3001.92(i)) to obtain supporting statistical or accounting data from an intervenor who is a manufacturer or supplier for users of the Postal Service.

"Impact" data. In order to analyze claims that mailers are financially injured by Service proposals, the July staff draft sought a statement of intervenors' revenues, volumes, costs, and profits. The rule originally sought such data for a 10-year period. In the final rule, this period has now been changed to 5 years (39 CFR 3001.92(j)). Association of American Publishers' suggestion that a 2-year period be used is rejected because these data are subject to radical fluctuations over such a short period. Thus, a data time-series of less than 5 years would probably detract substantially from the data's value.‡

User studies. Another July proposal, which solicited user studies of the Postal Service, is unchallenged and will be adopted (39 CFR 3001.92(k)).

Representative data. In requesting the information discussed above, the July draft did not require intervenors to specify whether their evidence is representative of a significant category of mailers. At the suggestion of the third-class mailers, we will correct this omission (39 CFR 3001.92). As revised, the rule will aid in establishing the materiality of much of the intervenors' evidence. This will not preclude individual presentations but, if they are not representative, the revised rule will aid in establishing that fact.

Workpapers. The staff task force provided in its July draft that intervenors, like the Postal Service, should accompany their filings with copies of workpapers. After reviewing Commission needs, we have reduced the total number of workpaper sets to be filed to seven (39 CFR 3001.92(l)). Otherwise, we think the rule is workable and we make no other revisions to staff's proposed rule except (1) to provide for the transmittal of two sets of workpapers to counsel for the Postal Service, and (2) to delete the reference to 39 CFR 3001.31, as requested by the Postal Service.

* The rule originally required information on a competitor's operations covering a 10-year span. We have concluded that a 5-year period will provide satisfactory data and the rule is changed accordingly.

† Our recent order in Docket RM73-2 dealt fully with the Service's additional suggestion that every trade association should be required to produce the requested information with respect to each member of the association (38 FR 4750-4753, Feb. 22, 1973, correcting 38 FR 4324-4325, Feb. 13, 1973). There the Commission also emphasized that trade association intervenors should not be permitted to funnel the rate impact complaints of constituent members—and then become a shield for such members when the Commission or the Postal Service seeks to obtain data supporting the impact claims. And, finally, the Commission also answered a proposal (also made here) that parties should be "encouraged" to seek protective orders preserving confidential data.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Conclusions on intervenors' filings. The Commission is sympathetic to the mailers' concern that overly stringent rules in this area might discourage mailer participation in Commission proceedings. That is why the Commission designed these rules to encourage voluntary compliance (39 CFR 3001.91). It is also the reason that we have denied certain Service requests to make the rules mandatory and more stringent.

Our efforts to keep Commission proceedings open to all mailers do not stop there, however. On February 6, 1973, the Commission issued a new rule allowing persons (who choose not to be full parties) to participate in Commission proceedings on a limited basis. Under the new rules, "limited participants" may be heard without making themselves subject to interrogatories and other discovery procedures (38 FR 3510).

In the final analysis, however, mailers must recognize that rules soliciting complete information are in their own best interests. Unless mailers provide adequate information, the Commission may be unable to appraise their contentions that Service proposals will injure them financially. It is too early to say, in the abstract, whether a participant's refusal to produce data should lead to a "negative inference." However, the rules give plain warning that, when the Commission determines how much weight should be accorded to a participant's contentions, it will take account of any failure to provide relevant and material information.

V. GENERAL EVIDENTIARY RULES

The staff's July proposal also included a general rule covering the introduction of studies in Commission proceedings. The purpose of the rule was to enable the Commission to analyze and evaluate the validity of studies presented in evidentiary proceedings. Only the Postal Service suggests changes to this rule and we have adopted all of them as useful revisions (39 CFR 3001.31(k)). Thus, the Service suggests that the requirement, in paragraph (1), for "a statement of the relative weights given to the various factors in arriving at each conclusion" in a study plan be eliminated. We agree.

We have also changed the language in paragraph (2) so that statistical studies will not be automatically presented, but only "upon proper request," as suggested by the Postal Service. Further, it is appropriate that the confidence limits requested in this paragraph be restricted to "major estimates" where sample surveys are employed. We find that these changes are proper in order to avoid placing an undue burden on either the Postal Service or other participants. However we do not intend thereby to preclude an examination of an approprate witness on these subjects during a proceeding.

VI. CONCLUSION

As noted earlier, the rules promulgated now must be regarded as the beginning—not the end—of an evolutionary process. Experience in pending and future proceedings may point the way for improvements and changes. Until that experience is gained, however, we doubt that either additional written comments<sup>10</sup> or on-the-record conferences are likely to be of much help in this proceeding. After due time, the Commission will review the rules and any rulemaking proposals submitted by the parties.

Accordingly, in light of the foregoing findings, and pursuant to sections 3603, 3622, 3623, and 3624 of the Postal Reorganization Act, 39 U.S.C. 3603, 3622, 3623, and 3624, the Commission hereby amends Part 3001 of its regulations (39 CFR Part 3001) as set forth below. It is further ordered that the amendments shall become effective on March 22, 1973, but that they shall not be applicable to the pending proceeding in Docket MC73-1.

1. Amend the Table of Contents by adding new §§ 3001.56 and 3001.66 and a new Subpart F as follows:

Subpart B—Rules Applicable to Requests for Changes in Rates and Fees

Sec.

3001.56 Failure to comply.

Subpart C—Rules Applicable to Requests for Establishing or Changing the Mail Classification Schedule

3001.66 Failure to comply.

Subpart F—Rules Applicable to the Filing of Testimony by Intervenor

3001.91 Applicability.

3001.92 Submissions by intervenors.

2. Section 3001.31 is amended by adding a new paragraph (k) reading as follows:

§ 3001.31 Evidence.

(k) Introduction of studies and analyses. (1) In the case of all studies and analyses offered in evidence in hearing proceedings, other than the kinds described in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, there shall be a clear statement of the study plan, all relevant assumptions and a description of the techniques of data collection, estimation and/or testing. In addition, there shall be a clear statement of the facts and judgments upon which conclusions are based, together with an indication of the alternative courses of action considered. Tabulations of input data shall be made available upon request at the offices of the Commission.

(2) Upon proper request all statistical studies offered in evidence in hearing proceedings shall be described in a summary statement with supplementary details added in appendices so as to give a comprehensive delineation of the assumptions made, the study plan utilized and the procedures undertaken. For example, for each of the following types of statistical studies, the indicated information should be furnished:

(i) Sample surveys. (a) A clear description of the survey design, including the definition of the universe under study, the sampling frame and units, and the validity and confidence limits that can be placed on major estimates; and

(b) An explanation of the method of selecting the sample and the characteristics measured or counted.

(ii) Econometric investigations. (a) A complete description of the econometric model and the reasons for each assumption and statistical specification;

(b) A clear statement as to the effects on the final result of changes in the assumptions; and

(c) Upon request, make available alternative studies which may have been made, which employed alternative models and variables.

(iii) Experimental analyses. (a) A complete description of the experimental design, including a specification of the controlled conditions and how the controls were realized; and

(b) A complete description of the methods of making observations and the adjustments, if any, to observed data.

(iv) All studies involving statistical methodology. (a) The formula used for statistical estimates;

(b) The standard errors of each component estimated;

(c) Test statistics and the description of statistical tests and all related computations, computer programs and final results; and

(d) Summary descriptions of input data, and upon request the actual input data shall be made available at the offices of the Commission.

3. Section 3001.54 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3001.54 Contents of formal requests.

(a) General requirements. (1) Each formal request filed under this subpart shall include such information and data and such statements of reasons and bases as are necessary and appropriate fully to inform the Commission and the parties of the nature, scope, significance and impact of the proposed changes or adjustments in rates or fees and to show that the changes or adjustments in rates or fees are in the public interest and in accordance with the policies of the Act and the applicable criteria of the Act. To the extent information is available or can be made available without undue burden, each formal request shall include the information specified in paragraphs (b)-(c) of this section. If the required information is set forth in the Postal Service's prepared direct evidence, it shall be deemed to be part of the formal request without restatement.

(2) If any information required by paragraphs (b)-(c) of this section is not available and cannot be made available without undue burden, the request shall provide where reference is made to this paragraph, in lieu of such information, a statement explaining with particularity:

(i) The information which is not available or cannot be made available without undue burden;

(ii) The reason or reasons that each such item of information is not available and cannot be made available without undue burden;

(iii) The steps or actions which would be needed to make each such item of information available, together with an estimate of the time and expense required therefor;

(iv) Whether it is contemplated that each such item of information will be supplied in the future and, if so, at what time; and

(v) Whether reliable estimates are available where such information cannot be furnished and, if so, the specifics of such estimates.

(3) The provisions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for the Postal Service to include in its formal request certain alternative information in lieu of that specified by paragraphs (b)-(c) of this section are not in derogation of the Commission's and the presiding officer's authority, pursuant to §§ 3001.23-3001.28, respecting the provision of information at a time following receipt of the formal request.

(4) The Commission may request information in addition to that required by paragraphs (b)-(c) of this section.

(b) Rates and standards information.

(1) Every formal request shall include schedules of the then effective rate or rates of postage and fee or fees for all postal services and the rate or rates of postage and fee or fees for all postal services as proposed to be changed or adjusted by the Postal Service. The schedules shall show the full rate and where applicable the phased rate under section 3626 of the Act and any proposed adjustment to such phased rates under section 3627 of the Act indicated by circumstances known at the time of filing.

(2) The schedules required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall, for all classes and subclasses of mail and service, be in summary fashion and tariff-like form. (E.g., there shall be a specification of those rules, regulations and practices which establish the conditions of mailability and the standards of service.) As a part thereof, the schedules shall specifically be addressed to such functions as mail pickup and delivery, processing and other similar functions.

(3) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, the schedules required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall also contain a statement identifying the degree of economic substitutability between the various classes and subclasses, e.g., a description of cross-elasticity of demand as between various classes of mail.

(4) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, the schedules required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be accompanied by an identification of all nonpostal services.

(c) Mail characteristics. Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall include an identification of the characteristics of the mailer and recipient, and a description of the contents of items mailed within the various classes and subclasses of mail and service.

(d) Physical attributes of mail. Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall include an identification of the physical attributes of the items mailed by class and subclass, including shape, weight, and distance.

(e) Special service arrangements.

Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall contain, to the extent the following information is not expressly included under paragraph (b)(2) of this section, a summary statement describing special service arrangements provided to, or requested or required of, mailers by the Postal Service which bear upon the cost of service or the value of the mail service to both the sender and the recipient, e.g., services relating to mailer preparations in excess of requirements specified by the Postal Service Manual, pick-up and delivery, expedited or deferred processing, and other similar activities performed.

(f) Total functionalized accrued costs.

(1) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall set forth the total actual accrued costs during the most recent fiscal year for which they are reasonably available. In the event final total actual accrued costs are not yet available for the fiscal year immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the filing is made, a preliminary or pro forma statement of such actual accrued costs shall be furnished. Any preliminary statement shall use, as appropriate, quarterly or accounting period reports for the preceding fiscal year. A final complete statement shall be substituted for any preliminary statement when the former becomes available.

(2) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall also set forth (i) the estimated total accrued costs of the Postal Service for the fiscal year in which the filing is made and (ii) the estimated total accrued costs of the Postal Service as specified in section 3621 of the Act which form the basis for proposed change in rates or fees. Estimated accrued costs referred to in subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph shall be for a fiscal year beginning not more than 12 months subsequent to the filing date of the formal request. These two estimates of accrued costs shall be calculated on two bases: First, assuming the prevailing rates and fees and, second, assuming the suggested rates and fees. Estimated accrued costs shall be accompanied by an explanation of the methods and procedures used for cost projections. The analyses of estimated costs shall include, but need not be limited to:

(a) An explanation of the projection of total volumes;

(b) An explanation of the effect of the projected volume levels on estimated total costs;

(c) The specification of the cost savings which will be realized from gains and improvements in total productivity, indicating such factors as operational and technological advances and innovations; and

(d) The identification of abnormal costs which are expected to be incurred in the forecasted test period.

(3) Each cost presentation required by subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall, subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section:

(i) Show operating costs in sufficient detail as to the accounting and functional classifications and with such reasonable explanation so that the actual or estimated amount for each item of expense may be readily understood;

(ii) State and fully explain the amounts included for:

(a) Depreciation on capital facilities and equipment;

(b) Debt service;

(c) Contingencies; and

(d) Extraordinary or nonrecurring expenses;

(iii) Assign and distribute costs to each of the functions comprising the mail process. Such presentations shall include:

(a) An itemization of costs by the major accounts as reflected by the Service's books of accounts for all cost segments, such as postmasters, supervisors, etc.;

(b) An itemization of costs by functions such as collection, acceptance, general overheads, etc.;

(c) An assignment and distribution of the costs by account, as set forth in (a) of this subdivision, together with related mail volumes, to the functions set forth in (b) of this subdivision;

(d) An assignment and distribution of the costs by account, together with related mail volumes, to such subfunctions within each category for which information is available or can be developed; and

(e) An explanation of the method by which the costs by accounts are assigned and distributed to functions.

(g) Costs of prior fiscal years. Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall present the total actual accrued costs for each fiscal year since the last filing pursuant to this section. Such submission should be in a form as nearly consistent as possible with the filing under paragraph (f) of this section, together with explanations of any departures from such form and the effect of such departures.

(h) Separation, attribution, and assignment of certain costs. (1) Every formal request shall separate the Service's actual and estimated total costs, for the fiscal years specified in paragraph (f) of this section, as between postal services (including international mail) and nonpostal services. The presentation shall show the methodology for separating postal costs as between postal services and nonpostal services, and shall be in sufficient detail to allow a determination that no nonpostal costs have been assigned or allocated to postal services.

(2) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, the costs for postal services, as set forth by functions pursuant to paragraph (f), shall be separated as between:

(i) Those direct costs which can be attributed to each class of mail or type of mail service;

(ii) Those indirect costs which can be attributed to each class of mail or type of mail service;

(iii) Any other costs of the Service which can be reasonably assigned to each class of mail or type of mail service; and

(iv) Any costs which cannot be attributed or reasonably assigned.*

(3) The methodology used to derive the costs requested in subdivisions (i) through (iv) of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall be set forth in detail.

(4) The direct costs, indirect costs and other costs reasonably assignable as provided in subdivisions (i) through (iii) of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall separately be attributed or assigned to mail classes and subclasses and type of mail service. The Commission neither requires nor approves any particular methodology. The submission shall identify the methodology used to attribute or assign each type of such costs and, subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, shall also include an analysis of the effect on costs of:

(i) Volume;

(ii) Peaking patterns;

(iii) Priority of handling;

(iv) Mailer preparations;

(v) Quality of service;

(vi) The physical nature of the item mailed;

(vii) Expected gains in total productivity, indicating such factors as operational and technological advances and innovations; and (viii) Any other factor affecting costs.

(5) Any nonattributed or unassigned costs specified in subdivision (iv) of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph shall be clearly and separately identified. An explanation shall be furnished as to why such costs cannot be attributed or assigned. To the extent possible, the presentation shall identify all such costs which benefit more than one class of mail or type of service (but not all classes or types), together with the mail classes or types of services so benefited.

(6) The Service shall furnish the data relevant to its analysis of the effect on costs of the factors specified in subdivisions (i) through (viii) of subparagraph (4) of this paragraph.

(i) Criteria for rate schedule. There shall be included in every formal request a statement of the criteria employed in constructing the proposed rate schedule. The submission shall include:

(1) The identification of the relationship between the revenues derived from the rates and fees for a particular class and subclass of mail or service and the costs attributed or assigned to that class and subclass of service;

(2) The identification of the procedures and methods used to apportion (to postal services) that part of the total revenue requirement, if any, which is in excess of costs attributed or assigned;

(3) Such other studies, information and data relevant to the criteria established by section 3622 of the Act with appropriate explanations as will assist the Commission in determining whether or not the proposed rates or fees are in accordance with such criteria.

(j) Revenues and volumes. (1) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall set forth the actual and estimated revenues of the Postal Service from the then effective postal rates and fees for the fiscal years selected for the presentation of cost information submitted pursuant to paragraphs (f) and (g) of this section.

(2) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, every formal request shall set forth the estimated revenues based on the suggested rates and fees for the fiscal years selected for the presentation of cost information submitted pursuant to subparagraph (2) of paragraph (f) of this section.

(3) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, the actual and estimated revenues referred to in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph shall be shown in total and separately for each class and subclass of mail and postal service and for all other sources from which Postal Service collects revenues.

(4) Each revenue presentation required by subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3) of this paragraph shall, subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, be supported by an identification of the methods and procedures employed.

(5) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, there shall be furnished in every formal request:

(i) The actual volume of mail at the prefilled rates for the most recent past fiscal year;

(ii) The estimated volume of mail at the prefilled rates for the fiscal year in which the filing is made;

(iii) The estimated volume of mail for the fiscal year in which the filing is made

assuming the effectiveness of the suggested rates;

(iv) The estimated volume of mail for the future fiscal year, assuming the retention of the prefilled rates; and

(v) The estimated volume of mail for the future fiscal year assuming the effectiveness of the suggested rates.

(6) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, a demand analysis shall be presented in every formal request, for each class and subclass of mail and service. The analysis shall include such items as the following:

(i) The identification of the variables relevant to customer demand;

(ii) The identification of the price elasticity of demand for each class and subclass of mail and service;

(iii) The identification of the cross-elasticity of demand for the various classes and subclasses of mail and services;

(iv) The identification of the relationship of total mail volume to: Population, income, substitutable services, business activity, and any other nonprice variable affecting volume; and

(v) The identification of peaking patterns.

(k) Financial statements and related information. (1) Subject to subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, every formal request shall include, for the 2 fiscal years immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the date of formal filing occurs, the Balance Sheet, the Statement of Income and Expense, basic statistical information and the Statement of Income and Expense by budget categories of the Postal Service. This information shall include data with respect to:

(i) Balance Sheet and a supporting schedule for each item appearing thereon;

(ii) Statement of Income and Expense and a supporting schedule for each item appearing thereon;

(iii) As appropriate, statistical data with respect to revenue, pieces (by physical attributes, showing separately amounts of mail identified as stamped, metered, and imprinted, or other), weight, distance, "billing determinants," postal employees (number, total payroll, productivity, etc.), postal space, post offices (number, classes, etc.), summary reports (accounting period 13 or annual) of the workload recording system for the latest 2 fiscal years and any other pertinent factors which have been utilized in the development of the suggested rate schedule;

(iv) Statement of Income and Expense by budget categories; and

(v) Reconciliation of costs, by budget categories, with costs by accounting classification.

(2) A reconciliation of the budgetary information with actual accrued costs shall be provided for the most recent fiscal year.

(3) If the fiscal information for the immediately preceding fiscal year is not fully available on the date of filing, a preliminary or pro forma submittal shall be made and upon final completion an updated report shall be filed in substitution thereof.

(1) Performance goals. (1) Every formal request shall identify any performance goals which have been established for the classes and subclasses of mail.

(2) Subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, the request shall identify the achieved levels of service for those classes and subclasses of mail and mail services for which performance goals have been set. This information may be provided by reference to published documents or otherwise.

(m) Workpapers. (1) Whenever the Service files a formal request it shall accompany the request with seven sets of workpapers, five for use by the Commission staff and two which shall be available for use by the public at the Commission's offices.

(2) Workpapers shall contain:

(i) Detailed information underlying the data and submissions for paragraphs (b)-(1) of this section in such fashion and content so as to permit independent analysis of each cost component and an independent attribution or assignment of costs to classes and subclasses and the assignment of nonattributed or unassigned costs to classes and subclasses;

(ii) A description of the methods used in collecting, summarizing and expanding the data used in the various submissions;

(iii) Summaries of sample data, allocation factors and other data used for the various submissions;

(iv) The expansion ratios used (where applicable); and

(v) The results of any special studies used to modify, expand, project, or audit routinely collected data.

(3) Workpapers shall be neat and legible and shall indicate how they relate to the data and submissions supplied in response to paragraphs (b)-(1) of this section.

(4) When workpapers do not contain all the supporting data, the omitted data shall be indicated in a manner allowing the data to be retrieved upon request.

(n) Certification by officials. (1) Every formal request shall include one or more certifications stating that the cost statements and supporting data submitted as a part of the formal request, as well as the accompanying workpapers, which purport to reflect the books of the Postal Service, accurately set forth the results shown by such books.

(2) The certificates required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be signed by one or more representatives of the Postal Service authorized to make such certification. The signature of the official signing the document constitutes a representation that the official has read the document and that, to the best of his knowledge, information and belief, every statement contained in the instrument is proper.

(o) Opinion of independent public accountant. Every formal request shall include an opinion from an independent public accountant to the extent and as required by 39 U.S.C. section 2008(e).

(p) Special waiver provision for minor rate cases. The Commission may, upon the filing of a proper motion by the Postal Service, together with a showing of good cause therefor, waive certain of the filing requirements of paragraphs (b)-(o) of this section if in the Commission's judgment it has been demonstrated that the proposed change in a rate or rates of postage and a fee or fees for postal service does not significantly change the then effective rates and fees or alter the cost-revenue relationships of the various classes and types of postal services.

4. Subpart B is amended by adding a new § 3001.56 reading as follows:

§ 3001.56 Failure to comply.

If the Postal Service fails to provide any information specified by this subpart, or otherwise required by the presiding officer or the Commission, the Commission, upon its own motion, or upon motion of any participant to the proceeding, may stay the proceeding until satisfactory compliance is achieved. The Commission will stay proceedings only if it finds that failure to supply adequate information interferes with the Commission's ability promptly to consider the request and to conduct its proceedings with expedition in accordance with the Act.

5. Section 3001.64 is revised to read as follows:

§ 3001.64 Contents of formal requests.

(a) General requirements. (1) Each formal request filed under this subpart shall include such information and data and such statements of reasons and bases as are necessary and appropriate fully to inform the Commission and the parties of the nature, scope, significance, and impact of the proposed new mail classification schedule or the proposed changes therein and to show that the mail classification schedule as proposed to be established or changed is in accordance with the policies and the applicable criteria of the Act. To the extent the information is available or can be made available without undue burden, each formal request shall include the information specified in paragraphs (b)-(h) of this section. If the required information is set forth in the Postal Service's prepared direct evidence, it shall be deemed to be part of the formal request without restatement.

(2) If any information required by paragraphs (b)-(h) of this section is not available and cannot be made available without undue burden, the request shall provide where reference is made to this paragraph, in lieu of such information, a statement explaining with particularity:

(i) The information which is not available or cannot be made available without undue burden;

(ii) The reason or reasons that each such item of information is not available and cannot be made available without undue burden;

(iii) The steps or actions which would be needed to make each such item of information available, together with an estimate of the time and expense required therefor;

(iv) Whether it is contemplated that each such item of information will be supplied in the future and, if so, at what time; and

(v) Whether reliable estimates are available where such information cannot be furnished and, if so, the specifics of such estimates.

(3) The provisions of subparagraph (2) of this paragraph for the Postal Service to include in its formal request certain alternative information in lieu of that specified by paragraphs (b)-(h) of this section are not in derogation of the Commission's and the presiding officer's authority, pursuant to §§ 3001.23-3001.28, respecting the provision of information at a time following receipt of the formal request.

(4) The Commission may request information in addition to that required by paragraphs (b)-(h) of this section.

(b) Classification and standards information. (1) Every formal request shall include copies of the then effective mail classification schedule and the proposed changes in the then effective classification schedule.

(2) The schedules required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall, for all classes and subclasses of mail and service, be in summary fashion and tariff-like form. (E.g., there shall be a specification of those rules, regulations, and practices which establish the conditions of mailability and the standards of service.) As a part thereof, the schedules shall specifically be addressed to such functions as mail pick-up and delivery, processing, and other similar functions.

(3) The schedules required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall also contain a statement identifying the degree of economic substitutability between the various classes and subclasses, e.g., a description of cross-elasticity of demand as between various classes of mail.

(4) The schedules required by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall be accompanied by an identification of all nonpostal services.

(c) Mail characteristics. Every formal request shall include such studies, information and data on the characteristics of the users of the Postal Service, the nature of the items mailed and the nature of the methods of mailing, which will assist the Commission in determining whether or not the proposed mail classification schedule or the proposed changes therein are in accordance with the policies and the applicable criteria of the Act. Included, subject to paragraph (a)(2) of this section, shall be:

(1) An identification of the characteristics of the mailer and recipient, and a description of the contents of items mailed within the various classes and subclasses of mail and service.

(2) An identification of the physical attributes of the items mailed by class and subclass, including shape, weight, and distance.

(3) To the extent the following information is not expressly included under paragraph (b) (2) of this section, a summary statement describing special service arrangements provided to, or requested or required of, mailers by the Postal Service which bear upon the cost of service or the value of the mail service to both the sender and the recipient, e.g., services relating to mailer preparations in excess of requirements specified by the Postal Service Manual, pick-up and delivery, expedited or deferred processing, and other similar activities performed.

(d) Effects of proposed changes. Subject to paragraph (a) (2) of this section, every formal request shall include a statement showing the effects of the proposed changes in the then effective classification schedule upon:

(i) The costs attributed and assigned to each class and subclass of mail or service as developed pursuant to § 3001.54(h);

(ii) The total accrued costs of the Postal Service developed pursuant to § 3001.54(f); and

(iii) The total revenues of the Postal Service and the revenues of each class and subclass of mail or service developed pursuant to § 3001.54(j).

(e) Interclass changes. Subject to paragraph (a) (2) of this section, whenever it is proposed that a portion of one existing class or subclass of mail or service be reassigned to another existing class or subclass of mail or service, every formal request shall include a comparison of the before and after costs and revenues associated with handling the relevant classes or subclasses of mail or service, and the before and after costs and revenues of the portion which is to be reassigned.

(f) Statement of reasons. Every formal request shall include a complete statement of the reasons and bases for the Postal Service's proposed mail classification schedule or proposed changes therein.

(g) Workpapers. (1) Whenever the Service files a formal request it shall accompany the request with seven sets of workpapers, five for use by the Commission staff and two which shall be available for use by the public at the Commission's offices.

(2) Workpapers shall contain:

(i) Detailed information underlying the data and submissions for paragraphs (b)–(f) of this section;

(ii) A description of the methods used in collecting, summarizing and expanding the data used in the various submissions;

(iii) Summaries of sample data, allocation factors and other data used for the various submissions;

(iv) The expansion ratios used (where applicable); and

(v) The results of any special studies used to modify, expand, project, or audit routinely collected data.

(3) Workpapers shall be neat and legible and shall indicate how they relate to the data and submissions supplied in response to paragraphs (b)–(f) of this section.

(4) When workpapers do not contain all the supporting data, the omitted data shall be indicated in a manner allowing the data to be retrieved upon request.

(h) Matters affecting rates and fees. (1) This paragraph applies to any proposed change in the then effective classification schedule which would result:

(i) In a change in the rates or fees for any existing class or subclass of mail and service; or

(ii) In the establishment of a new class or subclass of mail or service for which rates or fees are to be established, or

(iii) In a change in the relationship of the costs attributed or assigned to any class or subclass of mail or service to the revenues of that class or subclass of mail or service; or

(iv) In a change in the relationship of the total costs of the Postal Service to the total revenues.

(2) In the case of any proposed change in the then effective classification schedule covered by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, every formal request shall include, subject to paragraph (a) (2) of this section:

(i) The information required by paragraphs (b)–(h) and (j)–(m) of § 3001.54, together with the statement and opinion required by paragraphs (n) and (o) of § 3001.54; and

(ii) A statement explaining to what extent the Postal Service has considered the criteria of section 3622 of the Act as justifying the rate consequences of the proposed classifications. The submission shall also include the identification of the relationship between the rates and fees for a particular class and subclass or service, the identification of the procedures and methods used to relate the residual costs which have not been attributed to any class and subclass of mail or service or groups thereof, and such other studies, information, and data relevant to the criteria established by section 3622 of the Act with appropriate explanations.

(3) The Commission may, upon the filing of a proper motion by the Postal Service, together with a showing of good cause therefor, waive certain of the above requirements if in the Commission's judgment it has been demonstrated that the proposed change in the classification schedule does not significantly change the rates and fees or the cost-revenue relationships referred to in subdivisions (i) through (iv) of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

6. Subpart C is amended by adding a new § 3001.66 reading as follows:

§ 3001.66 Failure to comply.

If the Postal Service fails to provide any information specified by this subpart, or otherwise required by the presiding officer or the Commission, the Commission, upon its own motion, or upon motion of any participant to the proceeding, may stay the proceeding until satisfactory compliance is achieved. The Commission will stay proceedings only if it finds that failure to supply adequate information interferes with the Commission's ability promptly to consider the request and to conduct its proceedings with expedition in accordance with the Act.

7. Add a new Subpart F reading as follows:

Subpart F—Rules Applicable to the Filing of Testimony by Intervenor

§ 3001.91 Applicability and general policy.

(a) The rules in this Subpart identify those areas in which intervenors in rate and classification proceedings could assist the Commission. Intervenor is free to file any relevant and material evidence which is not unduly repetitious or cumulative.

(b) Intervenor is invited to submit the information specified in § 3001.92 (a)–(1) on a voluntary basis as part of their own direct cases. The Commission's request that intervenors voluntarily file such information is not in derogation of the Commission's and the presiding officer's authority, pursuant to §§ 3001.23–3001.28, respecting the provision of such or other information. Intervenor, particularly those making contentions under section 3622(b) (4) of the Act, shall be aware that their failure to provide relevant and material information will be taken into account in determining the weight which the Commission accords to their arguments and evidence.

(c) All evidence shall be filed in accordance with § 3001.31. The rules of general applicability of Subpart A of this part are also applicable to filings subject to this Subpart.

In addition to any other direct testimony submitted by an intervenor in a rate or classification proceeding, and in addition to further requests for information by the Commission, the Commission requests that the following information be submitted where applicable and where it is within the ability of the intervenor to produce it. If it is alleged that such information is representative of a significant segment of a rate-category of mail or of the users thereof it should be accompanied by a demonstration to that effect.

(a) Description of intervenor. A statement as to the nature of the business and operations of the intervenor. If the intervenor is an association, the names of the members of the association and a general description of their business and operations.

(b) Usage of postal services. An identification of the extent to and method by which the postal services are used, including an estimated itemization of the postage cost by class and rate.

(c) Intervenor's mailing operations. A description of the mailing and handling operations of the intervenor for items which are to pass through the Postal Service. Descriptions of premailing operations should include the details as to any special arrangements with the Postal Service. Also, a statement as to the total mail handling costs exclusive of Postal Service payments including a breakdown of such costs by, and identification of, the functions for which the costs are incurred.

(d) Intervenor's postage costs. A statement of the relative importance of postage costs to other expenses. An estimated itemization of postage costs by class of mail as related to total operating expenses. If more than one major product is affected by postage costs, data should be presented for each, e.g., each periodical of a firm in the publishing business.

(e) Financial impact of rate or classification changes. An estimate of the financial impact of the proposed rate or classification changes on the intervenor, or aggregate data for members of mail user associations, together with details of the basis of estimates and supporting data.

(f) Absorption/avoidance of rate changes. An analysis as to the ability or inability of the intervenor to absorb, avoid, or pass on postal rate changes, to customer groups (or advertisers or sponsoring organizations, if any). The analysis should include an analysis of the intervenor's customers' demand for the product of the intervenor's industry.

(g) Demand for postal services. An indication of the demand of the intervenor's industry for postal services including an estimate of the elasticity of such demand.

(h) Competitor operations. If the intervenor is a competitor of the Postal Service, a definition of the areas of competition between the intervenor and the Postal Service and a demonstration of the intervenor's ability or inability to meet postal competition. Include a brief historical description of the company's operations during the past 5 years, showing growth in each major segment of the company's business and a statement of the current rates and all conditions of service applicable to the portion of the intervenor's operations which is affected by comparable service of the Postal Service. The statement should include data on the costs of the services which the intervenor contends are competitive with services of the Postal Service. The statement of costs should identify by character and amount those attributed to the competitive service and the intervenor's rationale (i.e., cost and pricing hypothesis) for such attribution.

(i) Impact of rate changes on users' suppliers. If the intervenor is a manufacturer or supplier of goods or services provided to users of the Postal Service, a statement of the impact on expenses and revenues resulting from postage changes, together with statistical or other accounting data and the reasons supporting such statement.

(j) Statement of revenues, volumes, costs, and profits. For all intervenors, a certified statement of the total revenues, costs, and profits for each of the last 5 years together with an estimate of the impact of the proposed postal changes on total revenues, costs, and profits. Also the intervenor's volume of mail passing through the Postal Service (by class and subclass) and the comparable volume of traffic moving by competitive services (or the volume of services performed in competition with the Postal Service, or the volume of materials manufactured for or supplied to the Postal Service or users of the Postal Service). Volume data should be presented for each of the 5 years for which total revenues, costs, and profits are reported. An estimate of the impact on volume resulting from the proposed postal increases should be included.

(k) User studies of Postal Service. Any studies of the Postal Service's costs, revenues, or operations which would be of help to the Commission in evaluating the merits of the Postal Service's request.

(l) Workpapers. (1) Whenever an intervenor presents evidence it shall accompany such evidence with seven sets of workpapers, five for use by the Commission staff and two which shall be available for use by the public at the Commission offices. Two additional sets shall be delivered to counsel for the U.S. Postal Service.

(2) Workpapers shall contain the data and analyses underlying the submissions, including:

(i) A description of the methods used in collecting, summarizing and expanding the data and a clear indication of how the workpapers relate to the various submissions;

(ii) Summaries of sample data and other data used; and

(iii) Any special studies made.

(3) Workpapers shall be neat and legible.

(4) When supporting data are not supplied, a clear indication shall be made of the source of the data so that they might be retrieved easily upon request.

Rules and Regulations

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains regulatory documents having general applicability and legal effect most of which are keyed to and codified in the Code of Federal Regulations, which is published under 50 titles pursuant to 44 U.S.C. 1510. The Code of Federal Regulations is sold by the Superintendent of Documents. Prices of new books are listed in the first FEDERAL REGISTER issue of each month.

Title 16—Commercial Practices
CHAPTER I—FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION
[Docket No. C-2355]
PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

Henry Franco, Trading as Cameo Carpet Mills

Subpart—Importing, manufacturing, selling, or transporting flammable wear. § 13.1060 Importing, manufacturing, selling, or transporting flammable wear: (Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended, 67 Stat. 111, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 46, 1191) (Cease and desist order, Henry Franco, trading as Cameo Carpet Mills, Union City, Calif., Docket No. C-2355, Feb. 22, 1973)

In the Matter of Henry Franco, an Individual, Trading as Cameo Carpet Mills

Consent order requiring a Union City, Calif., manufacturer and seller of carpets and rugs, among other things to cease manufacturing for sale, selling, importing, or distributing any product, fabric, or related material which fails to conform to an applicable standard of flammability or regulation issued under the provisions of the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Henry Franco, individually and trading as Cameo Carpet Mills, or any other name or names, his successors and assigns, and respondent's agents, representatives, and employees directly or through any corporation, subsidiary, division, or other device, do forthwith cease and desist from manufacturing for sale, selling, offering for sale in commerce, or importing into the United States, or introducing, delivering for introduction, transporting or causing to be transported in commerce or selling or delivering after sale or shipment in commerce, any product, fabric, or related material; or manufacturing for sale, selling, or offering for sale, any product made of fabric or related material which has been shipped or received in commerce, as "commerce," "product," "fabric," and "related material" are defined in the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended, which product, fabric, or related material fails to conform to an applicable standard or regulation continued in effect, issued, or amended under the provisions of the aforesaid Act.

It is further ordered, That respondent notify all of his customers who have purchased or to whom have been delivered the products which gave rise to this complaint, of the flammable nature of said products and effect the recall of said products from such customers.

It is further ordered, That the respondent herein either process the products which gave rise to the complaint so as to bring them into conformance with the applicable standard of flammability under the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended, or destroy said products.

It is further ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within ten (10) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a special report in writing setting forth the respondent's intentions as to compliance with this order. This special report shall also advise the Commission fully and specifically concerning (1) the identity of the products which gave rise to the complaint, (2) the identity of the purchasers of said products, (3) the amount of said products on hand and in the channels of commerce, (4) any action taken and any further actions proposed to be taken to notify customers of the flammability of said products and effect the recall of said products from customers, and the results thereof, (5) any disposition of said products since January 27, 1972, and (6) any action taken or proposed to be taken to bring said products into conformance with the applicable standard of flammability under the Flammable Fabrics Act, as amended, or to destroy said products, and the results of such action. Respondent will submit with his report, a complete description of each style of carpet or rug currently in inventory or production. Upon request, respondent will forward to the Commission for testing a sample of any such carpet or rug.

It is further ordered, That the individual respondent named herein promptly notify the Commission of the discontinuance of his present business or employment and of his affiliation with a new business or employment. Such notice shall include respondent's current business or employment in which he is engaged as well as a description of his duties and responsibilities.

It is further ordered, That the respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing setting forth in detail the manner and form in which he has complied with this order.

Issued: February 22, 1973.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] CHARLES A. TOBIN, Secretary.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 45.) (Cease and desist order, Universal Credit Acceptance Corporation et al., Burlingame, Calif., Docket No. 8821, Feb. 16, 1973.)

In the Matter of Universal Credit Acceptance Corp., a Corporation, and Continental Credit Card Corp., a Corporation, and International Credit Card Corp., a Corporation, also trading as National Credit Service, and John Clifford Heater, Individually and as an Officer of Universal Credit Acceptance Corp. and International Credit Card Corp., and Howard P. Gingold, Individually and as an Officer of Continental Credit Card Corp.

Order requiring three California corporations engaged in the advertising and sale of franchises which authorize franchisees to sell memberships in a credit card program, among other things to cease deceptions and misrepresentations with respect to the "Honor All Credit Card" program. Respondents are further required to offer a 7-day cooling-off period for cancellation of future contracts with full refund rights. An individual respondent is further required to refund all payments for franchise fees and membership dues or fees within 90 days to everyone who became members or franchisees during the last 7 years.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered. That respondents Universal Credit Acceptance Corp., Continental Credit Card Corp., International Credit Card Corp., also trading as National Credit Service, corporations, and their officers, and John Clifford Heater, individually and as an officer of Universal Credit Acceptance Corp. and International Credit Card Corp., and Howard P. Gingold, individually and as an officer of Continental Credit Card Corp., and respondents' franchisees, agents, representatives, employees, successors and assigns, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the advertising, offering for sale or sale of franchises or credit card services, or any other products or services, or in the operation of any credit card service or other business in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from directly or by implication:

1. (A) Representing that franchisees will earn or can reasonably expect to earn or receive any stated or gross or net amount of earnings or profits; or representing, in any manner, the past earnings of franchisees unless in fact the past earnings represented are those of a substantial number of franchisees in the geographical area about which such representations are made and accurately reflect the average earnings of said franchisees under circumstances similar to those of the person to whom the representation is made.

(B) Representing that franchisees can expect to remain active franchisees for many years; or representing, in any manner, the longevity or tenure of past or existing franchisees unless in fact the periods of time represented are those for which a substantial number of franchisees actively pursued membership sales efforts.

(C) Selling, or offering franchises for sale, in any manner, without disclosing clearly and conspicuously in writing at or before the time of the first oral sales presentation, or in the event no oral sales presentation is made, reasonably prior to the execution of a franchise application, agreement or contract:

(i) The median and mean gross earnings from the sale of memberships in respondents' program by franchisees in the most recent calendar year (who were active for the entire year) preceding the year in which such sale or offer is made;

(ii) The total number of franchisees in the most recent calendar year preceding the year in which the sale or offer is made;

(iii) The total number of franchisees in subparagraph (ii) above who had earnings from the sale of memberships during the designated year in the following dollar amounts:

a. $1,000 or less.
b. Over $1,000 but not over $5,000.
c. Over $5,000 but not over $10,000.
d. Over $10,000 but not over $20,000.
e. Over $20,000.

(iv) The number of franchisees referred to in subparagraph (ii) above who sold memberships for the following periods of time:

a. 1 year or less.
b. Over 1 year but not over 2 years.
c. Over 2 years but not over 3 years.
d. Over 3 years but not over 4 years.
e. Over 4 years.

(v) The total number of members submitting credit charges in respondents' program during the most recent calendar year preceding the year in which the sale or offer is made;

(vi) The number of members referred to in subparagraph (v) above who submitted credit charges under respondents' program for the following periods of time:

a. 1 year or less.
b. Over 1 year but not over 2 years.
c. Over 2 years but not over 3 years.
d. Over 3 years but not over 4 years.
e. Over 4 years.

(vii) The percentage of credit charges recouped to members during the most recent calendar year and the full number and nature of reasons for which respondents may recoup charges;

(viii) The name and current address of each of respondents' franchisees in the most recent calendar year preceding the year in which such sale or offer is made;

(ix) A financial statement reflecting respondents' assets and liabilities (stating separately fixed assets and liquid assets) for the most recent calendar year;

(D) Selling, or offering memberships for sale, in any manner, without disclosing clearly and conspicuously in writing at or before the time of the first oral sales presentation, or in the event no oral sales presentation is made, reasonably prior to the execution of any application, agreement or contract:

(i) The percentage of credit charges recouped to members during the most recent calendar year preceding the year in which the sale or offer is made and the full number and nature of reasons for which respondents may recoup charges;

(ii) The total number of members submitting credit charges in respondents' program during the most recent calendar year preceding the year in which the sale or offer is made;

(iii) The number of members referred to in subparagraph (ii) above who participated for the following periods of time:

a. One year or less.
b. Over 1 year but not over 2 years.
c. Over 2 years but not over 3 years.
d. Over 3 years but not over 4 years.
e. Over 4 years.

(iv) A financial statement reflecting respondents' assets and liabilities (stating separately fixed assets and liquid assets) for the most recent calendar year;

Provided, however. That in the event respondents operated or used any corporate or trade name for a period of less than 5 years, the disclosures called for in this paragraph shall reflect the operations of the last preceding business entity used by respondents to sell and administer franchises and memberships.

2. Selling, or offering franchises for sale, in any manner, without furnishing to each prospective purchaser reasonably prior to the execution of a franchise application or agreement, a copy of the Federal Trade Commission Consumer Bulletin No. 4, "Advice for Persons Who Are Considering an Investment in a Franchise Business."

3. (A) Representing that persons do not risk any loss of money in coming to respondents' offices, or any other place, for a franchise interview, or that respondents authorize the reimbursement of air fare expenses for such interviews, without disclosing clearly and conspicuously in writing prior to the expenditure of any funds by such persons, all conditions which must be met to receive reimbursement, including the exact amount of any deposit or downpayment required.

(B) Failing to reimburse travel expenses to any person respondents have promised such reimbursement.

4. Representing that persons do not risk losing the deposits or downpayments submitted with applications for franchises; or that such deposits or downpayments are refundable when such deposits or downpayments may be forfeited if the applicants withdraw or fail to pay the balance due after acceptance of their applications by respondents, or for any other reason; Provided, however. That respondents may make such representations if they do in fact refund such deposits.

5. Misrepresenting that any geographical area offered as a franchise has not been previously franchised by respondents or misrepresenting that such area has been franchised before by respondents and was profitable for the prior franchise holder.

6. Misrepresenting that respondents have a franchise committee which actually checks the qualifications of prospective franchisees, or misrepresenting, in any manner, that respondents check, or have checked the qualifications of a prospective franchisee.

7. Misrepresenting that respondents have a regional manager who will interview, or has interviewed, prospective franchisees for a particular geographical area; or that respondents have applications pending for a particular area; or that any person must act immediately to be considered for a franchise; or misrepresenting, in any manner, the nature and extent of interest of others in any particular franchise, or franchises in general.

8. Representing that franchise holders receive substantial benefits from renewals of memberships or from annual bonuses based on a percentage of net credit charges submitted by members; or representing, in any manner, benefits to franchisees which are dependent upon the actions of members, unless the benefits represented are those received by a substantial number of franchise holders.

9. (A) Representing that persons risk losing little or nothing in investing in a franchise; or that respondents will repurchase any franchise.

(B) Representing that respondents will aid or assist in the resale of franchises without contemporaneously, clearly, and conspicuously disclosing the nature of such assistance and the amount of the resale purchase price which respondents will retain.

(C) Representing that respondents' franchisees are vested property rights which may be sold, assigned, transferred or tested, without contemporaneously, clearly and conspicuously disclosing that franchisees are subject to termination by respondents if a franchise holder does not produce a prescribed sales quota.

10. Representing, in any manner, that respondents' program has received national acceptance, or that respondents' program can be sold with ease; or misrepresenting in any manner, the salability or degree of acceptance or approval of respondents' program.

11. (A) Representing that credit charges submitted under respondents' program are guaranteed payable or are payable without recourse; or that respondents assume the risk of nonpayment by members' customers in any manner including, but not limited to, using the terms "we honor all approved major credit cards," "honor all credit cards," "non-recourse," "without recourse" or any other terms or words of similar import or meaning.

(B) Representing that all members can expect to be successful or satisfied with the performance of respondents' program; or that members usually continue using respondents' program for 2 years and renew their contracts thereafter.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

12. Using or disseminating any article written or prepared by respondents and published substantially verbatim in any newspaper, magazine, or other publication.

13. Using any letter, payment check, or other materials which purport to represent the satisfaction or success of any franchisee or member unless,

(A) Such franchisee or member is actively selling or using respondents' program or service at the time such letter, payment check, or other materials are used;

(B) The full name and current address of the franchisee or member and the existence of any remuneration are disclosed clearly and conspicuously in conjunction with the use of such letter, payment check or other materials;

Provided, however. That respondents shall not obtain or use any such letter, payment check, or other material relating to any franchisee or member who has not sold or participated in respondents' program or service for at least six (6) months.

14. Representing that respondents' program costs members little or nothing at all; or that the program costs members half as much as trading stamps; or misrepresenting, in any manner, the cost of respondents' program to members.

15. Representing that members complete just one simple form for all credit charges; or misrepresenting, in any manner, the procedures necessary to process credit charges and receive payment therefor; or failing to disclose contemporaneously, clearly, and conspicuously any and all reasons which will preclude receipt of full payment of credit charges submitted by members.

16. Representing that members receive payment for each credit charge submitted to respondents in 30 days; or misrepresenting, in any manner, the period of time in which members will receive payment for credit charges submitted to respondents.

17. Failing to disclose clearly and conspicuously that respondents' program or service is not approved or endorsed by the individual issuers of the credit cards approved by respondents.

18. Representing that members are assured or can achieve a minimum 10 percent or any other percentage or amount of increase in business using respondents' program, without disclosing the number of members who have actually received said increase and offering to identify such members on request, and without maintaining verified statements from said members that they have received said increases.

19. (A) Using the name Fair Trade Bureau or any other name which represents that respondents' operations and activities have been endorsed by any independent or governmental organization.

(B) Writing, preparing, or disseminating any Better Business Bureau reports concerning respondents' business.

20. (A) Representing that every credit charge submitted by members is subject to the most intensive collection procedure in the credit industry; or misrepresenting, in any manner, the intensity or nature of respondents' collection activities.

(B) Using the name North American Collections or any other trade name or collection agency similarly related to respondents without disclosing contemporaneously, clearly, and conspicuously that such name or agency is owned, operated, or controlled by respondents.

21. Representing that respondents will institute legal action against inactive members whose accounts respondents claim are in arrears, unless respondents do intend to pursue such remedies and have in practice pursued such remedies against substantial number of members.

22. Furnishing, or otherwise placing in the hands of others, the means or instrumentalities by or through which the public may be misled or deceived in the manner or as to the things prohibited by this order.

It is further ordered. That respondents incident to selling their franchises and credit card services:

a. Inform orally all persons to whom solicitations are made and provide in writing in all applications and contracts in at least 10-point bold type that the application or contract may be canceled for any reason by notification to respondents in writing within 7 days from the date of execution.

b. Refund immediately all moneys to: (1) All persons who have requested cancellation of the application or contract within 7 days from the execution thereof, and (2) all persons who paid any moneys for franchise fees, deposits or downpayments on franchises, air fare or other expenses for a home office interview, and for membership fees, membership dues and discount fees, who show that any of respondents' solicitations, applications, contracts, or performance were attended by or involved any violation of any of the provisions of this order.

It is further ordered. That respondent John Clifford Heater shall:

a. Within thirty (30) days from the effective date of this order, compile a list which shall name each franchisee and member from whom respondents obtained any moneys during the period from and including January 1, 1967, to the effective date of this order, state the last known address of each such member or franchisee, note the length of time each remained as such member or franchisee and specify all franchise fees and all membership fees, dues and members' discount fees paid by each such member or franchisee to any of the respondents named in the complaint.

b. Within 90 days of the effective date of this order, refund by certified check or money order to each franchisee and member listed in accordance with subsection (a) of this order provision all franchise fees and all membership fees and dues and members' discount fees paid by each such member or franchisee to any of the respondents named in the complaint. Refunds shall be made via registered mail with return receipt requested and shall be accompanied by a brief statement substantially similar to that shown in Appendix A which shall inform the persons receiving refunds of the basis of the payment.

c. Hold any undelivered refund payments for a period of 180 days from the date of the first registered letter mailing and if the payment cannot be made to such addressee after due diligence within such period the obligation to refund shall expire.

Provided, however:

d. If respondent Heater claims not to have adequate funds to comply with this order provision, he may within 60 days of the effective date of this order petition the Commission to reopen the proceedings to consider his claim. The petition shall set forth the list of members and franchisees to whom refunds are due under this order and the sum of money each such member or franchisee is to receive in accordance with this order, a notarized statement of his assets and liabilities together with the assets and liabilities of all corporations in which he is an officer or stockholder.

Upon receipt of this petition and any response thereto which complaint counsel wishes to make, the Commission will assign an Administrative Law Judge for the purpose of making findings and recommendations with respect to the claim. The Administrative Law Judge shall furnish petitioner with the Commission's Statement of Financial Status (F.T.C. Operating Manual Chapter 6, Illustration 20, paragraph 6.19), shall require its prompt execution and may conduct such interrogations of the petitioner or require the production of such documents as he deems necessary in order to make findings and recommendations as to any modification of this order which may be warranted on the issues raised by petitioner's claim. The findings and recommendations will be reported to the Commission for a final determination.

e. If any dispute arises as to the compliance of respondent Heater with the refund provision of this order which cannot be satisfactorily resolved by the parties, notice shall be given to respondent Heater of the extent to which he is regarded not to be in compliance and the facts respecting such alleged non-compliance. Within 30 days after the receipt of such notice of noncompliance, respondent Heater may petition the Commission for a hearing on such non-compliance or for a modification of the order provision giving rise to the disputed compliance or for such other relief as he believes is warranted and the Commission may set the matter down for hearing before itself or before an Administrative Law Judge or shall either grant or deny such petition by order formally entered in the same manner and form as if it were an original order of this Commission.

It is further ordered. That respondent Heater shall maintain adequate records, to be furnished upon request by the Federal Trade Commission, which disclose the manner and dates members and franchisees entitled to refunds under this order have received refunds or the reasons such members or franchisees have not received refunds.

It is further ordered. That the respondents shall forthwith deliver a copy of this order to cease and desist to all present and future salesmen and franchisees or other persons engaged in the sale of respondents' franchises and services, and secure from each such salesman, franchisee, or person a signed statement acknowledging receipt of said order.

It is further ordered. That the respondent corporations shall forthwith distribute a copy of this order to each of their operating divisions.

It is further ordered. That the respondents notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days prior to any proposed change in the corporate respondents such as dissolution, assignment, or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries or any other change in the corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the order.

It is further ordered. That each of the respondents herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with all of the provisions of this order. The report which respondent Heater shall file within sixty (60) days after service upon him of this order shall include the list he is to compile in accordance with subsection (a) of the provision of this order requiring him to refund certain monies to named members and franchisees.

Thereafter, respondent Heater shall, within two hundred and ten (210) days after service upon him of this order, file with the Commission a second report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which he has complied with this refund order.

By direction of the Commission.<sup>1</sup>

In the Matter of Western Apparel and Equipment Manufacturers Association, a Corporation, and John Sullivan, Individually and as an Officer of Said Corporation, and Sid M. Vinyard, Individually

Consent order requiring an Albuquerque, N. Mex., western apparel and equipment trade association, among other things to cease enforcing contractual provisions restricting association members from participating in non-WAEMA trade shows; coercing, intimidating, or inducing members from participating in trade shows sponsored by other trade associations or to participate in WAEMA-sponsored trade shows.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered. That respondents Western Apparel and Equipment Manufacturers Association, a corporation, its successors and assigns, and its officers and directors, and John Sullivan, individually, and as an officer of said corporation, and Sid M. Vinyard, individually, and respondents' agents, representatives, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device, in connection with the purchase or sale of western apparel and equipment and other products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Enforcing, directly or indirectly, any contractual provision restricting any member of WAEMA from participating in any non-WAEMA trade show, exhibition, or display.

2. Requiring, directly or indirectly, through contract or other device, any member of WAEMA or any other exhibitor as a condition of membership or participation in any WAEMA trade show, exhibition, or display, to refrain from participating in any non-WAEMA trade show, exhibition, or display.

3. Requiring, directly or indirectly, through contract or other device, any member of WAEMA or any other exhibitor as a condition of participating in any WAEMA trade show, exhibition, or display, to purchase advertising, or any other product or service.

4. Coercing, intimidating, or inducing, in any manner or by any means, including boycott or threat of boycott, any manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor, salesman, or competitor to refrain from participating in any trade show, exhibition, or display sponsored by any other trade association, corporation, or other business entity. Provided, however. That nothing contained herein shall prohibit any individual respondent from advising or instructing any employee of his own company to refrain from participating in any trade show, exhibition, or display.

5. Coercing, intimidating, or inducing, in any manner or by any means, including boycott or threat of boycott, any manufacturer, wholesaler, distributor, salesman, or competitor to participate in any WAEMA trade show, exhibition, or display. Provided, however. That nothing contained herein shall prohibit any individual respondent from advising or instructing any employee of his own company to participate in any WAEMA trade show, exhibition, or display.

It is further ordered. That respondent WAEMA shall:

1. Within thirty (30) days after this order becomes final, serve by mail or otherwise cause to be served on all its members (a) a copy of this consent order and (b) a copy of the letter attached hereto as Appendix A,<sup>1</sup> signed by the president of WAEMA.

2. Provide each applicant for membership in WAEMA within one (1) year after this order becomes final with (a) a copy of this consent order and (b) a copy of the letter attached hereto as appendix A,<sup>1</sup> signed by the president of WAEMA.

3. Within thirty (30) days after this order becomes final, or sooner, request each WAEMA member to serve on its respective salesmen, sales representatives, and sales agents a copy of the letter attached hereto as appendix B.<sup>1</sup>

4. Within thirty (30) days after this order becomes final, or sooner, serve on all persons, corporations, and other business entities engaged in the retail sale and distribution of western apparel and equipment that registered for the 1972 Western and Dress Apparel Show held at the Denver Merchandise Mart, Denver, Colo., a copy of the letter attached hereto as appendix C,<sup>1</sup> signed by the president of WAEMA.

It is further ordered. That respondent WAEMA shall, within thirty (30) days after this order becomes final, or sooner, place for publication the advertisement measuring 4 3/4" x 4 3/4", attached hereto as appendix D,<sup>1</sup> in the following trade publications: "Western Wear and Equipment Magazine," "Tack-N-Togs," and "Western Outfitter."

It is further ordered. That the respondent corporation shall forthwith distribute a copy of this order to each of its operating divisions.

It is further ordered. That respondents notify the Commission at least 30 days prior to any proposed change in the corporate respondent such as dissolution, assignment, or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries, or any other change in the corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the order.

It is further ordered. That the respondents herein shall within sixty (60) days after service upon them of this order, file with the Commission a report, in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which they have complied with this order.

Title 29—Labor

CHAPTER V—WAGE AND HOUR DIVISION, DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

PART 779—THE FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT AS APPLIED TO RETAILERS OF GOODS OR SERVICES

Clarification of Exempt and Nonexempt Work Performed by Mechanics on Mobile Homes

Part 779 of Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations is hereby amended in order to adapt it to the circuit court decision in Shultz v. Louisiana Trailer Sales, Inc., 428 F.2d 61 (C.A. 5). This decision sustained the position of the Administrator previously approved in D. W. Snell v. Quality Mobile Home Brokers, Inc., doing business as A to Z Mobile Homes, 424 F.2d 233 (C.A. 4), that the mechanical work performed on trailers, including mobile homes, exempted from payment of overtime under section 13 (b) (10) of the Fair Labor Standards Act is limited to that performed by other mechanics on automobiles, trucks, farm implements, or aircraft. Work performed in converting mobile homes into permanent residences and servicing them after such conversions is not exempt.

The administrative provisions of 5 U.S.C. 533 which require notice of proposed rule making, opportunity for public participation, and delay in effective date are not applicable because these are interpretative rules. I do not believe such procedures will serve a useful purpose here.

Effective date. This amendment revising Part 779 shall become effective on March 23, 1973.

Paragraph (c) (3) of § 779.372 is amended to read as follows:

§ 779.372 Nonmanufacturing establishments with certain exempt employees under section 13 (b) (10).

(c) * * *

(3) As used in section 13 (b) (10), a mechanic is any employee primarily engaged in doing mechanical work (such as get ready mechanics, automotive, truck, farm implement, or aircraft mechanics, used car reconditioning mechanics, and wrecker mechanics) in the servicing of an automobile, trailer, truck, farm implement, or aircraft for its use and operation as such. This includes mechanical work required for safe operation, as a vehicle, farm implement, or aircraft. The term does not include employees primarily performing such nonmechanical work as washing, cleaning, painting, polishing, tire changing, installing seat covers, dispatching, lubricating, or other nonmechanical work. Wrecker mechanic means a service department mechanic who goes out on a tow or wrecking truck to perform mechanical servicing or repairing of a customer's vehicle away from the shop, or to bring the vehicle back to the shop for repair service. A tow or wrecker truck driver or helper who performs nonmechanical repair work is not exempt. When employed by an establishment qualifying under section 13 (b) (10) which sells and services trailers, mechanics primarily engaged in servicing the trailers for their use and operation as such may qualify for the exemption. "Trailers" include a wide variety of non-powered vehicles used for industrial, commercial, or personal transport or travel on the highways by attaching the vehicle to the rear of a separate powered vehicle. Mechanics servicing mobile homes for operation and use as a trailer, if and to the extent that they are operated as such on their own suspension systems, would appear to be performing work within the purview of the exemption provided for mechanics in section 13 (b) (10) to the same extent as mechanics servicing automobiles, ordinary travel, boat, or camping trailers, trucks, and truck or tractor trailers. On the other hand, there is no indication in the statutory language or the legislative history of any intent to provide exemption for mechanics whose work is directed to the habitability as a residence of a dwelling to be used as such on a fixed site in a particular locality, merely because the home is so designed that it may be moved to another location over the highways more readily than the traditional types of residential structures. Accordingly, servicemen checking, servicing, or repairing the plumbing, electrical, heating, air conditioning, or butane gas systems, the doors, windows, and other structural features of mobile homes to make them habitable or more habitable as residences are, while so engaged, not deemed to qualify as "mechanic(s) * * * servicing * * * trailers" within the meaning of section 13 (b) (10). (Snell v. Quality Mobile Home Brokers, 424 F.2d 233 (C.A. 4); Schultz v. Louisiana Trailer Sales, Inc. 428 F.2d 61 (C.A. 5) certiorari denied, 400 U.S. 902.)

(Sec. 13, 52 Stat. 1067, as amended; 29 U.S.C. 213)

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 19th day of March 1973.

BEN P. ROBERTSON,
Acting Administrator, Wage and Hour Division, United States
Department of Labor.

Title 36—Parks, Forests, and Memorials CHAPTER III—CORPS ENGINEERS, DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

PART 311—PUBLIC USE OF CERTAIN LAKES AND RESERVOIR AREAS

PART 326—PUBLIC USE OF CERTAIN NAVIGABLE LAKES AND RESERVOIR AREAS

PART 327—RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING PUBLIC USE OF WATER RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS ADMINISTERED BY THE CHIEF OF ENGINEERS

Rules and Regulations Governing Public Use of Water Resource Development Projects Administered by the Chief of Engineers set forth in Part 327 below supersede Parts 311 and 326. Increased public use at these projects, changing patterns of recreation activity, and increased public interest made it necessary to amend the rules and regulations as set forth below in the interest of more effective recreation-resource management of the lake and reservoir projects.

§ 327.0 Applicability.

The regulations covered in this Part 327 shall be applicable to all water resource development projects administered by the Chief of Engineers. All other Federal, State, and local laws and regulations remain in full force and effect where applicable to those water resource development projects. These regulations do not apply to those water resource development projects regulated jointly with other Federal agencies to which Parts 313 and 322, Chapter III, Title 36, Code of Federal Regulations apply.

§ 327.1 Policy.

(a) It is the policy of the Secretary of the Army acting through the Chief of Engineers to provide the public with safe and healthful recreational opportunities within all water resource development projects administered by the Chief of Engineers.

(b) Unless otherwise indicated herein, the term "District Engineer" shall include the authorized representatives of the District Engineer.

(c) All water resource development projects open for recreational use shall be available to the public without regard to sex, race, creed, color, or national origin. No lessee, licensee, or concessionaire providing a service to the public shall discriminate against any person or persons because of sex, race, creed, color, or national origin in the conduct of his operations under the lease, license, or concession contract.

§ 327.2 Motor vehicles.

(a) The operation and parking of motor vehicles, including off-road vehicles as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, is prohibited on roadways of water resource development projects at those locations and at times designated by the District Engineer and marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

(b) The operation of off-road vehicles including but not limited to motorcycles, minibikes, trail bikes, snowmobiles, dune buggies, all terrain vehicles, and other motor vehicles designed for or capable of cross-country travel on natural terrain, when operated off the roadways of water resource development projects is prohibited except at locations and at times designated by the District Engineers and marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

(c) No person shall operate any motor vehicle including off-road vehicles in a careless, negligent, or reckless manner so as to endanger any person or property.

§ 327.3 Vessels.

(a) It shall be a violation of these regulations to operate any vessel for a fee or profit upon the waters of water resource development projects unless such operation is authorized by lease, license or concession contract with the Department of the Army. This paragraph shall not apply to the operation of vessels upon navigable waters of the United States.

(b) No vessel shall be operated in prohibited areas of a lake, reservoir, or other body of water. Such areas shall be designated by the District Engineer and marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

(c) No person shall operate any vessel or manipulate any water skis or other similar device in a careless, negligent, or reckless manner so as to endanger any person or property.

(d) The construction of floating or stationary mooring facilities or any other structure of any kind in the lake, reservoir, or other body of water is prohibited unless a permit therefor has been issued by the District Engineer. No habitation of such facilities will be permitted.

(e) All vessels when not in actual use shall be removed from the lake, reservoir, or other body of water unless securely moored at mooring facilities permitted by the District Engineer.

§ 327.4 Aircraft.

(a) The operation of aircraft on lands or waters other than at the landing areas designated by the District Engineer is prohibited. Such designated areas shall be marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

(b) Except in extreme emergencies involving the safety of human life or threat of serious property loss, the air delivery of any person or thing by parachute, helicopter, or other means without written permission of the District Engineer is prohibited.

(c) The provisions of this section shall not be applicable to aircraft engaged on official business of the Federal Government or used in emergency rescue in accordance with the directions of the District Engineer or forced to land due to circumstances beyond the control of the operator.

§ 327.5 Swimming.

Swimming, snorkeling, or scuba diving is permitted, except in those areas of the lake, reservoir, or other body of water designated by the District Engineer and marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

§ 327.6 Picnicking.

Picnicking is permitted, except in those areas designated by the District Engineer and marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

§ 327.7 Camping.

(a) Camping is prohibited except in areas designated by the District Engineer. Such designated areas shall be marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

(b) Camping at a fee site without payment of designated fees as set forth in § 327.25 is prohibited.

(c) The length of stay at all campgrounds shall be limited to 14 consecutive days. Occupancy of any campsite for a period greater than 14 consecutive days is prohibited without written permission of the District Engineer.

(d) Camping equipment or other property left unattended at a campsite for the purpose of holding the site for future occupancy is prohibited.

(e) The digging or leveling of any ground or the construction of any facility without written permission of the District Engineer is prohibited.

(f) Camping equipment shall be completely removed and the sites cleaned before the departure of the campers.

§ 327.8 Hunting, fishing, and trapping.

(a) Hunting, fishing, and trapping are prohibited in areas designated by the District Engineer. Such restricted areas shall be marked by the posting of appropriate signs.

§ 327.9 Sanitation.

(a) Dumping or disposal in any manner of refuse, garbage, rubbish, trash, debris, or litter of any kind into the waters of or onto any land federally owned and administered by the Chief of Engineers is prohibited except at locations and in receptacles provided for such purposes.

(b) It shall be a violation to bring onto any water resource development project any refuse, garbage, rubbish, trash, debris, or litter of any kind for dumping or in any other manner disposing of such refuse, garbage, rubbish, trash, debris, or litter of any kind into the waters of or onto any land federally owned and administered by the Chief of Engineers.

§ 327.10 Fires.

(a) Gasoline and other fuels, except that which is contained in storage tanks of vehicles, vessels, camping equipment, or hand portable containers shall not be stored within the water resource development project areas without written permission of the District Engineer.

(b) Fires shall be confined to fireplaces, grills, or other facilities designed for this purpose and shall in addition be confined to those areas designated by the District Engineer.

(c) The gathering of wood for use as fuel at campsites or picnic areas is prohibited except for the gathering of dead material on the ground.

§ 327.11 Control of horses, dogs, cats, and pets.

(a) No person shall bring or have horses in camping, picnic, swimming, beach, or other similar areas, or developed recreation areas.

(b) No person shall bring dogs, cats, or other pets into developed recreation areas unless penned, caged, on a leash no longer than 6 feet in length, or otherwise under physical restrictive controls at all times.

§ 327.12 Restrictions.

(a) The District Engineer may establish a reasonable schedule of visiting hours for all or portions of a project area and close or restrict the public use of all or any portion of a project by the posting of appropriate signs indicating the extent and scope of closure. All persons shall observe such posted restrictions.

(b) Quiet shall be maintained in all public use areas between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. Excessive noise during such times which unreasonably disturbs persons is prohibited.

(c) The operation or use of any audio or other noise producing device including but not limited to communications media and motorized equipment or vehicles in such a manner as to unreasonably annoy or endanger persons is prohibited.

§ 327.13 Explosives, firearms, other weapons, and fireworks.

(a) The possession of loaded firearms, ammunition, projectile firing devices, bows and arrows, cross bows, and explosives of any kind is prohibited unless: (1) In the possession of a law enforcement officer or Government employee on official duty; (2) used for hunting or fishing during the hunting or fishing season as permitted under § 327.8, or (3) unless written permission has been received from the District Engineer.

(b) The possession or use of fireworks is prohibited unless written permission has been received from the District Engineer.

§ 327.14 Public property.

Destruction, injury, defacement, or removal of public property including natural formations, historical and archeological features, and vegetative growth is prohibited without written permission of the District Engineer.

§ 327.15 Abandonment of personal property.

(a) Abandonment of personal property is prohibited. Personal property shall not be left unattended upon the lands or waters of the project except in accordance with these regulations. After a period of 24 hours, abandoned or unattended personal property shall be impounded and stored at a storage point designated by the District Engineer. The District Engineer shall assess a reasonable impoundment fee, which shall be paid before the impounded property is returned to its owners.

(b) The District Engineer shall by public or private sale or otherwise, dispose of all lost, abandoned, or unclaimed personal property that comes into his custody or control. However, property may not be disposed of until diligent effort has been made to find the owner, his heirs or next of kin, or his legal representative. If the owner, his heirs or next of kin, or his legal representative is determined but not found, the property may not be disposed of until the expiration of 120 days after the date when notice, giving the time and place of the intended sale or other disposition, has been sent by certified or registered mail to that person at his last known address. When diligent effort to determine the owner, his heirs or next of kin, or his legal representatives is unsuccessful, the property may be disposed of without delay, except that if it has a fair market value of $25 or more the property may not be disposed of until 3 months after the date it is received at the storage point designated by the District Engineer. The net proceeds from the sale of property shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts.

§ 327.16 Lost and found articles.

All lost articles shall be deposited by the finder at the Resource Manager's Office or with a ranger. The finder shall leave his name, address and phone number. All lost articles shall be disposed of in accordance with the procedures set forth in § 327.17.

§ 327.17 Advertisement.

Advertising by the use of billboards, signs, markers, audio devices, or any other means whatever is prohibited unless written permission has been received from the District Engineer.

§ 327.18 Commercial activities.

The engaging in or solicitation of business without the express written agreement of the District Engineer is prohibited.

§ 327.19 Permits.

(a) It shall be a violation of these regulations to refuse to comply with the terms or conditions of any permit issued under the provisions of this regulation by the District Engineer.

(b) (1) Permits for floating structures of any kind in waters of water resources development projects whether or not such waters are deemed navigable waters of the United States but where such waters are under the management of a Corps of Engineers Lake Resources Manager shall be issued under the authority of this regulation. District Engineers will delineate those portions of the navigable waters of the United States where this provision is applicable and post notices of this designation, in the vicinity of the Lake Resource Managers Office.

(2) Permits for nonfloating structures of any kind constructed, placed in, or affecting waters of water resource development projects where such waters are deemed navigable waters of the United States shall be issued under the provisions of section 10 of the Act approved March 3, 1899, and § 209.120 of Title 33, Code of Federal Regulations.

(3) Permits for nonfloating structures of any kind in waters of water resources development projects where such waters are under the management of a Corps of Engineers Lake Resources Manager and where such waters are not deemed navigable waters of the United States shall be issued as set forth in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

§ 327.20 Unauthorized structures.

The construction or placing of any structure of any kind under, upon, or over the project lands or waters is prohibited unless a permit therefor has been issued by the District Engineer. Structures not under permit are subject to summary removal by the District Engineer.

§ 327.21 Special events.

Special events such as water carnivals, boat regattas, music festivals, dramatic presentations, or other special recreation programs are prohibited unless a permit therefor has been issued by the District Engineer. The public shall not be charged any fee by the sponsor of such event unless the District Engineer has approved in writing the proposed schedule of fees.

§ 327.22 Unauthorized occupation of lands.

(a) Occupying any lands, buildings, or other facilities within water resource development projects for the purpose of maintaining same as a residence without the written authorization of the District Engineer is prohibited. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the occupation of lands for the purpose of camping in accordance with the provisions of § 327.7.

(b) The ranging, grazing, or watering of livestock on lands of water resource development projects administered by the Corps of Engineers is prohibited except when authorized by lease, license, or other agreement with the District Engineer.

(c) Unless otherwise authorized by law, use of project lands or waters for agricultural purposes is prohibited except when authorized by lease, license, or other agreement by the District Engineer.

§ 327.23 Outgranted lands.

Applicable laws and regulations of State and local governments shall be deemed to apply on project lands or waters which are outgranted by the District Engineer by lease, license, or other written agreement to State and local governments; Provided, however, That the regulations in this Part 327 are deemed to apply to such outgranted project lands and waters as a minimum regulatory requirement.

§ 327.24 Indian lands.

The regulations in this Part 327 shall be deemed to apply to those lands and waters which are subject to treaties and Federal laws and regulations concerning the rights of Indian Nations and which lands and waters are incorporated, in whole or in part, within water resource development projects administered by the Chief of Engineers to the extent that the regulations in this Part 327 are not inconsistent with such treaties and Federal laws and regulations.

§ 327.25 Special recreation use fees. [Reserved]

§ 327.26 Interference with Government employees.

Interference with any Government employee in the conduct of his official duties pertaining to the administration of these regulations is prohibited.

§ 327.27 Violation of rules and regulations.

Except for violations coming within the scope of § 327.25 in accordance with section 234 of the River and Harbor Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1818, 16 U.S.C. 460d, as amended), violations of the provisions of this regulation shall subject the violator to a fine of not more than $500 or imprisonment for not more than 6 months, or both. Any person charged with such violation may be tried and sentenced in accordance with the provisions of section 3401 of title 18, United States Code. All persons designated by the Chief of Engineers for that purpose shall have the authority to issue a citation for violation of these regulations, requiring the appearance of any person charged with violation to appear before the U.S. magistrate within whose jurisdiction the water resource development project is located for trial.

(Sec. 4, 58 Stat. 889, as amended; 16 U.S.C. 460d)

Title 40—Protection of Environment CHAPTER I—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

SUBCHAPTER C—AIR PROGRAMS

PART 52—APPROVAL AND PROMULGATION OF IMPLEMENTATION PLANS

Sulfur Dioxide Emissions in Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah

On May 31, 1972 (37 FR 10842), pursuant to section 110 of the Clean Air Act and 40 CFR Part 51, the Administrator approved, with specific exceptions, plans for implementation of the national ambient air quality standards submitted by Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah. On July 27, 1972 (37 FR 15094), the Administrator proposed regulations to correct deficiencies in the regulatory provisions of the plans for these States. This publication sets forth final regulations limiting sulfur dioxide emissions and providing for compliance with such limitations with respect to four large electric powerplants in the three States. Particulate emission limitations also are being promulgated for the powerplant in Utah. Other deficiencies remaining in the plans for these three States will be corrected by regulations to be promulgated in the near future.

Three of the affected powerplants are not yet operating, but are presently under construction and, therefore, are not subject to the new source review procedures required by 40 CFR 51.18. Naturally, there are no measured air quality data which reflect the impact of the sources under construction. Limited air quality data are available around the powerplant presently in operation, but sampling sites have not been located in areas which diffusion calculations indicate will receive the maximum impact of the powerplant emissions.

In the absence of adequate measured air quality data, diffusion models were used to make estimates of the impact of the powerplant emissions on air quality. It is recognized that available diffusion models, when used to make such estimates for rugged terrain situations such as exist around these four plants, may be subject to error in their ability to predict ground level concentrations. There is a substantial difference in the predictions obtained from different models. It is the Administrator's judgment, however, that the diffusion model employed by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) for purposes of the Southwest Energy Study is based on reasonable assumptions regarding meteorological and topographical factors and on valid computational techniques. Therefore, while predictions obtained from unvalidated models are not regarded as a sufficient basis for determining the exact degree of emissions control necessary for attainment and maintenance of national ambient air quality standards in an area of rough terrain, it is the Administrator's judgment that the NOAA model has sufficiently sound technical basis to justify the conclusion that its predictions are generally correct, i.e., that substantial control of emissions will be necessary for attainment and maintenance of the national standards in the Four Corners area. The plans submitted by the three affected States did not provide for such substantial control of sulfur oxides; in addition, the Utah plan failed to provide for such control of particulate emissions.

The regulations promulgated herein provide for 70 percent control of sulfur oxides emissions. To comply with this limitation, the affected powerplants, in all likelihood, will have to be equipped with alkaline scrubbers or equivalent emission control apparatus. Experience from demonstration testing, pilot studies, and technical consultations indicates that alkaline scrubbers are capable of providing at least 70 percent control of sulfur oxides emissions from these powerplants, which use or will use low-sulfur fuel, and probably could, if necessary, be upgraded to provide even higher efficiencies. For particulate emissions from the powerplant in Utah, an emission limitation of 0.075 pounds per million B.t.u. heat input is promulgated below. Given the uncertainty surrounding the use of diffusion modeling in this case and the flexibility of alkaline scrubbers, insofar as emission control efficiency is concerned, it is the Administrator's judgment that the regulations promulgated herein will provide for attainment and maintenance of the national ambient air quality standards for particulate matter and sulfur oxides. The Administrator recognizes that while there is reasonable assurance that the degree of emissions control now being required will meet the primary standards, there is somewhat less assurance with respect to the secondary standards. If, at any time, attainment or maintenance of the standards for either pollutant is found to require a greater degree of emissions control than is expressly required herein, these regulations will be revised. When and if additional control is found necessary just to meet the secondary standards, the prescribed attainment date for secondary standards can be reconsidered.

At public hearings held by the Environmental Protection Agency after the publication of these regulations as proposed rule-making, several utility companies presented testimony taking issue with the diffusion model used by EPA (i.e., the NOAA model) to estimate the impact of the powerplant emissions. Their objections centered on the behavior of plumes in complicated terrain situations, the wind regime at stack elevation, and the frequency and duration of the meteorological conditions producing high estimated short-term concentrations. The Administrator has reviewed the calculations and the assumptions used in the diffusion model and has determined that the conclusion discussed above regarding the need for substantial control, on which the proposal was based, is still valid. The estimated frequency of occurrence of the predicted high short-term concentrations is relatively low; however, in the Administrator's judgment, such concentrations would occur in the absence of the controls required herein, thus causing a violation of the national standards.

The utility companies also expressed reservations about their ability to comply with the emission limitations and still maintain the high reliability expected of the electric power industry. It is recognized that there may be unavoidable malfunctions of emission control systems, which would result in emission violations. It is anticipated that procedures for dealing with such conditions will be promulgated at a later date. Such procedures have been proposed in Part 60 of this chapter (37 FR 17215) for applicability to sources subject to new source performance standards, and EPA currently is evaluating comments submitted pursuant to this proposal.

In order to verify the adequacy of the control strategy and compliance with the emission limitations, the Administrator intends to utilize his authority under section 114 of the Act to require the power companies to install and operate stack gas monitoring devices and to perform ambient air quality monitoring. These requirements will provide means of making a continuing assessment of the adequacy of these regulations for attainment and maintenance of the national standards.

Section 110(a)(2)(A) of the Act has the effect of requiring attainment of the national primary ambient air quality standards by July 31, 1975, unless an extension is granted pursuant to section 110(e). On July 27, 1972 (37 FR 15080), the Administrator extended for 2 years, the deadline for attainment of the national primary standards for sulfur oxides in the Arizona, New Mexico, and Utah portions of the Four Corners air quality control region. Based on the considerations outlined below, the Administrator has now determined that an extension of 2 years is not justified at this time.

Of the 11 electric generating units affected by these regulations, the five units comprising the Four Corners plant are already in operation; the remainder are scheduled to begin operations at various times through 1976. The Four Corners plant is not now equipped to comply with these regulations. Insofar as can be determined, no steps have been taken, to design, build, or install sulfur oxides emission control equipment at the Four Corners plant or any of the plants now under construction, with the exception of the Navaho plant. Whether the equipment being designed for the Navaho plant will comply with these regulations has not been determined.

A study conducted by EPA in cooperation with other Federal agencies (Draft Report: Sulfur Oxides Control Technology Assessment Panel on Projected Utilization of Stack-Gas Cleaning Systems by Steam-Electric Plants, November 16, 1972) indicated that the design, fabrication, and installation of alkaline scrubbing systems, under circumstances such as those existing in the Four Corners area, can be expected to take approximately 30 months from the time an order is placed. Thus, even if orders were to be placed immediately, compliance prior to mid-September 1975 is unlikely. Given the nature of the economic and technological commitments involved, it is not reasonable to expect the affected plant owners and operators to place orders for emission control equipment until they are assured that the compliance schedules which they must submit are acceptable to EPA.

Notwithstanding the prescribed date for attainment of the applicable national ambient air quality standards, these compliance schedules will have to provide for compliance with the applicable emission control regulations as expeditiously as practicable. Moreover, these compliance schedules will be subject to public hearings before they can be approved. Since the plant owners and operators must abide by such compliance schedules once they are approved by EPA, and since such schedules therefore must reflect an owner's or operator's judgment as to the time required for each step in the design, fabrication, and installation of emission control equipment compatible with each electric generating unit, the Administrator has determined that 120 days is a reasonable allowance of time for submittal of compliance schedules.

Taking into account all of the above considerations, the Administrator has determined that an extension terminating no later than 36 months from the date of promulgation of these regulations is justified and therefore is granting such an extension. It is emphasized, however, that compliance schedules to be submitted by the plant owners and operators still will be required to provide for compliance with these emission control regulations as expeditiously as practicable. If, based on these compliance schedules, it appears that attainment of the national standards in less than 36 months from the date of promulgation of these regulations is feasible, the extension will be modified.

Pursuant to section 110(e) of the Clean Air Act, the Administrator has considered alternative means of attaining the national standards by mid-1975, e.g., requiring the affected plants to burn virtually sulfur-free fuel. The only types of virtually sulfur-free fuel which might reasonably be available in the Four Corners area are natural gas and synthetic gas derived from coal. The use of natural gas in the affected plants would divert significant amounts of natural gas away from urban areas where its use (particularly by relatively small fuel users for which stack-gas cleaning is impractical) is a significant factor in meeting air quality standards. As to synthetic gas, it is unlikely that it will be available to the affected plants in appreciable quantities by mid-1975, since no synthetic gas production facilities capable of providing such quantities currently exist or are even being planned at this time.

Under section 110(e)(2), as applied to this situation, the Administrator may grant an extension only if he determines that the emission control regulations needed for attainment of the primary standards will be applied to sources located in the Four Corners region other than the sources unable to comply with these regulations by mid-1975. In this regard, there are no other sulfur oxides sources which affect attainment of the primary standards in the area affected by emissions from the sources covered by these regulations.

Under section 110(e), the Administrator also must require the affected sources to take such interim measures of control as he determines to be reasonable under the circumstances. The regulations promulgated herein provide that any compliance schedule which extends beyond July 31, 1975, "shall apply any reasonably available interim measures of control to reduce the impact of emissions" on public health. As indicated by the Administrator on July 27, 1972 (37 FR 15094), intermittent process curtailment may be considered a reasonable interim control measure where an extension of the time for attainment of national standards is necessary.

Certain modifications have been made to the proposed regulations, as follows:

1. An upper emission limit of 0.90 lb./106 B.t.u., based on 70 percent control of the maximum sulfur content of the local coals, has been added. Because of the large supplies of low sulfur coal in close proximity to the affected sources, it is unlikely that high-sulfur coal, which would have to be transported from other areas, will be used; nevertheless, if high-sulfur coal is used, this upper emission limit still must be met, even though it might require greater than 70 percent removal.

2. A minimum emission requirement of 0.16 lb./106 B.t.u., based on 70 percent control of the lowest sulfur content of local coals, is also specified. Thus, the affected sources would not be required to achieve 70 percent removal of sulfur oxides when burning fuel such as natural gas, which has a negligible sulfur content.

3. The regulations promulgated herein also require the affected powerplants to submit schedules for compliance with the emission limitations promulgated herein. The date for submission of compliance schedules to EPA has been changed from December 31, 1972, to "120 days from the effective date of the compliance schedule regulation" because of the delay which occurred in promulgating these regulations.

The regulations promulgated herein are effective on March 23, 1973. The Agency finds that good cause exists for making such regulations effective upon publication, since they impose no immediate requirements and since section 110(c) of the Clean Air Act calls for prompt promulgation of such regulations by the Administrator, and the prescribed date for such promulgation has passed. (42 U.S.C. 1857c-5)

Dated: March 15, 1973.

WILLIAM D. RUCKELSHAUS,
Administrator.

In 40 CFR Part 52, Subparts D, GG, and TT are amended to read as follows:

A. In 40 CFR Part 52, Subpart D, Arizona, is amended as follows:

1. In § 52.122, paragraph (a) is revised and paragraph (c) is added. As amended, § 52.122 reads as follows:

§ 52.122 Extensions.

(a) The Administrator hereby extends for 2 years the attainment date for the national primary standards for sulfur oxides in the Phoenix-Tucson Intrastate Region and the Arizona portion of the Arizona-New Mexico Southern Border Interstate Region.

(c) The Administrator hereby extends to March 15, 1976, the attainment date for the national primary standards for sulfur oxides in the Arizona portion of the Four Corners Interstate Region.

2. Section 52.125 is amended by adding paragraph (c) as follows:

§ 52.125 Control strategy and regulations: Sulfur oxides.

(c) Replacement regulation for Regulation 7-1-4(c) (Fossil fuel-fired steam generators in the Four Corners Interstate Region). (1) This paragraph is applicable to the fossil fuel-fired steam generating equipment designated as Units 1, 2, and 3 at the Navajo Power Plant in the Arizona portion of the Four Corners Interstate Region (§ 81.121 of this chapter).

(2) No owner or operator of the fossil fuel-fired steam generating equipment to which this paragraph is applicable shall discharge or cause the discharge of sulfur oxides into the atmosphere in excess of the amount prescribed by the following equations:

$$E = \frac{5.7 \times 10^5 S}{H} \text{ or } e = \frac{5.7 \times 10^5 S}{h}$$ where: E=Allowable sulfur oxides emissions (lb./10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u.).

e=Allowable sulfur oxides emissions (gm./10<sup>6</sup> gm.-cal.).

S=Sulfur content, in percent by weight, of fuel being burned.

H=Heat content of fuel (B.t.u./lb.).

h=Heat content of fuel (gm.-cal./gm.).

(3) For the purposes of this paragraph:

(i) E shall not exceed 0.90 lb. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u. (1.6 gm. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> gm.-cal.).

(ii) If emissions are less than 0.16 lb. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u. (0.29 gm. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> gm.-cal.), the requirements of paragraph (c) (2) of this section shall not apply.

(4) Compliance with this paragraph shall be in accordance with the provisions of § 52.134(a).

(5) The test methods and procedures used to determine compliance with this paragraph shall be those prescribed in § 60.46 (c), (d), and (e) of this chapter.

§ 52.131 [Amended]

3. In § 52.131, the attainment date table is revised by replacing the letter "b", which designates the date for attainment of the primary and secondary standards for sulfur oxides in the Four Corners Interstate Region, with the date "March 1976."

4. In Subpart D, § 52.134 is added as follows:

§ 52.134 Compliance schedules.

(a) Federal compliance schedule. (1) The owner or operator of the source subject to § 52.125(c) shall comply with such regulation at initial start-up of such source unless a compliance schedule has been approved by the Administrator pursuant to paragraph (a) (2) of this section. The owner or operator who achieves compliance with § 52.125(c) after the effective date of this regulation shall certify such compliance to the Administrator within 5 days of the date compliance is achieved.

(2) Any owner or operator of the stationary source subject to paragraph (a) (1) of this section may, no later than July 23, 1973, submit to the Administrator for approval a proposed compliance schedule that demonstrates compliance with § 52.125(c) as expeditiously as practicable but not later than March 15, 1976.

(3) The compliance schedule shall provide for periodic increments of progress toward compliance. The dates for achievement of such increments shall be specified. Increments of progress shall include, but not be limited to: Submittal of final control plan to the Administrator; letting of necessary contracts for construction or process change, or issuance of orders for the purchase of component parts to accomplish emission control or process modification; initiation of on-site construction or installation of emission control equipment or process modification; and final compliance.

(4) Any compliance schedule for the stationary source subject to § 52.125(c) which extends beyond July 31, 1975, shall apply any reasonably available interim measures of control to reduce the impact of such source on public health.

(5) Any owner or operator who submits a compliance schedule pursuant to this paragraph (a) shall, within 5 days after the deadline for each increment of progress, certify to the Administrator whether or not the required increment of the approved compliance schedule has been met.

B. In 40 CFR Part 52, Subpart GG, New Mexico, is amended as follows:

1. Section 52.1624 is amended by adding paragraph (c) as follows:

§ 52.1624 Control strategy and regulations: Sulfur oxides.

(c) Replacement regulation for Regulation 602.B (Fossil fuel-fired steam generators in the Four Corners Interstate Region). (1) This paragraph is applicable to the fossil fuel-fired steam generating equipment designated as Units 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 at the Four Corners powerplant and Units 1 and 2 at the San Juan powerplant in the New Mexico portion of the Four Corners

Interstate Region (§ 81.121 of this chapter).

(2) No owner or operator of the fossil fuel-fired steam generating equipment to which this paragraph is applicable shall discharge or cause the discharge of sulfur oxides into the atmosphere in excess of the amount prescribed by the following equations:

$$E = \frac{5.7 \times 10^5 S}{H} \text{ or } e = \frac{5.7 \times 10^5 S}{h}$$ where:

S=Sulfur content, in percent by weight, of fuel being burned.

H=Heat content of fuel (B.t.u./lb.).

h=Heat content of fuel (gm.-cal./gm.).

(3) For the purposes of this paragraph:

(i) E shall not exceed 0.90 lb. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u. (1.6 gm. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> gm.-cal.).

(ii) If emissions are less than 0.16 lb. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u. (0.29 gm. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> gm.-cal.), the requirements of paragraph (c) (2) of this section shall not apply.

(4) Compliance with this paragraph shall be in accordance with the provisions of § 52.1626(c).

(5) The test methods and procedures used to determine compliance with this paragraph shall be those prescribed in § 60.46 (c), (d), and (e) of this chapter.

2. Section 52.1626 is amended by adding paragraph (c) as follows:

§ 52.1626 Compliance schedules.

(c) Federal compliance schedules. (1) Except as provided in paragraph (c) (3) of this section, the owner or operator of a source subject to § 52.1624(c) which has commenced operation as of March 23, 1973, shall comply with such regulation on or before January 31, 1974.

(2) The owner or operator of a source subject to § 52.1624(c) which has not commenced operation as of March 23, 1973, shall comply with such regulation at initial startup of such source, unless a compliance schedule has been approved by the Administrator pursuant to paragraph (c) (3) of this section.

(3) The owner or operator of the stationary source subject to paragraph (c) (1) or (2) of this section may, no later than July 23, 1973, submit to the Administrator for approval a proposed compliance schedule that demonstrates compliance with § 52.1624(c) as expeditiously as practicable but no later than March 15, 1976.

(4) The compliance schedule shall provide for periodic increments of progress toward compliance. The dates for achievement of such increments shall be specified. Increments of progress shall include, but not be limited to: Submittal of necessary contracts for construction or process change, or issuance of orders for the purchase of component parts to accomplish emission control or process modification; initiation of onsite construction or installation of emission control equipment or process modification; completion of onsite construction or installation of emission control equipment or process modification; and final compliance.

(ii) Any compliance schedule for the stationary source subject to § 52.1624(c) which extends beyond July 31, 1975, shall apply to any reasonably available interim measures of control to reduce the impact of emissions from such source on public health.

(4) Any owner or operator who submits a compliance schedule pursuant to this paragraph (c) shall, within 5 days after the deadline for each increment of progress, certify to the Administrator whether or not the required increment of the approved compliance schedule has been met.

(5) Any owner or operator who achieves compliance with § 52.1624(c) after March 23, 1973, shall certify such compliance to the Administrator within 5 days of the date compliance is achieved.

§ 52.1630 [Amended]

3. In § 52.1630, the attainment date table is revised by replacing the letter "f", which designates the date for attainment of the primary and secondary standards for sulfur oxides in the Four Corners Interstate Region, with the date "March, 1976."

4. In § 52.1631, paragraph (a) is revised to read as follows:

§ 52.1631 Extensions.

(a) The Administrator hereby extends to March 15, 1976, the attainment date for the primary standards for sulfur oxides in New Mexico's portion of the Four Corners Interstate Region.

c. In 40 CFR Part 52, Subpart TT, Utah, is amended as follows:

1. In § 52.2322, paragraph (b) is revised and paragraph (d) is added. As amended, § 52.2322 reads as follows:

§ 52.2322 Extensions.

(b) The Administrator hereby extends for 2 years the attainment date for the primary standards for sulfur oxides in the Wasatch Front Intrastate Region.

(d) The Administrator hereby extends to March 15, 1976, the attainment date for the primary standards for sulfur oxides in the Utah portion of the Four Corners Interstate Region.

2. Section 52.2325 is amended by adding paragraph (c) as follows:

§ 52.2325 Control strategy: Sulfur oxides.

(c) Regulation for control of sulfur oxides emissions (fossil fuel-fired steam generators in the Four Corners Interstate Region). (1) This paragraph is applicable to the fossil fuel-fired steam generating equipment designated as Unit 2 at the Huntington Canyon powerplant in the Utah portion of the Four Corners

Interstate Region (§ 81.121 of this chapter).

(2) No owner or operator of the fossil fuel-fired steam generating equipment to which this paragraph is applicable shall discharge or cause the discharge of sulfur oxides into the atmosphere in excess of the amount prescribed by the following equations:

$$E = \frac{5.7 \times 10^5 S}{H} \text{ or } e = \frac{5.7 \times 10^5 S}{h}$$

where:

S=Sulfur content, in percent by weight, of fuel being burned.

H=Heat content of fuel (B.t.u./lb.).

h=Heat content of fuel (gm.-cal./gm.).

(3) For the purposes of this paragraph:

(i) E shall not exceed 0.90 lb. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u. (1.6 gm. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> gm.-cal.).

(ii) If emissions are less than 0.16 lb. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u. (0.29 gm. SO<sub>2</sub>/10<sup>6</sup> gm.-cal.), the requirements of paragraph (c) (2) of this section shall not apply.

(4) Compliance with this paragraph shall be in accordance with the provisions of § 52.2327(b).

(5) The test methods and procedures used to determine compliance with this paragraph shall be those prescribed in § 60.46 (c), (d), and (e) of this chapter.

3. Section 52.2327 is amended by adding paragraph (b) as follows:

§ 52.2327 Compliance schedules.

(b) Federal compliance schedule. (1) The owner or operator of the source subject to § 52.2325(c) or § 52.2330(b) shall comply with such regulation at initial startup of such source, unless a compliance schedule has been approved by the Administrator pursuant to paragraph (c) (2) of this section. The owner or operator who achieves compliance with § 52.2325(c) or § 52.2330(b) after the effective date of this regulation shall certify such compliance to the Administrator within 5 days of the date compliance is achieved.

(2) Any owner or operator of the stationary source subject to paragraph (b) (1) of this paragraph may, no later than July 23, 1973, submit to the Administrator for approval a proposed compliance schedule that demonstrates compliance with § 52.2330(b) as expeditiously as practicable but no later than July 31, 1975, or with § 52.2325(c) as expeditiously as practicable but no later than March 15, 1976.

(3) The compliance schedule shall provide for periodic increments of progress toward compliance. The dates for achievement of such increments shall be specified. Increments of progress shall include, but not be limited to: Submittal of the final control plan to the Administrator; letting of necessary contracts for construction or process change, or issuance of orders for the purchase of component parts to accomplish emission control or process modification; initiation of on-site construction or installation of emission control equipment or process modification; completion of on-site construction or installation of emission control equipment or process modification, and final compliance.

(1) Any compliance schedule for the stationary source subject to § 52.2325(c) which extends beyond July 31, 1975, shall apply any available interim measures of control to reduce the impact of emissions from such source on public health.

(3) Any owner or operator who submits a compliance schedule pursuant to this paragraph (b) shall, within 5 days after the deadline for each increment of progress, certify to the Administrator whether or not the required increment of the approved compliance schedule has been met.

4. Section 52.2330 is amended by adding paragraph (b) as follows:

§ 52.2330 Rules and regulations: Particulate matter.

(b) Replacement for section 3.5 (Four Corners Interstate Region). (1) The owner or operator of the fossil fuel-fired steam generating equipment designated as Unit 2 at the Huntington Canyon powerplant in the Utah portion of the Four Corners Interstate Region (§ 81.121 of this chapter) shall not discharge or cause the discharge of particulate matter into the atmosphere in excess of 0.075 lbs. per 10<sup>6</sup> B.t.u. (0.135 g. per million cal.) heat input.

(2) Compliance with this paragraph (b) shall be in accordance with provision of § 52.2327(b).

(3) The test methods and procedures used to determine compliance with this paragraph (b) shall be those prescribed for particulate matter in § 80.46 of this chapter.

§ 52.2331 [Amended]

5. In § 52.2331, the attainment date table is revised by replacing the letter "b", which designates the date for attainment of the primary and secondary standards for sulfur oxides in the Four Corners Interstate Region, with the date "March 1976."

Title 49—Transportation
CHAPTER I—DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION*SUBCHAPTER A—HAZARDOUS MATERIALS REGULATIONS BOARD

[Docket No. HM-107; Amdts. 173-71, 177-25]

PART 173—SHIPPERS*PART 177—SHIPMENTS MADE BY WAY OF COMMON, CONTRACT, OR PRIVATE CARRIERS BY PUBLIC HIGHWAY
Department of Defense Material Sold to a Shipper

The purpose of this amendment to the Hazardous Materials Regulations of the Department of Transportation is to permit shipment of hazardous materials sold by the Department of Defense in packagings of equal or greater strength and efficiency than those specified for hazardous materials in 49 CFR Parts 170-189.

At the present time, the Hazardous Materials Regulations Board is receiving a substantial number of requests for special permits to allow shipment of materials bought from the Department of Defense that would be other than "• • • offered by or consigned to the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force of the United States Government." It has been recently substantiated that many of these materials are in packagings that meet or exceed the requirements of Parts 173 and 178. However, the packagings are marked only in conformance with military specifications that correspond to Department of Transportation specifications.

This amendment permits the Department of Defense to execute certificates to indicate that packagings meet or exceed corresponding specifications of this Department. Since this amendment imposes no added burden on any person and no discernible change is being made in the level of safety requirements for shipments to which it pertains, notice and public procedure are unnecessary.

In consideration of the foregoing, 49 CFR Parts 173 and 177 are amended as follows:

I. Part 173, Shippers, is amended as follows:

(A) In Part 173 table of contents, § 173.7 is amended to read as follows:

§ 173.7 U.S. Government material.

(B) In § 173.7, the heading and paragraph (a) are amended to read as follows:

§ 173.7 U.S. Government material.

(a) Shipments of hazardous materials offered by or consigned to the Department of Defense (DOD) of the U.S. Government must be packaged, including limitations of weight, in accordance with the regulations in this subchapter or in containers of equal or greater strength and efficiency as required by DOD regulations.

(1) Hazardous materials sold by the DOD in packagings that are not marked in accordance with the requirements of this subchapter may be shipped from DOD installations if the DOD certifies in writing that the packagings are equal to or greater in strength and efficiency than the packaging prescribed in this subchapter. The shipper shall obtain such a certification in duplicate for each shipment. He shall give one copy to the originator and retain the other for no less than 1 year.

II. Part 177, Shipments made by way of common, contract, or private carriers by public highway, is amended as follows:

(A) In Part 177 table of contents, § 177.806 is amended to read as follows:

Sec. 177.806 U.S. Government material.

(B) In § 177.806, the heading and paragraph (a) are amended to read as follows:

§ 177.806 U.S. Government material.

(a) Shipments of hazardous materials offered by or consigned to the Department of Defense (DOD) of the U.S. Government must be packaged, including limitations of weight, in accordance with the regulations in this subchapter or in containers of equal or greater strength and efficiency as required by DOD regulations.

(1) Hazardous materials sold by the DOD in packagings that are not marked in accordance with the requirements of this subchapter may be shipped from DOD installations if the DOD certifies in writing that the packagings are equal to or greater in strength and efficiency than the packaging prescribed in this subchapter. The shipper shall obtain such a certification in duplicate for each shipment. He shall give one copy to the originator and retain the other for no less than 1 year.

This amendment is effective June 30, 1973. However, compliance with the regulations, as amended herein, is authorized immediately.

PART 571—FEDERAL MOTOR VEHICLE SAFETY STANDARDS Child Seating Systems

This notice makes certain amendments to Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 213 Child seating systems, 49 CFR 571.213. Standard No. 213 was published March 26, 1970 (35 FR 5120), and amended September 23, 1970 (35 FR 14778), April 10, 1971 (36 FR 6895), and June 29, 1971 (36 FR 12224). This notice is based in part on notices of proposed rule making published September 23, 1970 (36 FR 14786) (Notice 5), and April 10, 1971 (36 FR 6903) (Notice 7).

The definition of "child seating system" is amended by this notice to eliminate the qualification that the device be designed to restrain children. This modification was proposed in the notice of September 23, 1970, and is adopted in the form proposed. The proposal was based on petitions which suggested the change as a means of eliminating a possible loophole in the standard, which allowed the marketing of devices which could be advertised for transporting children in motor vehicles, but which made no provision for protecting them in crashes. As a result of the amendment, all devices designed to seat children in motor vehicles must conform to the standard. One comment to the notice suggested that the language of the definition be further modified to make it clear that the vehicle seat is not included within the definition. This suggestion is not accepted. The NHTSA does not agree that the language of the definition includes or will be construed to include vehicle seats taken separately. Moreover, the vehicle seat may be an integral part of devices which would fall under the standard, and a specific exclusion of vehicle seats in the definition might create the erroneous impression that the extent that the vehicle seat is utilized determines whether such a device is subject to the standard.

The standard is hereby clarified to make explicit the prohibition against recommending seating systems for use in other than designated seating positions. The NHTSA is of the opinion that Standard No. 213 at least implicitly prohibits manufacturers from doing this. The labeling requirements of paragraph S4.1 (e) specify that the label affixed to each child seating system must specify "both the types of motor vehicles and the designated seating positions . . . in which the system is either recommended or not recommended for use." Paragraph S4.4 requires each child seating system to be designed and constructed so that when it is installed in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions it shall be restrained against movement by either a Type 1 or Type 2 seat belt assembly. These seat belt assemblies are required to be installed at designated seating positions, pursuant to Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 208 Occupant crash protection (49 CFR 571.208).

The proposal of September 23, 1970, would have amended paragraph S4.3, to require only child seats having adjustable restraint systems (as distinguished from those using stationary impact shields) to be adjustable to fit all children for which they are recommended. An NHTSA opinion to this effect was published in the preamble to the amendment published April 10, 1971. The NHTSA has decided that the proposed language is too broad. As written, it does not require even belt restraint systems to be adjustable. The NHTSA intended only that nonadjustable restraint designs, such as impact pads, need not be made adjustable. Consequently, this amendment modifies S4.3 to make it clear that belt restraint systems must be adjustable. In response to a comment, the NHTSA has modified the proposed requirement that the restraint system fit snugly to apply only to belt systems.

The notice of September 23, 1970, proposed more extensive head restraint requirements and test procedures than the standard presently specifies. The NHTSA has made public its plans to institute a dynamic test as the method for testing child seating system performance. These requirements are presently under development, and appropriate notice will be issued once NHTSA efforts have been completed. The NHTSA has decided to defer modification of head restraint requirements, because such requirements would require extensive redevelopment, until they can be incorporated into the dynamic performance requirements. The NHTSA has, however, modified the method for measuring head restraint height. The revised method utilizes the intersection of the longitudinal centerline of the seating surface with a plane through the torso block reference point as the base from which the head restraint measurement is to be made. The NHTSA agrees with the comments that this method is more precise than the existing procedure, as it is not based on the angle of the seat or the attitude of the child seating surface.

Requirements proposed in the notice of September 23, 1970, regarding energy absorbing material are also not adopted, because of the impending dynamic test procedures. Two minor amendments, however, are adopted. The first changes "energy-absorbing material" to "force-distributing material." Certain comments have indicated, and the NHTSA agrees, that the latter term is a more accurate description of these materials. The second amendment, based on certain comments, increases the number of components that need not be covered with these materials and need not meet minimum radius requirements, to include belt adjustment hardware attached only to webbing. The padding requirements of S4.10.1 are not practical for this belt adjustment hardware. Moreover, by exempting these components from the requirements, manufacturers are free to utilize smaller belt adjustment hardware, which is less hazardous in impact conditions than the larger belt adjustment components which would otherwise be necessary.

Paragraph S4.10 is further amended, as proposed in the notice of September 23, 1970, to eliminate the exemption to the padding requirements for components contactable by the head. The NHTSA has concluded that this exemption, for components of at least 24 square inches, is inappropriate for components contactable by the head, as the size of a component is not necessarily related to its ability to cushion head as compared to torso impacts.

The notice of April 10, 1971, proposed that the requirements of paragraph S4.9 for belt mechanism release be made part of child system test procedures, and to delete the existing test incorporated from Standard No. 209. No objections were received, and that proposal is adopted.

In light of the above, Motor Vehicle Safety Standard No. 213 Child seating systems appearing at 49 CFR § 571.213, is amended as follows:

1. Paragraph S3, Definitions, is revised to read:

S3. Definitions. "Child seating system" means an item of motor vehicle equipment for seating a child being transported in a motor vehicle.

2. Paragraph S4.1(e) is revised to read:

S4.1 Labeling.

(e) A statement describing in general terms both the types of motor vehicles and the designated seating positions in those vehicles in which the system is either recommended or not recommended for use. A child seating system may not be recommended for use in other than a designated seating position. The following, either stated separately or in combination, are examples of acceptable statements:

3. Paragraph S4.3, Adjustment, is revised to read:

S4.3 Adjustment. Each adjustable child seating system component and each belt system designed to restrain the child directly shall be sufficiently adjustable to fit a child of any size for which the seat is recommended pursuant to paragraph S4.1(h) and who is positioned in the system in accordance with the instructions required by S4.2. A belt system used to restrain the child directly shall be sufficiently adjustable to fit snugly any such child.

4. Paragraph S4.6.1 is revised to read:

S4.6.1 Except as provided in S4.6.2, each forward-facing child seating system shall have a head restraint that limits rearward angular displacement of the child's head relative to the child's torso line. The height of the head restraint, measured as the straight line distance between the highest point at the lateral center of the head restraint and the point on the longitudinal centerline of the seating surface at the intersection of a plane parallel to the rear surface of the torso block through the torso block reference specified in S5.1, when the torso block is positioned in the child seating system in accordance with the instructions required by S4.2, shall be as follows:

5. Paragraph S4.9 is revised to read:

S4.9 Release mechanism. The mechanism for releasing components of a child seating system that directly restrain the child shall release when a force of not more than 20 pounds is applied in accordance with S5.3.

6. Paragraph S4.10 is revised to read:

S4.10 Impact protection.

S4.10.1 Head and torso. Except as provided in S4.10.2, any rigid component of a child seating system (except restraint buckles, and belt adjustment hardware attached only to webbing) that, during forward, right side, left side, or rearward impact, may contact the head or torso of a child within the height and weight range recommended in accordance with S4.1(h) shall:

(a) Have no corner or edge with a radius of less than one-quarter inch; and

(b) Except as provided in S4.10.2, be covered with deformable force-distributing material having a thickness of at least one-half inch.

S4.10.2 Exception. S4.10.1(b) does not apply to the area of a rigid back or side of a child seating system that is contactable only by the child's torso, if the contactable area of the back or side is at least 24 square inches.

Effective date: November 1, 1973.

SUBCHAPTER B—PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE PART 1100—GENERAL RULES OF PRACTICE

Prohibition of Private Recording of Proceedings

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 14th day of March 1973.

There being under consideration § 1100.70 of the Commission's general rules of practice, and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That § 1100.70(b) is amended as follows:

§ 1100.70 Authority of officers. (Rule 70)

(b) At any oral hearing conducted before the Commission, or before an Administrative Law Judge of the Commission, at which an official record of the proceeding is made, the recording of the hearing by means of live or delayed television, radio, or the use of a tape recorder or other electronic or photographic equipment by any person other than the official reporter will not be permitted without special permission of the Chairman of the Commission.

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective on April 20, 1973.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy of this notice in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D.C., for public inspection and by filing a copy thereof with the Director, Office of the Federal Register.

PART 28—PUBLIC ACCESS, USE AND RECREATION

Dismal Swamp National Wildlife Refuge, Va.

The following special regulation is issued and is effective through the period March 12, 1973, to December 31, 1973.

§ 28.28 Special regulations; public access, use, and recreation; for the individual wildlife refuge area.

VIRGINIA

DISMAL SWAMP NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE

Access to the refuge is permitted from sunrise to sunset for the purposes of nature study, photography, hiking, and sightseeing subject to the following restriction. Travel by motor vehicle, bicycle, or on foot is permitted on designated routes. Pets are permitted if on a leash not over 10 feet in length.

Information about the refuge area, comprising approximately 49,097 acres, located in the cities of Nansemond and Chesapeake, Va., is available from the Regional Director, Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, John W. McCormack Post Office and Courthouse, Boston, Mass. 02109.

The provisions of this special regulation supplement the regulations which govern recreation on wildlife refuge areas generally which are set forth in Title 50, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 28, and are effective through December 31, 1973.

Eligibility for Payment and Price-Support Loans on Federally Owned Land

This amendment is for the purpose of (1) adopting the proposals published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of February 14, 1973, and (2) announcing the Secretary's determination of price-supported commodities in surplus supply for the guidance of Federal agencies leasing agricultural lands to producers.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

(1) There was published on February 14, 1973, in the FEDERAL REGISTER a notice of proposed rule making (38 FR 4407) regarding changes in the conditions under which producers leasing federally owned land would be eligible for participation in the payment and price-support programs administered by the Department of Agriculture. The period for receiving comments ended on March 1, 1973. No comments were received.

The proposed changes are being adopted and will, effective with the 1973 crop year, prohibit participation of federally owned land in the payment and price-support programs for upland cotton, feed grains, wheat, and other commodities. However, the prohibition against making payments and extending price support with respect to commodities produced on such land shall not apply during the current term of any lease to the extent that the lease permits the production of the commodities, but shall apply to any renewal of an existing lease or a new lease executed after the effective date of this amendment. Likewise, the prohibition shall not apply to land acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain and leased back to the former owner with uninterrupted possession.

The adoption of this amendment, therefore, effectuates the changes proposed in the notice of proposed rule making. Other parts in this chapter and in Chapter XIV of this Title will be amended to conform with the changes.

(2) The Secretary of Agriculture is required by the Presidential memorandum of May 21, 1956, to determine from time to time and to publish a listing of price-supported commodities in surplus supply. In accordance with the Presidential memorandum, Federal agencies leasing agricultural lands to producers are required to restrict the production of price-supported commodities in surplus supply.

The Secretary, having considered supply and demand and other factors for the various commodities, has determined that price-supported commodities in surplus supply are peanuts and the kinds of tobacco for which marketing quotas are in effect.

Part 719 is amended as follows:
1. Section 719.3 is amended by revising paragraph (b)(3) and adding a new paragraph (d)(6) to read as follows:

§ 719.3 Farm constitution.

(b) Farms constituted for the first time or reconstituted hereafter. . . .

(3) Federally owned land except (i) land operated under a lease which does not restrict the production of price-supported commodities in surplus supply and executed prior to March 22, 1973, and (ii) land acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain and leased back to the former owner with uninterrupted possession under terms which do not restrict the production of price-supported crops in surplus supply.

(d) Required reconstitutions. . . .
(6) A lease of federally owned land which does not restrict the production of price-supported crops in surplus supply is renewed unless the land was acquired by an agency having the right of eminent domain and is being leased to the former owner of the land who has enjoyed uninterrupted possession of the land.

Section 719.15 is amended to read as follows:

§ 719.15 Federally owned land.

(a) Price-supported commodities in surplus supply. It is the policy of the United States to prohibit the cultivation of crops of price-supported commodities in surplus supply on farmland leased from the United States. For the purposes of this paragraph, it has been determined that the following price-supported commodities are in surplus supply: Peanuts, and the kinds of tobacco for which marketing quotas are in effect.

(b) Program participation. Effective with the 1973 crop year, federally owned land shall be ineligible for participation in the payment programs for feed grains, upland cotton, wheat, and other commodities, and no price-support loans or purchases shall be made available with respect to feed grains, upland cotton, wheat, or any other commodity produced on federally owned land. The prohibition against the making of payments and the extension of price support shall not apply (1) to the former owner of federally owned land who has enjoyed uninterrupted possession of the land or (2) during the current term of any lease executed prior to March 22, 1973, to the extent that the lease permits the production of the commodities but shall apply to any renewal of an existing lease or a new lease executed after March 22, 1973. Federally owned land which has been leased subject to restrictions prohibiting the production of specified commodities shall not be eligible for payments under programs administered by the Department of Agriculture. Commodities produced in violation of restrictive leases on federally owned land shall not be eligible for price support.

Effective date. Since Federal agencies are now making leases to producers and producers with leases are planning their 1973 farming operations, it is essential that this amendment be made effective as soon as possible. It is hereby found that compliance with the 30-day effective date provision of 5 U.S.C. 553 is impracticable and contrary to the public interest. Accordingly, this amendment shall become effective on March 23, 1973.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on March 21, 1973.

KENNETH E. PRICE,
Administrator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Orange Reg. 71, Amdt. 7]

PART 905—ORANGES, GRAPEFRUIT, TANGERINES, AND TANGELOS GROWN IN FLORIDA

Limitation of Shipments

This amendment extends current grade and size limitations for the period March 26, 1973, through September 30, 1973, applicable to oranges, including Navel, Temple, and Murcott Honey oranges, handled between the production area in Florida and any point outside thereof in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico. Domestic shipments of Florida oranges are currently regulated through March 25, 1973, pursuant to Orange Regulation 71. The proposal to extend the period of regulation of Florida oranges was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 23, 1973, and appears without change in the regulation as hereinafter set forth.

Notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 23, 1973 (38 FR 4979), that consideration was being given to a proposal relative to limitation of shipments of oranges, including Navel, Temple, and Murcott Honey oranges, handled between the production area and any point outside thereof in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico, recommended by the Growers Administrative Committee, established under the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 905, as amended (7 CFR Part 905), regulating the handling of oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, and tangelos grown in Florida. This program is effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674).

The notice provided that all written data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed amendment be submitted by March 15, 1973. None were received.

The proposed regulation is based upon an appraisal of the Florida orange crop and the current and prospective market conditions. The Florida orange crop is estimated at 168 million boxes, 23 percent above last season. Hence, more than ample supplies of fruit of the better grades and more desirable sizes are available to fill the needs of consumers. Equivalent fresh on-tree returns for Florida oranges averaged $1.96 per box for the season through February 1973, or 52 percent of the equivalent parity price. The regulation herein specified is necessary to permit shipment of ample supplies of fruit of the better grades and more desirable sizes in the interest of both growers and consumers. The action is necessary to maintain orderly marketing conditions by preventing the demoralizing effect on the market and on grower returns caused by shipment of lower quality and smaller size fruit when more than ample supplies of the more desirable grades and sizes are available to serve consumer's needs. The regulation therefore is consistent with the objective of the act of promoting orderly marketing, maintaining grower returns, and protecting the interest of consumers.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

After consideration of all relevant matter presented, including the proposal set forth in the aforesaid notice and other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of shipments of oranges, including Navel, Temple, and Murcott Honey oranges, as hereinafter set forth, is in accordance with said amended marketing agreement and order and will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

It is hereby further found that good cause exists for making the aforesaid amendment effective at the time hereinafter set forth and for not postponing the effective date hereof until 30 days after publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) in that (1) notice of proposed rule making concerning this amendment, with an effective date of March 26, 1973, was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 23, 1973 (38 FR 4979), and no objection to this amendment or such effective date was received; (2) the recommendation and supporting information for regulation of oranges, including Navel, Temple, and Murcott Honey oranges, during the period specified herein were submitted to the Department after an open meeting of the committee on January 30, 1973, which was held to consider recommendations for regulation, after giving due notice of such meeting, and interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit their views at this meeting; (3) the provisions of this amendment, including the effective time hereof, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee; (4) information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such oranges, and (5) compliance with the regulation will not require any special preparation on the part of the persons subject thereto which cannot be completed by the effective time hereof.

Order. In § 905.545 (Orange Reg. 71, 37 FR 21799, 24432, 25036, 27619, 28606; 38 FR 3396, 4569) the provisions of paragraph (a) preceding subparagraph (1) thereof are amended to read as follows:

§ 905.545 Orange Regulation 71.
(a) During the period March 26, 1973, through September 30, 1973, no handler shall ship between the production area and any point outside thereof in the continental United States, Canada, or Mexico:

(Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674)

Dated: March 21, 1973, to become effective March 26, 1973.

PART 910—LEMONS GROWN IN CALIFORNIA AND ARIZONA

Limitation of Handling

This regulation fixes the quantity of California-Arizona lemons that may be shipped to fresh market during the weekly regulation period March 25-31, 1973. It is issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and Marketing Order No. 910. The quantity of lemons so fixed was arrived at after consideration of the total available supply of lemons, the quantity of lemons currently available for market, the fresh market demand for lemons, lemon prices, and the relationship of season average returns to the parity price for lemons.

§ 910.878 Lemon Regulation 578.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 910, as amended (7 CFR Part 910), regulating the handling of lemons grown in California and Arizona, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Lemon Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such lemons, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The need for this section to limit the quantity of lemons that may be marketed during the ensuing week stems from the production and marketing situation confronting the lemon industry.

(i) The committee has submitted its recommendation with respect to the quantity of lemons it deems advisable to be handled during the ensuing week. Such recommendation resulted from consideration of the factors enumerated in the order. The committee further reports the demand for lemons is good on sizes 165 and larger, steady on size 200's and easier on sizes 235 and smaller. Average f.o.b. price was $5.65 per carton the week ended March 17, 1973, compared to $5.69 per carton the previous week. Track and rolling supplies at 153 cars were down 27 cars from last week.

(ii) Having considered the recommendation and information submitted by the committee, and other available information, the Secretary finds that the quantity of lemons which may be handled should be fixed as hereinafter set forth.

(3) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule-making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this regulation until 30 days after publication hereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this regulation is based became available and the time when this section must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and a reasonable time is permitted, under the circumstances, for preparation for such effective time; and good cause exists for making the provisions hereof effective as hereinafter set forth. The committee held an open meeting during the current week, after giving due notice thereof, to consider supply and market conditions for lemons and the need for regulation; interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit information and views at this meeting; the recommendation and supporting information for regulation during the period specified herein were promptly submitted to the Department after such meeting was held; the provisions of this section, including its effective time, are identical with the aforesaid recommendation of the committee, and information concerning such provisions and effective time has been disseminated among handlers of such lemons; it is necessary, in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act, to make this section effective during the period herein specified; and compliance with this section will not require any special preparation on the part of persons subject hereto which cannot be completed on or before the effective date hereof. Such committee meeting was held on March 20, 1973.

(b) Order. (1) The quantity of lemons grown in California and Arizona which may be handled during the period March 25, 1973, through March 31, 1973, is hereby fixed at 250,000 cartons.

(2) As used in this section, "handled", and "carton(s)" have the same meaning as when used in the said amended marketing agreement and order.

(Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674)

PART 153—ANTIDUMPING
Canned Bartlett Pears From Australia

Section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)), gives the Secretary of the Treasury responsibility for determination of sales at less than fair value. Pursuant to this authority the Secretary of the Treasury has determined that canned bartlett pears from Australia are being, or are likely to be, sold at less than fair value within the meaning of section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)). (Published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of December 5, 1972 (37 FR 25859, FR Doc. 72-20806).)

Section 201(a) of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended (19 U.S.C. 160(a)), gives the U.S. Tariff Commission responsibility for determination of injury or likelihood of injury. The U.S. Tariff Commission has determined, and on March 1, 1973, it notified the Secretary of the Treasury that an industry in the United States is likely to be injured by reason of the importation of canned bartlett pears from Australia sold at less than fair value within the meaning of the Antidumping Act, 1921, as amended. (Published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 7, 1973 (38 FR 6239, FR Doc. 73-4400).)

On behalf of the Secretary of the Treasury, I hereby make public these determinations, which constitute a finding of dumping with respect to canned bartlett pears from Australia.

Section 154.43 of the Customs Regulations is amended by adding the following to the list of findings of dumping currently in effect:

Proposed Rule Making

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains notices to the public of the proposed issuance of rules and regulations. The purpose of these notices is to give interested persons an opportunity to participate in the rule making prior to the adoption of the final rules.

DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY

Internal Revenue Service

[26 CFR Parts 1, 301]

INCOME TAX

Declaration of Estimated Tax by Individuals and Waiver of Penalty for Underpayment by Individuals of 1971 Estimated Income Tax

Notice is hereby given that the regulations set forth in tentative form in the attached appendix are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury or his delegate. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any comments or suggestions pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing (preferably six copies) to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Attention: CC:LR-T, Washington, D.C. 20224, by April 23, 1973. Any written comments or suggestions not specifically designated as confidential in accordance with 26 CFR 601.601(b) may be inspected by any person upon written request. Any person submitting comments or suggestions who desires an opportunity to comment orally at a public hearing on these proposed regulations should submit his request, in writing, to the Commissioner by April 23, 1973. In such case, a public hearing will be held, and notice of the time, place, and date will be published in a subsequent issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER unless the person or persons who have requested a hearing withdraw their requests for a hearing before notice of the hearing has been filed with the Office of the Federal Register. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 7805 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (68A Stat. 917; 26 U.S.C. 7805).

[SEAL] JOHNNIE M. WALTERS,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

This document contains proposed amendments to the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) and the Regulations on Procedure and Administration (26 CFR Part 301) in order to conform such regulations to the provisions of sections 207 (relating to waiver of the penalty for underpayment of 1971 estimated income tax) and 209 (relating to declaration of estimated tax) of the Revenue Act of 1971 (85 Stat. 512, 517).

The proposed regulations conform to the changes made in section 6015(a) of the Code by section 209 of the Revenue

Act of 1971. Under paragraph (a) of the proposed revision to § 1.6015(a)-1, the income level at which a declaration of estimated tax must be filed is increased over that under prior law to amounts in excess of $20,000 for a single person, a head of household, a surviving spouse, or a married individual whose spouse does not receive wages and amounts in excess of $10,000 for a married individual where both spouses receive wages. The income level remains at amounts in excess of $5,000 for a married individual if either spouse is a nonresident alien, if they are separated under a decree of divorce or of separate maintenance, or if they have different taxable years. A declaration is also required if gross income is expected to include more than $500 of income from sources other than wages. However, no declaration is required if the estimated tax can reasonably be expected to be less than $100. These amounts were increased over those under prior law. All of these changes are effective for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1971.

Section 1.6654-4 of the proposed regulations provides, pursuant to section 207 of the Revenue Act of 1971, that, in the case of individuals, the penalty prescribed by section 6654(a) and § 1.6654-1 for underpayment of estimated tax shall not apply in certain cases to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1970, and ending before January 1, 1972. Generally, those taxpayers for whom the penalty is waived are single persons (or married persons not entitled to file a joint return) whose gross income does not exceed $10,000, heads of households and surviving spouses if their gross income does not exceed $20,000, and married individuals entitled to file a joint return whose aggregate gross income does not exceed $20,000. However, the waiver does not apply if the taxpayer had more than $200 ($400 in the case of married taxpayers entitled to file a joint return) in income from sources other than wages.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE REGULATIONS

In order to conform the Income Tax Regulations (26 CFR Part 1) and the Regulations on Procedure and Administration (26 CFR Part 301) to the provisions of sections 207 and 209 of the Revenue Act of 1971 (85 Stat. 512, 517), such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Section 1.6015 is amended by revising section 6015(a) and by adding to the historical note. These revised and added provisions read as follows:

§ 1.6015(a) Statutory provisions; declaration of estimated income tax by individuals.

Sec. 6015. Declaration of estimated income tax by individuals—(a) Requirement of declaration. Except as otherwise provided in this section, every individual shall make a declaration of his estimated tax for the taxable year if—

(1) The gross income for the taxable year can reasonably be expected to exceed—

(A) $20,000, in the case of—
(i) A single individual, including a head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)); or

(ii) A married individual entitled under subsection (b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, but only if his spouse has not received wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) for the taxable year; or

(B) $10,000, in the case of a married individual entitled under subsection (b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, but only if both he and his spouse have received wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) for the taxable year; or

(C) $5,000, in the case of a married individual not entitled under subsection (b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse; or

(2) The gross income can reasonably be expected to include more than $500 from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)). Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, no declaration is required if the estimated tax (as defined in subsection (c)) can reasonably be expected to be less than $100.

[Sec. 6015(a) as amended by sec. 5, Act of Sept. 14, 1960 (Pub. Law 86-779, 74 Stat. 1000); sec. 103(j)(1), Foreign Investors Tax Act 1966 (80 Stat. 1554); sec. 803(d)(7), Tax Reform Act 1969 (83 Stat. 684); sec. 209, Rev. Act 1971 (85 Stat. 517).]

PAR. 2. Section 1.6015(a)-1 is amended by revising the caption of paragraph (a) (1) and so much of such paragraph as precedes subdivision (i) thereof, by redesignating such revised paragraph (a) (1) and (2) as subparagraphs (a) (2) and (a) (3) respectively, by inserting immediately before such redesignated paragraph (a) (2) a new paragraph (a) (1), and by revising paragraphs (c) and (e). These revised, redesignated, and added provisions read as follows:

§ 1.6015(a)-1 Declaration of estimated income tax by individuals.

(a) Requirement—(1) Taxable years beginning after December 31, 1971. With respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1971, a declaration of estimated income tax by an individual is not required if the estimated tax (as defined in section 6015(c)) can reasonably be expected to be less than $100. In all other cases a declaration of estimated income tax shall be made by every individual if the following conditions are met and if such individual is not a nonresident alien individual who is excepted under section 6015(i) and § 1.6015(i)-1 from the requirements of making a declaration:

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

(i) The gross income for the taxable year can reasonably be expected to exceed—

(a) $20,000, in the case of—

(1) A single individual including a head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)); or

(2) A married individual entitled under section 6015(b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, if his spouse has not received wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) for the taxable year; or

(b) $10,000, in the case of a married individual entitled under section 6015(b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, if both he and his spouse have received wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) for the taxable year; or

(c) $5,000, in the case of a married individual not entitled under section 6015(b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse; or

(ii) The gross income can reasonably be expected to include more than $500 from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)).

(2) Taxable years beginning after December 31, 1966, and before January 1, 1972. With respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1966, and before January 1, 1972, a declaration of estimated income tax by an individual is not required if the estimated tax (as defined in section 6015(c)) can reasonably be expected to be less than $40. In all other cases a declaration of estimated income tax shall be made by every individual if the following conditions are met and if such individual is not a nonresident alien individual who is excepted under section 6015(i) and § 1.6015(i)-1 from the requirement of making a declaration:

(i) The gross income for the taxable year can reasonably be expected to exceed—

(a) $5,000, in the case of—

(1) A single individual other than a head of a household (as defined in section 1(b)(2)) or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(b)) or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)); or

(2) A married individual not entitled under section 6015(b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse; or

(3) A married individual entitled under section 6015(b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, but only if the aggregate gross income of such individual and his spouse for the taxable year can reasonably be expected to exceed $10,000; or

(b) $10,000, in the case of—

(1) A head of a household (as defined in section 1(b)(2)); or

(2) A surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(b)); or

(ii) The gross income can reasonably be expected to include more than $200 from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)).

(c) Exemption of spouse. For the purpose of determining whether a declaration of estimated tax is required under the provisions of paragraph (a)(3) of this section, a married person filing a separate declaration may not take into account the exemption of his spouse, if his spouse has, or is reasonably expected to have, gross income, or is reasonably expected to be the dependent of another taxpayer for the taxable year.

(b) $10,000, in the case of—

(1) A head of household (as defined in section 1(b)(2)) for taxable years ending before January 1, 1971, or as defined in section 2(b) of the Code as amended by the Tax Reform Act of 1969 for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1970; or

(2) A surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(b)) for taxable years ending before January 1, 1971, or as defined in section 2(a) of the Code as amended by the Tax Reform Act of 1969 for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1970; or

(ii) The gross income can reasonably be expected to include more than $200 from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)).

(3) Taxable years beginning before January 1, 1967. With respect to taxable years beginning before January 1, 1967, and after December 31, 1960, a declaration of estimated income tax by an individual is not required if the estimated tax (as defined in section 6015(c)) can reasonably be expected to be less than $40. In all other cases a declaration shall be made by every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad, every individual residing in the United States though not a citizen thereof, every nonresident alien who is a resident of Canada, Mexico, or Puerto Rico and who has wages subject to withholding at the source under section 3402, and every nonresident alien who has been, or expects to be, a resident of Puerto Rico during the entire taxable year, if—

(i) The gross income for the taxable year can reasonably be expected to exceed—

(a) $5,000, in the case of—

(1) A single individual other than a head of a household (as defined in section 1(b)(2)); or

(2) A married individual not entitled under section 6015(b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse; or

(3) A married individual entitled under section 6015(b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, but only if the aggregate gross income of such individual and his spouse for the taxable year can reasonably be expected to exceed $10,000; or

(b) $10,000, in the case of—

(1) A head of a household (as defined in section 1(b)(2)); or

(2) A surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(b)); or

(ii) The gross income can reasonably be expected to include more than $200 from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)).

(c) Exemption of spouse. For the purpose of determining whether a declaration of estimated tax is required under the provisions of paragraph (a)(3) of this section, a married person filing a separate declaration may not take into account the exemption of his spouse, if his spouse has, or is reasonably expected to have, gross income, or is reasonably expected to be the dependent of another taxpayer for the taxable year.

(e) Examples. The application of the provisions of this section may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). H maintains as his home a household which is the principal place of abode of himself and his two dependent children. H's wife died in 1970 and he has not remarried. H and his wife filed a joint return for 1970. H's salary from January 1 to June 30, 1972, is at the annual rate of $18,000. However, effective July 1, 1972, his annual salary is increased to $24,000, and under the facts then existing it is reasonable to assume that his salary for the remaining portion of 1972 will remain unchanged and that his total salary for the year will, therefore, be $21,000. Since H is a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)) and his gross income can reasonably be expected to exceed $20,000, he is required to file a declaration of estimated tax for 1972. Since it was not reasonable to assume that H's gross income for 1972 would exceed $20,000 until July 1972 (after June 1 and before September 2), H is not required to file a declaration until September 15, 1972. However, if H's estimated tax (as defined in section 6015(c)) can reasonably be expected to be less than $100, he is not required to file a declaration of estimated tax. See section 6073 and §§ 1.6073-1 to 1.6073-4, inclusive, for rules as to when a declaration must be filed.

Example (2). H, a taxpayer making his return on the calendar year basis, has an annual salary of $12,000 in 1972. W, H's wife, received wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) in December 1972. W did not receive wages prior to December. Assuming that H and W are entitled to file a joint declaration of estimated tax under section 6015(b), H would not be required to file a declaration for 1972 until January 15, 1973, since prior to December 1972 W had not received wages. Since W received wages after September 1, 1972, H must file a declaration on or before January 15, 1973, because, under the rule contained in paragraph (a)(1)(i) of this section, H's gross income could reasonably be expected to exceed $10,000 for 1972. However, no declaration would be required if H's estimated tax (as defined in section 6015(c)) could reasonably be expected to be less than $100. No declaration is required prior to January 15, 1973, because, under the rule contained in paragraph (a)(1)(i) of this section, H's gross income for 1972 could not reasonably be expected to exceed $20,000.

Example (3). P is a taxpayer making his return on the calendar year basis. P is engaged in the practice of his profession on his own account and has gross income of $2,000 from such profession for the 2 months of January and February 1972. He reasonably expects that his gross income from his profession will continue to average $1,000 each month throughout the year and that he will have no income from any other source during 1972. Since P has gross income which does not constitute wages subject to withholding, he is required to file a declaration of estimated tax for that year since he has income of more than $500 from sources other than wages, unless he reasonably expects his estimated tax to be less than $100.

Example (4). S, a married taxpayer, has been regularly employed for many years. As of January 1, 1972, his weekly wages are $306. For many years, S has also owned stock in a corporation which has regularly paid him annual dividends ranging from $575 to $600. Because his gross income can reasonably be expected to include more than $500 from sources other than wages, S is required to make a declaration of estimated tax for 1972, unless he reasonably expects his estimated tax to be less than $100.

PAR. 3. Immediately after the historical note of § 1.6654 is inserted the following:

Sec. 207. [Revenue Act of 1971] Waiver of penalty for underpayment of 1971 estimated income tax—(a) Waiver of penalty. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, section 6654(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (relating to addition to tax for failure by individual to pay estimated income tax) shall not apply to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1970, and ending before January 1, 1972—

(1) If gross income for the taxable year does not exceed $10,000 in the case of—

(A) A single individual other than a head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)) of such Code; or

(B) A married individual not entitled under section 6013 of such Code to file a joint return for the taxable year; or

(2) If gross income for the taxable year does not exceed $20,000 in the case of—

(A) A head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) of such Code; or

(B) A surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)) of such Code; or

(3) In the case of a married individual entitled under section 6013 of such Code to file a joint return for the taxable year, if the aggregate gross income of such individual and his spouse for the taxable year does not exceed $20,000.

(b) Limitation. Subsection (a) shall not apply if the taxpayer has income from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) in excess of $900 for the taxable year ($400 in the case of a husband and wife entitled to file a joint return under section 6013 of such Code for the taxable year).

[Sec. 207, Rev. Act 1971 (85 Stat. 512)]

PAR. 4. Section 1.6654-2 is amended by revising so much of paragraph (a) as follows subparagraph (4) to read as follows:

§ 1.6654-2. Exceptions to imposition of the addition to the tax in the case of individuals.

(a) In general. . . .

In the case of a taxpayer whose taxable year consists of 52 or 53 weeks in accordance with section 441(f), the rules prescribed by paragraph (b) of § 1.441-2 shall be applicable in determining, for purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, whether a taxable year was a year of 12 months and, for purposes of paragraph (a) (3) and (4) of this section, the number of calendar months in a taxable year preceding the date prescribed for payment of an installment of estimated tax. For the rule to be applied in determining taxable income for any period described in paragraph (a) (3) and (4) of this section in the case of a taxpayer who employs accounting periods (e.g., 13 4-week periods or four 13-week periods) none of which terminates with the end of the applicable period described in paragraph (a) (3) or (4) of this section, see paragraph (a) (5) of § 1.6655-2. See § 1.6654-4 for certain cases where the imposition of the addition to the tax prescribed by section 6654(a) shall not apply with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1970, and ending before January 1, 1972.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

§ 1.6654-5 [Redesignated]

PAR. 5. Section 1.6654-4 is redesignated as § 1.6654-5.

PAR. 6. The following section is inserted immediately following § 1.6654-3:

§ 1.6654-4. Waiver of penalty for underpayment of 1971 estimated tax by an individual.

(a) In general. Section 207 of the Revenue Act of 1971 provides that, in the case of individuals, the penalty prescribed by section 6654(a) and § 1.6654-1 for underpayment of estimated tax shall not apply in certain cases to taxable years beginning after January 1, 1972. The penalty shall be waived only if the taxpayer meets one of the gross income requirements contained in paragraph (b) of this section and if the limitation contained in paragraph (c) of this section is not applicable.

(b) Gross income requirement. Except as provided in paragraph (c) of this section, the waiver provided in paragraph (a) of this section shall be applicable only—

(1) If the gross income for the taxable year does not exceed $10,000 in the case of—

(i) A single individual who is neither a head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) nor a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)), or

(ii) A married individual not entitled under section 6013 to file a joint return for the taxable year; or

(2) If the gross income for the taxable year does not exceed $20,000 in the case of—

(i) A head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)), or

(ii) A surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)), or

(3) If the aggregate gross income for the taxable year does not exceed $20,000 in the case of a married individual (entitled under section 6013 to file a joint return for the taxable year) and his spouse.

(c) Limitation. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the waiver provided in paragraph (a) of this section shall not be applicable, if in the taxable year, the taxpayer has income from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) in excess of $200 ($400 in the case of a husband and wife entitled to file a joint return for the taxable year under section 6013). Thus, for example, even if the aggregate gross income of a husband and wife (entitled under section 6013 to file a joint return for the taxable year) does not exceed $20,000, the waiver of the penalty for underpayment of estimated tax shall not apply if the husband and wife have, in the aggregate, income from sources other than wages in excess of $400.

PAR. 7. Section 301.6015 is amended by revising section 6015(a) and by adding to the historical note. These revised and added provisions read as follows:

§ 301.6015. Statutory provisions; declaration of estimated income tax by individuals.

Sec. 6015. Declaration of estimated income tax by individuals—(a) Requirement of declaration. Except as otherwise provided in this section, every individual shall make a declaration of his estimated tax for the taxable year if—

(1) The gross income for the taxable year can reasonably be expected to exceed—

(A) $20,000, in the case of—

(i) A single individual, including a head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)); or

(ii) A married individual entitled under subsection (b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, but only if his spouse has not received wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) for the taxable year; or

(B) $10,000, in the case of a married individual entitled under subsection (b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse, but only if both he and his spouse have received wages (as defined in section 3401(a)) for the taxable year; or

(C) $5,000, in the case of a married individual not entitled under subsection (b) to file a joint declaration with his spouse; or

(2) The gross income can reasonably be expected to include more than $500 from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401(a)). Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, no declaration is required if the estimated tax (as defined in subsection (c)) can reasonably be expected to be less than $100.

[Sec. 6015 as amended by sec. 74, Technical Amendments Act 1958 (72 Stat. 1660); sec. 5(a), Act of Sept. 14, 1960 (Public Law 86-779, 74 Stat. 1000); sec. 1(a)(1), Act of Sept. 25, 1962 (Public Law 87-682, 76 Stat. 575); sec. 102 (a) and (d), Tax Adjustment Act 1966 (80 Stat. 38); sec. 301(j), Foreign Investors Tax Act 1966 (80 Stat. 1554); sec. 301(b)(12), 803(d)(7), and 944, Tax Reform Act 1969 (83 Stat. 586, 684, 729); sec. 209, Rev. Act 1971 (85 Stat. 517)]

PAR. 8. Immediately after the historical note of § 301.6654 is inserted the following:

Sec. 207. [Revenue Act of 1971] Waiver of penalty for underpayment of 1971 estimated income tax—(a) Waiver of penalty. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, section 6654(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 (relating to addition to tax for failure by individual to pay estimated income tax) shall not apply to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1970, and ending before January 1, 1972—

(1) If gross income for the taxable year does not exceed $10,000 in the case of—

(A) A single individual other than a head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) or a surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)) of such Code; or

(B) A married individual not entitled under section 6013 of such Code to file a joint return for the taxable year; or

(2) If gross income for the taxable year does not exceed $20,000 in the case of—

(A) A head of a household (as defined in section 2(b)) of such Code; or

(B) A surviving spouse (as defined in section 2(a)) of such Code; or the aggregate gross income of such individual and his spouse for the taxable year does not exceed $20,000.

(b) Limitation. Subsection (a) shall not apply if the taxpayer has income from sources other than wages (as defined in section 3401 (a) of such Code) in excess of $200 for the taxable year ($400 in the case of a husband and wife entitled to file a joint return under section 6013 of such Code for the taxable year).

HANDLING OF CHERRIES GROWN IN CERTAIN STATES

Sale of Reserve Pool Cherries

This proposal, if accepted, would establish the conditions and procedures for the release of reserve pool cherries to eligible handlers under the order by the Cherry Administrative Board.

Notice is hereby given that the Department is considering a proposed amendment, as hereinafter set forth, to the rules and regulations (Subpart—Rules and Regulations, 7 CFR Part 930-101-930.161; 37 FR 273, 13789, 16169), currently in effect pursuant to the applicable provisions of Marketing Order No. 930 (7 CFR Part 930), regulating the handling of cherries grown in Michigan, New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Virginia, West Virginia, and Maryland hereinafter referred to as the order. This is a regulatory program effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674).

This amendment of said rules and regulations was proposed by the Cherry Administrative Board, established under said order, as the agency to administer the terms and provisions thereof. The amendment would establish the conditions and procedures for the release and sale of reserve pool cherries to eligible handlers.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposed amendment shall file the same, in quadruplicate, with the Hearing Clerk, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Room 112, Administration Building, Washington, D.C. 20250, not later than April 15, 1973.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the hearing clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

As proposed a new § 930.591 Conditions governing the sale of reserve pool cherries would read as follows:

§ 930.591 Conditions governing the sale of reserve pool cherries.

(a) The Cherry Administrative Board, prior to any 10 day reserve pool release period, shall notify each handler of record by telephone, which notification shall be confirmed by registered letter of the: Time and date of the release period; quantity of said handler's share of the reserve pool release which may be purchased; and specific prices of such cherries. This shall be designated as the first offering.

(b) Each handler wishing to purchase first offering reserve pool cherries shall notify the Cherry Administrative Board, in person or by telephone, of the number of 30-pound containers or the percentage of his portion of reserve pool cherries, he desires to purchase. He shall confirm this offer in writing at the Board's office or at such other location as may be designated by the Board. The confirmation shall be accompanied by a deposit equal to $1 for each 30 pounds of cherries he offers to purchase. Both the confirmation and the deposit must be received at the office of the Board or at other locations within the production area as designated by the Board, within the first 72 hours of the release period. The total amount of the purchase price of such cherries shall be due within 30 days after the date of the invoice. No cherries shall be released by the Board until after it has received payment of the full amount due for such cherries. If the full amount is not paid within the aforesaid 30-day period, the $1 deposit for each 30 pounds of cherries shall be forfeited to the Board for the reserve pool account and the cherries shall remain in the reserve pool.

(c) In the event there remains for sale a portion of first offering cherries, the Board shall, during the second 72-hour period within the 10-day release period, notify each handler who purchased his portion of first offering reserve pool cherries, by telephone or telegram, of the quantity, the price, and grade composition of cherries remaining for purchase. This shall be designated as second offering.

(d) Each such handler who desires to purchase second offering cherries may do so within the remaining 96 hours of the 10-day release period. Such offer shall be made in the same manner as his offer to purchase first offering cherries and the $1 deposit shall also apply to the offer to purchase second offering. If the full amount is not paid within the aforesaid 30-day period, the $1 deposit for each 30 pounds of cherries shall be forfeited to the Board for the reserve pool account and the cherries shall remain in the reserve pool. In the event offers to purchase exceed the quantity of cherries offered, the quantity each handler may purchase shall be prorated in accordance with the handler's participation in the reserve pool as compared with the total participation in the reserve pool by all handlers who have made an offer to purchase second offering cherries: Provided, That if the proportion of any handler exceeds the quantity he desires to purchase, such excess shall be apportioned on the foregoing basis among the remaining handlers who have expressed a desire to purchase second offering cherries.

DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT

Office of the Secretary

[24 CFR Part 42]

[Docket No. R-73-227]

RELOCATION SERVICES AND REPLACEMENT HOUSING

Establishment of Grievance Procedures

Pursuant to the Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1894; 42 U.S.C. 4601) the Department proposes to amend Title 24, Part 42 of the Code of Federal Regulations to include a new Subpart G entitled "Grievance Procedures Relating to Adequacy of Relocation Services and Replacement Housing". This proposed Subpart is intended to prescribe the Department's procedures for the implementation of section 213 (b) (1) and (c) of the Act, which provides generally that the head of each Federal agency is authorized to establish such regulations and procedures as may be necessary to assure that payments and assistance shall be administered in a fair and equitable manner. The grievance procedures relating to payment claims were published for comment in the FEDERAL REGISTER on May 20, 1972, and will soon be republished in final form. Principal provisions of the proposed Subpart are set forth below:

Section 42.305 states the basic right of administrative review available to a person who believes himself aggrieved by a failure of a State agency to offer him adequate relocation services and adequate replacement housing. A right to review head of a State agency, followed by further review by HUD.

Section 42.310 details the procedures necessary to obtain State agency review.

Section 42.315 sets forth the elements which must be considered by a State agency in accomplishing this review, and the time limits for the issuance of a statement of findings upon review by the State agency.

Section 42.320 indicates that recommendations may be accepted from a third party.

Section 42.325 details the procedures for obtaining HUD review.

Section 42.330 sets forth the elements which must be considered by the HUD Area Office in accomplishing this review, and the time limit for the issuance of a statement of findings by the HUD Area Office.

Section 42.335 provides for a stay of displacement pending administrative review.

Section 42.365 provides that this Subpart is not intended to preclude review by the courts after completion of the administrative review.

Interested persons are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting written data, views, or statements. Communications should be filed in triplicate with the Rules Docket Clerk, Office of General Counsel, Room 10256, Department of Housing and Urban Development, 451 Seventh Street SW., Washington DC 20410. All relevant material received on or before April 24, 1973 will be considered before adoption of final rules. Copies of comments submitted will be available for examination during business hours at the above address.

In 24 CFR Part 42 a new Subpart G is added to read as follows:

Subpart G—Grievance Procedures Relating to Adequacy of Relocation Services and Replacement Housing

Sec.	Purpose.
42.300	Purpose.
42.305	Right of appeal.
42.310	Request for State agency review.
42.315	State agency review.
42.320	Recommendations by third party.
42.325	Request for HUD review.
42.330	HUD review.
42.335	Stay of displacement pending review.
42.340	Remedies for persons displaced.
42.345	Extension of time limits.
42.350	Construction of rules and regulations.
42.355	Right to counsel.
42.360	Effect of determination on other complaints.
42.365	Right to judicial review.

AUTHORITY: Uniform Relocation Assistance and Real Property Acquisition Policies Act of 1970, 84 Stat. 1894; 42 U.S.C. 4601.

§ 42.300 Purpose.

The purpose of this Subpart is to set forth guidelines for processing complaints from persons who believe themselves aggrieved by the failure of the State agency to provide them with adequate relocation services and adequate replacement housing as provided by Subpart C of this part.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

§ 42.305 Right of appeal.

(a) General. A complainant, meaning a person who believes himself aggrieved by a failure of a State agency to offer him adequate relocation services or adequate replacement housing as provided by Subpart C of this part, may file a complaint with the head of the State agency or his authorized designee. Advice on the right to file a complaint under these procedures shall be a part of the information statement required by § 42.165. Where such person is not satisfied with the results of the State agency's determination, he is entitled to have his complaint reviewed by HUD.

(b) Joint claimants; class actions. Two or more complainants may join in filing a single written request for review with the State agency provided that each is aggrieved by the failure of the State agency to offer him adequate relocation services or adequate replacement housing as provided in § 42.300. A written request for review may be filed on behalf of a class where one or more complainants are fairly representative of a class of persons who have allegedly not been offered adequate relocation services or replacement housing by the State agency. The State agency may refuse to review the complaint as a class action if it determines that there does not exist a class with a community of interest in the issues raised or if it determines that the complainants do not fairly represent the class.

§ 42.310 Request for State agency review.

(a) Informal presentation. Upon request of the complainant, the State agency shall, within 15 days of the request, afford him an opportunity to make an oral presentation prior to filing a written request for review pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section. This oral presentation shall enable the complainant in the company of an advisor, attorney or other representative, if he so wishes, to discuss his complaint with the head of the State agency or a designee. Such designee shall be someone other than the person who has been providing relocation services.

(b) Time limits for requesting informal presentation. This right to an oral presentation shall be available to a complainant at any time prior to the date of displacement and no later than six months after displacement, unless closeout of the project occurs prior to that time, in which case the oral presentation must be requested prior to project closeout or within 90 days following displacement, whichever is later. If the State agency rejects the complainant's contentions in whole or in part, it must notify the complainant, with a copy to HUD, that he has a right to file a written request for State agency review. The State agency shall make a summary of the matters discussed in the oral presentation and it should be included as part of its file.

(c) The written request for review. The complainant may file a written request for review within the time limits prescribed by paragraph (d) of this section and such written request may include any statement of fact within complainant's knowledge or belief, or other material which he feels has a bearing on his appeal. If the complainant requests more time to gather and prepare additional information for consideration or review and demonstrates a reasonable basis therefor, he may be granted additional time. If the complainant feels he is unable to prepare the written complaint, the State agency shall offer to provide assistance to the complainant and further notify the complainant of other available sources of assistance. The State agency, however, shall consider every complaint regardless of form. The making of an oral presentation pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section shall not be deemed a condition precedent to the filing of a written request for review.

(d) Time limits for filing written request for review. A complainant may file a written request for review with the State agency at any time prior to the date of displacement. Such request for review may also be filed with the State agency no later than 6 months after displacement, unless final closeout of the project occurs prior to that time, in which case the written request must be made prior to project closeout or within 90 days following displacement, whichever date is later: Provided, That in any case in which an oral presentation is requested after displacement pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section, the time period specified in this paragraph shall be extended if necessary so that a complainant shall have no less than 30 days from the date he is advised of the determination on the oral presentation.

(e) State agency review. (a) General. The State agency shall review the written request for review and shall make a determination as to whether adequate relocation services or adequate replacement housing has been provided to a complainant as provided by Subpart C of this part. The State agency shall issue to the complainant a copy of the determination and shall notify the complainant of his right to seek HUD review. A copy of the determination shall also be sent to HUD. The review shall not be made by the official who provides the relocation services and housing, nor any one subordinate to that official.

(b) Scope of review. In making its determination, the State agency shall consider the following:

(1) All material upon which the State agency based its original determination, including all applicable rules and regulations;

(2) The reasons given by the complainant in support of his complaint;

(3) Whatever additional written material has been submitted by the complainant for the purpose of this review; and

(4) Any further information the State agency may, in its discretion, obtain by request, investigation or research to insure a fair and full review of the complaint.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

(c) Determination on review. The written determination on review shall include, but is not limited to:

(1) The agency's decision upon review of the complaint;

(2) The factual and legal basis upon which this decision is based, including any pertinent explanation or rationale for the decision;

(3) The relief to which the complainant is entitled, and a brief statement on how this will be achieved; and

(4) A statement of complainant's right to seek further review by HUD and an explanation of what steps the complainant must take to obtain this review.

(d) State agency determinations not based on merits. A State agency's refusal to provide an oral presentation after one has been requested or review a written complaint on the merits (e.g., because of complainant's failure to request an oral presentation or file for written review within the required time or because the matter is not deemed ripe for determination) shall upon complainant's request, be reviewed by HUD in the manner described in §§ 42.325 and 42.330. However, in any case where a State agency refuses to provide an oral presentation or review a written complaint, prior to displacement, because the matter is not ripe for determination, the complainant shall also be notified that he may request an oral presentation or file a written complaint at a later time if services or adequate housing are not provided.

(e) Time limits. (1) The State agency shall issue its determination of review within 30 days from receipt of the last material submitted for consideration by the complainant in accordance with § 42.310.

(2) In the case of requests for oral presentations or written complaints dismissed for untimeliness or because the matter is not ripe for review or for any other reason not based on the merits, the State agency shall issue a statement to the complainant as to why the request for an oral presentation or written complaint was dismissed. The statement, with a copy to HUD, should be sent within 10 days of receipt of the last material submitted by the complainant or within 10 days of the complainant's request for an oral presentation.

§ 42.320 Recommendations by third party.

Upon agreement between the complainant and the State agency, a mutually acceptable third party or parties may review the complaint and make advisory recommendations thereon to the head of the State agency for his determination. The agreement between the complainant and the State agency may provide for an extension of the time limit for State agency review prescribed in § 42.315(e). In reviewing the complaint and making recommendations to the State agency, the third party or parties should be guided by the provisions of § 42.315(b) and of § 42.315(c) (1) through (3). The requirements of these sections and of § 42.315(c) (4) remain fully applicable to the State agency.

§ 42.325 Request for HUD review.

(a) General. A complainant who believes himself aggrieved as a result of the final determination of his written request for review by the State agency may request HUD to make a redetermination on his complaint. The request for HUD review shall be submitted in writing to the Director of the appropriate HUD Area Office or, where there is no HUD Area Office, to the Regional Administrator of the appropriate HUD Regional Office. (Unless the context indicates otherwise, "Area Director" shall be used in this Subpart to refer to the Regional Administrator where there is no Area Office.)

(b) Submissions by complainant. The complainant may include in the request for review by the Area Director any statement of facts within his knowledge or belief or other material which he feels will have a direct bearing on the complaint. The complainant need not, however, repeat arguments nor submit material previously provided to the State agency for its review. Provided, That where the complainant submits material to HUD which was not submitted to the State agency for review, HUD will provide the State agency with an opportunity to review such new material and to submit any comments which it wishes to make.

(c) Submission of State agency's file. Upon receipt of a request for review by HUD, the Area Director shall forward a copy of such request by certified mail, return receipt requested to the State agency which made the initial determination, and shall direct the State agency to submit a copy of the complete file of the complainant's case, including materials upon which the State agency based its decision. The State agency shall forward this material to the Area Director within 10 days of the receipt by the State agency of the notice from the Area Director.

(d) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

§ 42.330 HUD review.

(a) General. The Area Director shall review the complaint as submitted by the complainant together with the material submitted to him by the State agency and shall issue to the complainant a copy of the determination within 30 days from the receipt of the complete file of complainant's case from the State agency.

(b) Scope of review. In making his determination, the Area Director shall consider the following:

(1) All the material upon which the State agency based its determination, including all applicable rules and regulations;

(2) The reasons given by the complainant for requesting reconsideration and review of his complaint;

(3) Whatever written material has been submitted by the complainant for the purposes of this review; and

(4) Any further information which HUD may, in its discretion, obtain by request, investigation or research to insure a fair and full review of the complaint.

(c) Determination on review by HUD. The written determination by HUD shall include, but need not be limited to:

(1) The Area Director's decision on reconsideration of the complaint;

(2) The factual and legal findings upon which the decision is based, including any pertinent explanation or rationale for the decision;

(3) The relief, if any, to which the complainant is entitled, and directions to the State agency on how this shall be achieved;

(4) Notification to the complainant of his right to seek further HUD assistance if the relief specified in paragraph (c) (3) of this section is not provided;

(5) Notification to the complainant of his right to seek judicial review in the event the determination is adverse.

(d) Review of State agency determinations not based on the merits. If the Area Director finds that the State agency's refusal to review the complaint on its merits was unreasonable, the complaint shall be remanded to the State agency for review on its merits within 30 days of the State agency's receipt of the remanded complaint. If the State agency's refusal to hear the complaint is not found to have been unreasonable, the Area Director shall so notify the complainant and inform him that he may have a right to judicial review. Provided, That in the case of complaints dismissed by a State agency as not ripe for determination and upheld by the Area Director, the claimant should again be notified that he may request an oral presentation or file a written complaint at a stage which would warrant an oral presentation or review.

(e) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(f) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(g) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(h) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(i) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(j) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(k) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(l) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(m) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(n) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(o) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(p) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(q) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(r) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(s) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(t) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(u) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(v) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(w) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(x) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(y) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(z) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(aa) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(ab) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

(ac) Time limit. The complainant shall file a written request for review of his complaint with the Area Director within 30 days from the date of receipt of the determination on review issued by the State agency.

in Subpart C of these regulations, the State agency shall take immediate steps to offer to the complainant replacement housing pursuant to Subpart C. The State agency will pay for the reasonable costs of the move to such replacement housing, either by arranging for the move and paying the mover directly, or by reimbursing the complainant for the reasonable costs of the move. Such expenditures are deemed eligible costs in connection with the administration of relocation.

§ 42.345 Extension of time limits.

The time limits specified in §§ 42.310 and 42.325 may be extended for good cause by the State agency or by the Area Director, respectively.

§ 42.350 Construction of rules and regulations.

This Subpart, and all applicable rules and regulations on which State agency and HUD determinations are based, shall be so construed as to fulfill the statutory purpose as declared in section 201 of the Act of "fair and equitable treatment" in order that displaced persons "not suffer disproportionate injuries as a result of programs designed for the benefit of the public as a whole."

§ 42.355 Right to counsel.

Any aggrieved party has a right to representation by legal or other counsel at his own expense at any and all stages of the proceedings set forth in this Subpart.

§ 42.360 Effect of determination on other complaints.

The principles established in all determinations by a State agency (unless modified upon review by HUD) or by HUD shall be applied to all similar cases.

§ 42.365 Right to judicial review.

Nothing in this Subpart shall in any way preclude or limit a complainant from seeking judicial review of his complaint on the merits upon exhaustion of such administrative remedies as are available to him under this Subpart.

ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

[40 CFR Part 2]

EXEMPTION FROM MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OF TRADE SECRETS AND OTHER INFORMATION

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

Notice is hereby given that the Environmental Protection Agency proposes to amend § 2.107a of Title 40, CFR, dealing with trade secrets and other information exempt from mandatory disclosure by virtue of 5 U.S.C. 552(b) (4). The proposed amendment deals with four issues, as follows:

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

1. Section 10 of the Federal Environmental Pesticide Control Act (FEPCA), prohibits the disclosure, not only of trade secrets, but of "commercial or financial information obtained from a person and privileged or confidential," if such information is required to be submitted pursuant to FEPCA. Thus, section 10 constitutes a new prohibition on disclosure of a category of information exempt under the Freedom of Information Act, 5 U.S.C. 552, but which has not been withheld by EPA in all cases as a matter of policy. In order to harmonize EPA regulations under the Freedom of Information Act with the new requirement of FEPCA, it will be necessary to amend 40 CFR 2.107a to make it clear that the rules contained therein for disclosure of certain nontrade secret information, the submission of which is required do not apply to the disclosure of such information if EPA receives it pursuant to FEPCA.

2. Section 10 also provides a procedure for dealing with disputes between an applicant or registrant and EPA as to whether particular information falls within the scope of the protection of section 10(a). If the Administrator proposes to disclose such information to the public, section 10(c) requires him to give 30 days' notice of his intention to the applicant or registrant, so that the applicant or registrant may seek a declaratory judgment concerning the applicability of the prohibition in section 10(a). The 30-day period is measured from the date the applicant receives the Administrator's notice of intent. Meanwhile, 40 CFR 2.107a(a), dealing with trade secrecy, also provides, in subparagraph (2), that EPA will give 30 days notice to a person who has submitted information to EPA, whenever it is determined that such information does not constitute trade secrets. The 30 days, however, is measured from the date of mailing, rather than the date of receipt. To insure uniform procedures, therefore, the proposed amendment would change the day, from that of mailing to that of receipt, which begins the 30-day notice period under § 2.107a(a) (2). In addition, the amendment would require that the 30-day notice be sent by certified mail (return receipt requested) so that EPA will be able to ascertain when the 30-day period ends.

3. Section 2.107a(a) (4) now provides that the Office of General Counsel may issue written determinations concerning trade secrecy of information contained in EPA records, if such a determination is requested by an "interested party." At present, EPA has no authority to initiate the procedure called for by Part 2 with respect to determinations of trade secrecy. In many instances, however, it is foreseeable that certain information submitted by industry will almost surely be the subject of a request from a member of the public under the Freedom of Information Act. In addition, there might be situations in which EPA wishes to make certain information available to the public as a matter of course, without receiving a specific request under the Freedom of Information Act. The proposed amendment would give EPA this latitude by permitting it, in effect, to require a showing of trade secrecy by the person who submitted the information in question.

4. Section 207a(b) (2) (i) limits the scope of the phrase "privileged or confidential information," appearing in 5 U.S.C. 552(b) (4), to information received pursuant to a pledge of confidentiality. In its present form, § 2.107a(b) (2) (i) generally requires that such a pledge of confidentiality be "contained in any EPA form, or obtained in writing from EPA." This language is subject to differing interpretations with respect to information which is submitted as part of a proposal, solicited or unsolicited, for an EPA grant or contract. To the extent that EPA grants and procurement regulations, or requests for proposals, extend confidential treatment to such information, it should be unnecessary for a separate written undertaking to be made with respect to each proposal. Accordingly, the amendments would make it clear that the pledge of confidentiality from EPA may be contained in the grants and procurement regulations or in a request for proposals.

For the foregoing reasons, the following amendments to § 2.107a are hereby proposed:

1. The last two sentences of 40 CFR 2.107a(a) (2) are proposed to be amended to read as set forth below.

§ 2.107a Trade secrets and privileged or confidential information.

(a) . . . . .

2. The first sentence of 40 CFR 2.107a(a) (4) is proposed to be deleted, and the two sentences set forth below are proposed to be inserted in its place.

3. Section 2.107a(b) (2) is proposed to be amended to read as set forth below.

(2) . . . . . If the General Counsel determines that the records requested do not contain trade secrets, notice of such determination will be served by certified mail (return receipt requested) by the Office of General Counsel upon the person making the claim. No sooner than 30 days following the receipt of such notice, the requested records will be disclosed in accordance with this part.

. . . . .

(4) Whether or not a request for information has been made under this part, the General Counsel may issue written determinations as to whether information contained in EPA records does or does not constitute trade secrets. Prior to making any such determination, however, the Office of General Counsel shall give notice of his intent to make such a determination, to any person who would have received notice under § 2.105 (b) if a request for the information in question had been made under this part, and shall follow the procedures of paragraph (a)(2) of this section as appropriate. * * *

(b) Privileged or confidential information. * * * (2) * * * For purposes of this paragraph, "privileged or confidential information" means:

(i) Commercial or financial information obtained from a person pursuant to the Federal Environmental Pesticide Control Act, and privileged or confidential within the meaning of section 10(b) thereof; and

(ii) Information which an agency is authorized (but not required) by law to withhold from the public when it has been:

(A) Submitted to EPA pursuant to, and in reliance on, a pledge of confidentiality contained in any EPA form, or obtained in writing from EPA, or extended by grants and procurement regulations under this title or Title 41, Code of Federal Regulations, or in any request for proposals issued by EPA; or

(B) Received from a State or Federal agency which in turn has received the information pursuant to, and in reliance on, a pledge of confidentiality, and which continues to consider itself bound by such pledge (unless EPA is entitled by law to demand such information from the original private source).

(iii) No pledges will be made by EPA under subdivision (ii)(A) of this paragraph in connection with information which EPA is entitled by law to demand (such as emission data under section 114 of the Clean Air Act, 42 U.S.C. 1857c-9) or which is submitted to EPA to fulfill a requirement imposed by statute or regulation in connection with a regulatory scheme of general applicability (such as information contained in application for registrations, permits, certifications, and the like). Nothing herein is intended to affect the status of information which is required by law to be treated as confidential.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments on the amendments proposed herewith, by submitting them to the Office of General Counsel, Environmental Protection Agency, Waterside Mall, 401 M Street SW., Washington, DC 20460. Written comments will be assured of consideration if received on or before April 23, 1973. Comments received pursuant to this notice will be available for inspection in Room 511, Waterside Mall, during normal working hours.

Dated: March 20, 1973.

FM BROADCAST STATIONS

Proposed Table of Assignments, Certain Cities in Minnesota and North Dakota

In the matter of amendment of § 73.202 (b), Table of assignments, FM Broadcast

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Stations (Park Rapids, Minn.; Albany, Minn.; Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, Minn.; Jamestown, N. Dak.), Docket No. 19708, RM-1832, RM-2025, RM-2092.

1. Notice of proposed rule making is hereby given concerning the amendment of § 73.202(b) of the Commission's Rules, the Table of FM Assignments. The rule making is instituted on the basis of the following petitions.

(a) RM-1832. Proposal by De La Hunt Broadcasting Corp., licensee of Station KPRM-FM, for substitution of Channel 248 for Channel 279 at Park Rapids, Minn., to solve a second harmonic interference problem to Channel 12 television service.

(b) RM-2025. Proposal by Stearns County Broadcasting Co., licensee of standard broadcast Station KASM, Albany, Minn., for assignment of Channel 249A as a first FM channel to the community.

(c) RM-2092. Proposal by Herbert M. Hoppe doing business as Tri-County Broadcasting Co., licensee of standard broadcast Station WVAL, Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, Minn., for assignment of Channel 251 as a third FM assignment to the area. (Two FM channels are presently assigned to St. Cloud. None is assigned to Sauk Rapids.)

2. These proposals are considered together because of conflicts that arise from the requests for FM channel assignments which are on adjacent channels, and the relative locations of the communities involved. Each of the proposals, which will be discussed below, appears to have sufficient merit to warrant inviting comments on the possible making of these assignments. This should not be construed as the expression of a view, even tentatively, that any or all of these assignments should be made as proposed. Additional information is required from the proponents; the nature of which is discussed below. Further, it appears that there are alternative approaches which, if followed, would permit the making of such assignments as might be warranted without regard to conflicts which otherwise would exist with other of these pending proposals. As it will be indicated below, we invite comments on each of the proposals individually and jointly, and on the possible alternative approaches discussed herein. Commenting parties are invited to suggest other possible alternative approaches.

3. RM-1832 Park Rapids, Minn. De La Hunt Broadcasting Co., licensee of Station KPRM-FM, Park Rapids, Minn. (De La Hunt), petitions for substitution of Channel 248 for Channel 279. It appears that the second harmonic frequency of Channel 279 falls in the television band for Channel 12 and has resulted in interference to the reception of Station KNMT-TV (Channel 12), operating at Walker, Minn., in the Park Rapids area. De La Hunt contends that additional harmonic filters have been added to the KPRM-FM transmitter to suppress the radiation of the second harmonic signal, that measurements indicate that the harmonic attenuation requirement of the Rule (73.317) is surpassed, and that it believes that much of the harmonic interference is generated in the preamplifiers used on many of the television receiver antenna installations or in the television sets. The petitioner asserts that its engineering department has found that the interference in most cases can be eliminated by the installation of an FM trap in front of the television booster, but that in severe cases, nothing can be done short of replacing the television set which has a very deficient front end.

4. With reference to the substitution of Channel 248 for Channel 279, De La Hunt asserts that, although the second harmonic frequency of Channel 248 falls within the Channel 10 television band, the operation of Channel 248 at Park Rapids would not cause a second harmonic interference to any Channel 10 television operation under the present television table of assignments. De La Hunt further states that it has no suggestions as to where Channel 279 should be assigned in lieu of Park Rapids, and that it would seem that if the channel were assigned to other cities in that area, stations using the channel in those cities would also subject the Channel 12 station in Walker, Minn., to the same second harmonic interference as has the Park Rapids station.

5. In urging the change in the assignment at Park Rapids, De La Hunt contends that it has on different occasions been forced to sign off during special events that are of high interest in this area such as football games and other related activities. It asserts that it can hardly be expected that the viewers of television in this area should be forced to stand the expense of trap devices or television set replacement when a simple change of frequency will eliminate the problem.

6. RM-2025 Albany, Minn. Stearns County Broadcasting Company, licensee of standard broadcast Station KASM, seeks assignment of Channel 249A to Albany, Minn. The channel could be assigned to Albany without requiring any changes in the present assignments and would be Albany's first FM assignment. However, the proposal conflicts with the request for a change in the assignment from Channel 279 to Channel 248 at Park Rapids, Minn., some 90 miles distant; the required separation is 105 miles. It also conflicts with a proposal for Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, Minn., discussed below.

7. Albany, with a population of 1,599, is located in Stearns County (pop. 95,400). Albany has one daytime-only standard broadcast station, licensed to the petitioner. The other broadcast stations (2 AM's; 2 FM's) in Stearns County are located at St. Cloud, the county seat, some 20 miles southeast of Albany.

8. The petitioner contends that an FM station is needed to provide service, especially at night, to Albany and the surrounding rural area with information as to road and weather conditions, and school closings, and to provide coverage of public, governmental, and school board meetings, elections, and athletic events. The petitioner states that it will file an application for the use of the channel if it is assigned to the community.

9. RM-2092 Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, Minn. Herbert M. Hoppe doing business as Tri-County Broadcasting Co., licensee of standard broadcast Station WVAL (Tri-County), requests assignment of Channel 251 to Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, Minn., asserting that the assignment could be made without affecting any of the presently assigned channels. However, the station would have to be sited at least 13 miles almost due north of the city to meet the minimum separation requirements as provided by § 73.207(a) of the Rules. This proposal conflicts with the request for an assignment of Channel 249A at Albany, Minn., some 20 miles northwest; the required spacing is 65 miles.

10. Sauk Rapids is located northeast of and is contiguous to St. Cloud, Minn. Sauk Rapids has a population of 5,051 and is located in Benton County (pop. 20,841). Most of St. Cloud (pop. 39,691) lies in Stearns County (pop. 95,400). The remaining part of St. Cloud extends into Benton and Sherburne Counties. St. Cloud is the seat of Stearns County. The petitioner contends that its daytime-only AM station WVAL is identified as a Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud station and requests the assignment of Channel 251 to the two communities. In addition, St. Cloud has two fulltime Class IV AM stations, two commercial FM stations, and one educational FM station.

11. Tri-County asserts that the St. Cloud-Sauk Rapids metropolitan area serves as the urban center and the focal points of a large nineteen-county area containing almost 350,000 residents; that St. Cloud's economy is healthy and rapidly expanding with increases in non-agricultural employment and in retail sales; that along with the increase in enrollment at St. Cloud's State College, the population of St. Cloud has been steadily increasing with the expansion of industry. It contends that, with the substantial growth projections for the St. Cloud area, there is also a strong interest and need in the county for an additional FM service. Tri-County alleges that the two FM stations in St. Cloud are operated in conjunction with the standard broadcast stations, and that there is significant duplication of AM programming.

12. The preclusion study shows that the proposed assignment of Channel 251 to Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud would preclude future assignments on Channels 248, 249, 251, and 252A. The preclusion on Channel 251 is limited to a number of small areas; the largest area is located north of St. Cloud. The preclusion on the other channels occurs over large areas. The petitioner contends that there is no community within these area with population greater than 10,000, and that there are a number of FM stations within or near these precluded areas which would provide FM services. The petitioner states that if Channel 251 is assigned to Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, Minn., it will immediately apply for that channel and will promptly complete construction if granted a construction permit.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

DISCUSSION

13. Of the three proposals under consideration here, the pivotal request is that for Albany, Minn. If Channel 249A were not to be assigned to Albany, the substitution of an assignment at Park Rapids and an assignment to Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud would be possible. On the other hand, assignment of Channel 249A to Albany would foreclose the requests for the other assignments as submitted by the petitioners. However, if Channel 227 instead of Channel 248 were to be substituted for Channel 279 at Park Rapids, then it would be possible to make an assignment to either Albany or Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud. The assignment of Channel 227 to Park Rapids would require the station there to be located at least 7 miles east of Park Rapids—the location of Station KPRM-FM would have to be moved approximately 4.5 miles east of its present site—to comply with the minimum mileage separation requirements as to Channel 227 at Jamestown, N. Dak. An alternative to the change in site would be a change in the assignment at Jamestown, N. Dak., from Channel 227 to Channel 223. This would require reimbursement by the station licensee at Park Rapids and the permittee at Albany for the reasonable cost that would be involved in the change of frequency of Station KSJM, operating on Channel 227 at Jamestown. As between Albany and Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, a choice would have to be made as to which community has greater need for an assignment. It is noted that a change in assignment at Park Rapids would not allow the use of Channel 279 at Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud because of an assignment at Mankato, Minn. Another possible alternative would be to assign Channel 288A to Albany. Such an assignment would then permit substitution of Channel 248 for Channel 279 at Park Rapids and an assignment of Channel 251 to Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud. However, there is a question as to the feasibility of assigning Channel 288A to Albany because the transmitter site at Albany would have to be located at least 7 miles southeast of the community to meet the spacing requirement (65 miles) to Channel 290 at Wadena, Minn., presently assigned to Station KKWS. Due to lack of information as to terrain features in the area, it is not known whether a suitable site could be found from which a station would be able to operate in conformance with § 73.315 (a) and (b) of the rules. Parties are requested to submit information concerning this matter.

14. Although the possible substitution of a channel at Park Rapids to solve the second harmonic interference problem has been discussed above, the interference problem does not appear to be insurmountable. De La Hunt appears to have succeeded in eliminating the problem by installing harmonic filters into its transmitter and FM traps in front of the television boosters. The only exception appears to be the television receivers with deficient front ends. De La Hunt argues that the viewers of television should not be forced to stand the expense of trap devices or television set replacement when a simple change of frequency will eliminate the problem. In a public notice setting forth the policy to govern the change of FM channels to avoid interference to television reception (6 RR 2d 672, 31 FR 2567 (1966)), we noted that FM channel changes were not a satisfactory solution to the television interference problem because the deletion of the FM channel, which was harmonically related to the TV channel receiving the interference, and not assigning it to another community, which might have the same potential problem made for an inefficient allocation plan and reduced the assignments available to the FM service. The notice stated that, often, moving an offending assignment or making changes in assignment shifted the interference to another area or to another high band VHF TV station. It went on to say that petitions for FM changes would not receive favorable consideration unless, where actual interference to television reception is being caused, engineering showings are included which (a) give evidence of the interference claimed and indicate the efforts that have been made to eliminate the problem, and (b) show that no FM channels are deleted, no Class A channels are substituted for Class B or C channels, and the proposed reassignment will not result in a potential second harmonic problem being shifted to another city or television station. In this respect, although De La Hunt has shown the efforts made to eliminate the interference problem, it has not shown whether or not the second harmonic problem would be shifted to another city or another television station. A showing as to this should be made as well as to its willingness to reimburse Station KSJM at Jamestown, N. Dak., if, in the public interest, it is required to change its operating frequency.

15. Showings required. Comments are invited as to the proposals and the alternative solution outlined above as well as any further alternatives not discussed. The proponents will be expected to file comments demonstrating a continuing interest in the matter and a readiness to apply for the channel, if assigned, and if authorized, to promptly build the stations. Failure to make such a filing or to respond to questions which have been raised may result in denial of the petition.

16. Cutoff procedure. As in other FM rule making proceedings, the following procedures will govern:

(a) Counterproposals advanced in this proceeding itself will be considered, if advanced in initial comments, so that parties may comment on them in reply comments.

(b) With respect to petitions for rule making which conflict with the proposals in this notice, they will be considered as comments in the proceeding, and public notice to this effect will be given, as long as they are filed before the date for filing initial comments herein. If filed later than that, they will not be considered in connection with the decision herein.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

17. In view of the foregoing, subject to the conditions and reservations set forth hereinabove in certain respects and pursuant to authority found in sections 4 (i), 303 (g) and (r), and 307(b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, it is proposed to amend § 73.202 (b) of the Commission's rules, the table of FM assignments, as follows:

City	AD4	Delete
Albany, Minn.	249A or 288A
Park Rapids, Minn.	227 or 249	279
Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, Minn.	251
Jamestown, N. Dak.	223	227

<sup>1</sup> E.g., the fact that a possible change of transmitter site for Station KPRM-FM is involved; the fact that a possible change of channel for Station KSJM is involved; the fact that Channel 288A may only be assigned if the transmitter site is located 7 miles southeast of Albany; and the fact that not all of the proposed assignments below can be made, i.e., the assignments would only be made in certain combinations (thus, if Channel 248 were assigned to Park Rapids and

Call letters	Location	Licensee	Present channel	Proposed channel
KPRM-FM	Park Rapids, Minn.	De La Hunt Broadcasting Corp.	279	223
KSJM	Jamestown, N. Dak.	Triple R, Inc.	227	227

20. It is further ordered, That pursuant to section 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, De La Hunt Broadcasting Corp., the licensee of Station KPRM-FM, Park Rapids, Minn., shall show cause why, if it is found to be in the public interest to assign Channel 227 to Park Rapids, to assign Channel 249A to Albany, and not to assign Channel 223 to Jamestown, and Channels 227 and 249A are assigned to Park Rapids and Albany, respectively, the license of Station KPRM-FM should not be modified to specify a transmitter location at least 7 miles east of Park Rapids, and operation on Channel 227 in lieu of Channel 279.

21. De La Hunt Broadcasting Corp. has requested modification of its license to specify operation on Channel 248. We view the request as consent to modification, and therefore find it unnecessary to issue an order to show why its license should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 248 if that channel is substituted for Channel 279 at Park Rapids, Minn.

22. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in § 1.415 of the Commission's rules, interested parties may file comments on or before April 27, 1973, and reply comments on or before May 10, 1973. All submissions by parties to this proceeding, or persons acting in behalf of such parties, must be made in written comments, reply comments, or other appropriate pleadings.

18. In view of the fact that all of the above-mentioned communities are within 250 miles of the United States-Canadian border, and the existence of the United States-Canadian agreement on FM assignments in such communities, the proposed assignments are subject to concurrence by the Canadian authorities.

19. It is ordered, That pursuant to section 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the following licensees shall show cause why, if the assignments of Channel 227 to Park Rapids and Channel 223 to Jamestown are found to be in the public interest and are adopted, the licenses of their stations should not be modified to specify the new channels instead of their present channels, as indicated below:

Channel 251 were assigned to Sauk Rapids-St. Cloud, we would not assign Channel 249A to Albany or change channels at Jamestown but Channel 288A might be assigned to Albany).

<sup>2</sup> If Channels 223, 227, and 249A are assigned to Jamestown, Park Rapids, and Albany, respectively, the Jamestown licensee will be subject to reimbursement from the Park Rapids licensee and the Albany licensee. The Albany licensee need not reimburse the Park Rapids licensee.

23. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.419 of the rules, an original and 14 copies of all comments, replies, pleadings, briefs, and other documents shall be furnished the Commission. Responses will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Commission's Public Reference Room at its headquarters, 1919 M Street, NW., Washington, DC.

Adopted: March 13, 1973.

[ 47 CFR Part 73 ]

[ Docket No. 19707; FCC 73-299 ]

FM BROADCAST STATIONS

Proposed Table of Assignments,
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

In the matter of amendment of § 73.202(b), table of assignments, FM Broadcast Stations (Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.), Docket No. 19707, RM-1916, RM-2125.

1. On January 31, 1972, Patterson Communications, Inc. (Patterson), licensee of standard broadcast station WSOO at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., filed a petition with this Commission requesting the assignment of FM Channel 267 to Sault

Ste. Marie, Mich. On December 14, 1972, Miami County Broadcasting Co., Inc. (Miami), filed an independent petition requesting the assignment of FM Channel 258 to Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.<sup>1</sup> No other revisions, in our Table of Assignments, were proposed by either petitioner. No comments were received concerning either petition.

2. Sault Ste. Marie (population 15,136)<sup>2</sup> is the county seat of Chippewa County, Mich. (population 32,412). There is one FM assignment at Sault Ste. Marie, Channel 224A (WSMM), which was licensed to Mr. Leon B. VanDam doing business as Lock City Broadcasting Co. on July 14, 1972. There is only one standard broadcast station in the community, WSOO, licensed to Patterson.

3. The pleadings before us note that Sault Ste. Marie is located on the Michigan Peninsula approximately 200 miles north of Bay City, Mich. (population 49,449), which is the nearest substantial community. Patterson furnishes the following information about Sault Ste. Marie:

The economy of Sault Ste. Marie is dependent upon: (1) Government installations, in particular the Soo Locks in the waterway between the ore mines along Lake Superior and the steel mills on the banks of the Detroit River and Lake Erie, and Kincheloe Air Force Base (one of the key bases of the Strategic Air Command), and (2) recreation and tourism. Lake Superior State College, the newest of Michigan's 12-State-supported collegiate institutions, overlooks the Soo Locks and the upper St. Marys River from a scenic [sic] hilltop campus in Sault Ste. Marie. An enrollment of 3,000 by 1975 is expected. The rural areas support farming and forestry.

4. Our attention is invited to the fact of the community's isolation and the entire area's need for a wide coverage radio voice. Chippewa County is geographically the second largest county in Michigan and one of the largest in the United States (area, 1,562 square miles). The most distant points of the county lie 55 miles from Sault Ste. Marie. While noting that the only broadcast facilities in Chippewa County are at Sault Ste. Marie, WSOO (a Class IV standard broadcast operation) and WSMM (a Class A FM operation),<sup>3</sup> we are advised that rapid mass communications are particularly essential there in view of the extreme weather conditions. The mean snowfall in the area is 97.8 inches. The pleadings point out that the exceptionally heavy snows from December through April indicate that broadcasts of road conditions and school closings are far more important than in most areas of the country. It is also suggested that an interference-free (FM) radio voice providing entertainment and information could make the area more attractive to residents thereby possibly retarding the exodus of young persons and ultimately strengthening the area's economy.

<sup>1</sup> On Nov. 14, 1972, the Commission accepted for filing an application assignment of license of WSOO from Patterson to Miami (BAL-7732). That application is presently pending. From the information contained in the application, it does not appear that Patterson continues an interest in developing an FM facility at Sault Ste. Marie.

5. We believe that a threshold showing of the need of Chippewa County for a wide coverage Class C channel has been made. However, to make such an assignment at Sault Ste. Marie and leave the present Class A channel assigned there could result in a possible undesirable competitive situation between FM stations that would be contrary to the public interest. Although under some circumstances we have intermixed Class A with Class B or C channels in the same community, here, where an abundance of FM channels appears to be available for assignment, we think it is in the public interest to explore the possibility of amending our table to provide for two Class A channels or two Class C channels at Sault Ste. Marie. Therefore, we present alternative proposals for accomplishing the goal of better service to the Michigan Peninsula. Our first alternative would add Channel 237A to the existing channel assignment in the community, 224A. Our second alternative would substitute Class C Channel 258 for Channel 224A and assign a second Class C channel, 267, to the community.

This alternative would involve possible modification of the license of Lock City Broadcasting Co. to specify operation on one of the two Class C channels. Each of these alternatives would permit the existing FM station and a new FM entity to operate with equal facilities. A third alternative is to retain Channel 224A at Sault Ste. Marie and add one Class C channel—258 or 267. This alternative would have the possible disadvantage described above.

6. As mentioned above, the alternative of assigning two Class C channels to Sault Ste. Marie involves modification of the license of the existing FM station, WSMM, to specify operation on a Class C channel instead of on Channel 224A. We are accordingly directing an appropriate order to show cause to the WSMM licensee in the event that alternative II below is adopted. In so doing, we are aware of the not insubstantial expense of converting from a Class A to a Class C operation and of the harmful effect that this could have on a new station that has been operating for little more than half a year. We therefore stress that if the licensee of WSMM opposes such a modification its views will weigh heavily in our considerations.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

7. In view of the foregoing, we propose, for consideration, the following revisions in our FM Table of Assignments (§ 73.202(b) of our rules) with respect to the city listed below:

City, Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.	Channel No.
Present assignment.	224A
Proposed Alternative I	224A, 237A
Proposed Alternative II	258, 267
Proposed Alternative III	224A, 258 (or 267)

In view of the fact that Sault Ste. Marie is within 250 miles of the United States-Canadian border the proposed assignments are subject to Canadian concurrence.

8. Authority for the actions proposed herein is contained in Sections 4(i), 303, 307(b) and 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

9. It is ordered, That, pursuant to Section 316 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, Lock City Broadcasting Co. shall show cause why its license for Station WSMM should not be modified to specify operation on Channel 258 or Channel 267 in lieu of Channel 224A if Alternative II is adopted.

10. Showings required. Comments are invited on the alternative proposals discussed and set forth above. Proponents of any particular assignment are expected to file statements which indicate the public interest factors supporting their proposals. Comments may include, but are not limited to, discussions of the economic, sociological and governmental activity in and about the Sault Ste. Marie, Chippewa County area of Michigan. Proponents should also state their intentions to apply for a channel if it is assigned and, if authorized, to build the station promptly. Failure to file may lead to denial of a request.

11. Cutoff procedures. The following procedures will govern the consideration of filings in this proceeding:

(a) Counterproposals advanced in this proceeding itself will be considered, if advanced in initial comments, so that parties may comment on them in reply comments. They will not be considered, if advanced in reply comments.

(b) With respect to petitions for rule making which conflict with the proposals in this notice, they will be considered as comments in the proceeding, and Public Notice to this effect will be given, as long as they are filed before the date for filing initial comments herein. If filed later than that, they will not be considered in connection with the decision in this docket.

12. Pursuant to applicable procedures set out in § 1.415 of the Commission's rules and regulations, interested parties may file comments on or before April 27, 1973, and reply comments on or before May 10, 1973. All submissions by parties to this proceeding or persons acting on behalf of such parties must be made in written comments, reply comments, or other appropriate pleadings.

13. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.419 of the Commission's rules and regulations, an original and 14 copies of all comments, reply comments, pleadings, briefs, or other documents shall be furnished the Commission.

14. All filings made in this proceeding will be available for examination by interested parties during regular business hours in the Commission's Public Reference Room at its headquarters in Washington, D.C. (1919 M Street NW.).

Adopted: March 13, 1973.

Released: March 19, 1973.

Office of Education ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON ACCREDITATION AND INSTITUTIONAL ELIGIBILITY Notice of Public Meeting

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Public Law 92-463, that the next meeting of the Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Institutional Eligibility will be held on March 28-30, 1973, at 9 a.m., local time, in Room 129, the Brookings Institution, 1775 Massachusetts Avenue NW., Washington, DC.

The Advisory Committee on Accreditation and Institutional Eligibility is established pursuant to section 253 of the Veterans' Readjustment Assistance Act (chapter 33, title 38, United States Code). The Committee is established to advise the Commissioner of Education in fulfilling his statutory obligations to publish a list of nationally recognized accrediting agencies and associations which he determines to be reliable authority as to the quality of training offered by educational institutions and programs.

The meeting of the Committee shall be open to the public on Wednesday, March 28, 1973. The proposed agenda includes presentations by representatives of accrediting agencies and associations which have petitions for recognition pending before the Committee, presentations in opposition to the recognition of certain agencies, and a review of the second draft of the proposed criteria for Recognition of State Agencies Which Are Reliable Authorities as to the Quality of Public Postsecondary Vocational Education. Under the authority of section 10(d) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Public Law 92-463) and section 552(b) of title 5 of the United States Code, the meeting will be closed to the public on March 29-30. Records shall be kept of all Committee proceedings.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on March 20, 1973.

RATE CHANGES

Order Providing for Hearing and Suspension and Effective Dates Subject to Refund

MARCH 15, 1973.

Respondents have filed proposed changes in rates and charges for jurisdictional sales of natural gas, as set forth in Appendix A below.

The proposed changed rates and charges may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, or preferential, or otherwise unlawful.

The Commission finds: It is in the public interest and consistent with the Natural Gas Act that the Commission enter upon hearings regarding the lawfulness of the proposed changes, and that the supplements herein be suspended and their use be deferred as ordered below.

The Commission orders: (A) Under the Natural Gas Act, particularly sections 4 and 15, the regulations pertaining thereto [18 CFR, Chapter I], and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, public hearings shall be held concerning the lawful of the proposed changes.

(B) Pending hearings and decisions thereon, the rate supplements herein are suspended and their use deferred until date shown in the "Date Suspended Until" column. Each of these supplements shall become effective, subject to refund, as of the expiration of the suspension period without any further action by the respondent or by the Commission. Each respondent shall comply with the refunding procedure required by the Natural Gas Act and § 154.102 of the regulations thereunder.

(C) Unless otherwise ordered by the Commission, neither the suspended supplements, nor the rate schedules sought to be altered, shall be changed until disposition of these proceedings or expiration of the suspension period, whichever is earlier.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] KENNETH F. PLUMB,
Secretary.

FOOTNOTES:

* Unless otherwise stated, the pressure base is 14.65 p.s.i.a.

The proposed redetermined increase filed by Champlin reflects, inter alia, reimbursement of the Wyoming severance tax for both past and future production. After tax reimbursement applicable to past production has been recovered, Champlin shall reduce its proposed rate so as to provide for tax reimbursement for future production only. Since the proposed rate exceeds the ceiling for a 1-day suspension period, Champlin's proposed rate is suspended for 5 months.

The proposed increase of Sun Oil Co. does not exceed the rate limit for a 1-day suspension and therefore it is suspended for 1 day from the expiration of the 60-day notice period.

The remaining proposed increases exceed the rate limit for 1-day suspensions and are therefore suspended for 5 months.

The producers' proposed increased rates and charges exceed the applicable area price levels for increased rates as set forth in the Commission's Statement of General Policy No. 61-1, as amended (18 CFR 2.56).

The rate increases granted in these cases have been reviewed in the light of and are consistent with the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 as amended, Executive Order No.

11695, and the rules and regulations issued thereunder.

5042	2-23-73	Fall River Electric Light Co.	Company filed supplement to its rate schedule FFC No. 4 between the company and Newport Electric Corp. (Newport). In addition, Newport filed a transmittal letter dated Feb. 15, 1973, in which it requested cancellation of the following service agreements: (1) Service agreement dated Aug. 2, 1950, with Shier Light & Water Plant covering wholesale electric service for resale to the public; and (2) Service agreement dated Aug. 9, 1972, with Carl M. Shier, doing business as Shier Light & Water Plant, covering wholesale electric service for resale. This service agreement was filed with the Commission on Oct. 16, 1972. The Commission has ruled that the reason for cancellation is that the company has no need for the service. The Commission has ordered that the company acquire the Properties of Shier Light & Water Plant. Pursuant to an order of the Public Service Commission of Indiana, the company has agreed to waive the Commission's notice requirements so that cancellation be made effective on the date of acquisition of the property.

CFR 2.70). Applicant proposes to sell up to 2,000 Mcf of gas per day, plus additional gas which may be available and which the purchaser may be able to receive, at $0.35 per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a. subject to upward and downward B.t.u. adjustment. Estimated initial upward B.t.u. adjustment is $0.056 per Mcf.

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 2, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426 a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR, 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protesting parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein. If the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

GULF OIL CORP.

Notice of Application

MARCH 16, 1973

Take notice that on March 8, 1973 Gulf Oil Corp. (Applicant), Post Office Box 1589, Tulsa, OK 74102, filed in Docket No. C173-596 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. at Applicant's Houston Central Processing Plant in Colorado County, Tex., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant states that it commenced the sale of natural gas on March 1, 1973, within the contemplation of § 157.29 of the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.29) and that it proposes to continue said sale for 1 year from the end of the 60-day emergency period within the contemplation of § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70). Applicant proposes to sell approximately 2,000 Mcf of gas per day at $0.45 per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a., subject to upward and downward B.t.u. adjustment.

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 2, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

TIDEWAY OIL CO., INC.

Notice of Application

MARCH 16 1973

Take notice that on March 5, 1973, Tideway Oil Co., Inc. (Applicant), Post Office Box 92, Jackson, MS 39205, filed in Docket No. CI73-595 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Texas Gas Transmission Corp. from the East Dykesville Field, Webster Parish, La., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes to sell up to 3,500 Mcf of gas per day for 1 year at $0.50 per Mcf at 15.025 p.s.i.a., subject to downward B.t.u. adjustment, within the contemplation of § 2.70 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.70).

It appears reasonable and consistent with the public interest in this case to prescribe a period shorter than 15 days for the filing of protests and petitions to intervene. Therefore, any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should do so on or before April 2, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10).

All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

EL PASO NATURAL GAS CO.

Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 16, 1973

Take notice that El Paso Natural Gas Co. (El Paso), on February 14, 1973, tendered for filing a notice of change in rates under its FPC Gas Tariff, First Revised Volume No. 3, applicable to service rendered to its Northwest Division System customers. Such change in rates is proposed to become effective as of April 1, 1973. The proposed rate change is submitted for the purpose of compensating El Paso for increases in its cost of purchased gas for the period July 1, 1972, through March 31, 1973, and is filed in accordance with the provisions of El Paso's Purchased Gas Adjustment Clause (PGAC) in effect in El Paso's said tariff.

El Paso states that annual increase in El Paso's Northwest Division System domestic purchased gas costs aggregates $2,926,953 based upon adjusted Northwest Division System domestic purchased gas volumes for the twelve (12) month period ending December 31, 1972. Additional increased purchased gas costs, aggregating $1,068,760, have occurred as a result of changes in the United States-Canadian currency rate and in the cost of gas purchased from El Paso's Canadian supplier, Westcoast Transmission Co., Ltd. When applied to El Paso's Northwest Division System total sales volumes for the same period, the aggregate of the increased domestic and imported purchased gas cost equates to $0.91 per Mcf ($0.087 per therm).

In addition, El Paso states that it has accrued in Account 191, Unrecovered Purchased Gas Cost, $3,287,815 applicable to increases in its Northwest Division System purchased gas costs, both domestic and imported, which have occurred monthly during the period July 1, 1972, through December 31, 1972. Such costs, when applied to El Paso's Northwest Division System jurisdictional sales volumes for the same period, produce an additional increase in rates of 1.55 cents per Mcf (0.149 cent per therm) to be applied as a surcharge to all rate schedules identified in the subject filing.

Copies of the filing have been served upon all parties of record at Dockets Nos. RP72-151 and RP72-154, and, otherwise, upon all Northwest Division System customers and interested State regulatory commissions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before March 28, 1973. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. El Paso's proposed tariff sheet and rate filing are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

Notice of Application

MARCH 16, 1973.

Take notice that on March 12, 1973, Florida Gas Transmission Corp. (Florida), Post Office Box 44, Winter Park, FL 32789, and United Gas Pipe Line Co. (United), 1525 Fairfield Avenue, Shreveport, LA 71101, filed in Docket No. CP73-232 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of facilities to interconnect their natural gas pipeline systems and the exchange of natural gas by means of said facilities, all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicants propose to construct and operate taps and metering and regulating facilities at the intersection of United's north-south 30-inch pipeline and Florida's 22-inch East White Lake lateral pipeline at Arnaudville, St. Landry Parish, La.; at the intersection of United's 20-inch Baxterville main pipeline and Florida's 24-inch and 30-inch transmission pipelines in Perry County, Miss.; and at the intersection of United's 24-inch main transmission pipeline and Florida's 20-inch main transmission pipeline in Refugio County, Tex. These facilities are estimated to cost $194,000, which would be financed with cash from current operations.

Applicants propose to use the subject facilities for deliveries of natural gas when either company is confronted with a situation on its system which can be alleviated by deliveries of natural gas by the other. The gas would be returned in quantities equal to that received and imbalances would be corrected as soon as possible. There would be no payment for the exchange of gas.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 9, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicants to appear or be represented at the hearing.

KENNETH F. PLUMB,
Secretary.

GETTY OIL CO.

Notice of Application

MARCH 16, 1973.

Take notice that on March 6, 1973 Getty Oil Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 1404, Houston, TX 77001, filed in docket No. C173-593 an application pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act and § 2.75 of the Commission's general policy and interpretations (18 CFR 2.75) for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the sale for resale and delivery of natural gas in interstate commerce to Cities Service Gas Co. (Cities) from the Locke (Brown Dolomite) Field, Roberts County, Tex., all as more fully set forth in the application which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Applicant proposes under the optional gas pricing procedure to sell gas to Cities at an initial rate of 40 cents per Mcf at 14.65 p.s.i.a. subject to upward and downward B.T.U. adjustment. The basic contract for the subject sale dated February 20, 1973, provides for price escalations of 1 cent per Mcf each year, for 87½-percent reimbursement to Applicant of any new or increased taxes after the date of first deliveries, for a term of 20 years and for a 1.5 cents per Mcf price reduction if Getty elects not to compress the gas. Applicant estimates monthly deliveries at 8,380 Mcf.

Applicant asserts that the contract prices are consistent with the objectives enunciated by Commission Order No. 455 and are just and reasonable for this sale particularly in light of the fact that the Nation is confronted with an increasingly critical shortage of natural gas as recognized by the Commission on numerous occasions.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said application should on or before April 9, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Take further notice that, pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing will be held without further notice before the Commission on this application if no petition to intervene is filed within the time required herein, if the Commission on its own review of the matter finds that a grant of the certificate is required by the public convenience and necessity. If a petition for leave to intervene is timely filed, or if the Commission on its own motion believes that a formal hearing is required, further notice of such hearing will be duly given.

Under the procedure herein provided for, unless otherwise advised, it will be unnecessary for Applicant to appear or be represented at the hearing.

Secretary.

[Docket No. CP73-127]

MANCHESTER GAS CO.

Order Denying Rehearing

MARCH 16, 1973.

By order issued January 16, 1973, in Docket No. CP73-74, we authorized New England LNG Co. to sell to Manchester Gas Co. (Manchester) up to 8,250 Mcf of liquefied natural gas (LNG). The same order, in Docket No. CP73-127, authorized Manchester to transport the LNG in interstate commerce. Our order, and Manchester's application, indicate that the LNG will be carried by 11,000 gallon cryogenic semitrailer. The order does not specify who will haul the trailer loads, nor did Manchester request that any specific carrier be authorized or designated by us to perform any of the LNG transportation services proposed.

On February 14, 1973, Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc. (Leaman), applied in Docket No. CP73-74 for rehearing of our January 16, 1973, order. Leaman contends that, by authorizing Manchester to transport LNG in interstate commerce, we have exceeded our statutory authority, and violated that of the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC), which has jurisdiction over the use of motor carrier in interstate commerce. Leaman contends that our January 16, 1973, order should have specifically disclaimed any intention to limit Manchester's choice of motor carrier, and that, absent such disclaimer, the order should be declared null and void.

Leaman raises secondary "statements of error," contending that we failed to consider the facts, the law, or the evidence in arriving at our January 16, 1973, decision; that we erred in denying Leaman a hearing; and that, by naming the rulemaking in Docket No. R-377 as the proper forum for Leaman's arguments, we denied Leaman the due process of law.

Leaman's contention that we usurped the functions of ICC by authorizing the transportation of LNG in interstate commerce is without merit. The Natural Gas Act (Act) clearly gives us jurisdiction over the transportation of natural gas in interstate commerce. Whether that jurisdiction extends to transportation by means other than by a pipeline is a question reserved for our disposition in Docket No. R-377. (See finding (3) of our order of January 16, 1973.) We have concluded in earlier cases that LNG is natural gas for purposes of the Act.<sup>1</sup>

In the present case, because Manchester has chosen to transport LNG by motor carrier, it, or the carrier involved, may be required to seek ICC approval for such carriage. Any such ICC approval is required in addition to that issued by us, and our January 16, 1973, order does not relieve Manchester from complying with all applicable ICC requirements. Moreover, because our order reflects no intention to limit or control Manchester's dealings with motor carriers or the ICC, it required no specific language disclaiming such intention.

Leaman's arguments that it was improperly denied formal hearing are without merit. According to Leaman's petition to intervene, the only factual issue on which it would have presented evidence pertained to its willingness, ability, and authority to render the transportation services required by Manchester. No party has taken issue with Leaman's allegations.

Leaman's additional statements of error, cited above, are not supported by credible argument and require no further discussion here.

The Commission finds:

Our order issued January 16, 1973, in these proceedings does not by language or intention encroach upon the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission. The arguments of Chemical Leaman man Tank Lines, Inc., to the contrary, and the secondary arguments contained in its application for rehearing are without merit.

The Commission orders:

The application of Chemical Leaman Tank Lines, Inc., for rehearing is denied. By the Commission.

PACIFIC GAS & ELECTRIC CO. Application for Issuance of Subpena and Production of Documentary Evidence

MARCH 16, 1973.

On March 1, 1973, the Intervenor Cities of Alameda, Healdsburg, Lodi, Lompoc, Santa Clara, and Ukiah, Calif. (Cities) filed an application to the Commission for an issuance of a subpena to S. L. Sibley, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Pacific Gas & Electric Co. (PG&E) for data requested by Cities in "Cities Request Nos. 2 and 3" which PG&E has declined to provide. Cities allege that such data is necessary to support their claim of anticompetitive behavior on the part of PG&E in this proceeding.

Any person desiring to comment upon Cities' application should file such comments with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426 on or before March 29, 1973. Copies of Cities' application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Public Notice 382]

TRAVEL INTO OR THROUGH CUBA

Restriction on Use of U.S. Passports

Pursuant to the authority of Executive Order 11295 and in accordance with 22 CFR 51.72(c), use of U.S. passports for travel into or through Cuba remains restricted. To permit unrestricted travel would be incompatible with the resolutions adopted at the Ninth Meeting of Consultation of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the Organization of American States, of which the United States is a member. At this meeting, held in Washington from July 21 to 28, 1964, it was resolved that the governments of the American States not maintain diplomatic, consular, trade, or shipping relations with Cuba under its present government. This resolution was reaffirmed in the Twelfth Meeting of Ministers of Foreign Affairs of the OAS held in September 1967, which adopted resolutions calling upon Member States to apply strictly the recommendations pertaining to the movement of funds and arms from Cuba to other American nations. Among other things, this policy of isolating Cuba was intended to minimize the capability of the Castro government to carry out its openly proclaimed programs of subversive activities in the Hemisphere.

U.S. passports shall not be valid for travel into or through Cuba unless specifically validated for such travel under the authority of the Secretary of State.

This public notice shall expire on June 25, 1973, unless extended or sooner revoked by public notice.

Effective date. This notice becomes effective on March 23, 1973.

Dated: March 20, 1973.

TRAVEL INTO OR THROUGH NORTH KOREA

Restriction on Use of U.S. Passports

Pursuant to the authority of Executive Order 11295 and in accordance with 22 CFR 51.72(c), use of U.S. passports for travel into or through North Korea remains restricted. In view of the continued hostility of the North Korean regime toward the United States, the unsettled situation along the Military Demarcation Line, and the special position of the Government of the Republic of Korea which is recognized by the U.S. as well as by U.N. resolution as the only lawful government in Korea, the Department of State believes that wholly unrestricted travel by American citizens to North Korea would seriously impair the conduct of U.S. foreign affairs.

U.S. passports shall not be valid for travel into or through North Korea unless specifically validated for such travel under the authority of the Secretary of State.

This public notice shall expire on June 25, 1973, unless extended or sooner revoked by public notice.

TRAVEL INTO OR THROUGH NORTH VIETNAM

Restriction on Use of U.S. Passports

Pursuant to the authority of Executive Order 11295 and in accordance with 22 CFR 51.72(c), the use of U.S. passports for travel into or through North Vietnam remains restricted. In the aftermath of the signing on January 27, 1973, of the Agreement on Ending the War and Restoring Peace in Vietnam, tensions continue to be high and conditions unsettled in the Indo-China area. The Peace Agreement envisages that the implementation of the Agreement will create conditions for establishing a new, equal and mutually beneficial relationship between the United States and North Vietnam. However, the development of such a new relationship is still in its earliest stages. In these circumstances the Department of State believes that unrestricted travel by American citizens to North Vietnam would seriously impair the conduct of U.S. foreign affairs.

U.S. passports shall not be valid for travel into or through North Vietnam unless specifically validated for such travel under the authority of the Secretary of State.

This public notice shall expire on June 25, 1973, unless extended or sooner revoked by public notice.

Notice of Application

Notice is hereby given that Waterman Steamship Corp., a New York corporation, has filed an application for a long-term operating-differential subsidy agreement under title VI (46 U.S.C. 1171-1183) of the Merchant Marine Act, 1936, as amended (herein called the Act) for operating-differential subsidy on Trade Route No. 22, U.S. Gulf/Far East. This company's current operating-differential subsidy agreement, Contract No. MA/MSB-138, covering operations on Trade Route No. 22 is scheduled to expire not later than June 23, 1975. In said application Waterman Steamship Corp. is requesting operating-differential subsidy on up to a maximum of 30 sailings per annum with such sailings to be performed initially with six war-built vessels and two Mariner vessels, with the six war-built vessels to be replaced in 1975 with four Mariner vessels, and with three Mariner vessels to be replaced about 1977/1978 with two LASH-type vessels, and the remaining three Mariners to be replaced about 1985/1986 with 2 LASH-type vessels.

Interested parties may inspect this application in the office of the Secretary of the Maritime Subsidy Board, Room 3099-B, Department of Commerce Building, 14th and E Streets NW., Washington, DC 20235.

Any person, firm, or corporation having any interest in such application and desiring a hearing on issues pertinent to section 605(c) of the Act, 46 U.S.C. 1175, should by the close of business on April 6, 1973, notify the Secretary, Maritime Subsidy Board, in writing in triplicate, and file petition for leave to intervene in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure of the Maritime Subsidy Board (46 CFR Part 201). Each such statement of interest and petition to intervene should indicate with as much specificity as possible those portions of the application with which the intervenor is concerned with consideration being given particularly to the time period(s) and fleet consist(s) proposed by the applicant.

In the event that a section 605(c) hearing is ordered to be held the purpose thereof will be to receive evidence relevant to (1) whether the application is one with respect to a vessel or vessels to be operated on an essential service served by citizens of the United States which would be in addition to the existing service or services, and if so, whether the service already provided by vessels of U.S. registry on such essential service is inadequate, (2) whether in the accomplishment of the purposes and policy of the Act additional vessels should be operated thereon, (3) whether the application is one with respect to a vessel or vessels operated or to be operated on an essential service served by two or more citizens of the United States with vessels of U.S. registry, and if so, whether the effect of the requested contract would be to give undue advantage or be unduly prejudicial, as between citizens of the United States, in the operation of vessels in such essential service, and (4) whether it is necessary to enter into such contract in order to provide adequate service by vessels of U.S. registry.

If no request for hearing and petition for leave to intervene is received within the specified time, or if the Maritime Subsidy Board determines that petitions for leave to intervene filed within the specified time do not demonstrate sufficient interest to warrant a hearing, the Maritime Subsidy Board will take such action as may be deemed appropriate.

Dated: March 20, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00154-01-40500. Applicant: Colorado School of Mines, Department of Physics, Golden, Colo. 80401. Article: SOPRA "Michelson" Interferometer. Manufacturer: Societe de Production et de Recherches Appliquees, France. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used partly for student research in general Fourier spectroscopy. In particular it will be valuable in work on near infrared spectra of gases, liquids, and solids of relevance to mineral studies. The article will also be used in the course Optics PH 332, which includes theory and laboratory work in geometrical and physical optics at the intermediate level. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: August 24, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 5, 1973.

Comments: No comments have been received with respect to any of the foregoing applications. Decision: Applications approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign articles, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: Each foreign article can be utilized for general purpose interferometry. In addition each foreign article incorporates a continuous scanning feature which permits Fourier-transform spectroscopy. The National Bureau of Standards (NBS) advised in its respectively cited memoranda that the characteristics described above are pertinent to the purposes for which each of the foreign articles described above are intended to be used. NBS also advised that it knows of no domestically manufactured instrument which is scientifically equivalent to any of the articles to which the foregoing applications relate for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to any of the foreign articles to which the foregoing applications relate, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used.

NOTICES

HARVARD UNIVERSITY, ET AL.

Notice of Applications for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Articles

The following are notices of the receipt of applications for duty-free entry of scientific articles pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651; 80 Stat. 897). Interested persons may present their views with respect to the question of whether an instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value for the purposes for which the article is intended to be used is being manufactured in the United States. Such comments must be filed in triplicate with the Director, Special Import Programs Division, Office of Import Programs, Washington, D.C. 20230 by April 12, 1973.

Amended regulations issued under cited Act, as published in the February 24, 1972 issue of the FEDERAL REGISTER, prescribe the requirements applicable to comments.

A copy of each application is on file, and may be examined during ordinary Commerce Department business hours at the Special Import Programs Division, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 73-00384-33-43400. Applicant: Harvard University, Purchasing Department, 75 Mount Auburn Street, Cambridge, MA 02138. Article: Automatic stepping micromanipulator with electronic control unit. Manufacturer: AB Transvertex, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to hold the microelectrode and advance it into the brain during experiments on the central nervous system of the cat. The aim of these experiments is to investigate the anatomical and physiological properties of single nerve cells in the visual cortex. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: February 12, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00395-01-86500. Applicant: University of Akron, Akron, Ohio 44325. Article: Rheogoniometer, R-18. Manufacturer: Sangamo Control, Ltd., United Kingdom. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for a current research project involving viscoelastic effects on blood flow. Experiments must be conducted to measure normal stress effects in a number of low viscosity solutions (1-4 cps.) including blood. In these experiments, aqueous media (including blood) are to be altered by addition of 40-80 p.p.m. of soluble drag reducing polymers. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: February 21, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00396-01-11000. Applicant: Medical University of South Carolina, 80 Barre Street, Charleston, SC 29401. Article: Gas Chromatograph-Mass Spectrometer, LKB 9000S. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for the following research objectives:

(1) Determination of the chemical structure of microgram and nanogram quantities of drugs and drug metabolites isolated from biological materials, e.g. blood, urine, spinal fluid, etc.;

(2) Determination of the metabolic fate of beta-blocking drugs, e.g. oxprenolol and propranolol;

(3) Development of a quantitative GC-MS measurement technique using the mass spectrometer as the detector and molecules labelled with stable isotopes as internal standards;

(4) Development of techniques for the determination of peptide sequence by GC-MS; and

(5) Studies of glucuronide conjugates of drugs and drug metabolites.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: February 26, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00397-33-46040. Applicant: The Johns Hopkins University, Charles and 34th Street, Baltimore, MD 21218. Article: Electron Microscope, Model JEM 100B. Manufacturer: JEOL Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used in carrying out several research projects.

These research projects include the following:

(1) Formation of tropocollagen molecules from their constituent gelatin chains.

(2) Investigation of morphological abnormalities found in some histidine regulatory mutants of Salmonella typhimurium and a study of flagellar mutants in this same organism by electron microscopy to properly characterize such mutants.

(3) Localization at the electron microscope level of Drosophila alcohol dehydrogenase activity in cells of the fat body.

(4) Appearance of alcohol dehydrogenase activity in the cells of the developing imaginal discs.

(5) Localization by appropriate electron microscope biochemistry of beta-hydroxybutyrate dehydrogenase activity in the fat body.

(6) Investigation of the precise mechanism of sugar transport across membranes, and very possibly the structure of permeases in bacterial membranes.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: February 2, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00398-90-46070. Applicant: University of Wyoming, Department of Geology, University Station, Box 3006, Laramie, WY 82070. Article: Scanning Electron Microscope, Model JSM-U3. Manufacturer: JEOL Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for a wide range of research projects in the department of geology, botany, zoology, and plant science. Some of these projects will include:

A. Examination of the test porosities of species of recent planktonic foraminifera;

B. Study of chemical reactions in sediments from cores taken by the Deep Sea Drilling Project;

C. Study of the surface textures of sand grains;

D. Study of the seeds and pollen of western North American taxa of Chenopodium.

E. Survey of the surface and stomatal structural features of the cuticles of the coniferous species: Pinus contorta, Pinus flexilis, Abies lasiocarpa, and Picea engelmannii.

F. Studies of grass systematics, cell interaction and surfaces with cyclic adenosine monophosphate.

G. Mycological research and identification of immature insects.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: January 30, 1973.

Notice of Consolidated Decision on Applications for Duty-Free Entry of Ultramicrotomes

The following is a consolidated decision on applications for duty-free entry of ultramicrotomes pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 FR 3892 et seq.). (See especially § 701.11(e).)

A copy of the record pertaining to each of the applications in this consolidated decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Special Import Programs Division, Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 73-00218-33-46500. Applicant: University of Rochester School of Medicine and Dentistry, 260 Crittenden Boulevard, Rochester, NY 14642. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model OM U3. Manufacturer: C. Reichert Optische Werke, Austria. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used in conjunction with a transmission electron microscope for studies of: (1) The ultrastructure of normal and pathologic spleen and bone marrow from animals and humans.

(2) The three-dimensional structure of normal and pathologic blood cells both in suspension and within the hemopoietic tissues, and

(3) The ultrastructural fine detail of blood cell membranes at high resolution. In addition, the article will be used for research training for hematology trainees to teach the students the techniques of electron microscopy including those involved in specimen preparation.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 6, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00224-33-46500. Applicant: Veterans Administration Hospital, Archer Road, Gainesville, Fla. 32601. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model LKB 8800A. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for ultrathin sectioning of resin embedded specimens of normal and diseased tissues from humans as well as experimental animals. These specimens will be examined with an electron microscope during experiments centered primarily around human diseases and their experimental counterparts in laboratory animals, in order to study the ultrastructure of the disease process itself. The article will also be used in a course in electron microscopy, both at the technical and professional level, for instruction in the techniques of electron microscopy and interpretation of the ultrastructural features of disease states.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 7, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00226-33-46500. Applicant: Scripps Clinic and Research Foundation, 476 Prospect Street, La Jolla, CA 92037. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model LKB 8800A. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for investigation of biological materials, mainly mammalian tissues derived from experimental animals, to reveal at the ultrastructural level the structural bases of transport of macromolecules into and across cells under physiological and pathologic conditions; the position of tumor specific antigens, viral antigens, and histocompatibility antigens on lymphocyte and macrophage surfaces; and the synthesis of immunoglobulin molecules in lymphocytes.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 14, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00227-33-46500. Applicant: University of Virginia, School of Medicine, Anatomy Department, Jordan Building R. 3-35, 1300 Jefferson Park Avenue, Charlottesville, VA 22901. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model LKB 8800A. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for preparing ultrathin sections of biological tissues derived from normal and experimental animals for use in experiments which will include electron microscopic studies of nerve cells and their processes.

Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 14, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00228-33-46500. Applicant: Brooklyn College of C.U.N.Y., Biology Department, Bedford Avenue and Avenue H., Brooklyn, N.Y. 11210. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model LKB 8800A. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for experiments on the normal physiological behavior of endocrine structures with special emphasis placed on study of osmoregulations, segmentation, and pituitary and gonad function. The article will also be used for educational purposes in the courses Animal Histology and Micro Technique, and Endocrinology. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 14, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00230-58-46500. Applicant: University of Maryland, Department of Microbiology, College Park, Md. 20742. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model LKB 8800. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to examine preparations of deep ocean and estuarine particulate matter, bacteria, and viruses. The experiments to be conducted are designed to determine cellular structure of bacteria under hydrostatic pressure. Also, cellular effects during uptake of mercury and during hydrocarbon degradation will be studied. The article will also be used in graduate research work for students pursuing the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees in marine microbiology and microbial ecology. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 14, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00236-33-46500. Applicant: Eunice Kennedy Shriver Center, 200 Trapelo Road, Waltham, MA 02154. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model LKB 8800. Manufacturer: LKB Produkter AB, Sweden. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for studies of biological materials consisting of muscle, peripheral nerve, and central nervous system tissue from fetal, newborn, young, and adult experimental animals and from humans in a program aimed at defining the causes and mechanisms of mental retardation and related disorders, to relate structural phenomena to disturbed mental and neurological functions, and ultimately to prevent, ameliorate, or cure such disturbances in man. The article will also be used to demonstrate the uses of electron microscopy in research clinical neuropathology in a short course in the application of electron microscopy to the nervous system for neurology residents at Massachusetts General Hospital. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 14, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00248-33-46500. Applicant: Veterans Administration Hospital, Chief, Supply Service, 508 Fulton Street, Durham, NC 27705. Article: Ultramicrotome, Model OMU3. Manufacturer: C. Reichert Optische Werke, Austria. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to prepare sections of tissues obtained from operating rooms or by other surgical procedures to be studied by electron microscopy after embedding in various plastics, especially epoxy resins. The article will also be used in connection with the teaching of interns and residents in pathology who wish to work with electron microscopic techniques. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 22, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Comments: No comments have been received with respect to any of the foregoing applications. Decision: Applications approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign articles, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: Each of the foreign articles provides a range of cutting speeds from equal to or less than 0.5 millimeters/second (mm./sec.) to equal to or greater than 10 mm./sec. The most closely comparable domestic instrument is the Model MT-2B ultramicrotome which is manufactured by Ivan Sorvall, Inc. (Sorvall). The Model MT-2B has a range of cutting speeds from 0.09 to 3.2 mm./sec. The conditions for obtaining high-quality sections that are uniform in thickness depend to a large extent on the hardness, consistency, toughness, and other properties of the specimen materials, the properties of the embedding materials, and the geometry of the block. In connection with a prior application (Docket No. 69-00118-33-46500) which relates to the duty-free entry of an article in the category of instruments to which the foregoing applications relate, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) advised that "Smooth cuts are obtained when the speed of cutting (among such [other] obvious factors as knife edge condition and angle), is adjusted to the characteristics of the material being sectioned."

In connection with another prior case (Docket No. 69-00665-33-46500) relating to the duty-free entry of an article in the same category as those described above, HEW advised that "The range of cutting speeds and a capability for the higher cutting speeds is . . . a pertinent characteristic of the ultramicrotome to be used for sectioning materials that experience has shown difficult to section." In connection with still another prior case (Docket No. 70-00077-33-46500) relating to the duty-free entry of an article similar to those described above, HEW advised that "ultrathin sectioning of a variety of tissues having a wide range in density, hardness, etc." requires a maximum range in cutting speed and, further, that "The production of ultrathin serial sections of specimens that have great variation in physical properties is very difficult." Accordingly, HEW advises in its respectively cited memoranda, that cutting speeds in excess of 4 mm./sec. are pertinent to the satisfactory sectioning of the specimen materials and the relevant embedding materials that will be used by the applicants in their respective experiments.

For these reasons, we find that the Sorvall Model MT-2B ultramicrotome is not of equivalent scientific value to the foreign articles to which the foregoing applications relate, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to any of the foreign articles to which the foregoing applications relate, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

Notice of Consolidated Decision on Applications for Duty-Free Entry of Electron Microscopes

The following is a consolidated decision on applications for duty-free entry of electron microscopes pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 FR 3892 et seq.). (See especially § 701.11(e).)

A copy of the record pertaining to each of the applications in this consolidated decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Special Import Programs Division, Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 73-00139-33-46040. Applicant: Veterans Administration Hospital, Middleville Road, Northport, N.Y. 11768. Article: Electron microscope, Model HU-12. Manufacturer: Hitachi, Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used in pathology and medicine-related biology to study the following materials by electron microscopy in conjunction with immunohistologic and histochemical studies:

- (1) Biopsy and necropsy specimens of human tissue.
- (2) Specimens of experimentally induced lesions in animals, chromosomes, and tissue fractionation products, and
- (3) Purified preparations of macromolecular isolates.

The objective of these studies is to identify the disease process, to uncover the mechanisms through which it develops, to seek a rationale for therapy and to evaluate the progress of the disease and the prognosis.

The article will also be used in teaching "Electron Microscopy in Diagnostic and Experimental Pathology" and "Electron Microscopy in Chemical and Physical Studies in Human Biology" for Ph.D. and M.D. degree holders associated with the State University of New York at Stony Brook and a rotation for pathologists-in-training in standard diagnostic applications of electron microscopy. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: September 1, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: January 24, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00234-33-46040. Applicant: Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, Department of Microbiology, 725 North Wolfe Street, Baltimore, MD 21205. Article: Electron microscope, Model JEM-100B. Manufacturer: JEOL Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for electron microscopic studies of virus particles and their nucleic acids (DNA), as well as virus-infected cells and cancer cells. The article will also be used for research training of scientists in the fields of cancer and molecular genetics. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 7, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00235-33-46040. Applicant: Long Island Jewish-Hillside Medical Center, 270-05 76 Avenue, New Hyde Park, NY 11040. Article: Electron microscope, Model JEM 100B. Manufacturer: JEOL Ltd., Japan. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used to study the fine structural localization of various cytoplasmic enzymes in normal and malignant cells of both animal and human tissues. The organelles under study will be plasma membranes, endoplasmic reticulum, Golgi apparatus, and lysosomes. Special attention will be given to the nature of cytoplasmic microtubules, various forms of microfilaments, unit membranes and identification of macromolecular structures such as ferritin and other experimentally injected materials. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 13, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Docket No. 73-00249-33-46040. Applicant: Auburn University, Pathology and Parasitology Department, Auburn, Ala. 36830. Article: Electron microscope, Model EM 301. Manufacturer: Philips Electronic Instruments, NVD, The Netherlands. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for investigations of the ultrastructural alterations of cellular organelles and membranes occurring in renal disease and neoplasia of food producing and pet animals. Other research will include high resolution studies of animal viruses and viral components and the investigation of the effects of specific immunoglobulins on virus morphology; investigation of antibody-complement, interaction with the cell wall of gram negative bacteria; determination of liver cell mitochondrial damage by aflatoxins and determination of the effects of aging on cellular and membranous structures of the blood-retinal barrier of swine and dog eyes. The article will also be used in departmental veterinary student teaching programs for the preparation of electron micrographs of both normal and diseased cells and tissues as instructional aids for the supplementation of course material in anatomy, histology, embryology, pathology, and microbiology. Application received by Commissioner of Customs: November 22, 1972. Advice submitted by Department of Health, Education, and Welfare on: March 6, 1973.

Comments: No comments have been received in regard to any of the foregoing applications. Decision: Applications approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign articles, for the purposes for which the articles are intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States. Reasons: Each foreign article has a specified resolving capability of 3 angstroms. The most closely comparable domestic instrument is the Model EMU-4C electron microscope which is manufactured by the Forgiolo Corp. (Forgio). The Model EMU-4C has a specified resolving capability of 5 angstroms. (Resolving capability bears an inverse relationship to its numerical rating in angstrom units, i.e., the lower the rating, the better the resolving capability.) We are advised by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in the respectively cited memoranda, that the additional resolving capability of the foreign articles is pertinent to the purposes for which each of the foreign articles to which the foregoing applications relate is intended to be used. We, therefore, find that the Forgiolo Model EMU-4C is not of equivalent scientific value to any of the articles to which the foregoing applications relate, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to any of the foreign articles to which the foregoing applications relate, for such purposes as these articles are intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

ATOMIC ENERGY COMMISSION
HIGH ENERGY PHYSICS ADVISORY PANEL
Notice of Meeting

MARCH 13, 1973.

On April 2-3, 1973, there will be a meeting of the High Energy Physics Advisory Panel at the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory in Berkeley, Calif.

Below is that portion of the panel's meeting agenda which will be open to the public; practical considerations may dictate changes in this schedule.

- (1) Monday, April 2, 1973
10 a.m. to 5 p.m., LBL Program Review and other topics, Building 50, Auditorium.
8 p.m., General Discussion of Status of High Energy Physics, Building 50, Auditorium.
- (2) Tuesday, April 3, 1973
9:30 a.m. to 12 noon, Review of other aspects of High Energy Physics Program, 50-B Conference Room.

In addition to the above agenda items, on Monday morning (prior to the open meeting) and on Tuesday afternoon, the panel will hold executive sessions. These sessions will be closed to the public under authority of section 10(d) of Public Law 92-463 (the Federal Advisory Committee Act).

Written statements relating to the Part of the Monday afternoon session may be held in one of the conference rooms in Bldg. 50, in which case the limited space available will be on a first-come-first served basis.

agenda items, above, may be filed with the executive secretary before the meeting.

Most of the Monday evening session will be devoted to a discussion of current problems facing high energy physics. Questions and remarks by interested members of the public will be limited to this evening session.

The chairman of the panel is empowered to conduct the meeting in a manner that, in his judgment, will facilitate the orderly conduct of business.

Questions on details of the agenda or matters pertaining to public participation should, by March 27, be referred to:

Dr. Walter D. Wales, Executive Secretary,
High Energy Physics Advisory Panel, Division of Physical Research, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Telephone: 301-973-3367.

JOHN V. VINCIGUERRA,
Advisory Committee
Management Officer.

[Docket No. 50-335]

FLORIDA POWER AND LIGHT CO.

Notice of Receipt of Application for Facility Operating License; Issuance of Facility License and Opportunity for Hearing

Notice is hereby given that the Atomic Energy Commission (the Commission) has received an application for facility operating license from Florida Power and Light Co. (the applicant) to possess, use, and operate the St. Lucie Plant, Unit 1, a pressurized water nuclear reactor (the facility), located on the applicant's site in St. Lucie County, Fla., about halfway between the cities of Fort Pierce and Stuart on the east coast of Florida, at steady-State power levels not to exceed 2,560 megawatts thermal.

The Commission will consider the issuance of a facility operating license to Florida Power and Light Co., which would authorize the applicant to possess, use, and operate the St. Lucie Plant, Unit 1, in accordance with the provisions of the license and the technical specifications appended thereto, upon the completion of a favorable safety evaluation on the application by the Commission's Directorate of Licensing, the completion of the environmental review required by the Commission's regulations in 10 CFR Part 50, Appendix D, the receipt of a report on the applicant's application for a facility operating license by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards, and a finding by the Commission that the application for the facility license, as amended, complies with the requirements of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (Act), and the Commission's regulations in 10 CFR Chapter 1. Construction of the facility was authorized by Construction Permit No. C-PPR-74, issued by the Commission on July 1, 1970.

Prior to issuance of any operating license, the Commission will inspect the facility to determine whether it has been constructed in accordance with the application, as amended, and the provisions of Construction Permit No. C-PPR-74. In addition, the license will not be issued until the Commission has made the findings, reflecting its review of the application under the Act which will be set forth in the proposed license, and has concluded that the issuance of the license will not be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public. Upon issuance of the license, the applicant will be required to execute an indemnity agreement as required by section 170 of the Act and 10 CFR Part 140 of the Commission's regulations.

The facility is subject to the provisions in 10 CFR Part 50, Appendix D, for notice of opportunity for filing petitions for leave to intervene and requests for a hearing on environmental considerations related to issuance of the facility operating license.

On or before April 23, 1973, the applicant may file a request for a hearing, with respect to issuance of the facility operating license and any person whose interest may be affected by this proceeding may file a petition for leave to intervene. Requests for a hearing and petitions for leave to intervene shall be filed in accordance with the Commission's "Rules of Practice" in 10 CFR Part 2. If a request for a hearing or petition for leave to intervene is filed within the time prescribed in this notice, the Commission or an atomic safety and licensing board designated by the Commission or by the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel will rule on the request and/or petition and the Secretary or the designated atomic safety and licensing board will issue a notice of hearing or an appropriate order.

A petition for leave to intervene must be filed under oath or affirmation in accordance with the provisions of 10 CFR 2.714. As required in 10 CFR 2.714, a petition for leave to intervene shall set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and any other contentions of the petitioner including the facts and reasons why he should be permitted to intervene, with particular reference to the following factors: (1) The nature of the petitioner's right under the Act to be made a party to the proceeding; (2) the nature and extent of the petitioner's property, financial, or other interest in the proceeding; and (3) the possible effect of any order which may be entered in the proceeding on the petitioner's interest. Any such petition shall be accompanied by a supporting affidavit identifying the specific aspect or aspects of the subject matter of the proceeding as to which the petitioner wishes to intervene and setting forth with particularity both the facts pertaining to his interest and the basis for his contentions with regard to each aspect on which he desires to intervene. A petition that sets forth contentions relating only to matters outside the jurisdiction of the Commission will be denied.

A request for a hearing or a petition for leave to intervene must be filed with the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Chief, Public Proceedings Staff, or may be delivered to the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, not later than April 23, 1973. A copy of the petition and/or request should also be sent to the Chief Hearing Counsel, Office of the General Counsel, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, and to Jack Newman, Esquire, Newman, Reis and Axelrad, 1100 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, DC 20006, attorney for the applicant.

A petition for leave to intervene which is not timely will not be granted unless the Commission, the presiding officer, or the atomic safety and licensing board designated to rule on the petition and/or request determines that the petitioner has made a substantial showing of good cause for failure to file on time and after considering those factors specified in 10 CFR 2.714(a)(1)-(4) and 2.714(d).

For further details pertinent to the matters under consideration, see the application for the facility operating license, dated February 28, 1973, which was docketed on March 5, 1973, and the Applicant's Environmental Report, dated May 20, 1971, as supplemented, and the Commission's Draft Environmental Statement pursuant to 10 CFR Part 50, Appendix D, which are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, and at the Indian River Junior College Library, 3209 Virginia Avenue, Ft. Pierce, FL. As they become available, the following documents may be inspected at the above locations:

- (1) The safety evaluation prepared by the Directorate of Licensing; (2) the Commission's Final Environmental Statement; (3) the report of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards on the application for facility operating license; (4) the proposed facility operating license; and (5) the technical specifications, which will be attached to the proposed facility operating license.

Copies of items (1), (2), (3), and (4), when available, may be obtained by request to the Deputy Director for Reactor Projects, Directorate of Licensing, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545.

Dated at Bethesda, Md., this 20th day of March 1973.

MILLSTONE POINT CO., ET AL.

Receipt of Application for Construction Permit and Facility License and Availability of Applicants' Environmental Report; Time for Submission of Views on Antitrust Matters

The Millstone Point Co.; the Connecticut Light and Power Co.; the Hartford

Electric Light Co.; Western Massachusetts Electric Co.; New England Power Co.; the United Illuminating Co.; Public Service Company of New Hampshire; Central Vermont Public Service Corp.; Vermont Electric Power Corp.; city of Burlington, Vt.; Green Mountain Power Corp.; Montauk Electric Co.; Fitchburg Gas and Electric Light Co., Chicopee; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant; town of South Hadley Electric Light Department, Westfield; Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Department, Peabody; Massachusetts Municipal Light Plant, North Attleborough; Massachusetts Electric Department, Boylston; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, West Boylston; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, Wakefield; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department, Shrewsbury; Massachusetts Light Plant, Paxton; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department, Middleton; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department, Ashburnham; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, Templeton; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, and Marblehead; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department (the applicants), pursuant to section 103 of the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended, have filed an application, which was docketed February 10, 1972, for authorization to construct and operate a pressurized water nuclear reactor at its site, located in the town of Waterford, New London County, Conn. The site consists of 500 acres of land, and is located on the north shore of Long Island Sound approximately 3 miles from New London, Conn., and 40 miles southeast of Hartford, Conn.

The proposed nuclear facility, designated by the applicants as Millstone Nuclear Power Station, Unit 3, is designed for initial operation at approximately 3,425 megawatts (thermal) with a net electrical output of approximately 1,156 megawatts.

Any person who wishes to have his views on the antitrust aspects of the application presented to the Attorney General for consideration shall submit such views to the Commission by May 22, 1973.

A copy of the application is available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC 20545, and at the Waterford Public Library, Rope Ferry Road, Route 156, Waterford, Conn. 06385.

The applicants have also filed, pursuant to the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 and the regulations of the Commission in Appendix D to 10 CFR Part 50, a report entitled, "Environmental Report—Construction Permit Stage," dated February 7, 1973. The report has been made available for public inspection at the aforementioned locations. The report, which discusses environmental considerations related to the proposed construction of the Millstone Nuclear Power Station, Unit 3, is also being made available at the Office of State Planning, Department of Finance and Control, 340 Capitol Avenue, Hartford, CT 06115, and at the Southeastern Connecticut Regional Planning Agency, 139 Boswell Avenue, Norwich, CT 06360.

After the report has been analyzed by the Commission's Directorate of Regulation or his designee, a draft environmental statement related to the proposed action will be prepared by the Commission. Upon preparation of the draft environmental statement, the Commission will, among other things, cause to be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER a summary notice of availability of the draft statement. The summary notice will request comments from interested persons on the proposed action and on the draft statement. The summary notice will also contain a statement to the effect that comments of Federal agencies and State and local officials thereon will be made available when received.

Dated at Bethesda, Md., this 15th day of March 1973.

[Docket No. 50-423]

MILLSTONE POINT CO., ET AL.

Notice of Hearing on Application for Construction Permit

Pursuant to the Atomic Energy Act of 1954, as amended (the Act), and the regulations in Title 10, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 50, "Licensing of Production and Utilization Facilities," and Part 2, "Rules of Practice," notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held, at a time and place to be set in the future by an Atomic Safety and Licensing Board (Board), to consider the application filed under the Act by the Millstone Point Co.; the Connecticut Light and Power Co.; the Hartford Electric Light Co.; Western Massachusetts Electric Co.; New England Power Co.; the United Illuminating Co.; Public Service Company of New Hampshire; Central Vermont Public Service Corp.; Vermont Electric Power Corp., city of Burlington, Vt.; Green Mountain Power Corp.; Montauk Electric Co.; Fitchburg Gas and Electric Light Co., Chicopee; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant; Town of South Hadley Electric Light Department, Westfield; Massachusetts Gas and Electric Light Department, Peabody; Massachusetts Municipal Light Plant, North Attleborough; Massachusetts Electric Department, Boylston; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, West Boylston; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, Wakefield; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department, Shrewsbury; Massachusetts Light Plant, Paxton; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department, Middleton; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department, Ashburnham; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, Templeton; Massachusetts Municipal Lighting Plant, and Marblehead; Massachusetts Municipal Light Department (the applicants), for a construction permit for a pressurized water nuclear reactor designated as the Millstone Nuclear Power Station, Unit No. 3 (the facility), which is designed for initial operation at approximately 3,425 thermal megawatts with a net electrical output of approximately 1,156 megawatts. The proposed facility is to be located on the north shore of Long Island Sound, in the town of Waterford, New London County, Conn. The hearing will be scheduled to begin in the vicinity of the site of the proposed facility.

The Board will be designated by the Atomic Energy Commission (Commission) or the Chairman of the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board Panel. Notice as to its membership will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Upon completion by the Commission's regulatory staff of a favorable safety evaluation of the application and an environmental review, and upon receipt of a report by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards, the Director of Regulation will consider making affirmative findings on Items 1-3, a negative finding on Item 4, and an affirmative finding on Item 5 specified below as a basis for the issuance of a construction permit to the applicants:

ISSUES PURSUANT TO THE ATOMIC ENERGY ACT OF 1954, AS AMENDED

1. Whether in accordance with the provisions of 10 CFR 50.35(a):

(a) The applicants have described the proposed design of the facility including, but not limited to, the principal architectural and engineering criteria for the design, and have identified the major features or components incorporated therein for the protection of the health and safety of the public;

(b) Such further technical or design information as may be required to complete the safety analysis and which can reasonably be left for later consideration, will be supplied in the final safety analysis report;

(c) Safety features or components, if any, which require research and development have been described by the applicants and the applicants have identified, and there will be conducted a research and development program reasonably designed to resolve any safety questions associated with such features or components; and

(d) On the basis of the foregoing, there is reasonable assurance that (i) such safety questions will be satisfactorily resolved at or before the latest date stated in the application for completion of construction of the proposed facility, and (ii) taking into consideration the site criteria contained in 10 CFR Part 100, the proposed facility can be constructed and operated at the proposed location without undue risk to the health and safety of the public.

2. Whether the applicants are technically qualified to design and construct the proposed facility;

3. Whether the applicants are financially qualified to design and construct the proposed facility; and

4. Whether the issuance of the permit for construction of the facility will be inimical to the common defense and security or to the health and safety of the public.

NOTICES

ISSUE PURSUANT TO NATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY ACT OF 1969 (NEPA)

5. Whether, in accordance with the requirements of Appendix D of 10 CFR Part 50, the construction permit should be issued as proposed.

In the event that this proceeding is not a contested proceeding, as defined by 10 CFR 2.4(n), the Board will determine (1) without conducting a de novo evaluation of the application, whether the application and the record of the proceeding contain sufficient information, and the review of the application by the Commission's regulatory staff has been adequate, to support the findings proposed to be made by the Director of Regulation on Items 1-4 above, and to support, insofar as the Commission's licensing requirements under the Act are concerned, the issuance of the construction permit proposed by the Director of Regulation; and (2) determine whether the review conducted by the Commission pursuant to NEPA has been adequate. In the event that this proceeding is not contested, the Board will convene a prehearing conference of the parties within sixty (60) days after this notice of hearing or such time as may be appropriate, at a time and place to be set by the Board. It will also set the schedule for the evidentiary hearing. Notice of the prehearing conference and the hearing will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

In the event that this proceeding becomes a contested proceeding, the Board will consider and initially decide, as issues in this proceeding, Items 1-5 above as a basis for determining whether the construction permit should be issued to the applicants.

The Board will convene a special prehearing conference of the parties to the proceeding and persons who have filed petitions for leave to intervene, or their counsel, to be held by May 22, 1973, or within such other time as may be appropriate, at a place to be set by the Board for the purpose of dealing with the matters specified in 10 CFR 2.751a.

The Board will convene a prehearing conference of the parties, or their counsel, to be held subsequent to any special prehearing conference and within sixty (60) days after discovery has been completed, or within such other time as may be appropriate, at a place to be set by the Board for the purpose of dealing with the matters specified in 10 CFR 2.752.

Notices of the dates and places of the special prehearing conference, the prehearing conference, and the hearing will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

With respect to the Commission's responsibilities under NEPA, and regardless of whether the proceeding is contested or uncontested, the Board will, in accordance with section A.11 of Appendix D of 10 CFR Part 50, (1) determine whether the requirements of section 102(2) (C) and (D) of NEPA and Appendix D of 10 CFR Part 50 have been complied with in this proceeding; (2) independently consider the final balance among conflicting factors contained in the record of the proceeding with a view to determining the appropriate action to be taken; and (3) determine whether the construction permit should be issued, denied, or appropriately conditioned to protect environmental values.

For further details, see the application for construction permit dated February 7, 1973, and amendments thereto, and the applicants' environmental report dated February 7, 1973, which were docketed on February 10, 1973, and are available for public inspection at the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on weekdays. Copies of those documents will also be made available at the Waterford Public Library, Rope Ferry Road, Route 156, Waterford, Conn. 06385, for inspection by members of the public between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on weekdays. As they become available, a copy of the safety evaluation by the Commission's Directorate of Licensing, the Commission's draft and final detailed statements on environmental considerations, the report of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards (ACRS), the proposed construction permit, other relevant documents, and the transcripts of the prehearing conferences and of the hearing will also be available at the above locations. Copies of the Directorate of Licensing's safety evaluation and the Commission's final detailed statement on environmental considerations, the proposed construction permit, and the ACRS report may be obtained, when available, by request to the Deputy Director of Reactor Projects, Directorate of Licensing, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545.

Any person who does not wish to, or is not qualified to become a party to this proceeding may request permission to make a limited appearance pursuant to the provisions of 10 CFR 2.715. A person making a limited appearance may only make an oral or written statement on the record, and may not participate in the proceeding in any other way. Limited appearances will be permitted at the time of the hearing in the discretion of the Board, within such limits and on such conditions as may be fixed by the Board. Persons desiring to make a limited appearance are requested to inform the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, not later than April 23, 1973.

A person permitted to make a limited appearance does not become a party, but may state his position and raise questions which he would like to have answered to the extent that the questions are within the scope of the hearing as specified in the issues set out above.

Any person whose interest may be affected by the proceeding, who does not wish to make a limited appearance and who wishes to participate as a party in the proceeding must file a written petition under oath or affirmation for leave to intervene in accordance with the provisions of 10 CFR 2.714.

NOTICES

A petition for leave to intervene shall set forth the interest of the petitioner in the proceeding, how that interest may be affected by the results of the proceeding, and any other contentions of the petitioner including the facts and reasons why he should be permitted to intervene, with particular reference to the following factors: (1) The nature of the petitioner's right under the Act to be made a party to the proceeding; (2) the nature and extent of the petitioner's property, financial, or other interest in the proceeding; and (3) the possible effect of any order which may be entered in the proceeding on the petitioner's interest. Any such petition shall be accompanied by a supporting affidavit identifying the specific aspect or aspects of the subject matter of the proceeding as to which the petitioner wishes to intervene and setting forth with particularity both the facts pertaining to his interest and the basis for his contentions with regard to each aspect on which he desires to intervene. A petition that sets forth contentions relating only to matters outside the jurisdiction of the Commission will be denied.

A petition for leave to intervene must be filed with the office of the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Chief, Public Proceedings Staff, or may be delivered to the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC, not later than April 23, 1973. A petition for leave to intervene which is not timely will not be granted unless the Board determines that the petitioner has made a substantial showing of good cause for failure to file on time and after the Board has considered those factors specified in 10 CFR 2.714(a)(1)-(4) and 2.714(d).

Those permitted to intervene become parties to the proceeding, subject to any limitations in the order granting leave to intervene, and have all the rights of the applicants to participate fully in the conduct of the hearing, such as the examination and cross-examination of witnesses, with respect to their contentions related to the matters at issue in the proceeding.

An answer to this notice, pursuant to the provisions of 10 CFR 2.705, must be filed by the applicants not later than April 12, 1973.

Papers required to be filed in this proceeding may be filed by mail or telegram addressed to the Secretary of the Commission, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, Attention: Chief, Public Proceedings Staff, or may be filed by delivery to the Commission's Public Document Room, 1717 H Street NW., Washington, DC. A copy of the petition or request for limited appearance should also be sent to the Chief Hearing Counsel, Office of the General Counsel, U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D.C. 20545, and to C. Duane Blinn, Esq., Day, Berry, and Howard, 1 Constitution Plaza, Hartford, CT 06103, attorney for the applicants.

Pending further order of the Board, parties are required to file, pursuant to the provisions of 10 CFR 2.708, an original and twenty (20) conformed copies of each such paper with the Commission.

With respect to this proceeding, pursuant to 10 CFR 2.785, an Atomic Safety and Licensing Appeal Board will exercise the authority and the review function which would otherwise be exercised and performed by the Commission. Notice as to the membership of the Appeal Board will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON REACTOR SAFEGUARDS

Notice of Meeting

MARCH 21, 1973.

The FEDERAL REGISTER notice, published at 38 FR 7425 (March 21, 1973), relating to the ACRS Subcommittee Meeting on the Cooper Nuclear Station, March 29, 1973, and April 4, 1973, is revised to include two additional topics for discussion, which may be included in the closed portion of these meetings, as follows:

- (a) Matters relating to the design and manufacturing processes of the reactor fuel, which matters are proprietary information; and
- (b) Physical plant security, which is proprietary information.

Because these topics involve proprietary information, I have determined, in accordance with subsection 10(d) of Public Law 92-463, that these topics fall within exemption (4) of 5 U.S.C. 552(b) and may properly be included in the closed portions of the meetings for March 29, 1973, and April 4, 1973.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD

[Docket No. 25235; Order 73-3-64]

AIR AFRIQUE

Order of Investigation and Suspension Regarding Transatlantic Fare Structure

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the eighth day of March 1973.

By tariffs filed January 12, 1973, for effect from April 1, 1973, Air Afrique proposes to revise the existing fare structure over the North Atlantic between the United States and Africa. As in the case of our recent disposition of the U.S.-carrier transatlantic fare proposals (Order 73-1-76), this order will be concerned with Air Afrique's proposal as it relates to the period from April 1, 1973, through October 1, 1973.

Air Afrique proposes to retain first-class and normal economy fares at status quo, and to consolidate the promotional fare structure into three new fares—a 13-45-day excursion fare, a 13-21-day individual inclusive tour fare and an advance-purchase excursion fare (APEX). Its structure would, therefore, closely parallel that proposed by the U.S. carriers. However, Air Afrique would permit one free stopover in each direction for travel on the 13-45-day excursion and the 13-21-day individual inclusive tour fares, and one additional stopover in each direction at a charge of $15. Stopovers would be prohibited in connection with APEX-fare travel. Air Afrique does not propose a surcharge for weekend travel on any of its fares.

A complaint requesting suspension of Air Afrique's proposal has been filed by Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American). Pan American's primary concern is that Air Afrique would permit free stopovers in connection with the excursion and individual inclusive tour fare, whereas Pan American would not. Pan American also expresses concern with Air Afrique's failure to impose a weekend surcharge on all promotional fares. Pan American estimates that, if these elements of the fare structure were to become applicable throughout the transatlantic market, it would sustain a revenue loss in excess of $6 million, as compared to the result it anticipates under its proposal.

By Order 73-1-76, the Board indicated that it was not disposed to suspend the fare package proposed by the U.S. carriers. This decision was based on the understanding that the structure was not advanced as a definitive one for the future, but rather as an acceptable one for the travel season immediately ahead. Indeed the carriers did not support their proposal as one that would adequately compensate for the cost of providing scheduled service, but rather as a reasonable competitive response to changing market conditions which is anticipated to produce moderately improved yields and increased revenues.

The basic structure proposed by Air Afrique reflects a simplification and increased emphasis on individual travel comparable to that contemplated by the U.S. carriers. As such, it represents a distinct improvement in the pattern of transatlantic fares and a desirable trend for the longer term. However, in our opinion, the economic validity of the 13-45-day excursion and 13-21-day IIT fares is brought into considerable question as a result of the proposed continuation of free stopover privileges. The circuitous routings involved in multistop travel create an unnecessary downward pressure on yield which should be compensated for by an appropriate charge for the service. Stated differently, the absence of such a charge ultimately results in a higher point-to-point fare than would otherwise be the case. By the same token, we believe that an appropriate weekend surcharge is an important element of the transatlantic fare structure which contributes to the economic soundness of these services by distributing demand more evenly throughout the week. We support these two charges, both of which are incorporated into the U.S. carriers' proposal, as affirmative steps toward a more rational pricing scheme for scheduled services. For this reason, the Board is unable to accept Air Afrique's proposal.

Accordingly, for the reasons stated the Board finds that the 13-45-day excursion fares, the 13-21-day individual inclusive tour fares and the advance purchase excursion fares proposed by Air Afrique may be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial and should be suspended pending investigation.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, 801, and 1002, thereof,

It is ordered, That:
1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof, and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such fares and provisions, and subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, are or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and if found to be unlawful, to take appropriate action to prevent the use of such fares and provisions or rules, regulations, or practices;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof<sup>1</sup> are suspended and their use deferred from April 1, 1973, to and including March 31, 1974, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. This order shall be submitted to the President<sup>2</sup> and shall become effective on April 1, 1973;

4. Except to the extent granted herein, the complaint filed in Docket 25168 is hereby dismissed; and

5. Copies of this order be filed in the aforesaid tariffs and be served upon Air Afrique and Pan American World Airways, Inc., who are hereby made parties to the investigation.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Secretary.

INTERNATIONAL AIR TRANSPORT ASSOCIATION

Order Regarding Specific Commodity Rates

Issued under delegated authority March 18, 1973.

Two agreements have been filed with the Board pursuant to section 412(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (the Act) and Part 261 of the Board's economic regulations, between various air carriers, foreign air carriers, and other carriers embodied in the resolutions of the International Air Transport Association (IATA), and adopted pursuant to the provisions of Resolution 590 dealing with specific commodity rates.

The agreements, adopted pursuant to unopposed notices to the carriers and promulgated in IATA letters dated February 28, 1973 (Agreement CAB 23563, R-2) and March 2, 1973 (Agreement CAB 23569, R-1 and R-2) name two additional specific commodity rates, and the cancellation of an existing rate, as set forth in the attachment hereto.<sup>1</sup>

Pursuant to authority duly delegated by the Board in the Board's regulations, 14 CFR 385.14, it is not found that the subject agreements are adverse to the public interest or in violation of the Act, provided that approval is subject to the condition hereinafter ordered.

Accordingly, it is ordered, That:

Agreement CAB 23569, R-1 and R-2, and Agreement CAB 23563, R-2, be and hereby are approved, provided that approval shall not constitute approval of the specific commodity descriptions contained therein for purpose of tariff publications, provided further that tariff filings shall be marked to become effective on not less than 30 days' notice from the date of filing.

Persons entitled to petition the Board for review of this order, pursuant to the Board's regulations, 14 CFR 385.50, may file such petitions within 10 days after the date of service of this order.

This order shall be effective and become the action of the Civil Aeronautics Board upon expiration of the above period, unless within such period a petition for review thereof is filed or the Board gives notice that it will review this order on its own motion.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

COST OF LIVING COUNCIL

UNIFORM RATES OF CERTAIN INSTITUTIONAL PROVIDERS OF HEALTH SERVICES

Certificates of Compliance for State Agencies

Section 300.18(1) of the Phase II regulations of the Price Commission, 6 CFR

300.18, provides for the issuance of certificates of compliance to State agencies whose rules for implementing the Economic Stabilization Program, with respect to rates of skilled nursing homes, extended care facilities or intermediate care facilities, have been approved by the Price Commission.

Under § 130.61 of the Phase III regulations of the Cost of Living Council, § 300.18 has continued effectiveness with respect to institutional providers of health services. During Phase III, therefore, certificates of compliance will be issued by the Council to State agencies which qualify under § 300.18(1).

To provide information and guidance to all interested parties, it is the Cost of Living Council's intention to publish in the FEDERAL REGISTER, on a periodic basis, a list of State agencies that have been certified.

As of March 20, 1973, certificates of compliance have been issued to the following agencies:

Human Relations Agency, State of California.
Hospital Cost Commission, State of Connecticut.
Department of Health and Welfare, State of Maine.
Department of Public Welfare, State of Oklahoma.
Department of Social Services, State of Utah.
Department of Social and Rehabilitative Services, State of Arkansas.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on March 20, 1973.

JAMES W. McLANE,
Deputy Director,
Cost of Living Council.

Notice of agreement filed by:

J. Kerwin Rooney, Port Attorney, Port of Oakland, 66 Jack London Square, Post Office Box 2064, Oakland, CA 94607.

Agreement No. T-2762, between the City of Oakland (City) and Marine Terminals Corp. (MTC), is an arrangement whereby MTC, as agent for the City, will perform marine terminal management services as well as provide terminal operating and cargo solicitation services at Areas "B" and "C" at the City's Middle Harbor Terminal. The agreement provides that MTC's services shall be made available to all users of Areas "B" and "C" on a nonexclusive basis, as well as to secondary users of the adjacent Area "A," which is preferentially assigned to United States Lines under Agreement No. T-2758. All tariff revenues earned upon the premises will be collected by MTC and remitted in full to the City, subject to a yearly minimum of $257,000 for both Areas "B" and "C." Fifty percent of terminal tariff revenues (exclusive of crane rental charges) accruing to the City from secondary users of Area "A" for whom MTC provides terminal services will apply to the above minimum. In any event, MTC will not receive any portion of tariff revenues accruing from the facility. Its sole compensation for the services provided under the agreement will be through the assessment of a service charge against users of the facility plus charges assessed for the use of equipment, facilities, and utilities furnished by MTC which are not included in the City's marine terminal tariff.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release 367]

INVESTMENT ADVISERS

Intension To Cancel Registrations

MARCH 19, 1973.

Notice is hereby given that the Division of Investment Management Regulation has requested the Securities and Exchange Commission to issue an order pursuant to section 203(i) of the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (Act) canceling the registrations of those investment advisers whose names appear in the attached appendix.

Section 203(i) provides, as here pertinent, that if the Commission finds that any person registered under section 203, or who has pending an application for registration filed under section 203, is no longer in existence or is not engaged in business as an investment adviser, the Commission shall by order cancel the registration of such person.

All of the registered investment advisers listed in part I of the Appendix, or representatives thereof, have indicated in recent correspondence to the Commission that these registrants are no longer in existence or are not engaged in business as investment advisers.

The registrants named in Part II of the appendix have not paid the annual assessment for registered investment advisers for 1971 or 1972 imposed by Rule 203-3(b) under the Act. Rule 203-3(b) provides, in pertinent part, that every registered investment adviser shall pay a $100 assessment annually to the Commission while its registration is effective. Such assessment, for the year 1971, was payable not later than April 1, 1972, and, for the year 1972, not later than January 31, 1973. Notice of the adoption of Rule 203-3(b) was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 29, 1972 (37 FR 1471), and a letter was sent on May 22, 1972 by certified mail, return receipt requested, to each registrant who had failed to pay the assessment for the year 1971 as of that date. The letter informed each registrant that he was delinquent in the payment of the fee and that, if he failed to respond to the letter with payment of the assessment, the registrant would be presumed to be no longer engaged in business as an investment adviser. The letters sent to the investment advisers named in Part II were returned to the Commission unopened and all attempts to correspond with these persons at the addresses designated in their Form ADV applications for registration have been unsuccessful.

Rule 204-1(b) under the Act provides that if the information contained in any application for registration as an investment adviser, or in any amendment thereto, becomes inaccurate for any reason, the investment adviser shall promptly file an amendment on Form ADV correcting such information.

Since the registrants named in Part II of the appendix have not paid the annual assessment for 1971 or 1972 as required by Rule 203-3(b), and have failed to notify the Commission of any change in address as required by Rule 204-1(b), the staff of the Division of Investment Management Regulation believes that reasonable grounds exist to support a finding that these registrants are no longer in existence or are not engaged in business as investment advisers.

The investment advisers whose names appear in Part III of the appendix have also failed to pay the annual assessment for 1971 or 1972. The letter of May 22, 1972, sent by certified mail, return receipt requested, was received by these registrants, but neither their response thereto nor their payment of the assessment has been received by the Commission. As indicated above, the letter informed these registrants that if they failed to respond to the letter or to pay the assessment, they would be presumed to be no longer engaged in business as investment advisers and that such failure could result in the cancellation of their investment adviser registrations. In light of the fact that these registrants have not paid the annual assessment for 1971 or 1972 and that they received sufficient notice of the possible consequences resulting from nonpayment, the staff of the Division of Investment Management Regulation believes that reasonable grounds exist to support a finding that these registrants are no longer in existence or are not engaged in business as investment advisers.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than April 18, 1973, at 5:30 p.m., submit to the Commission in writing a request for a hearing on the matter accompanied by a statement as to the nature of his interest, the reason for such request, and the issues, if any, of fact or law proposed to be controverted. Any such communication should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. At any time after said date, the Commission may issue an order cancelling any or all of these registrations upon the basis of the information stated herein unless an order for hearing on said cancellation shall be issued upon request. Persons who request a hearing, or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered, will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] RONALD F. HUNT,
Secretary.

[Ex Parte 241; Rule 19, 10th Rev. Exemption]

ATLANTIC AND WESTERN RAILWAY CO.
ET AL.

Exemption From Mandatory Car Service Rules

It appearing, that the railroads named herein own numerous plain boxcars; that under present conditions, there is virtually no demand for these cars on the lines of the carowners; that return of these cars to the carowners would result in their being stored idle on these lines; that such cars can be used by other carriers for transporting traffic offered for shipments to points remote from the carowners; and that compliance with Car Service Rules 1 and 2 prevents such use of plain boxcars owned by the railroads listed herein, resulting in unnecessary loss of utilization of such cars.

It is ordered: That pursuant to the authority vested in me by Car Service Rule 19, plain boxcars described in the Official Railway Equipment Register, ICC R.E.R. No. 386, issued by W. J. Trezise, or successive issues thereof, as having mechanical designation XM, and bearing reporting marks assigned to the railroads named below, shall be exempt from the provisions of Car Service Rules 1(a), 2(a), and 2(b).<sup>3</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad Co. eliminated.

Chicago & Illinois Midland Railway Co., reporting marks: CIM.

FOURTH SECTION APPLICATION FOR RELIEF

MARCH 20, 1973.

An application, as summarized below, has been filed requesting relief from the requirements of section 4 of the Interstate Commerce Act to permit common carriers named or described in the application to maintain higher rates and charges at intermediate points than those sought to be established at more distant points.

Protests to the granting of an application must be prepared in accordance with Rule 1100.40 of the general rules of practice (49 CFR 1100.40) and filed on or before April 9, 1973.

FSA No. 42648—Liquefied petroleum gas from Cut Bank, Mont. Filed by Trans-Continental Freight Bureau, agent (No. 480), for interested rail carriers. Rates on gas, liquefied petroleum, in tank-car loads, as described in the application, from Cut Bank, Mont., to points in western trunkline and southwestern territories.

Grounds for relief—market competition, modified short-line distance formula, and grouping.

Tariff—Supplement 223 to Trans-Continental Freight Bureau, agent, tariff ICC 1785. Rates are published to become effective on April 19, 1973.

By the Commission.

DEMURRAGE AND FREE TIME ON FREIGHT CARS

Order. At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, acting as an appellate division, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 19th day of March 1973.

Upon consideration of the petition filed by the National Industrial Traffic League on March 15, 1973, requesting revocation of Service Order No. 1124.

It appearing, that Service Order No. 1124 was issued by Division 3 in accordance with applicable law and upon its determination that an emergency exists because of an acute shortage of freight cars in all sections of the country; that the League's members have had ample opportunity to review their operations to avoid the excessive detention of freight cars; that numerous cars are held idle for excessive periods awaiting loading or unloading; and that the petition states no errors of fact or law warranting the relief sought, and for good cause appearing:

It is ordered, That the petition be, and it is hereby, denied.

By the Commission, Division 3, acting as an appellate division.

GREAT LAKES LOAD LINES

Notice of Proposed Rule Making

The Coast Guard is considering amending the Great Lakes Load Line regulations to adopt new provisions for the calculations of freeboards and additional conditions of assignment of freeboards and loadlines.

Written comments. Interested persons are invited to participate in this rule making by submitting written data, views or arguments to the Executive Secretary, Marine Safety Council (GCMC/82), 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC 20590 (phone 202-426-1477). Written comments should include the docket number of this notice, the name and address of the person submitting the comments, and the specific section of the proposal to which each comment is addressed.

Closing date for comments. All communications received on or before April 15, 1973, will be fully considered before final action is taken on this proposal. This proposal may be changed in the light of comments received. Copies of comments received will be available for examination in Room 8234. Copies of comments will be furnished interested persons upon request to U.S. Coast Guard (GCMC/82) and payment of the fees prescribed in 49 CFR 7.81.

Drafts of Great Lakes vessels were allowed to be increased during World War II and also during the Korean emergency. After each emergency, the drafts reverted to the standard drafts allocated by the original 1935 Load Line Regulations. The experience gained by these drafts during the two short periods provoked interest in revising the 1935 Load Line Regulations. However, there were a number of questions left unsolved in the minds of the Administrations of Canada and the United States.

Accordingly, committees were formed under the auspices of the Society of Naval Architects to maintain research on Great Lakes waves and weather conditions and to monitor stresses on one of the large Great Lakes bulk carriers. The results of both the wave research and the ship strength research were reported in a combined symposium of the Society of Naval Architects held in Ottawa in July 1971.

While this research experience was still underway during the mid-1960's, Coast Guard and the Board of Steamship Inspection in Canada formed the Canada/United States Joint Technical Committee, composed of ship owners, ship builders, classification societies' representatives and Government representatives from both the United States and Canada, which undertook to make recommendations for changes in the regulations.

The first regulatory accomplishment of this Joint Technical Committee came in 1969 with the adoption of a new freeboard table extending the tabular freeboard limits to 1,000 feet, for the construction of longer vessels, which was made possible by the new 1,000-foot lock at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Later the winter freeboard correction was changed for vessels for superior construction. In the meantime, the Committee, working toward new regulations, continued its initial approach of attempting to use the 1966 International Load Line Conventions as a reference and foundation for modifying the old Great Lakes Load Line rules.

It was recognized early in the deliberations of the Joint Technical Committee that the matter of strength was important at all drafts and that the idea of greater stressing of a ship is not necessarily coupled with deeper loading. Excessive stress may occur in a loading condition other than maximum draft and therefore all loading conditions must be carefully considered.

The working papers of the 1966 Convention provided an excellent foundation. In particular one proposal by the Netherlands to examine vessels at different speeds in seaways of several different heights to determine the necessary "deck height" for a uniform percentage of water on deck was found to be an excellent starting point for the work of the Great Lakes Technical Committee. Accordingly, the research on Great Lakes waves in the mid-1960's was used to examine the Great Lakes type vessels with high block coefficients. The proposed freeboard requirements are based partially on this examination. It was found that the requirements of the old rule for freeboards of vessels up to about 550 feet in length were quite adequate and should not be reduced without increasing the deck-fitting weather tightness. However, the calculations indicate that longer vessels can achieve similar levels of deck safety with smaller freeboards.

The block coefficient correction was a major concern to the drafters of these proposed regulations since the previous regulations merely copied the block coefficient correction of the old International Convention. Most Great Lakes vessels carried a rather large penalty because they were full bodied vessels. It was the consensus at the 1966 International Convention that the full body form actually does not need the same sheer height as a finer ship which pitches more.

The results of the seakeeping study also aided the evaluation of the Joint Technical Committee in regard to the sheer correction. This was the other major penalty which most existing Great Lakes vessels carry because they are constructed as straight deck vessels and, therefore, have a large penalty because of lack of sheer. As indicated above, both the wave research and the calculations have shown that the present sheer is necessary for shorter vessels, but it is not necessary for sheer values to continually expand upwards between 600 feet and 1,000 feet in length. Thus the proposed regulation significantly modifies this major penalty for longer vessels.

The proposed regulations increase the degree of effectiveness of the conditions of assignment and protection of the crew, which are mainly embodied in the requirements for weathertightness of superstructures, hatch coamings, and the upper hull fittings. This notice also proposes that all vessels expecting to sail at the new freeboards must have complete loading information for the master of the vessel, which is a step toward greater safety.

The proposed bow height regulations are based on the International Convention but significantly modified in that the bow height requirement is maximum at 550 feet, and lower than maximum on vessels longer than 550 feet, in accordance with the results of the research and seakeeping projections.

The actual calculation of the freeboards under the proposed regulations is expected to be greatly simplified since the new table of freeboards now includes the correction for block coefficients. Secondly, the length-to-depth correction is also included in the evaluation in the basic freeboard table. The only corrections that must be made to the basic calculation of tabular freeboard under this proposal are the superstructure correction (when it is desired) and the modified sheer correction, and the bow height correction. All other geometric calculations have been dropped or included in the calculation.

The existing seasonal freeboards regulations have very large differences among the summer, intermediate, and winter seasons on the Great Lakes. The investigations of the past few years have determined that while it is still desirable to maintain increased freeboard in the rough weather occurring in the fall of the year, the correction can be significantly modified. Accordingly, those vessels which qualify under these proposed regulations would have somewhat increased draft during the fall and winter seasons.

These regulations have been anticipated for well over 10 years. They have been developed after years of expensive and painstaking research, not only on the ships but also on the water and wave conditions, and after considerable laboratory effort in evaluation of the research. It is believed by the Joint Technical Committee of the United States and Canada that these proposed regulations represent a significant forward step in ship evaluation and ship design.

In this proposal vessels are not formally categorized into "new" and "existing" vessels as in International Load Lines Convention of 1966 because there would be two categories of "existing." Instead the new regulations categorize vessels by date of regulations in form. Thus any vessel which can meet the new regulations can receive a Load Line certificate under the new regulations. Vessels meeting older versions of the regulations will be load lined according to the calculations of the older regulations.

The proposed seasonal dates would apply to all vessels on the Great Lakes including vessels which have been issued International Load Lines Convention, 1966, certificates.

In addition to the development of this proposal by a joint United States of America/Canada Technical Committee, the final proposal has been subject to administrative and legal review by the Board of Steamship Inspection and the Coast Guard. Both agencies have prepared regulations and have compared them for similar intent.

While the Canadian and U.S. regulations differ in official format, both are alike in all fundamentals. Accordingly, both agencies are preparing to publish these regulations and place them in effect simultaneously so that the U.S. and Canadian vessels that can meet the proposed safety requirements may use these regulations during the 1973 shipping season.

The following amendments to Part 42 would be made to implement the proposed new Part 45:

1. Section 42.03-1 would be amended to clarify the applicability of this section to vessels navigating the Great Lakes.

2. Section 42.03-5(3) and 42.07-1(b) would be amended to change the reference to § 45.9 of proposed Part 45, which would contain the seasonal equivalents for vessels not operating solely on the Great Lakes.

3. Section 42.03-5(c) would be amended to exclude vessels less than 79 feet. The committee recommended establishment of load-line requirements for vessels 79 feet or more in length in the interests of maintaining uniformity within the International Load Line Convention.

4. Section 42.03-30(b)(2) (e) and (f) would be amended to implement the exemption provision proposed in new § 45.15.

5. Section 42.05-40(c) would be amended to designate the dividing line between fresh and salt water at the Victoria Bridge, Montreal.

6. Section 42.07-45(d) and 42.09-15 (e) (1) would be amended to provide a shorter period for an extension endorsement on the Great Lakes load line certificate from 5 to 2 months because of the higher frequency and shorter length of Great Lakes voyages.

7. Section 42.07-45(e) and (f) would be amended to reference proposed § 45.101, which prescribes the form of the Great Lakes certificates.

In addition to the amendments to Part 42, the Coast Guard proposes to amend Subchapter E of Title 46 of the Code of Federal Regulations by revising Part 45 to read as follows:

Appendix A Load line certificate form.

AUTHORITY: The provisions of this Part 45 issued under sec. 2, 49 Stat. 888, as amended, sec. 6(b) (1), 80 Stat. 937; 46 U.S.C. 88a, 49 U.S.C. 1655(b) (1); 49 CFR 1.46(b).

Subpart A—General

§ 45.1 Purpose.

This part prescribes requirements for assignment of freeboards, issuance of loadline certificates and marking of loadlines to meet the requirements of the Coastwise Load Line Act, 1935 (46 U.S.C. §§ 88-88g) insofar as it applies to the Great Lakes of North America.

§ 45.3 Definitions.

As used in this part:

(a) "Length (L)" means 96 percent of the total length on a waterline at 85 percent of the least moulded depth measured from the top of the keel, or the length from the foreside of the stem to the axis of the rudder stock on that waterline, if that is greater. In ships designed with a rake of keel the waterline on which this length is measured must be parallel to the designed waterline.

(b) "Perpendiculars" means the forward and after perpendiculars at the forward and after ends of the length (L). The forward perpendicular coincides with the foreside of the stem on the waterline on which the length is measured.

(c) "Amidships" means the middle of the length (L).

(d) "Breadth" unless expressly provided otherwise, means the maximum breadth of the ship, measured amidships to the moulded line of the frame in a ship with a metal shell and to the outer surface of the hull in a ship with a shell of any other material.

(e) "Moulded Depth" means the vertical distance measured from the top of the keel to the top of the freeboard deck beam at side except that—

(1) In vessels of other than metal construction, the distance is measured from the lower edge of the keel rabbet;

(2) Where the form at the lower part of the midship section is of a hollow character, or where thick garboards are fitted, the distance is measured from the point where the line of the flat of the bottom continued inwards cuts the side of the keel;

(3) In ships having rounded gunwales, this distance is measured to the point of intersection of the moulded lines of the deck and side, the lines extending as though the gunwale were of angular design; and

(4) Where the freeboard deck is stepped and the raised part of the deck extends over the point at which the moulded depth is to be determined, the distance is measured to a line of reference extending from the lower part of the deck along a line parallel with the raised part.

(f) "Depth for Freeboard (D)" means—

(1) Molded depth measured to the upper surface of the deck or stringer plate with no allowance for sheathing; and

(2) In a vessel having a rounded gunwale with a radius greater than 4 percent of the breadth (B) or having top-sides of unusual form, the depth for freeboard (D) of a vessel having a midship section with vertical topsides and with the same round of beam and area of topside section equal to that provided by the actual midship section.

(g) "Freeboard" means the distance measured vertically downwards amidships from the upper edge of the deck line to the upper edge of the related load line.

(h) "Freeboard Deck" means, normally, the uppermost complete deck exposed to weather and sea that has permanent means of closing all openings in the weather part thereof and below which all openings in the sides of the ship are fitted with permanent means of watertight closings except that—

(1) In a ship having a discontinuous freeboard deck, the lowest line of the exposed deck and the continuation of that line parallel to the upper part of the deck is the freeboard deck.

(2) At the option of the owner and subject to the approval of the Commandant a lower deck may be designated as the freeboard deck, if it is a complete and permanent deck continuous in a fore and aft direction at least between the machinery space and peak bulkheads and continuous athwartships.

(3) When this lower deck is stepped the lowest line of the deck and the continuation of that line parallel to the upper part of the deck is taken as the freeboard deck.

(i) "Superstructure" means a deck structure on the freeboard deck, extending from side to side of the ship or with the side plating not being inboard of the shell plating more than 4 percent of the breadth (B). A raised quarterdeck is a superstructure.

(j) "Enclosed superstructure" means a superstructure with enclosing bulkheads.

(k) "Height" of a superstructure means the least vertical height measured at side from the top of the superstructure deck beams of the top of the freeboard deck beams.

(l) "Length of a superstructure (S)" means the mean length of the part of the superstructure that lies within the length (L).

(m) "Flush Deck Ship" means a ship that has no superstructure on the freeboard deck.

(n) "Watertight" means that in any sea conditions water will not penetrate into the ship except under a static head of water.

(o) "Watertight" means designed to withstand a static head of water.

(p) "Exposed positions" means—

(1) Exposed to weather and sea; or

(2) Within a structure so exposed other than an enclosed superstructure.

(q) "Intact bulkhead" with respect to superstructure means a bulkhead with no openings.

(r) "Steel" means steel and materials with which structures can be made equivalent to steel with respect to yield strength, total deflection, flexural life, and resistance to environmental or stress corrosion.

§ 45.5 Seasonal application of loadlines.

For the purposes of the law and regulations prohibiting submergence of load lines (46 U.S.C. 88c; 46 CFR 42.07-10), the fresh water and salt water loadlines marked under this part apply during the following seasons:

(a) Summer loadlines apply April 16 through April 30; and September 16 through September 30.

(b) Midsummer loadlines apply May 1 through September 15.

(c) Intermediate loadlines apply October 1 through October 31; and April 1 through April 15.

(d) Winter loadlines apply November 1 through March 15.

§ 45.9 Seasonal application of loadlines for vessels not marked under this part.

(a) For the purposes of the law and regulations prohibiting submergence of loadlines (46 U.S.C. 88c; 46 CFR 42.07-10) the marks assigned to vessels holding international loadline certificates apply during the following seasons:

(1) Vessels assigned freeboards as "new" vessels under the International Loadline Convention, 1966—

(i) Winter—November 1 through March 31;

(ii) Summer—April 1 through April 30; and October 1 through October 31;

(iii) Tropical—May 1 through September 30;

(2) Vessels assigned freeboards as "existing" vessels under the International Loadline Convention, 1966—

(i) Winter—November 1 through March 31;

(ii) Summer—April 1 through April 30; and October 1 through October 31;

(iii) Tropical—September 16 through September 30;

(iv) Tropical Fresh—May 1 through September 15.

(b) No allowances for lesser freeboards apply under any circumstances.

§ 45.11 Issue of load line certificate.

(a) Any vessel that meets the requirements in Subparts C and D of this part and the survey requirements in §§ 42.09-15 through 42.09-50 of Part 42 of this chapter is entitled to assignment of freeboards and issue of a load line certificate under this part by the Commandant or his authorized representative.

(b) A vessel the keel of which was laid or was at a similar stage of construction before (effective date) that meets the requirements of this part that were in effect before (effective date) and the survey requirements in §§ 42.09-15 through 42.09-50 of Part 42 of this chapter is entitled to the assignment of freeboards calculated under the provisions of this part in effect before (effective date) and to a load line certificate issued under this part by the Commandant or his authorized representative.

§ 45.13 Form of certificate.

The form of a load line certificate issued under this part is specified in Appendix A.

§ 45.15 Exemptions.

(a) The Commandant may exempt a ship from any of the requirements in this part if the Chairman of the Board of Steamship Inspections, Department of Transport, Canada, and the Commandant agree that the sheltered nature or the conditions of that voyage make it unreasonable or impracticable to apply requirements of this part.

(b) The Commandant may exempt a vessel that embodies features of a novel kind from any of the requirements of this part if those requirements might seriously impede research into the development of such features and their incorporation in ships. Any such vessel must comply with the safety requirements that, in the opinion of the Commandant, are adequate for the service for which the vessel is intended and will ensure the overall safety of the vessel. If the Commandant grants an exemption pursuant to this paragraph he communicates the details of the exemption and the reasons therefor.

(c) A vessel that is not normally engaged on voyages to which this part applies but that, in exceptional circumstances, is required to undertake a single such voyage between two specific ports may be exempted by the Commandant from any of the requirements of this part, if the ship complies with safety requirements that, in the opinion of the Commandant, are adequate for the voyage that is to be undertaken by the vessel.

Subpart B—Loadline Marks

§ 45.31 Deck line.

(a) Each vessel must be marked with a deck line on the outer surface of the shell on each side of the vessel with the upper edge of the line passing through the point where the upper surface of the freeboard deck intersects the outer surface of the shell or if the summer freeboard is correspondingly adjusted under § 45.57, the deck line may be placed above or below the freeboard deck. Figure 1 illustrates the deck line marking.

(b) Each deck line must be 12 inches long and 1 inch wide.

§ 45.33 Diamond.

(a) Each vessel must be marked with the diamond mark described in Figure 2 amidships below the deck line on each side with the center of the loadline mark at a distance below the deck line equal to the summer freeboard assigned under this part.

(b) The width of each line in the load line mark must be 1 inch.

§ 45.35 Seasonal loadlines.

Each vessel must have the summer (S), mid-summer (MS), intermediate (I), and winter (W) loadlines for fresh water freeboards calculated under § 45.71 through 75 of this part marked in accordance with § 45.39.

§ 45.37 Salt water loadlines.

Each vessel that operates in the salt water of the St. Lawrence River must:

(a) Be marked with the summer (S), mid-summer (MS), intermediate (I) and winter (W) load line marks under § 45.77 of this part for salt water; and

(b) Be marked with the letters "FW" above the fresh water marks and the letters "SW" above the salt water marks as described in Figure 2.

§ 45.39 Marking.

(a) The diamond, lines, and letters must be painted in white or yellow on a dark ground or in black on a light ground and permanently marked on the sides of the vessel.

(b) The upper edge of the line that passes through the center of the diamond must indicate summer freeboard assigned under § 45.53.

(c) Unless otherwise authorized the seasonal load lines must be horizontal lines extending forward of, and at right angles to, a vertical line marked at a distance 26 inches forward of the vertical centerline of the diamond as described in Figure 2.

(d) The salt water loadlines must be horizontal lines extending abaft the vertical line required by paragraph (b) of this section as described in Figure 2.

(e) The upper edge of each seasonal and salt water loadline mark must indicate the minimum freeboard for that mark.

(f) When two freeboards assigned under this part differ by 2 inches or less, the line for the lesser freeboard must be omitted and the line for the greater freeboard must be identified with the seasonal letters for both freeboards.

(g) Seasonal freeboards that are limited by a summer freeboard assigned under § 45.53(c) must not be marked but the identifying letter must be marked adjacent to the summer mark.

(h) The identity of the Authority that assigns the freeboard must be indicated alongside the loadline diamond above the horizontal line that passes through the center of the diamond with two ini-als approximately 4½ inches high and 3 inches wide.

Subpart C—Freeboards

§ 45.51 Types of ships.

(a) For the purposes of this subpart, a Type A vessel has:

(1) No cargo ports or similar sideshell openings below the freeboard deck;

(2) Only small main deck openings fitted with watertight gasketed hatch covers of steel;

(3) No dimension of a main deck cargo opening greater than 6 feet and the total area not exceeding 18 square feet; and

(4) No more than two main deck cargo openings to a single cargo space.

(b) For the purposes of this subpart a Type B vessel is a vessel that does not meet the requirements in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 45.53 Summer freeboard.

(a) Except as required in paragraph (c) of this section, the minimum freeboard in summer for a Type A vessel is F in the following formula modified by the corrections in this subpart:

$$F = 10.2 \times P \times D \text{ inches}$$

where P is defined by § 45.55 and D is the depth for freeboard.

(b) Except as required in paragraph (c) of this section, the minimum freeboard in summer for a Type B vessel is F in the formula modified by the corrections in this subpart:

$$F = 12 \times P \times D \text{ inches}$$

where P is defined by § 45.55 and D is the depth for freeboard.

(c) If a minimum freeboard is required for a vessel under this title because of scantling or subdivision requirements greater than the summer freeboard, the summer freeboard and the seasonal freeboards assigned under this subpart must be no less than that minimum freeboard. Seasonal freeboards assigned under § 45.71 through § 45.75 must be calculated on the basis of the summer freeboard calculated under paragraph (a) or (b) of this section.

(d) If a minimum freeboard is requested by the applicant for the load line certificate, that minimum freeboard may be assigned as the summer freeboard and:

(1) The intermediate and winter seasonal freeboards assigned must be calculated under paragraph (a) and (b) of this section; and

(2) The mid-summer seasonal freeboard must be calculated on the basis of the summer freeboard assigned under this paragraph.

§ 45.55 Freeboard coefficient.

(a) For ships 350 feet or more in length (L), the freeboard coefficient is P, in the formula—where P is a factor, which is a function of length from Table 1.

(b) For ships less than 350 feet in length (L), the freeboard coefficient is P, in the formula—where P is a factor which is a function of the length from Table 1.

§ 45.57 Correction: Position of deck line.

(a) Where the depth to the upper edge of the deck line is greater or less than D, the difference between the depths must be added to or deducted from the freeboard.

(b) When the Commandant approves a location for the deck line that is above or below the freeboard deck, the minimum summer freeboard must be corrected by—

(1) Adding the difference between the depth and D if the depth is greater than D; and

(2) Subtracting the difference between the depth and D, if the depth is less than D.

§ 45.58 Correction: Short superstructure.

The minimum freeboard in summer for a Type B vessel that is 79 feet or more but less than 500 feet in length and has enclosed superstructures with an effective length of 25 percent or less of the length of the vessel must be increased by:

$$0.03 (500 - L) (0.25 - E/L) \text{ inches}$$

where (L)=length of vessel in feet;
(E)=effective length of superstructure in feet as defined in § 45.59.

§ 45.59 Definitions for superstructure corrections.

For the purpose of §§ 45.58 through 45.61—

(a) The standard height of a superstructure (H<sub>s</sub>) other than a raised quarter deck and the standard height of a trunk (H<sub>t</sub>) is determined by the formula:

$$H_s = (6.0 + L/300) \text{ feet}$$

(b) The length of superstructure (S) is the length of those parts of the superstructure that lie within the length (L).

(c) The effective length (E) of a trunk is its length in the ratio of its mean breadth to B.

(d) The effective length (E) of an enclosed superstructure of standard height or greater is its actual length.

(e) Where the height of an enclosed superstructure or trunk is less than the standard height (H<sub>s</sub>), the effective length (E) is its length reduced in the ratio of its height to H<sub>s</sub>.

(f) The effective length (E) of a raised quarter deck of two-thirds H<sub>s</sub> or greater that has no openings in the front bulkhead is its length up to a maximum of 0.6 L.

(g) The effective length (E) of a raised quarter deck of less than two-thirds H<sub>s</sub> or that does not have an intact front bulkhead is its length reduced by the ratio of its height to H<sub>s</sub>.

(h) Superstructures which are not enclosed have no effective length.

(i) When a lower deck is designated as the freeboard deck, that part of the hull which extends above the freeboard deck is treated as a superstructure so far as concerns the application of the conditions of assignment and the calculation of freeboard.

(j) A bridge or poop is not enclosed unless access is provided whereby the crew may reach accommodations, machinery, or other working spaces inside the superstructure by alternative means that are available at all times when bulkhead openings are closed.

§ 45.61 Correction for superstructures and trunks.

(a) Where the effective length (E) of superstructures and trunks that meet the requirements of Subpart D is 1.0 L, the minimum summer freeboard may be corrected by subtracting one-half H<sub>s</sub>.

(b) Where the effective length of superstructures and trunks is less than 1.0 L the minimum summer freeboard may be corrected by subtracting a percentage of one-half of the standard superstructure height (H<sub>s</sub>) determined by the formula—

$$\text{Percentage} = E/2L \times (1 + E/L) \times 100$$

(c) To be eligible for the correction a trunk must:

(1) Be at least as strong and as stiff as a superstructure;

(2) Have no opening in the freeboard deck in way of the trunk, except small access openings;

(3) Have hatchway coamings and covers that meet § 45.143 through § 45.147;

(4) Provide a permanent working platform fore and aft with guard rails;

(5) Provide fore and aft access between detached trunks and superstructures by permanent gangways;

(6) Be at least 60 percent of the breadth of the ship in way of the trunk; and

(7) Be at least 0.6 L in length, if no superstructure is provided.

§ 45.63 Correction for sheer.

(a) The minimum summer freeboard must be increased by the deficiency, or may be decreased by the excess as limited by § 45.65, of sheer calculated from Table 4, multiplied by—where S is the total length of enclosed superstructures. Trunks are not included.

$$0.75 - S/2L$$

§ 45.65 Excess sheer limitations.

The decrease in freeboard allowed in § 45.63 is limited as follows:

(a) In vessels having no enclosed superstructure from 0.1 L abaft amidships to 0.1 L forward of amidships, no decrease is allowed.

(b) In vessels having enclosed superstructures amidships less than 0.1 L before and abaft amidships, the decrease must be reduced by linear interpolation.

(c) If excess sheer exists in the forward half, and the after half is at least 75 percent of standard sheer, the full decrease is allowed. If the after sheer is between 50 percent and 75 percent of standard sheer an intermediate decrease, determined by linear interpolation, is allowed for the excess sheer forward. If the after sheer is 50 percent or less than standard, no decrease is allowed for the excess sheer forward.

(d) Where the actual height of a poop or forecabin at the end ordinate exceeds the standard and a decrease in freeboard for excess sheer is desired, the following formula must be used:

$$S = \gamma L' / 8L$$

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

where s=sheer credit, to be deducted from the deficiency or added to the excess of sheer.

Y=difference between actual and standard height of superstructure at the end ordinate.

X=means enclosed length of poop or forecabin up to a maximum length of 0.5 L.

This formula provides a curve in the form of a parabola tangent to the actual sheer curve at the freeboard deck and intersecting the end ordinate at a point below the superstructure. The superstructure deck must not be less than standard height above this curve at any point. This curve must be used in determining the sheer profile for forward and after halves of the vessel.

(e) The maximum decrease for excess sheer must be no more than 1½ inches per 100 feet of length.

(f) Where the deck of an enclosed superstructure has at least the same sheer as the exposed freeboard deck, the sheer of the enclosed portion of the freeboard deck cannot be taken into account.

§ 45.67 Sheer measurement.

(a) The sheer is measured from the freeboard deck at side to a line of reference drawn parallel to the keel through the sheer line at amidships;

(b) In ships designed with a rake of keel or designed to trim by the stern, the sheer must be measured in reference to a line drawn through the sheer line at amidships parallel to the design load waterline.

(c) In flush-deck ships and in ships with detached superstructures, the sheer must be measured at the freeboard deck.

(d) In ships with a step or break in the topsides, the sheer must be measured from the equivalent depth amidships.

(e) In ships with a superstructure of standard height that extends over the whole length of the freeboard deck, the sheer must be measured on the superstructure deck. Where the height of superstructure exceeds the standard, the least difference (Z) between the actual and standard heights must be added to each end ordinate. Similarly, the intermediate ordinates at distances of one-sixth L and one-third L from each perpendicular must be increased by 0.444 Z and 0.111 Z, respectively.

§ 45.69 Correction for bow height.

(a) The minimum summer freeboard must be increased by the same amount in inches as any deficiency which may be shown by the following formulas:

(1) For vessels having a length of not less than 79 feet and not greater than 550 feet,

$$0.593 L (1.0 - L/1,640) \text{ inches} \\ \text{—actual bow height}$$

(2) For vessels having a length greater than 550 feet,

$$(341.6 - 0.227 L) \text{ inches—actual bow height}$$

(b) Where the bow height is obtained by sheer, the sheer must extend for at least 15 percent of the length of the vessel measured from the forward perpendicular.

(c) Where the bow height is obtained by a superstructure, the superstructure must be enclosed and extend from the stem to a point at least 0.06 L abaft the forward perpendicular.

(d) Vessels which, to suit exceptional operational requirements, cannot meet the requirements of paragraph (c) may be given special consideration by the Commandant.

(e) The bow height is defined as the vertical distance at the forward perpendicular between the waterline corresponding to the assigned summer freeboard at the designed trim and the top of the exposed deck at side.

§ 45.71 Mid-summer freeboard.

The minimum mid-summer freeboard (fms) is obtained by the formula:

$$fms = f(s) + 0.3Ts$$

where f(s)=summer freeboard,
Ts=distance between top of keel and the summer loadline.

§ 45.73 Winter freeboard.

The minimum winter freeboard (fw) is obtained by the formula:

$$fw = f(s) + Ts (200/L)$$

where L=length L but not more than 400 feet.

§ 45.75 Intermediate freeboard.

The minimum intermediate freeboard (fi) is obtained by the formula:

$$fi = f(s) + Ts (100/L)$$

where L=length of vessel in feet but not more than 400 feet.

§ 45.77 Salt water freeboard.

The salt water addition to freeboard applicable to each fresh water mark is obtained by the formula:

$$\text{Addition} = \Delta / 41T$$

where A=displacement in fresh water, in tons of 2,240 lbs., at the summer load waterline.

T=tons per inch immersion, of 2,240 lbs., in fresh water at the summer load waterline.

Subpart D—Conditions of Assignment

§ 45.101 Purpose.

This subpart prescribes conditions that a vessel must meet to be eligible for assignment of a load line under this part.

§ 45.103 Structural stress and stability.

(a) The nature and stowage of the cargo, ballast, and other variable weights must be such as to make the vessel stable and avoid excessive structural stress.

(b) The vessel must meet all applicable stability and subdivision requirements of this chapter.

§ 45.105 Information supplied to the master.

Unless otherwise authorized by the Commandant, the vessel must have on board, in a form approved by the Commandant, sufficient information:

(a) To enable the master to load and ballast the vessel in a manner that avoids excessive stresses in the vessel's structure; and

(b) To guide the master as to the stability of the ship under varying conditions of service.

§ 45.107 Strength of hull.

The general structural strength of the hull must be sufficient for the draught corresponding to the freeboard assigned and must be approved by the Commandant. Ships built and maintained in conformity with the requirements of a classification society may be recognized by the Commandant as possessing adequate strength.

§ 45.109 Strength of superstructures and deckhouses.

Each superstructure or deckhouse used for accommodations of the crew must be approved by the Commandant with regard to general strength and weather tightness. The Commandant may use the requirements of the Assigning Authority as a guide.

§ 45.111 Strength of bulkheads at ends of superstructures.

Bulkheads at ends of enclosed superstructures must have sufficient strength to withstand impact of boarding seas.

§ 45.113 Access openings in bulkheads at ends of enclosed superstructures.

(a) Access openings in bulkheads at ends of enclosed superstructures must have doors of steel or material as strong as steel that are permanently attached to the bulkhead and framed, stiffened, and fitted so that the bulkhead and door are as strong as the bulkhead and weather-tight when closed.

(b) The means for securing the doors weather-tight must be permanently attached to the doors or bulkheads and arranged so that the doors can be secured weather-tight from both sides of the bulkhead.

(c) Access openings in bulkheads at ends of enclosed superstructures must have sills that are at least 12 inches above the deck.

§ 45.115 Bulwarks and guardrails.

(a) The exposed parts of freeboard and superstructure decks must have guardrails or bulwarks that are at least 36 inches high above the decks.

(b) Guardrails must have at least three courses with no more than a 9-inch opening below the lowest course and no more than 15 inches between other courses. If the sheer strake projection is at least 8 inches above the deck, a guardrail may have two courses with no more than 15 inches between courses.

(c) In way of trunks open rails shall be fitted for at least half the length of the trunk on the weather parts of the freeboard deck.

§ 45.117 Freeing port area: General.

(a) Where bulwarks on the weather portions of freeboard or superstructure decks form wells, the bulwarks must have the area prescribed in this section and sections 119 and 121 for rapidly freeing and draining the decks of water.

(b) Except as required in sections 119 and 121 the minimum freeing port area in square feet on each side of the ship for each well on the freeboard deck and on the raised quarter deck must be at least as great as A in the following formulas:

(1) Where the length of bulwark (1) in the well is 66 feet or less,

$$A=7.6+0.115L$$

(2) Where (1) exceeds 66 feet

$$A=0.23$$

but need in no case be taken as greater than 0.7 L.

(c) In ships having erections on deck that are open at either or both ends, provision for freeing the space within such erections must be approved by the Commandant.

(d) The lower edges of the freeing ports must be as near the deck as practicable. Two-thirds of the freeing port area required must be provided in the half of the well nearest the lowest point of the sheer curve.

(e) All freeing port openings in the bulwarks must be protected by rails or bars spaced approximately 9 inches. If shutters are fitted to freeing ports, ample clearance must be provided to prevent jamming. Hinges must have pins or bearings of noncorrodible material. If shutters are fitted with securing appliances, these appliances must be of approved construction.

(f) The minimum freeing port area for each well on superstructure decks must be one-half of the area required by paragraph (b) of this section.

§ 45.119 Freeing port area: Changes from standard sheer.

The freeing port area required by § 45.117(b) must be multiplied by the factor in the following Table 5 if the sheer differs from the standard sheer obtained by the formulas in Table 4.

§ 45.123 Freeing port area: Changes for bulwark height.

(a) For the purposes of freeing port area only, bulwark height is considered standard at 24 inches for ships 240 feet in length and less; and 48 inches for ships 480 feet in length or greater. The standard bulwark height for ships of intermediate length is obtained by direct interpolation.

(b) If the bulwark is more than standard height, the area required by § 45.117 must be increased by 0.04 square feet per foot of length of well for each foot difference in height.

(c) For ships greater than 480 feet in length that have an average bulwark height less than 3 feet, the area required by § 45.117 may be decreased by 0.04 square foot per foot of length for each foot difference in height.

§ 45.125 Crew passageways.

The vessel must have means for protection of the crew from boarding seas such as lifelines, gangways, and under-deck passages to facilitate passing between their quarters and machinery spaces and other spaces essential to the operation of the ship.

§ 45.127 Position of structures, openings, and fittings.

For the purposes of this part: (a) "Position 1" means in an exposed position on—

(1) The freeboard deck or a raised quarter deck;

(2) A superstructure deck or a trunk deck and forward of a point one-fourth L from the forward perpendicular; or

(3) A trunk deck whose height is other than a raised quarterdeck, exists; or less than Hs, where the trunk deck is other than a raised quarterdeck.

(b) "Position 2" means—

(1) On a superstructure deck aft of a point one-fourth L abaft the forward perpendicular; or

(2) On a superstructure and trunk combination, that is Hs in height, aft of a point one-fourth L abaft the forward perpendicular.

§ 45.129 Hull fittings: General.

Hull fittings must be securely mounted in the hull so as to avoid increases in hull stresses and must be protected from local damage caused by movement of equipment or cargo.

§ 45.131 Ventilators.

(a) Ventilators passing through superstructures other than enclosed superstructures must have coamings of steel or equivalent material at the freeboard deck.

(b) Ventilators in position 1 must have coamings at least 30 inches above the deck and ventilators in position 2 must have coamings at least 24 inches above the deck. In other exposed positions, the Commandant may also require coamings.

(c) Ventilators in position 1 or 2 of spaces below freeboard decks or decks of enclosed superstructures or trunks must have coamings of steel permanently connected to the deck and any ventilator coaming that is more than 36 inches high must be specially supported.

(d) Except as provided in paragraph (e) of this section ventilator openings must have weathertight closing appliances that are permanently attached or, where approved by the Commandant, conveniently stowed near the ventilators to which they are to be fitted.

(e) Ventilators in position 1, the coamings of which extend to more than 12.5 feet above the deck, and in position 2, the coamings of which extend to more than 6 feet above the deck, need not have closing appliances unless specifically required by the Commandant.

§ 45.133 Air pipes.

(a) Where an air pipe to any tank extends above the freeboard or superstructure deck:

(1) The exposed part of the air pipe must be made of steel, properly installed, and of sufficient thickness to avoid breaking from corrosion or fatigue;

(2) The air pipe must have a permanently attached means of closing its opening; and

(3) The height from the deck to any point where water may enter the air pipe must be at least 30 inches above the freeboard deck, 24 inches above raised quarter decks, and 12 inches above other superstructure decks.

(b) If the height required in paragraph (a) interferes with working the ship, the Commandant may approve a lower height after considering the closing arrangements.

§ 45.135 Hull openings at or below freeboard deck.

Closures for hull openings at or below the freeboard deck must be as strong as the structure to which they are attached and must be watertight.

§ 45.137 Cargo ports.

(a) Unless otherwise authorized by the Commandant, the lower edge of any opening for cargo, personnel, machinery access or similar opening in the side of a ship must be above a line that is drawn parallel to the freeboard deck at side and has as its lowest point the upper edge of the uppermost load line.

(b) The number of cargo ports in the sides of a ship must be:

(1) No more than the minimum necessary for working the ship; and

(2) Approved by the Commandant.

§ 45.139 Side scuttles.

The sill of each side scuttle must be above a line that is drawn parallel to the freeboard deck at side having its lowest point 2.5 percent of the breadth or 20 inches above the summer load waterline, whichever is higher.

§ 45.141 Manholes and flush scuttles.

Manholes and flush scuttles in position 1 or 2 or within any superstructure other than an enclosed superstructure must have permanently attached covers, unless the cover is secured by closely spaced bolts around its entire perimeter.

§ 45.143 Hull openings above freeboard deck.

Closures for openings above the freeboard deck must be as strong as the structure to which they are attached and must be weathertight.

§ 45.145 Hatchway covers.

(a) Hatchways in position 1 and 2 must have weathertight hatch covers with gaskets and clamping devices.

(b) The maximum ultimate strength of the hatchway cover material must be at least 4.25 times the maximum stress of the material calculated with the following assumed loads:

(1) For ships 350 feet or more in length, at least 250 pounds per square foot in position 1 and 200 pounds per square foot in position 2.

(2) For ships less than 350 feet in length, at least AL in the following formula:

(i) Position 1:

$$AL=150+C$$

where  $C=50(L-79)/271$

(ii) Position 2:

$$AL=200+C$$

(c) Hatchway covers must be so designed as to limit the deflection to not more than 0.0028 times the span under the loads described in paragraph (b) and the thickness of mild steel plating forming the tops of covers must be at least 1 percent of the spacing of stiffeners or 0.24 inches, whichever is greater.

§ 45.147 Hatchway coamings.

(a) Except where the Commandant determines that the safety of the vessel will not be impaired in any sea condition, each hatchway must have a coaming that is at least—

(1) 18 inches in position 1; and

(2) 12 inches in position 2.

(b) Each hatchway coaming required by this section must be made of steel.

§ 45.149 Machinery space openings.

(a) Machinery space opening in position 1 or 2 must be framed and enclosed by steel casings, and where the casings are not protected by other structures that meet the requirements of § 45.109, their strength must be approved by the Commandant.

(b) Access openings in casings required by paragraph (a) must have doors complying with the requirements of § 45.113. Other openings in such casings shall be fitted with equivalent covers, permanently attached.

(c) Except as provided in paragraph (d), coamings of any funnel or machinery space ventilator that must be kept open for the essential operations of the ship must—

(1) In position 1, extend at least 12.5 feet above the deck; and

(2) In position 2, extend at least 6 feet above the deck.

(d) The Commandant may approve a lesser height for protected coamings.

(e) Coamings of any fiddley or skylight over a machinery space opening in the freeboard or superstructure deck must have covers of steel permanently attached and capable of being secured weathertight.

§ 45.151 Other openings.

Each opening other than hatchways, machinery space openings, manholes, or flush scuttles:

(a) In freeboard decks, must be protected by an enclosed superstructure or by a deckhouse or companionway that is equal in strength and weathertightness to an enclosed superstructure; or

(b) In exposed superstructure decks or in the top of a deckhouse on freeboard decks that give access to a space below the freeboard deck or a space within an enclosed superstructure, must be protected by a deckhouse or companionway.

§ 45.153 Through-hull piping: General.

(a) All through-hull pipes required by this subpart must be made of steel or material equivalent in strength and fatigue resistance approved by the Commandant.

(b) All valves used as shell fittings and all shell fittings on which such valves are mounted must be made of steel, or bronze or other ductile material approved by the Commandant.

§ 45.155 Inlets and discharge piping: Valves.

(a) Except as provided in paragraph (d) and (e), each pipe that discharges overboard through the hull of the ship must have—

(1) An automatic nonreturn valve with a positive means for closing; or

(2) Two automatic nonreturn valves with the inboard valve accessible for examination in service.

(b) The means for operating a valve described by paragraph (a)(1) must be readily accessible and have indicators that show when the valve is not closed.

(c) If the pipe discharges from a space that is not manned or does not have continuous bilge water monitoring, a valve described in paragraph (a)(1) must be operable above the freeboard deck.

(d) Each pipe that discharges from a space within an enclosed superstructure or deckhouse may have at least one accessible automatic nonreturn valve if the space is regularly visited by the crew.

(e) Through-hull piping systems in machinery spaces may have valves with positive means for closing at the shell if the controls are readily accessible and have indicators showing when the valves are not closed (nonreturn valves are not required).

§ 45.157 Scuppers and gravity drains.

Scuppers and gravity deck drains from spaces above the freeboard deck that penetrate the shell below a line 24 inches (or 0.05 B) above the summer load line must have an automatic nonreturn valve, unless the piping is properly installed steel pipe of sufficient thickness to avoid breaking from corrosion or fatigue.

§ 45.159 Special conditions of assignment for type A vessels.

The lower freeboards allowed for type A vessels allow water on deck for greater percentages of time. Therefore the following additional requirements must be met to qualify for type A freeboards:

(a) Machinery casings must be protected by an enclosed superstructure or deckhouse unless intact bulkheads are used on all sides on the freeboard deck.

(b) Exposed machinery casings may be fitted with weathertight doors providing they lead to a space or passageway as strong as an enclosed superstructure from which a second interior weathertight door is provided for access to the engine room.

(c) Hatchways on the exposed freeboard or forecastle decks must be provided with watertight covers of steel.

(d) Unless a separate fore and aft access is provided below the freeboard deck, a permanent fore and aft gangway must be fitted at the superstructure deck level between poop and all other deckhouses used in the essential operation of the vessel.

(e) Type A vessels must be fitted with open rails for at least half the length of the exposed parts of the weather deck. Where superstructures are connected by trunks, open rails must be fitted for the whole length of the exposed parts of the freeboard deck.

marked upon the vessel in manner and location as provided by the load line regulations of the Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard, applicable to the Great Lakes.

This certificate remains in force until ----- day of ----- 19---- (Here follows the signature, seal, if any, and the name of the authority issuing the certificate.)

NOTES

(1) In accordance with the Great Lakes Load Line regulations the diamond and lines must be permanently marked by center punch marks or cutting. The "MS" load line shall be assigned only to those particular vessels that qualify under the regulations.

(2) The "SW" marks need only be assigned to Great Lakes vessels loading in salt water of the St. Lawrence River west of a straight line from Cap de Rosiers to West Point Anticosti Island, and west of a line along longitude 63 degrees west from Anticosti Island to the north shore of the St. Lawrence River. In such cases these limits shall be indicated on the certificate.

(3) The load line assignment given by this certificate necessarily assumes that the nature and stowage of cargo, ballast, etc., are such as to secure sufficient stability for the vessel. Accordingly, it is the owner's responsibility to furnish the Master of the vessel with stability information and instructions when this is necessary to maintenance of sufficient stability.

(On the reverse side of the load line certificate, or on a separate sheet attached and forming part of the certificate, provision is to be made for annual inspection and renewal endorsements.)

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR
Employment Standards Administration
MINIMUM WAGES FOR FEDERAL AND
FEDERALLY ASSISTED CONSTRUCTION

Area Wage Determination Decisions,
Modifications, and Supersedes Decisions

Area Wage Determination Decisions. Area Wage Determination Decisions of the Secretary of Labor specify, in accordance with applicable law and on the basis of information available to the Department of Labor from its study of local wage conditions and from other sources, the basic hourly wage rates and fringe benefit payments which are determined to be prevailing for the described classes of laborers and mechanics employed in construction activity of the character and in the localities specified therein.

The determinations in these decisions of such prevailing rates and fringe benefits have been made by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR 1.1 (including the statutes listed at 36 FR 306 following Secretary of Labor's Order No. 24-70) containing provisions for the payment of wages which are dependent upon determination by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act; and pursuant to the provisions of Part 1 of Subtitle A of Title 29 of Code of Federal Regulations, Procedure for Predetermination of Wage Rates (37 FR 21138), and of Secretary of Labor's Orders 12-71 and 15-71 (36 FR 8755, 8756). The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in these decisions shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged on contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Good cause is hereby found for not utilizing notice and public procedure thereon prior to the issuance of these determinations as prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 and not providing for delay in effective date as described in that section, because the necessity to issue construction industry wage determinations frequently and in large volume causes procedures to be impractical and contrary to the public interest.

Area Wage Determination Decisions are effective from their date of publication in the Federal Register without limitation as to time and are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR, Parts 1 and 5. Accordingly, the applicable decision together with any modifications issued subsequent to its publication date shall be made a part of every contract for performance of the described work within the geographic area indicated as required by an applicable Federal prevailing wage law and 29 CFR, Part 5. The wage rates contained therein shall be the minimum paid under such contract by contractors and subcontractors on the work.

Modifications and Supersedes Decisions. Modifications and Supersedes Decisions to Area Wage Determination Decisions are based upon information obtained concerning changes in prevailing hourly wage rates and fringe benefit payments since the decisions were issued.

The determinations of prevailing rates and fringe benefits made in the Modifications and Supersedes Decisions have been made by authority of the Secretary of Labor pursuant to the provisions of the Davis-Bacon Act of March 3, 1931, as amended (46 Stat. 1494, as amended, 40 U.S.C. 276a) and of other Federal statutes referred to in 29 CFR 1.1 (including the statutes listed at 36 FR 306 following Secretary of Labor's Order No. 24-70) containing provisions for the payment of wages which are dependent upon determination by the Secretary of Labor under the Davis-Bacon Act; and pursuant to the provisions of Part 1 of Subtitle A of Title 29 of Code of Federal Regulations, Procedure for Predetermination of Wage Rates (37 FR 21138), and of Secretary of Labor's Orders 13-71 and 15-71 (36 FR 8755, 8756). The prevailing rates and fringe benefits determined in foregoing Area Wage Determination Decisions, as hereby modified, and/or superseded shall, in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing statutes, constitute the minimum wages payable on Federal and federally assisted construction projects to laborers and mechanics of the specified classes engaged in contract work of the character and in the localities described therein.

Modifications and Supersedes Decisions are effective from their date of publication in the Federal Register without limitation as to time and are to be used in accordance with the provisions of 29 CFR, Parts 1 and 5.

Any person, organization, or governmental agency having an interest in the wages determined as prevailing is encouraged to submit wage rate information for consideration by the Department. Further information and self-explanatory forms for the purpose of submitting this data may be obtained by writing to the U.S. Department of Labor, Employment Standards Administration, Office of Special Wage Standards, Division of Wage Determinations, Washington, D.C. 20210. The cause for not utilizing the rule making procedures prescribed in 5 U.S.C. 553 has been set forth in the original Area Wage Determination Decision.

Rules and Regulations

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains regulatory documents having general applicability and legal effect most of which are keyed to and codified in the Code of Federal Regulations, which is published under 50 titles pursuant to 44 U.S.C. 1510. The Code of Federal Regulations is sold by the Superintendent of Documents. Prices of new books are listed in the first FEDERAL REGISTER issue of each month.

Title 6—Economic Stabilization CHAPTER I—COST OF LIVING COUNCIL PART 130—COST OF LIVING COUNCIL PHASE III REGULATIONS

Firms Engaged in the Manufacture of Meat Products

Part 130 is amended in subpart F by adding a new § 130.57d. The purpose of the new § 130.57d is to prescribe a new pricing mechanism applicable to manufacturers of meat products within Standard Industrial Classification Codes 2011 (Meat Packing Plants) or 2013 (Sausage and other Prepared Meat Products) and to replace the provisions of the Price Commission's regulations on volatile pricing (§ 300.51 (f) through (i) and Special Regulation 3) as they apply to these manufacturers. This section applies to those establishments engaged in the slaughtering and processing of cattle, hogs, sheep, lambs, and calves as classified in SIC Code 2011 and to those establishments engaged in manufacturing sausages, cured meats, smoked meats, frozen meats, natural sausage casings, and other prepared meats and meat specialties, from purchased carcasses and other materials, as classified in SIC Code 2013. This section does not apply to establishments engaged in canning or otherwise processing poultry, rabbits and other small game as classified in SIC Codes 2016 (Poultry Dressing Plants) and 2017 (Poultry and Egg Processing).

The new section is mandatory, rather than optional, and covers both price reporting and price recordkeeping meat manufacturers subject to the rules of Subpart F. The new rule is designed to be more easily administered and enforced than the previous rules. In addition, it is more in keeping with historical pricing mechanisms in the industry.

The new rule is intended to establish and maintain a closer relationship between costs and prices in the meat packing industry. When livestock prices decline, the rule will better insure that livestock cost reductions will be passed through by meatpackers, and it is expected that such price decreases will benefit ultimate consumers.

Under the regulations of the Price Commission during Phase II of the Economic Stabilization Program, manufacturers of meat products who had obtained volatile pricing authority from the Price Commission were permitted to recover volatile raw material costs on a dollar-for-dollar basis without prenotification, and were required to allocate volatile raw material cost increases on an item-by-item basis. The difficulty of tracking cost elements from the raw material stage through to an individual finished product made the volatility authorization granted to meatpackers difficult to administer and enforce. Issuance of Special Regulation 3 on September 30, 1972, alleviated some of these difficulties, but was merely intended to be an interim provision.

Under the provisions of new § 130.57d, a manufacturer of meat products is required to aggregate his meat raw material costs on a quarterly basis. These aggregate costs will be compared to aggregate revenues from the sale of products in the manufacture of which those meat raw materials are used. This comparison is to be accomplished by the use of a base period "gross margin" as defined in the new § 130.57d. The margin between meat raw materials' aggregate cost in a current quarter and revenues from the sales of finished products in which those raw materials are used must not exceed the gross margin which prevailed in the base period as defined in the new section. This system will allow no more than a dollar-for-dollar pass-through of meat raw material costs. Price increases based on other cost increases, such as labor and overhead, remain subject to the rules set out in Subpart F. Allowance will also be made for seasonal variations in gross margin.

The new § 130.57d also provides for special additional reporting and recordkeeping requirements applicable to firms engaged in the manufacture of meat products. Those manufacturers who are reporting firms under § 130.54 and who have transactions involving products within SIC 2011 or 2013 will be required to report monthly and quarterly to the Council on their compliance with new § 130.57d. Those manufacturers who are recordkeeping firms under § 130.55 and who have transactions involving products within SIC 2011 and 2013 will be required to maintain monthly and quarterly records on their compliance with new § 130.57d.

Because the purpose of this amendment is to provide immediate guidance as to Cost of Living Council policy, I find that publication in accordance with normal rulemaking procedures is impracticable and that good cause exists for making these regulations effective in less than 30 days. Interested persons may submit comments regarding these regulations. Communications should be addressed to the Office of General Counsel, Cost of Living Council, Washington, D.C. 20508.

(Economic Stabilization Act of 1970, Public Law 92-210, 85 Stat. 743 and Executive Order 11695, 38 FR 1473)

In consideration of the foregoing, Part 130 of Title 6 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by adding a new § 130.57d as set forth herein, effective March 22, 1973.

Issued in Washington, D.C., on March 22, 1973.

JAMES W. McLANE,
Deputy Director.

§ 130.57d Pricing rule for firms engaged in the manufacture of meat products within Standard Industrial Classification Codes 2011 and 2013.

(a) Scope. This section establishes a special rule governing price adjustments based on the cost of meat raw materials by a firm that is a manufacturer of meat products within Standard Industrial Classification Codes 2011 or 2013 to allow no more than a dollar-for-dollar pass-through of the costs of meat raw materials used by the firm in its manufacture of meat products. This pass-through of meat raw material costs may be accomplished without prenotification otherwise required pursuant to § 130.57. In addition, insofar as they are applicable to manufacturers of meat products subject to this rule, all authorizations issued to such manufacturers by the Price Commission permitting the use of volatile pricing are superseded by this section, and the requirements of Special Regulation 3 issued by the Price Commission are also hereby superseded.

(b) Definitions. For purposes of this section—

"Total sales revenues" means the aggregate revenues derived from sales of all products within SIC 2011 and 2013 manufactured by a firm.

"Input pounds" means the total number of pounds of live weight meat raw materials, whether unprocessed or semi-processed, purchased by a firm or otherwise in process during a calendar reporting or recordkeeping period, minus the total number of pounds of such materials remaining in process at the end of the same calendar reporting or recordkeeping period.

"Meat raw materials costs" means the aggregate cost of all input pounds of meat raw materials.

"Base period" means any 2, at the option of the person concerned, of the following fiscal years: That person's last 3 fiscal years ending before August 15, 1971, and any fiscal year, other than the fiscal year for which compliance is being measured, completed on or after that date.

"Base period gross margin" means the dollar margin between the total meat raw material costs and revenues derived from the sale during the base period of all products in the manufacture of which

Total sales revenues in the base period—Total meat raw materials costs in the base period
Volume of input pounds during the base period measured by hundredweight = Base period gross margin per hundredweight.

(c) Pricing rule. Total sales revenues for any calendar quarter from sales of all products in SIC 2011 and 2013 may not exceed an amount derived from the following computation: The base period gross margin multiplied by the current

[Base period gross margin per hundredweight X Volume of input pounds in the current period measured by hundredweight] + Current period total meat raw materials costs
Permissible total sales revenues in the current period

Any sales revenues in excess of that figure are permissible, but only if based upon adjustments pursuant to § 130.57 based on costs other than meat raw materials or if based upon seasonal patterns permissible pursuant to Price Commission Regulation § 300.81 in effect on January 10, 1973, or both factors.

(d) Reporting and recordkeeping requirements.—(1) Reports. Each firm which is a price reporting firm as defined in § 130.54 and which is engaged in transactions involving products within SIC 2011 or 2013 shall file with the Council, on forms to be prescribed by the Council, monthly and quarterly reports setting forth the following information:

(i) Gross margin attributable to the firm during the base period;

(ii) The total meat raw material input pounds during the reporting period;

(iii) The aggregate cost of the meat raw material during the reporting period; and

(iv) The total sales involving products in the manufacture of which the meat raw materials were used during the reporting period.

(2) Reporting schedule. Beginning with the first calendar month completed after the effective date of this section, monthly reports shall be filed with the Council not later than 30 days after the last day of each month. Quarterly reports shall be filed with the Cost of Living Council not later than 45 days after the last day of each calendar quarter.

(3) Recordkeeping. Each firm which is a price recordkeeping firm as defined in § 130.55 and is engaged in transactions involving products within SIC 2011 or 2013 shall maintain records of the information required in paragraph (d) (1) of this section and within the times specified in paragraph (d) (2) of this section.

(e) Other costs. Price increases above base price to reflect costs other than those of the meat raw materials used in the manufacture of products within SIC 2011 or 2013 remain subject to the rules set forth in § 130.57.

such meat raw materials are used, divided by the volume of input pounds of meat raw material sold during the base period. This computation may be illustrated by the use of the following equation:

quarter volume of input pounds of meat raw material sold during the quarter, plus the total meat raw materials cost during this quarter. This computation may be illustrated by the following equation:

[Base period gross margin per hundredweight X Volume of input pounds in the current period measured by hundredweight] + Current period total meat raw materials costs
Permissible total sales revenues in the current period

Title 7—Agriculture

CHAPTER IX—AGRICULTURAL MARKETING SERVICE (MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND ORDERS; FRUITS, VEGETABLES, NUTS), DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

[Navel Orange Reg. 292, Amdt. 1]

PART 907—NAVEL ORANGES GROWN IN ARIZONA AND DESIGNATED PART OF CALIFORNIA

Limitation of Handling

This regulation increases the quantity of California-Arizona Navel oranges that may be shipped to fresh market during the weekly regulation period March 16 to March 22, 1973. The quantity that may be shipped is increased due to improved market conditions for Navel oranges. The regulation and this amendment are issued pursuant to the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended, and Marketing Order No. 907.

(a) Findings. (1) Pursuant to the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 907, as amended (7 CFR Part 907), regulating the handling of Navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California, effective under the applicable provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601-674), and upon the basis of the recommendations and information submitted by the Navel Orange Administrative Committee, established under the said amended marketing agreement and order, and upon other available information, it is hereby found that the limitation of handling of such Navel oranges, as hereinafter provided, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act.

(2) The need for an increase in the quantity of oranges available for handling during the current week results from changes that have taken place in the marketing situation since the issuance of Navel Orange Regulation 292 (38 FR 6987). The marketing picture now indicates that there is a greater demand for Navel oranges than existed when the regulation was made effective. Therefore, in order to provide an opportunity for handlers to handle a sufficient volume of Navel oranges to fill the current market demand thereby making a greater quantity of Navel oranges available to meet such increased demand, the regulation should be amended, as hereinafter set forth.

(3) It is hereby further found that it is impracticable and contrary to the public interest to give preliminary notice, engage in public rule making procedure, and postpone the effective date of this amendment until 30 days after publication thereof in the FEDERAL REGISTER (5 U.S.C. 553) because the time intervening between the date when information upon which this amendment is based became available and the time when this amendment must become effective in order to effectuate the declared policy of the act is insufficient, and this amendment relieves restriction on the handling of Navel oranges grown in Arizona and designated part of California.

(b) Order, as amended. The provisions in paragraph (b) (1) (i) of § 907.592 (Navel Orange Regulation 292) (38 FR 6987) are hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 907.592 Navel Orange Regulation 292.

(b) Order. (1) . . . .

(i) District 2: 375,000 cartons.

(Secs. 1-19, 48 Stat. 31, as amended; 7 U.S.C. 601-674)

Dated: March 21, 1973.

CHARLES R. BRADER,
Acting Deputy Director, Fruit and Vegetable Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

Title 8—Aliens and Nationality

CHAPTER I—IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

PART 204—PETITION TO CLASSIFY ALIEN AS IMMEDIATE RELATIVE OF A U.S. CITIZEN OR AS A PREFERENCE IMMIGRANT

PART 205—REVOCATION OF APPROVAL OF PETITIONS

Preference Immigrant Visa Petitions

Pursuant to 5 U.S.C. 552 and the authority contained in 8 U.S.C. 1103 and 8 CFR 2.1, amendments, as set forth herein, are prescribed in Parts 204 and 205 of Chapter I of Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

Recent precedent decisions of the Board of Immigration Appeals (Matter of Chatterton, Interim Decision No. 2133, Matter of Ponce de Leon, Interim Decision No. 2139, and Matter of Ascher, Interim Decision No. 2182), designated in accordance with 8 CFR 3.1(g), hold that an alien born in an independent country of the Western Hemisphere who, pursuant to the provisions of section 202(b) of the Immigration and Nationality Act, is alternatively chargeable to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere, may be the direct beneficiary of an immigrant visa petition to accord preference classification under section 203(a) of the Act. Therefore, §§ 204.1(a) and (c) are being amended to provide for the filing of a visa petition to accord preference classification on behalf of a native of the Western Hemisphere as described above, and a new § 204.2(e-1) is added to include procedures for establishing eligibility for alternate chargeability under section 202(b) of the Act. Corollary technical amendments are made in §§ 204.4, 204.5, and 205.1.

In the light of the foregoing, the following amendments to Chapter I of Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations are hereby prescribed:

Part 204 is amended by revising §§ 204.1, 204.4, and 204.5 and by adding a new § 204.2(e-1), as follows:

§ 204.1 [Amended]

In § 204.1 Petition, paragraph (a) Relative is amended by adding a new sentence at the end thereof to read as follows: "Also, notwithstanding the fact that the beneficiary may be a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone, a petition to accord him classification under section 203(a) (1), (2), (4), or (5) of the Act may be filed when the petitioner claims that the beneficiary is alternatively chargeable under section 202(b) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state; however, in addition to the documents required to establish eligibility for the preference classification sought, such a petition must be accompanied by documentary evidence of the beneficiary's claimed chargeability under section 202(b) of the Act as prescribed in § 204.2(e-1)."

2. In § 204.1 Petition, subparagraph (1) General of paragraph (c) Petition under section 203(a) (3) or (6) is amended by adding a new sentence at the end thereof to read as follows: "Notwithstanding the fact that the beneficiary may be a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone, a petition to accord him classification under section 203(a) (3) or (6) of the Act may be filed when the petitioner claims that the beneficiary is alternatively chargeable under section 202(b) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state; however, in addition to the documents required to establish eligibility for the preference classification sought, such a petition must be accompanied by documentary evidence of the beneficiary's claimed chargeability under section 202(b) of the Act as prescribed in § 204.2(e-1)."

3. In § 204.2, a new paragraph (e-1) is added to read as follows:

§ 204.2 Documents.

(e-1) Evidence of alternate chargeability to an Eastern Hemisphere country or dependent area if beneficiary born in independent Western Hemisphere country or the Canal Zone.—(1) General. When the beneficiary was born in an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone and the petitioner, seeking to confer a preference classification upon the beneficiary, claims that the beneficiary is alternatively chargeable under section 202(b) of the Act to an Eastern Hemisphere state or a dependent area of such state, evidence must be submitted with the petition in support of such claim.

(2) Claimed alternate chargeability under section 202(b) (1). If the beneficiary is an alien child and it is claimed he is alternatively chargeable under section 202(b) (1) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such foreign state in which his parent was born, such parent's birth certificate must be submitted, as well as evidence of the relationship between the beneficiary and such parent as specified in paragraph (c) (3) of this section. In addition, the petitioner must submit a statement that the beneficiary will be accompanied by such parent when the beneficiary applies for admission to the United States and, if such parent is not a lawful permanent resident of the United States, that the beneficiary and such parent will apply simultaneously for immigrant visas.

(3) Claimed alternate chargeability under section 202(b) (2). If the beneficiary is married, and it is claimed that the beneficiary is alternatively chargeable under section 202(b) (2) to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such foreign state in which his spouse was born, the spouse's birth certificate must be submitted, as well as evidence of the relationship between the beneficiary and his spouse as specified in Paragraph (c) (2) of this section. In addition, the petitioner must submit a statement that the beneficiary will be accompanied by his spouse when the beneficiary applies for admission to the United States and, if the beneficiary's spouse is not a lawful permanent resident of the United States, that the beneficiary and spouse will apply simultaneously for immigrant visas.

(4) Claimed alternate chargeability under section 202(b) (3). If the beneficiary was born in the United States and it is claimed that he is alternatively chargeable under section 202(b) (3) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such foreign state of which he is a citizen or subject or, if he is stateless, of which he is a resident, his birth certificate and evidence that he is a citizen, subject, or resident of such foreign state or area must be submitted.

(5) Claimed alternate chargeability under section 202(b) (4). If it is claimed that neither of the beneficiary's parents was born in the country in which he was born, that neither of his parents had a residence in such country at the time of his birth, that one of the parents was born in a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such foreign state, and that the beneficiary is, therefore, alternatively chargeable under section 202(b) (4) of the Act to such foreign state or dependent area, the birth certificates of the beneficiary and each of his parents, the marriage certificate of his parents and proof of termination of any previous marriages of his father and mother, and a statement setting forth pertinent details concerning the residence of his parents at the time of his birth, must be submitted.

4. In § 204.4, the first sentence of paragraphs (a) and (b) is revised by inserting at the beginning thereof the following words: "Unless revoked pursuant to Part 205 of this chapter." As amended, §§ 204.4 (a) and (b) read as follows:

§ 204.4 Validity of approved petitions.

(a) Relative petitions. Unless revoked pursuant to Part 205 of this chapter, the approval of a petition to classify an alien as a preference immigrant under section 203(a), (1), (2), (4), or (5) of the Act, or as an immediate relative under section 201(b) of the Act, shall remain valid for the duration of the relationship to the petitioner, and status, as established in the petition.

(b) Petitions under sections 203(a) (3) and (6). Unless revoked pursuant to Part 205 of this chapter, the approval of a petition to classify an alien as a preference immigrant under section 203(a) (3) or (6) of the Act shall remain valid for as long as the supporting labor certification is valid and unexpired, provided in the case of a petition for third preference classification there is no change in the beneficiary's intention to engage in the indicated profession, art or science, and provided in the case of a petition for sixth preference classification there is no change in the respective intentions of the petitioner and the beneficiary that the beneficiary will be employed by the petitioner in the capacity indicated in the petition. The approval of a petition to classify an alien under section 203(a) (3) or (6) of the Act which had heretofore become invalid solely because the date until which the approval was valid had lapsed, is hereby reinstated provided the conditions of this paragraph are met.

5. In § 204.5, subparagraph (1) of paragraph (a) is revised, and paragraph (b) is revised. As amended, §§ 204.5(a) (1) and 204.5(b) read as follows:

§ 204.5 Automatic conversion of classification of beneficiary.

(a) By change in beneficiary's marital status. (1) A currently valid petition previously approved to classify the beneficiary as the unmarried son or daughter of a U.S. citizen under section 203(a) (1) of the Act shall be regarded as approved for preference status under section 203(a) (4) of the Act as of the date the beneficiary marries. A currently valid petition previously approved to classify the child of a U.S. citizen as an immediate relative under section 201(b) of the Act shall also be regarded as approved for preference status under section 203(a) (4) of the Act as of the date the beneficiary marries, if the beneficiary is not a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone; in the case of a beneficiary who is a native of an independent Western Hemisphere country or the Canal Zone, the petition shall be regarded as approved for such preference status as of the date of the marriage only if the petitioner establishes in accordance with § 204.2(e-1) that the beneficiary is alternately chargeable under section 202(b) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state.

(b) By beneficiary's attainment of the age of 21 years. A currently valid petition classifying the child of a U.S. citizen as an immediate relative under section 201(b) of the Act shall be regarded as approved for preference status under section 203(a)(1) of the Act as of the beneficiary's attainment of his 21st birthday if he is still unmarried and he is not a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone or, in the event he is a native of such country or the Canal Zone, the petitioner establishes in accordance with § 204.2(e-1) that the beneficiary is alternately chargeable under section 202(b) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state.

In § 205.1, paragraph (a) is amended by revising subparagraphs (4) and (5) and by adding new subparagraphs (5a), (7), (8), and (9); paragraph (b) is amended by adding new subparagraphs (6) and (7). As amended, § 205.1 (a) and (b) read as follows:

§ 205.1 Automatic revocation.

The approval of a petition made under section 204 of the Act and in accordance with Part 204 of this chapter is revoked as of the date of approval if any of the following circumstances occur before the beneficiary's journey to the United States commences or, if the beneficiary is an applicant for adjustment of status to that of a permanent resident, before the decision on his application becomes final:

(a) Relative petitions. (1) Upon formal notice of withdrawal filed by the petitioner with the officer who approved the petition.

(2) Upon the death of the petitioner or beneficiary.

(3) Upon the legal termination of the relationship of husband and wife when a petition has accorded status as the spouse of a citizen or lawful resident alien, respectively, under section 201(b), or section 203(a)(2) of the Act.

(4) Upon a child beneficiary reaching the age of 21, when he has been accorded immediate relative status under section 201(b) of the Act; however, such petition is valid for the duration of the relationship to accord preference status under section 203(a)(1) of the Act if the beneficiary remains unmarried, or to accord preference status under section 203(a)(4) of the Act if he marries, except that if the beneficiary is a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone, the petition shall be regarded as according the appropriate preference status only if the petitioner establishes in accordance with § 204.2(e-1) of this chapter that the beneficiary is alternately chargeable under section 202(b) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state.

(5) Upon the marriage of a beneficiary accorded status as the child of a U.S. citizen under section 201(b) of the Act; however, such petition is valid for the duration of the relationship to accord preference status under section 203(a)(4) of the Act, except that if the beneficiary is a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone, the petition shall be regarded as according such preference status only if the petitioner establishes in accordance with § 204.2(e-1) of this chapter that the beneficiary is alternately chargeable under section 202(b) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state.

(5a) Upon the marriage of a beneficiary accorded preference status as a son or daughter of a U.S. citizen under section 203(a)(1) of the Act; however, such petition is valid for the duration of the relationship to accord preference status under section 203(a)(4) of the Act.

(6) Upon the marriage of a beneficiary accorded a status as a son or daughter of a lawful resident alien under section 203(a)(2) of the Act.

(7) Upon the legal termination of the relationship of husband and wife, when the beneficiary is a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone and a petition to accord preference status under section 203(a)(4) or (5) of the Act has been approved on the basis of beneficiary's alternate chargeability under section 202(b)(2) of the Act to the foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state in which the beneficiary's spouse was born.

(8) Upon the beneficiary reaching the age of 21, when the beneficiary is a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone and a petition to accord preference status under section 203(a)(2) of the Act as the unmarried son or daughter of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence has been approved on the basis of the beneficiary's alternate chargeability under section 202(b)(1) of the Act to the foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state in which a parent of the beneficiary was born.

(9) Upon the beneficiary's acquisition of citizenship in an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or, if he is stateless, upon his taking up residence in such country or the Canal Zone, in the case of a beneficiary who was born in the United States and a petition to accord preference status under section 203(a)(1), (2), (4), or (5) of the Act has been previously approved on the basis of his alternate chargeability under section 202(b)(3) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such foreign state of which he was a citizen or subject at the time of approval or in which he then had his residence if he was then stateless.

(b) Petitions under section 203(a)(3) or (6). (1) Upon expiration pursuant to 29 CFR Part 60 of the labor certification in support of the petition unless the certification is thereafter revalidated.

(2) Upon the death of the petitioner or beneficiary.

(3) Upon formal notice of withdrawal filed by the beneficiary with the officer who approved the petition in a third-preference case.

(4) Upon formal notice of withdrawal filed by the petitioner with the officer who approved the petition in a sixth-preference case.

(5) Upon termination of the employer's business in a sixth-preference case.

(6) Upon the legal termination of the relationship of husband and wife, when the beneficiary is a native of an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or the Canal Zone and a petition to accord third- or sixth-preference status has been approved on the basis of the beneficiary's alternate chargeability under section 202(b)(2) of the Act to the foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such state in which the beneficiary's spouse was born.

(7) Upon the beneficiary's acquisition of citizenship in an independent country of the Western Hemisphere or, if he is stateless, upon his taking up residence in such country or the Canal Zone, in the case of a beneficiary who was born in the United States and a petition to accord third- or sixth-preference status has been approved on the basis of his alternate chargeability under section 202(b)(3) of the Act to a foreign state in the Eastern Hemisphere or a dependent area of such foreign state of which he was a citizen or subject at the time of approval, or in which he then had his residence if he was then stateless.

Compliance with the provisions of section 553 of title 5 of the United States Code (80 Stat. 383) as to notice of proposed rule making and delayed effective date is unnecessary in this instance because the rules prescribed by the order are in implementation of recent decisions of the Board of Immigration Appeals.

Effective date. This order shall be effective on March 26, 1973.

Dated: March 21, 1973.

CHAPTER I—FEDERAL AVIATION ADMINISTRATION, DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

[Airworthiness Docket No. 73-WE-3-AD; Amdt. 39-1608]

PART 39—AIRWORTHINESS DIRECTIVES
General Dynamics Model 340, 440, and C-131E Airplanes

General Dynamics Model 340, 440, and C-131E and all such model airplanes converted to turbopropeller power in accordance with STC SA1096WE and SA4-1100 known as Model 640 and Model 580, respectively, certificated in all categories.

There have been failures of the left wing front spar lower cap on General Dynamics Model 340 airplanes that could result in a wing failure in flight. Since this condition is likely to exist or develop in other airplanes of the same design an airworthiness directive is being issued to require inspection of the left and right wing front spar lower caps in areas adjacent to each side of main landing gear drag strut attachment fittings for cracks and repair if necessary on General Dynamics 340, 440, and C-131E airplanes.

Since a situation exists that requires immediate adoption of this regulation, it is found that notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and good cause exists for making this amendment effective in less than 30 days.

In consideration of the foregoing, and pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Administrator (31 FR 13697), § 39.13 of Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations is amended by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

GENERAL DYNAMICS. Applies to model 340, 440 and C-131E and all such model airplanes converted to turbopropeller power in accordance with STC SA1096WE and SA4-1100 known as Model 640 and Model 580, respectively, certificated in all categories.

Compliance as indicated required on all airplanes with 30,000 hours or more total time in service unless already accomplished.

To detect cracks in the wing front spar lower caps, accomplish the following:

(1) As soon as practicable, but not to exceed 10 hours' time in service following the effective date of this AD, if the airplane is to be flown, visually inspect, on a daily basis, from the exterior of the wing, both left and right wing front spar lower caps in areas adjacent to each side of main landing gear drag strut attachment fittings for cracks until inspection in (2) below is accomplished.

(2) Within the next 100 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD, unless already accomplished within the last 500 hours' time in service, and thereafter at intervals not to exceed 600 hours' time in service from the last inspection, accomplish the following:

(a) Gain access to the wing interior in the area described in (1) above by removal of lower wing skin access cover.

(b) Perform inspection described in (1) above from the interior of the wing.

(3) If cracks are found as the results of the inspections described in (1) or (2) above, repair before further flight in a manner approved by the Chief, Aircraft Engineering Division FAA Western Region.

This amendment becomes effective March 26, 1973.

Designation of Transition Area

On pages 1938 and 1939 of the FEDERAL REGISTER dated January 19, 1973, the Federal Aviation Administration published a notice of proposed rulemaking which would amend § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to designate a transition area at Boyne Falls, Mich.

Interested persons were given 30 days to submit written comments, suggestions, or objections regarding the proposed amendment.

No objections have been received and the amendment as so proposed is hereby adopted, subject to the following change: Line 8 of the Boyne Falls, Mich., transition area description recited as "24½ miles south of the airport excluding" is changed to read "17½ miles south of the airport excluding".

This amendment shall be effective 0901 G.m.t., May 24, 1973.

Alteration of Transition Area

The Federal Aviation Administration is amending § 71.181 of Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations so as to alter the Franklin, Pa., transition area (38 FR 489).

The non-Federal radio beacon, Cranberry, Pa., which serves Chess-Lamberton Airport, is soon to be decommissioned. In view of the fact that the transition area is described in relation to such facility, the description will be amended to delete the beacon references.

Since the foregoing is basically deleting airspace from control, there will be no need for notice and public procedure hereon and the amendment may be made effective in less than 30 days.

In view of the foregoing, the proposed regulation is hereby adopted, effective 0901 G.m.t., April 26, 1973, as follows:

1. Amend § 71.181 of Part 71, Federal Aviation Regulations, so as to amend the description of the Franklin, Pa., 700-foot floor transition area by deleting all after the phrase "to 11.5 miles north of the VOR."

CHAPTER II—CIVIL AERONAUTICS BOARD
SUBCHAPTER A—ECONOMIC REGULATIONS
 [Reg. ER-792; Amdt. 15]

PART 298—CLASSIFICATION AND EXEMPTION OF AIR TAXI OPERATORS
Modification of Registration Requirement

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C. on the 20th day of March 1973.

In notice of proposed rule making EDR-235,<sup>1</sup> the Board proposed to amend Part 298 of the Economic Regulations so as to (1) establish compliance with the registration requirement in said part as a condition precedent to an air taxi operator's exemption to engage in air transportation; (2) require persons who intend to begin operations subject to Part 298 to register with the Board not less than 30 days prior to the commencement of such operations; and (3) make certain changes in the standard registration statement (CAB Form 298-A).

Over the past several years the Board's staff has experienced considerable difficulty in assuring compliance with the registration and liability insurance requirements embodied in Part 298. In EDR-235, we stated our belief that the failure of air taxi operators to register with the Board is attributable, at least in part, to the fact that under our existing regulations, compliance with the aforementioned registration procedure is not a condition precedent to the air taxi operator's exemption to operate under Part 298. We further noted that, insofar as our regulations now permit a carrier to register 30 days after he has begun to operate, it has not been practicable for the Board to determine whether the registrant is in compliance with the liability insurance requirements on the date he commences operations.

In light of these considerations, we tentatively determined that the Part 298 registration requirement should be established as a condition precedent to an air taxi operator's exemption to engage in air transportation. We therefore proposed to amend Part 298, to require that a person who contemplates engaging in operations thereunder should register with the Board not less than 30 days before, instead of 30 days after, the commencement of such operations.

Pursuant to the notice of rule making, nine comments were filed, consisting of eight by registered air taxi operators<sup>2</sup> and one by the National Air Transportation Conference, Inc. (NATC), an air taxi trade association. The only significant opposition to the rule is expressed in the comments filed by Cascade, CPA, and RMH, objecting principally to the proposed changes in the standard registration statement.

(EJA), Puerto Rico International Airlines, Inc. (Prinair), Rocky Mountain Helicopter, Inc. (RMH), and Suburban Airlines, Inc. (Suburban).

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Upon consideration of the relevant matters<sup>3</sup> contained in the comments, we have determined to adopt the amendment to Part 298 as proposed, and we incorporate herein the tentative findings made in EDR-235.

In the rule making notice, the Board proposed to expand the information required on the standard registration statement so that: (1) The registrant would be required to list his telephone number and area code; (2) disclosure of all aircraft types which the registrant operates (or, if the carrier is filing for initial registration, which he proposes to operate) would be required, as identified by FAA registration number and passenger capacity, instead of disclosing only the serial and model number of each aircraft operated by the registrant whose maximum passenger and payload capacities exceed certain prescribed numerical limitations; and (3) where applicable, registrations would be required to include a statement setting forth the calculations which the registrant used in computing the maximum payload capacity of each aircraft type reported as having a maximum payload capacity of between 5,000 and 7,500 pounds. The comments of Cascade, CPA, and RMH oppose these requirements on the grounds that they will impose an undue burden on air taxi operators, and would entail a considerable duplication of effort in that, it is alleged, such carriers already file much of the aforesaid information with the Federal Aviation Administration.<sup>4</sup>

We are unconvinced that the new reporting obligations will be unduly burdensome. To begin with the generalized allegations of undue burden and duplication are not supported with any specificity. Moreover, our experience is that air taxi operators already have available to them most of the information required to be disclosed in the revised statement and can obtain the rest without any appreciable expenditure of their resources. Nor are we aware of any significant overlap between the information to be submitted on the standard statement and the data required by the FAA pursuant to its licensing regulations. Moreover, although air taxi operators are required to supply the FAA

<sup>3</sup> EJA suggests that the Board require air taxi operators to physically distinguish their operating equipment used in Part 298 operations from aircraft used in private, intrastate or other transportation not subject to the Board's jurisdiction by (1) painting an identifying mark—e.g., a capital T—on the exterior of the aircraft used in Part 298 operations and (2) posting the air taxi license, along with the pilot's license, in the cockpit portion of such aircraft. EJA has not shown that adoption of its proposals would serve a useful purpose.

<sup>4</sup> CFS concerns that the instant proposal will require an air taxi operator to file with the Board an amended Form 298-A each time that he acquires another aircraft for use in his operations is not well founded. As explained in EDR-235, the rule requires such amended form to be filed only when the registrant has acquired an aircraft with a maximum payload capacity (as defined in § 298.2) of between 5,000 and 7,500 pounds.

with lists of the various equipment types in their respective aircraft fleets it is necessary that the Board have this information also so as to enforce the maximum payload and capacity limitations which our regulations impose on the type of equipment that can be used in Part 298 operations.<sup>5</sup>

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 298 of the Economic Regulations (14 CFR Part 198) effective April 25, 1973, as follows:

1. Amend subparagraph (5) of § 298.3 (a), to read as follows:

§ 298.3 Classification.

(a) There is hereby established a classification of air carriers, designated "air taxi operators" which engage in the direct air transportation of passengers and/or property, and/or in the transportation within the 48 contiguous States, Alaska, or Hawaii of mail by aircraft and which:

(5) Have registered initially, and re-registered annually thereafter, with the Board in accordance with Subpart E of this part.

2. Amend paragraph (b) of § 298.41 to read as follows:

§ 298.41 Basic requirements.

(b) "Certificate of Insurance," as used herein, means one or more certificates, evidencing the following: Issuance by one or more insurers of one or more currently effective policies of aircraft liability insurance in compliance with this subpart and properly endorsed, which alone or in combination provide the minimum coverage prescribed in § 298.42: Provided, That, where the certificate of insurance accompanies a filing for initial registration as an air taxi operator in accordance with § 298.50, the insurance policy or policies named in such certificate shall become effective no later than the proposed date of commencement of air taxi operations as shown in the carrier's registration form. When more than one insurer is involved in providing the minimum coverage prescribed herein, the limits and types of liability assumed by each insurer shall be clearly stated in the certificate of insurance. The certificate of insurance shall also state whether the policy of insurance provides coverage for liability for bodily injury to, or death of, aircraft passengers. In addition, the certificate of insurance shall list the types or classes of aircraft, or the specific aircraft by Federal Aviation Administration

<sup>5</sup> NATC, Prinair, and Suburban also request the Board to delete the present requirement in Part 298 that an air taxi operator must post a copy of its insurance certificate at each place where it deals with the public, although no proposal with respect to such requirement was included in EDR-235. We will not now pass on this request since it involves issues which are clearly beyond the scope of this rule making proceeding, but will instead treat it as a petition for the institution of rule making which the Board will consider in due course.

 [Docket No. 8844c]

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

Alterman Foods, Inc.

Subpart—Discriminating in price under section 5, Federal Trade Commission Act: § 13.892 Knowingly inducing or receiving discriminatory payments.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interprets or applies sec. 5, 38 Stat. 719, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 45) [Cease and desist order, Alterman Foods, Inc., Atlanta, Ga., Docket No. 8844, Feb. 12, 1973]

In the Matter of Alterman Foods, Inc., a Corporation

Order requiring an Atlanta, Ga., wholesaler and retailer of groceries and household products, among other things to cease inducing and receiving discriminatory promotional allowances and services from its suppliers.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Alterman Foods, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, representatives, agents, and employees, successors and assigns, directly or indirectly, through any corporate or other device, in or in connection with the purchase in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, of products for resale by the respondent, or in connection with any other transactions between respondent and its various suppliers involving or pertaining to the regular business of the respondent in purchasing, distributing and selling commodities and products in commerce, as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Inducing and receiving, receiving or contracting for the receipt of, anything of value from any supplier as compensation or in consideration for services or facilities furnished by or through respondent in connection with the processing, handling, sale, or offering for sale of such supplier's products, when respondent knows or should know that such compensation or consideration is not affirmatively offered and otherwise made available by such supplier on proportionally equal terms to all of its other customers, including retailer customers who do not purchase directly from such supplier, who compete with respondent in the distribution of such supplier's products.

2. Inducing and receiving, receiving or contracting for the receipt of, the furnishing of services or facilities connected with respondent's offering for sale or sale of such products so purchased, when respondent knows or should know that such services or facilities are not affirmatively offered or otherwise made available by such supplier on proportionally equal terms to all of its other customers, including retailer customers who do not

(FAA) registration number, with respect to which the policy of insurance applies and shall set forth the area or areas of operation as found in the operations specifications issued by the FAA in conjunction with the applicable ATCO certificate: Provided, however, That if one or more of the 48 contiguous States or the District of Columbia is listed in such operations specifications, then all 48 contiguous States and the District of Columbia must be included in the coverage of insurance. Each certificate of insurance, and each endorsement limiting the permitted exclusions, shall be signed in ink by an authorized officer or agent of the insurer and shall be on forms prescribed and furnished by the Board.

3. Amend § 298.50 by revising paragraphs (a), (b), and (c), and adding a new paragraph (d), the section as amended to read as follows:

§ 298.50 Filing for registration by air taxi operators.

(a) Every air taxi operator (whether or not he is also a commuter air carrier as defined in this part) who plans to commence operations under this part shall, not later than 30 days prior to the commencement of such operations, register with the Board.

(b) Every air taxi operator (whether or not he is also a commuter air carrier as defined in this part) shall reregister with the Board annually on or before July 1 of each year.

(c) Registration and reregistration shall be accomplished by filing with the Board's Bureau of Operating Rights a "Registration and Reregistration for Exemption as an Air Taxi Operator" (CAB Form 298-A, revised March 1973) executed in duplicate. This form shall be certified by a responsible official of such carrier and shall include the following information:

(1) Where the carrier is filing for initial registration as an air taxi operator: (i) Name of the carrier (name must be the same as that in which the FAA certificate, if any, is issued); (ii) the carrier's FAA certificate number, if any; (iii) the name in which the insurance policy is issued; (iv) address of its principal place of business and its mailing address; (v) the proposed date of commencement of air taxi operations; (vi) whether the carrier intends to perform at least five round trips per week pursuant to published schedules; (vii) a list of the aircraft types which the carrier intends to employ in air taxi operations, and the FAA registration number and passenger capacity of each such aircraft type; (viii) the "maximum payload capacity," as defined in § 298.2, of each aircraft reported pursuant to paragraph (c) (1)(vii) of this section, which has a maximum payload capacity of between 5,000 and 7,500 pounds, and a statement showing the calculations used by the carrier to compute the maximum payload capacity of each such aircraft; (ix) whether the carrier has insurance effective on the date of commencement of air taxi operations which complies with Subpart D of this part; and (x) whether the carrier intends to perform passenger, cargo, and/or mail service; or

(1a) Where the carrier is filing for reregistration as an air taxi operator: (i) Name in which the FAA certificate is issued; (ii) the carrier's FAA certificate number; (iii) the name in which the insurance policy is issued; (iv) address of its principal place of business and its mailing address; (v) whether the carrier is currently performing at least five round trips per week pursuant to published schedules; (vi) a list of the aircraft types operated by the carrier, and the FAA registration number and passenger capacity of each such aircraft type; (vii) the "maximum payload capacity," as defined in § 298.2, of each aircraft reported pursuant to paragraph (c) (1a) (i) of this section, which has a maximum payload capacity of between 5,000 and 7,500 pounds, and a statement showing the calculations used by the carrier to compute the maximum payload capacity of each such aircraft; (viii) whether the carrier has currently effective insurance which complies with Subpart D of this part; (ix) whether the carrier is performing passenger, cargo, and/or mail service; and (x) whether the carrier has performed passenger service between a point in the United States and a point outside thereof during the past 12 months.

(1-1) Every registered air taxi operator who acquires for use in his air taxi operations an aircraft whose maximum payload capacity is within the limitations enumerated in paragraph (c) (1) (viii) of this section shall file with the Board, within 30 days of such aircraft acquisition an amended Form 298-A, reflecting the fact of such acquisition.

(2) A certificate of insurance which is currently effective (or, in case of initial registration, is to become effective), as defined in § 298.41 (b).

(3) A ten ($10) dollar registration or reregistration fee, as the case may be. This shall be in the form of a check, draft, or postal money order, payable to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

(d) The effective date of the registration required by paragraph (a) of this section shall not be earlier than the effective date of the insurance policy or policies named in the certificate of insurance attached to the registration statement filed pursuant to paragraph (c) (1) of this section.

4. Amend CAB Form 298-A, as shown in Exhibit A attached hereto<sup>6</sup> and made a part thereof.

(Secs. 204(a), 407, 416, Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, 72 Stat. 743, 766, 771; 49 U.S.C. 1324, 1377, 1386) purchase directly from such suppliers, who compete with respondent in the distribution of such supplier's products.

It is further ordered, That respondent shall not organize, direct, sponsor, or participate in any food show except under the following terms and conditions:

1. A copy of this order shall be delivered to each person or organization invited to participate in any such food show at the time such invitation is extended: and

2. Respondent shall bear its proper share of the operating expenses of any such food show and any profit, surplus, or funds remaining at the conclusion of any such food show shall be promptly repaid to all participants in the food show on a basis proportional to the payment made by each such participant.

It is further ordered, That respondent notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days prior to any proposed change in the corporate respondent such as dissolution, assignment, or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries, or any other change in the corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the order.

It is further ordered, That respondent shall forthwith distribute a copy of this order to each of its operating divisions.

It is further ordered, That respondent herein shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with this order.

PART 13—PROHIBITED TRADE PRACTICES

Avnet, Inc.

Subpart—Acquiring corporate stock or assets: § 13.5 Acquiring corporate stock or assets.

(Sec. 6, 38 Stat. 721; 15 U.S.C. 46. Interpretation or applies sec. 7, 38 Stat. 731, as amended; 15 U.S.C. 18) [Cease and desist order, Avnet, Inc., New York, N.Y., Docket No. 8775, Feb. 16, 1973]

In the Matter of Avnet, Inc., a Corporation.

Order requiring a New York City diversified manufacturer, processor, and marketer of numerous items consisting principally of electronic, automotive, and consumer products, among other things to divest itself of all assets, stocks, properties, rights, privileges, and interests as a result of its acquisition of Guarantee

Generator & Armature Co., doing business as International Products & Manufacturing Co. Respondent is further prohibited from making any acquisitions of stocks or assets within the automotive electrical unit rebuilder industry for 10 years without prior Federal Trade Commission approval.

The order to cease and desist, including further order requiring report of compliance therewith, is as follows:

It is ordered, That respondent Avnet, Inc. (hereinafter "Avnet"), a corporation, its successors and assigns, shall divest all stock, assets, properties, rights, privileges, and interests of whatever nature, tangible and intangible, acquired by Avnet as the result of its acquisition of the assets and business of Guarantee Generator & Armature Co., doing business as International Products & Manufacturing Co. (hereinafter "IPM"), together with all additions and improvements to IPM which have been added to IPM subsequent to the acquisition, so as to assure that IPM is reestablished as a separate, effective, and viable competitor engaged in the business of manufacturing and/or supplying of parts, materials, equipment, and other products to independent automotive electrical unit rebuilders. Such divestiture shall be absolute, shall be accomplished no later than 1 year from the effective date of this order, and shall be subject to the prior approval of the Federal Trade Commission.

2. It is further ordered, That pursuant to the requirements of paragraph 1 above, none of the stock, assets, properties, rights, privileges, and interests of whatever nature, tangible or intangible, acquired or added by Avnet, shall be divested, directly or indirectly, to anyone who is at the time of the divestiture an officer, director, employee, or agent of, or under the control, direction, or influence of Avnet or any of Avnet's subsidiaries or affiliated corporations or who owns or controls more than one (1) percent of the outstanding shares of the capital stock of Avnet.

3. It is further ordered, That for a period of ten (10) years from the date this order becomes final, Avnet shall cease and desist from acquiring, directly or indirectly, without the prior approval of the Federal Trade Commission, the whole or any part of the stock, share capital, assets, any interest in or any interest of, any concern, corporate or non-corporate, engaged in the business of manufacturing and/or supplying parts, materials, equipment, and other products to automotive electrical unit rebuilders, nor shall Avnet enter into any arrangement with any such concern by which Avnet obtains the market share, in whole or in part, of such concern in the above-described product lines.

4. It is further ordered, That Avnet shall, within thirty (30) days after the effective date of this order, and every thirty (30) days thereafter until Avnet has fully complied with the provisions of this order, submit in writing to the Federal Trade Commission a verified report setting forth in detail the manner and form in which Avnet intends to comply, is complying or has complied with this order. All compliance reports shall include, among other things that are from time to time required, (a) the steps taken to accomplish the required divestiture; and (b) copies of all documents, reports, memoranda, communications, and correspondence concerning or relating to the divestiture.

With respect to paragraph 3 of this order, Avnet shall within thirty (30) days following the effective date of this order, and annually thereafter for a period of 10 years, submit a report, in writing, listing all acquisitions and mergers made by it, the date of every such acquisition or merger, the products involved, and such additional information as may from time to time be required.

5. It is further ordered, That Avnet notify the Commission at least thirty (30) days prior to any proposed change in the corporate respondent such as dissolution, assignment, or sale resulting in the emergence of a successor corporation, the creation or dissolution of subsidiaries, or any other change in the corporation which may affect compliance obligations arising out of the order.

Title 17—Commodity and Securities Exchanges

CHAPTER II—SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[Release No. IC-7724]

PART 270—RULES AND REGULATIONS, INVESTMENT COMPANY ACT OF 1940

Books and Records of Registered Investment Companies; Use of Microfilming Process

The Securities and Exchange Commission today announced the adoption of an amendment to Rule 31a-2(f) (17 CFR 270.31a-2(f)) under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80a-1 et seq.) to permit, under certain specified conditions, the books and records of registered investment companies to be initially maintained and preserved in microfilm form in lieu of hard copy records.

On November 14, 1972, in Investment Company Act Release No. 7486 (and in the FEDERAL REGISTER issue of November 21, 1972, 37 FR 24770), the Commission published its proposal to amend Rule 31a-2(f). It has considered the comments and suggestions in response to that proposal and now adopts the amendment to the rule in the form set forth below.

Prior to this amendment, Rule 31a-2 required the preservation in hard copy form of all records required to be maintained and preserved by Rule 31a-1, except that the provisions of paragraph (f) (1) of Rule 31a-2 permitted the substitution of microfilm after a period of 3 years following the creation of the hard copy record.

By the amendment, the hard copy maintenance and preservation requirements would be relaxed to permit the microfilming process to be used for the initial maintenance of records, and to authorize compliance with the preservation requirements of Rule 31a-2 in the form of immediate microfilm substitution for the hard copy record. It is a condition of amended Rule 31a-2(f) (1) that a registered investment company availing itself of this procedure, or on whose behalf such procedure is employed, shall have readily available at all times appropriate reader-printer equipment for examination of the records by the Commission and its examiners or other representatives, or by the directors of the investment company, as well as equipment for hard copy reproduction to be promptly furnished upon request of the directors or of the Commission and its examiners or other representatives. Moreover, as added protection against possible loss of records, the amended rule provides that a duplicate copy be made of all microfilm on a current basis and that such copy be stored separately from the original.

Books and records required to be maintained and preserved by investment advisers to registered investment companies pursuant to paragraphs (e) and (f) of Rule 31a-1 (17 CFR 270.31a-1) and paragraphs (d) and (e) of Rule 31a-2 are not encompassed by amended Rule 31a-2(f). The books and records of such investment advisers were formerly encompassed by the microfilm substitution provision (of) former paragraph (f) (1) of Rule 31a-2 and they become subject to the maintenance provisions of paragraph (g) of Rule 204-2 (17 CFR 275.204-2) under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940 (15 U.S.C. 80b-1 et seq.) as a result of the amendment to Rule 31a-2(f). Rule 204-2(g) permits the substitution of microfilm for hard copy books and records of all registered investment advisers after a period of 2 years following the creation of hard copy record.

Persons who desire to avail themselves of the provisions of the amended rule might, for general guidance on the matter of microfilm quality and care, refer to Items 5 (g) and (h) under the caption, "General Instructions" contained in the Commission's Accounting Series Release No. 84 (17 CFR 257.315).

STATUTORY BASIS

Acting pursuant to the provisions of the Investment Company Act of 1940, and particularly sections 31 (a) and (c) and 38(a) (15 U.S.C. 80a-30(a), 80a-30(c), 80a-37(a)) thereof, the Securities and Exchange Commission hereby amends Rule 31a-2(f) as set forth below effective March 30, 1973.

Commission action. Part 270 of Chapter II of Title 17 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended by revising paragraph (f) of § 270.31a-2 reading as follows:

§ 270.31a-2 Records to be preserved by registered investment companies, certain majority-owned subsidiaries thereof, and other persons having transactions with registered companies.

(f) (1) The records required to be maintained and preserved pursuant to paragraphs (a) through (d) of § 270.31a-1 and paragraphs (a) through (c) of this § 270.31a-2 may be immediately produced or reproduced on microfilm and be maintained and preserved for the required time in that form. If such microfilm substitution for hard copy is made by, or on behalf of, an investment company, such investment company shall (i) at all times have available for examination of its records by the Commission, pursuant to section 31 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, or by the directors of such investment company, facilities for immediate, easily readable projection of the microfilm and for producing easily readable facsimile enlargements, (ii) arrange the records and index and file the films in such a manner as to permit the immediate location of any particular record, (iii) be ready at all times to provide, and immediately provide, any facsimile enlargement which the Commission, by its examiners or other representatives, or the directors of such investment company may request, and (iv) store separately from the original one other copy of the microfilm for the time required.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) through (e) of this section, any record, book or other document may be destroyed in accordance with a plan previously submitted to and approved by the Commission. A plan shall be deemed to have been approved by the Commission if notice to the contrary has not been received within 90 days after submission of the plan to the Commission.

(Secs. 31, 38, 54 Stat. 838, 841, 15 U.S.C. 80a-30, 80a-37)

Title 36—Parks, Forests, and Memorials

CHAPTER III—CORPS OF ENGINEERS, DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY

PART 327—RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING PUBLIC USE OF WATER RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT PROJECTS ADMINISTERED BY THE CHIEF OF ENGINEERS

Special Recreation Use Fees

MARCH 22, 1973.

A proposal to amend Part 327 of the rules and regulations governing the charging of fees for certain specialized recreation facilities administered by the Corps of Engineers was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER Volume 38, No. 21, page 3051 on Thursday, February 1, 1973 allowing 15 days for comment. The comment period was extended until February 28, 1973 by notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER Volume 38, No. 34, page 4716 on Wednesday, February 21, 1973.

In accordance with Public Law 92-347, 86 Stat. 459, which supplemented Public Law 90-483, 82 Stat. 746, this amendment establishes a schedule of use fees to be charged and complies with the requirement of Public Law 92-347 that comparable fees be charged for comparable recreational facilities and services by the several Federal agencies responsible for recreation facilities.

The fees to be charged apply only to those specialized facilities developed at substantial Federal expense. The public will continue to have free access to the water areas of water resource projects administered by the Corps of Engineers, and to undeveloped or lightly developed shoreland, picnic grounds, overlook sites, scenic drives, or boat launching ramps where no mechanical or hydraulic equipment is provided.

After consideration of all comments presented by the public the following revised amendment to § 327.25 is hereby adopted and is effective on March 26, 1973.

§ 327.25 Special recreation use fees.

(a) Section 210 of Public Law 90-483, 82 Stat. 746 and Public Law 92-347, 86 Stat. 459 authorizes the establishment of special recreation use fees for the use of specialized sites, facilities, equipment or services furnished at substantial Federal expense at all water resource development projects administered by the Secretary of the Army acting through the Chief of Engineers.

(b) The range of fees set forth in paragraph (c) of this section are established in accordance with the following criteria:

- (1) The direct and indirect amount of Federal expenditure;
- (2) The benefit to the recipient;
- (3) The public policy or interest served;
- (4) The comparable recreation fees charged by other Federal and non-Federal public agencies within the service area of the management unit at which the fee is charged;
- (5) The economic and administrative feasibility of fee collection;
- (6) The extent of regular maintenance required; and
- (7) Other pertinent factors.

(c) When facilities come within the above criteria, District Engineers shall recommend to the Office, Chief of Engineers for designation applicable fee charges within the ranges as set forth below:

Camp and trailer sites.	Up to $4.50 for overnight use.
Group use sites.	Up to $0.50 per person per night.

(The District Engineer may select group use rates in lieu of the above "group camping sites" special recreation fee, and may establish a minimum group use charge of at least $3 per night per group without regard to group size or other provisions of this part).

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Elevators ----- At least $0.10 per person round trip where elevators are provided as a special service to the public.

Electrical hook-ups ----- $0.50 per day.
Specialized sites (highly developed day-use) ----- $0.50 to $1.50 per day.

Special recreation use fees may be established for other types of specialized facilities in addition to those which are listed in this paragraph.

(d) The District Engineer shall post signs at areas with designated Special Recreation Use Facilities in a manner such that the visiting public will be clearly notified that special recreation use fees are charged.

(e) Failure to pay the user fee prescribed in this section is a violation of the Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, as amended (Public Law 92-347, 86 Stat. 459) and subjects the violator to punishment by a fine of not more than $100.

CHAPTER 15—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY

PART 15-16—PROCUREMENT FORMS

Subpart 15-16.5—Forms for Advertised and Negotiated Nonpersonal Service Contracts (Other than Construction and Architect-Engineer Contracts)

FIXED PRICE SERVICE CONTRACTS OTHER THAN RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

On December 1, 1972, a notice of proposed rule making was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 FR 25536-25546), stating that the Environmental Protection Agency was considering an amendment to 41 CFR Chapter 15, by adding a new § 15-16.553-3, General provisions for use in fixed price service contracts other than research and development. Interested parties were invited to submit written data, views, or comments within 30 days after publication. No written comments or objections have been received. The proposed amendment is adopted without change except that Clause 38, "Service Contract Act of 1965," is revised to reflect amendments to the Service Contract Act of 1965 by Public Law 92-473, dated October 9, 1972, 40 U.S.C. 486(c), and Clause 37, "Indemnification for Government Liability to Third Persons," is revised to incorporate technical clarification of the clause's coverage.

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective on March 26, 1973.

Dated: March 8, 1973.

ROBERT W. FRI,
Acting Administrator.

Subpart 15-16.5—Forms for Advertised and Negotiated Nonpersonal Service Contracts (Other than Construction and Architect-Engineer Contracts)

§ 15-16.553-3 General provisions for use in fixed price service contracts other than research and development.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

1. DEFINITIONS

As used throughout this contract, the following terms shall have the meaning set forth below:

(a) The term "Contracting Officer" means the person executing this contract on behalf of the Government, and any other officer or civilian employee who is a properly designated Contracting Officer, and the term includes, except as otherwise provided in this contract, the authorized representative of a Contracting Officer acting within the limits of his authority.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this contract, the term "Subcontracts" includes purchase orders under this contract.

(c) The term "EPA" means the Environmental Protection Agency.

2. DISPUTES

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this contract, any dispute concerning a question of fact arising under this contract which is not disposed of by agreement shall be decided by the Contracting Officer, who shall reduce his decision to writing and mail or otherwise furnish a copy thereof to the Contractor. The decision of the Contracting Officer shall be final and conclusive unless within 30 days from the date of receipt of such copy, the Contractor mails or otherwise furnishes to the Contracting Officer a written appeal addressed to the Secretary. The decision of the Secretary or his duly authorized representative for the determination of such appeals shall be final and conclusive unless determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to have been fraudulent, or capricious, or arbitrary, or so grossly erroneous as necessarily to imply bad faith, or not supported by substantial evidence. In connection with any appeal proceeding under this clause, the Contractor shall be afforded an opportunity to be heard and to offer evidence in support of its appeal. Pending final decision of a dispute hereunder, the Contractor shall proceed diligently with the performance of the contract and in accordance with the Contracting Officer's decision.

(b) This "Disputes" clause does not preclude consideration of law questions in connection with decisions provided for in paragraph (a) above: Provided, That nothing in this contract shall be construed as making final the decision of any administrative official, representative, or board on a question of law.

3. CHANGES

The Contracting Officer may at any time, by a written order, and without notice to the sureties, make changes, within the general scope of this contract, in the definition of services to be performed, and the time (i.e., hours of the day, days of the week, etc.) and place of performance thereof. If any such change causes an increase or decrease in the cost of, or the time required for the performance of any part of the work under this contract, whether changed or not changed by any such order, an equitable adjustment shall be made in the contract price or delivery schedule, or both, and the contract shall be modified in writing accordingly. Any claim by the Contractor for adjustment under this clause must be asserted within 30 days from the date of receipt by the Contractor of the notification of change: Provided, however, That the Contracting Officer, if he decides that the facts justify such action, may receive and act upon any such claim asserted at any time prior to final payment under this contract. Where the cost of property made obsolete or excess as result of a change is included in the Contractor's claim for adjustment, the Contracting Officer shall have the right to prescribe the manner of disposition of such property. Failure to agree to any adjustment shall be a dispute concerning a question of fact within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes." However, nothing in this clause shall excuse the Contractor from proceeding with the contract as changed.

4. TERMINATION FOR CONVENIENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT

(a) The performance of work under this contract may be terminated by the Government in accordance with this clause in whole, or from time to time in part, whenever the Contracting Officer shall determine that such termination is in the best interest of the Government. Any such termination shall be effected by delivery to the Contractor of a Notice of Termination specifying the extent to which performance of work under the contract is terminated, and the date upon which such termination becomes effective.

(b) After receipt of a Notice of Termination, and except as otherwise directed by the Contracting Officer, the Contractor shall:

(1) Stop work under the contract on the date and to the extent specified in the Notice of Termination;

(2) Place no further orders or subcontracts for materials, services, or facilities, except as may be necessary for completion of such portion of the work under the contract as is not terminated;

(3) Terminate all orders and subcontracts to the extent that they relate to the performance of work terminated by the Notice of Termination;

(4) Assign to the Government, in the manner, at the times, and to the extent directed by the Contracting Officer, all of the right, title, and interest of the Contractor under the orders and subcontracts so terminated, in which case the Government shall have the right, in its discretion, to settle or pay any or all claims arising out of the termination of such orders and subcontracts;

(5) Settle all outstanding liabilities and all claims arising out of such termination of orders and subcontracts, with the approval or ratification of the Contracting Officer, to the extent he may require, which approval or ratification shall be final for all the purposes of this clause;

(6) Transfer title to the Government and deliver in the manner, at the times, and to the extent, if any, directed by the Contracting Officer, (i) the fabricated or unfabricated parts, work in process, completed work, supplies, and other material produced as a part of, or acquired in connection with the performance of, the work terminated by the Notice of Termination, and (ii) the completed or partially completed plans, drawings, information, and other property which, if the contract had been completed, would have been required to be furnished to the Government;

(7) Use his best efforts to sell, in the manner, at the times, to the extent, and at the price or prices directed or authorized by the Contracting Officer, any property of the types referred to in (6) above: Provided, however, That the Contractor (i) shall not be required to extend credit to any purchaser, and (ii) may acquire any such property under the conditions prescribed by and at a price or prices approved by the Contracting Officer: And provided further, That the proceeds of any such transfer or disposition shall be applied in reduction of any payments to be made by the Government to the Contractor under this contract or shall otherwise be credited to the price or cost of the work covered by this contract or paid in such other manner as the Contracting Officer may direct;

(8) Complete performance of such part of the work as shall not have been terminated by the Notice of Termination; and

(9) Take such action as may be necessary, or as the Contracting Officer may direct, for the protection and preservation of the property related to this contract which is in the possession of the Contractor and in which the Government has or may acquire an interest.

At any time after expiration of the plant clearance period, as defined in Subpart 1-8.1 of the Federal Procurement Regulations (41 CFR Subpart 1-8.1), as the definition may be amended from time to time, the Contractor may submit to the Contracting Officer a list, certified as to quantity and quality, of any or all items of termination inventory not previously disposed of, exclusive of items the disposition of which has been directed or authorized by the Contracting Officer, and may request the Government to remove such items or enter into a storage agreement covering them. Not later than fifteen (15) days thereafter, the Government will accept title to such items and remove them or enter into a storage agreement covering the same: Provided, That the list submitted shall be subject to verification by the Contracting Officer upon removal of the items or, if the items are stored, within forty-five (45) days from the date of submission of the list, and any necessary adjustment to correct the list as submitted shall be made prior to final settlement.

(c) After receipt of a Notice of Termination, the Contractor shall submit to the Contracting Officer his termination claim, in the form and with certification prescribed by the Contracting Officer. Such claim shall be submitted promptly but in no event later than 1 year from the effective date of termination, unless one or more extensions in writing are granted by the Contracting Officer upon request of the Contractor made in writing within such 1-year period or authorized extension thereof. However, if the Contracting Officer determines that the facts justify such action, he may receive and act upon any such termination claim at any time after such 1-year period or any extension thereof. Upon failure of the Contractor to submit his termination claim within the time allowed, the Contracting Officer may, subject to any review required by the contracting agency's procedures in effect as of the date of execution of this contract, determine, on the basis of information available to him, the amount, if any, due to the Contractor by reason of the termination and shall thereupon pay to the Contractor the amount so determined.

(d) Subject to the provisions of paragraph (c), and subject to any review required by the contracting agency's procedures in effect as of the date of execution of this contract, the Contractor and the Contracting Officer may agree upon the whole or any part of the amount or amounts to be paid to the Contractor by reason of the total or partial termination of work pursuant to this clause, which amount or amounts may include a reasonable allowance for profit on work done: Provided, That such agreed amount or amounts, exclusive of settlement costs, shall not exceed the total contract price as reduced by the amount of payments otherwise made and as further reduced by the contract price of work not terminated. The contract shall be amended accordingly, and the Contractor shall be paid the agreed amount. Nothing in paragraph (e) of this clause, prescribing the amount to be paid to the Contractor in the event of failure of the Contractor and the Contracting Officer to agree upon the whole amount to be paid to the Contractor by reason of the termination of work pursuant to this clause, shall be deemed to limit, restrict, or otherwise determine or affect the amount or amounts which may be agreed upon to be paid to the Contractor pursuant to this paragraph (d).

(e) In the event of the failure of the Contractor and the Contracting Officer to agree as provided in paragraph (d) upon the whole amount to be paid to the Contractor by reason of the termination of work pursuant to this clause, the Contracting Officer shall, subject to any review required by the contracting agency's procedures in effect as of the date of execution of the contract, determine, on the basis of information available to him, the amount, if any, due to the Contractor by reason of the termination and shall pay to the Contractor the amounts determined as follows:

(1) For completed supplies accepted by the Government (or sold or acquired as provided in paragraph (b)(7) above), and not theretofore paid for, a sum equivalent to the aggregate price for such supplies computed in accordance with the price or prices specified in the contract, appropriately adjusted for any saving of freight or other charges;

(2) The total of—

(i) The costs incurred in the performance of the work terminated, including initial costs and preparatory expense allocable thereto, but exclusive of any costs attributable to supplies paid for or to be paid for under paragraph (e)(1) hereof;

(ii) The cost of settling and paying claims arising out of the termination of work under subcontracts or orders, as provided in paragraph (b)(5) above, which are properly chargeable to the terminated portion of the contract (exclusive of amounts paid or payable on account of supplies or materials delivered or services furnished by subcontractors or vendors prior to the effective date of the notice of termination, which amounts shall be included in the costs payable under (i) above); and

(iii) A sum, as profit on (i), above, determined by the Contracting Officer pursuant to § 1-8.303 of the Federal Procurement Regulations (41 CFR 1-8.303), in effect as of the date of execution of this contract, to be fair and reasonable: Provided, however, That if it appears that the Contractor would have been completed, no profit shall be included or allowed under this subdivision (iii) and an appropriate adjustment shall be made reducing the amount of the settlement to reflect the indicated rate of loss; and

(3) The reasonable costs of settlement, including accounting, legal, clerical, and other expenses reasonably necessary for the preparation of settlement claims and supporting data with respect to the terminated portion of the contract and for the termination and settlement of subcontracts thereunder, together with reasonable storage, transportation, and other costs incurred in connection with the protection or disposition of property allocable to this contract.

The total sum to be paid to the Contractor under (1) and (2) of this paragraph (e) shall not exceed the total contract price as reduced by the amount of payments otherwise made and as further reduced by the contract price of work not terminated. Except for normal spoilage, and except to the extent that the Government shall have otherwise expressly assumed the risk of loss, there shall be excluded from the amounts payable to the Contractor as provided in (e)(1) and (2) (i) above, the fair value, as determined by the Contracting Officer, of property which is destroyed, lost, stolen, or damaged so as to become undeliverable to the Government, or to a buyer pursuant to paragraph (b)(7).

(f) Costs claimed, agreed to, or determined pursuant to paragraphs (c), (d), and (e) of this clause shall be in accordance with the applicable contract cost principles and procedures in Part 1-15 of the Federal Procurement Regulations (41 CFR Part 1-15) in effect on the date of this contract.

(g) The Contractor shall have the right to appeal, under the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes," from any determination made by the Contracting Officer under paragraph (c) or (e) above, except that, if the Contractor has failed to submit his claim within the time provided in paragraph (c) above and has failed to request extension of such time, he shall have no such right of appeal. In any case where the Contracting Officer has made a determination of the amount due under paragraph (c) or (e) above, the Government shall pay to the Contractor the following: (1) If there is no right of appeal hereunder or if no timely appeal has been taken, the amount so determined by the Contracting Officer; or (2) if an appeal has been taken, the amount finally determined on such appeal.

(h) In arriving at the amount due the Contractor under this clause, there shall be deducted (1) all unliquidated advance or other payments on account theretofore made to the Contractor applicable to the terminated portion of this contract; (2) any claim which the Government may have against the Contractor in connection with this contract; and (3) the agreed price for, or the proceeds of sale of, any materials, supplies, or other things acquired by the Contractor or sold, pursuant to the provisions of this clause, and not otherwise recovered by or credited to the Government.

(i) If the termination hereunder be partial, prior to the settlement of the terminated portion of this contract, the Contractor may file with the Contracting Officer a request in writing for an equitable adjustment of the price or prices specified in the contract relating to the continued portion of the contract (the portion not terminated by the notice of termination), and such equitable adjustment as may be agreed upon shall be made in such price or prices.

(j) The Government may from time to time, under such terms and conditions as it may prescribe, make partial payments and payments on account against costs incurred by the Contractor in connection with the terminated portion of this contract whenever in the opinion of the Contracting Officer the aggregate of such payments shall be within the amount to which the Contractor will be entitled hereunder. If the total of such payments is in excess of the amount finally agreed or determined to be due under this clause, such excess shall be payable by the Contractor to the Government upon demand, together with interest computed at the rate of 6 percent per annum for the period from the date such excess payment is received by the Contractor to the date on which such excess is repaid to the Government: Provided, however, That no interest shall be charged with respect to any such excess payment attributable to a reduction in the Contractor's claim by reason of retention or other disposition of termination inventory until 10 days after the date of such retention or disposition, or such later date as determined by the Contracting Officer by reason of the circumstances.

(k) Unless otherwise provided for in this contract, or by applicable statute, the Contractor, from the effective date of termination and for a period of 3 years after final settlement under this contract, shall preserve and make available to the Government at all reasonable times at the office of the Contractor but without direct charge to the Government, all his books, records, documents, and other evidence bearing on the costs and expenses of the Contractor under this contract and relating to the work terminated hereunder, or, to the extent approved by the Contracting Officer, photographs, microphotographs, or other authentic reproductions thereof.

S. DEFAULT

(a) The Government may, subject to the provisions of paragraph (c) of this clause, by written notice of default to the Contractor, terminate the whole or any part of this contract in any one of the following circumstances:

(1) If the Contractor fails to perform the work called for by this contract within the time(s) specified herein or any extension thereof; or

(2) If the Contractor fails to perform any of the other provisions of this contract, or so fails to prosecute the work as to endanger performance of this contract in accordance with its terms, and in either of these two circumstances does not cure such failure within a period of 10 days (or such longer period as the Contracting Officer may authorize in writing) after receipt of notice from the Contracting Officer specifying such failure.

(b) In the event the Government terminates this contract in whole or in part as provided in paragraph (a) of this clause, the Government may procure, upon such terms and in such manner as the Contracting Officer may deem appropriate, work similar to the work so terminated and the Contractor shall be liable to the Government for any excess costs for such similar work. Provided, That the Contractor shall continue the performance of this contract to the extent not terminated under the provisions of this clause.

(c) Except with respect to defaults of subcontractors, the Contractor shall not be liable for any excess costs if the failure to perform the contract arises out of causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. Such causes may include, but are not restricted to, acts of God or of the public enemy, acts of the Government in either its sovereign or contractual capacity, fires, floods, epidemics, quarantine restrictions, strikes, freight embargoes, and unusually severe weather; but in every case the failure to perform must be beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Contractor. If the failure to perform is caused by the default of a subcontractor, and if such default arises out of causes beyond the control of both the Contractor and subcontractor, and without the fault or negligence of either of them, the Contractor shall not be liable for any excess costs for failure to perform unless the supplies or services to be furnished by the subcontractor were obtainable from other sources in sufficient time to permit the Contractor to meet the required delivery schedule or other performance requirements.

(d) If this contract is terminated as provided in paragraph (a) of this clause, the Government, in addition to any other rights provided in this clause, may require the Contractor to transfer title and deliver to the Government, in the manner and to the extent directed by the Contracting Officer, any of the completed or partially completed work not theretofore delivered to, and accepted by, the Government and any other property, including contract rights, specifically produced or specifically acquired for the performance of such part of this contract as has been terminated; and the Contractor shall, upon the direction of the Contracting Officer protect and preserve property in the possession of the Contractor in which the Government has an interest. The Government shall pay to the Contractor the contract price if separately stated, for completed work accepted by the Government and the amount agreed upon by the Contractor and the Contracting Officer for (1) completed work for which no separate price is stated, (2) partially completed work, (3) other property described above which is accepted by the Government, and (4) the protection and preservation of property. Failure to agree shall be a dispute concerning a question of fact within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes." The Government may withhold from amounts otherwise due the Contractor for such completed supplies or manufacturing materials such sum as the Contracting Officer determines to be necessary to protect the Government against loss because of outstanding liens or claims of former lienholders.

(e) If, after notice of termination of this contract under the provisions of this clause, it is determined for any reason that the Contractor was not in default under the provisions of this clause, or that the default was excusable under the provisions of this clause, the rights and obligations of the parties shall, if the contract contains a clause providing for termination for convenience of the Government, be the same as if the notice of termination had been issued pursuant to such clause. If, after notice of termination of this contract under the provisions of this clause, it is determined for any reason that the Contractor was not in default under the provisions of this clause, and if this contract does not contain a clause providing for termination for convenience of the Government, the contract shall be equitably adjusted to compensate for such termination and the contract modified accordingly, failure to agree to any such adjustment shall be a dispute concerning a question of fact within the meaning of the clause of this contract entitled "Disputes."

(f) The right and remedies of the Government provided in this clause shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this contract.

(g) As used in paragraph (c) of this clause, the terms "subcontractor" and "subcontractors" means subcontractor(s) at any tier.

6. INSPECTION OF SERVICES

(a) All services (which term throughout this clause includes services performed, material furnished or utilized in the performance of services, and workmanship in the performance of services) shall be subject to inspection and test by the Government, to the extent practicable at all times and places during the term of the contract. All inspections by the Government shall be made in such a manner as not to unduly delay the work.

(b) If any services performed hereunder are not in conformity with the requirements of this contract, the Government shall have the right to require the Contractor to perform the services again in conformity with the requirements of the contract, at no additional increase in total contract amount. When the services to be performed are of such a nature that the defect cannot be corrected by reperformance of the services, the Government shall have the right to (i) require the Contractor to immediately take all necessary steps to ensure future performance of the services in conformity with the requirements of the contract; and (ii) reduce the contract price to reflect the reduced value of the services performed. In the event the Contractor fails promptly to perform the services again or to take necessary steps to insure future performance of the services in conformity with the requirements of the contract, the Government shall have the right to either (i) by contract or otherwise have the services performed in conformity with the contract requirements and charge to the Contractor any cost occasioned to the Government that is directly related to the performance of such services; or (ii) terminate this contract for default as provided in the clause of this contract entitled "Default."

(c) The Contractor shall provide and maintain an inspection system acceptable to the Government covering the services to be performed hereunder. Records of all inspection work by the Contractor shall be kept complete and available to the Government during the term of this contract and for such longer period as may be specified elsewhere in this contract.

7. INSURANCE

(a) The Contractor shall procure and maintain such insurance as is required by law or regulation, including that required by Subpart 1-10.5 of the Federal Procurement Regulation as of the date of execution of this contract, and such insurance as the Contracting Officer prescribes by written direction.

(b) At a minimum, the Contractor shall procure and maintain the following types and amounts of insurance:

(1) Workmen's compensation and occupational disease insurance in amounts sufficient to satisfy State law.

(2) Employer's liability insurance, where available.

(3) Automobile liability and general liability insurance, on the comprehensive form of policy, in the amount of $200,000 per claimant and $500,000 per incident.

(c) The terms of any other insurance policy held by Contractor shall be submitted to the Contracting Officer for review and/or approval upon request of the Contracting Officer.

(d) The Contractor shall promptly furnish the Contracting Officer written notice of serious injury to or death of any third person, or any damage estimated to exceed $1,000, to the property of any third person arising out of or in connection with the performance of this contract.

8. NOTICE TO THE GOVERNMENT OF DELAYS

(a) Whenever the Contractor has knowledge that any actual or potential situation or labor dispute is delaying or threatens to delay the timely performance of this contract, the Contractor shall immediately give notice thereof, including all relevant information with respect thereto, to the Contracting Officer.

(b) The Contractor agrees to insert the substance of this clause, including this paragraph (b), in any subcontract hereunder as to which a situation or labor dispute may delay the timely performance of this contract; except that each such subcontract shall provide that in the event its timely performance is delayed or threatened by delay by any actual or potential situation or labor dispute, the subcontractor shall immediately notify its next higher tier subcontractor, or the prime contractor, as the case may be, of all relevant information with respect to such dispute.

9. PAYMENTS

(a) The Contractor shall be paid, upon submission of proper invoices or vouchers, the price stipulated herein for services rendered in accordance with this contract or for supplies delivered and accepted, less deductions, if any, as herein provided. Unless, otherwise specified, payment will be for any portion of services rendered or supplies accepted for which a price is separately stated in the contract.

(b) In connection with any discount offered, time will be computed from the date of completion of performance of the services or from the date correct invoice or voucher is received in the office specified by the Government, if the latter is later than date of completion of performance. Payment is deemed to be made for the purpose of earning the discount on the date of mailing of the Government check.

10. INTEREST

Notwithstanding any other provision of this contract, unless paid within 30 days all amounts that become payable by the Contractor to the Government under this contract (net of any applicable tax credit under the Internal Revenue Code) shall bear interest at the rate of 6 percent per annum from the date due until paid. Amounts shall be due upon the earliest one of (i) the date fixed pursuant to this contract; (ii) the date of the first written demand for payment, consistent with this contract, including demand consequent upon default termination; (iii) the date of transmittal by the Government to the Contractor of a proposed supplemental agreement to confirm completed negotiations fixing the amount; or (iv) if this contract provides for revision of prices, the date of written notice to the Contractor stating the amount of refund payable in connection with a pricing proposal or in connection with a negotiated pricing agreement not confirmed by contract supplement.

11. PAYMENT OF INTEREST OF CONTRACTOR'S CLAIMS

(a) If an appeal is filed by the Contractor from a final decision of the Contracting Officer under the "Disputes" clause of this contract, denying a claim arising under the contract, simple interest on the amount of the claim finally determined owed by the Government shall be payable to the Contractor. Such interest shall be at the rate determined by the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to Public Law 92-41, 85 Stat. 97, from the date the Contractor furnishes to the Contracting Officer his written appeal under the Disputes clause of this contract, to the date of (1) a final judgement by a court of competent jurisdiction or (2) mailing to the Contractor of a supplemental agreement for execution either confirming completed negotiations between the parties or carrying out a decision of a Board of Contract Appeals.

(b) Notwithstanding (a) above, (1) interest shall be applied only from the date payment was due, if such date is later than the filing of appeal, and (2) interest shall not be paid for any period of time that the Contracting Officer determines the Contractor has unduly delayed in pursuing his remedies before a Board of Contract Appeals or a court of competent jurisdiction.

12. AUDIT

(a) For purposes of verifying that certified cost or pricing data submitted, in conjunction with the negotiation of this contract or any contract change or other modification involving an amount in excess of $100,000

RULES AND REGULATIONS

was accurate, complete, and current, the Contracting Officer, or his authorized representatives, shall, until the expiration of three (3) years from the date of final payment under this contract or of the time periods for the particular records specified in Part 1-20 of the Federal Procurement Regulations (41 CFR Part 1-20), whichever expires earlier, have the right to examine those books, records, documents, papers, and other supporting data which involve transactions related to this contract or which will permit adequate evaluation of the cost or pricing data submitted, along with the computations and projections used therein.

(b) The Contractor agrees to insert this clause, including this paragraph (b), in all subcontracts hereunder which when entered into exceed $100,000, unless the price is based on adequate price competition, established catalog or market prices of commercial items sold in substantial quantities to the general public, or prices set by law or regulation. When so inserted, changes shall be made to designate the higher tier subcontractor at the level involved as the contracting and certifying party; to add "of the Government prime contract" after "Contracting Officer;" and to add, at the end of (a) above, the words: "Provided, That, in the case of any contract change or modification, such change or modification results from a change or other modification to the Government prime contract." In each such excepted subcontract hereunder which when entered into exceeds $100,000, the Contractor shall insert the following clause:

AUDIT-PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

(a) This clause shall become operative only with respect to any change or other modification of this contract which involves a price adjustment in excess of $100,000 unless the price adjustment is based on adequate price competition established catalog or market prices of commercial items sold in substantial quantities to the general public or prices set by law or regulation. Provided, That such change or other modification to this contract results from a change or other modification to the Government prime contract.

(b) For purposes of verifying that certified cost or pricing data submitted in conjunction with such a contract change or modification was accurate, complete, and current, the Contracting Officer of the Government prime contract, or his authorized representatives, shall, until the expiration of three (3) years from the date of final payment under this contract, or of the time periods for the particular records specified in Part 1-20 of the Federal Procurement Regulations (41 CFR Part 1-20), whichever expires earlier, have the right to examine those books, records, documents, papers, and other supporting data which involve transactions related to this contract or which will permit adequate evaluation of the cost or pricing data submitted, along with the computations and projections used therein.

(c) The subcontractor agrees to insert this clause, including this paragraph (c), in all subcontracts hereunder which when entered into exceed $100,000.

13. FEDERAL, STATE, AND LOCAL TAXES

(a) Except as may be otherwise provided in this contract, the contract price includes all applicable Federal, State, and local taxes and duties.

(b) Nevertheless, with respect to any Federal excise tax or duty on the transactions or property covered by this contract, if a statute, court decision, written ruling, or regulation takes effect after the contract date, and—

(1) Results in the Contractor being required to pay or bear the burden of any such Federal excise tax or duty or increase in the rate thereof which would not otherwise have been payable on such transactions or property, the contract price shall be increased by the amount of such tax or duty or rate increase; Provided, That the Contractor if requested by the Contracting Officer, warrants in writing that no amount for such newly imposed Federal excise tax or duty or rate increase was included in the contract price as a contingency reserve or otherwise; or

(2) Results in the Contractor not being required to pay or bear the burden of, or in his obtaining a refund or drawback of, any such Federal excise tax or duty which would otherwise have been payable on such transactions or property or which was the basis of an increase in the contract price, the contract price shall be decreased by the amount of the relief, refund, or drawback, or that amount shall be paid to the Government, as directed by the Contracting Officer. The contract price shall be similarly decreased if the Contractor, through his fault or negligence or his failure to follow instructions of the Contracting Officer, is required to pay or bear the burden of, or does not obtain a refund or drawback of, any such Federal excise tax or duty.

(c) No adjustment pursuant to paragraph (b) above will be made under this contract unless the aggregate amount thereof is or may reasonably be expected to be over $100.

(d) As used in paragraph (b) above, the term "contract date" means the date set for the bid opening, or if this is a negotiated contract, the date of this contract. As to additional supplies or services procured by modification to this contract, the term "contract date" means the date of such modification.

(e) Unless there does not exist any reasonable basis to sustain an exemption, the Government, upon request of the Contractor, without further liability, agrees, except as otherwise provided in this contract, to furnish evidence appropriate to establish exemption from any tax which the Contractor warrants in writing was excluded from the contract price. In addition, the Contracting Officer may furnish evidence to establish exemption from any tax that may, pursuant to this clause, give rise to either an increase or decrease in the contract price. Except as otherwise provided in this contract, evidence appropriate to establish exemption from duties will be furnished only at the discretion of the Contracting Officer.

(f) The Contractor shall promptly notify the Contracting Officer of matters which will result in either an increase or decrease in the contract price, and shall take action with respect thereto as directed by the Contracting Officer.

14. EXAMINATION OF RECORDS BY COMPTROLLER GENERAL

(a) This clause is applicable if the amount of this contract exceeds $2,500 and was entered into by means of negotiation, including small business restricted advertising, but is not applicable if this contract was entered into by means of formal advertising.

(b) The Contractor agrees that the Comptroller General of the United States or any of his duly authorized representatives shall, until the expiration of 3 years after final payment under this contract or such lesser time specified in the Federal Procurement Regulations Part 1-20, have access to and the right to examine any directly pertinent books, documents, papers, and records of the Contractor involving transactions related to this contract.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

(c) The Contractor further agrees to include in all his subcontracts hereunder a provision to the effect that the subcontractor agrees that the Comptroller General of the United States or any of his duly authorized representatives shall, until the expiration of 3 years after final payment under the contract or such lesser time specified in the Federal Procurement Regulations Part 1-20, have access to and the right to examine any directly pertinent books, documents, papers, and records of such subcontractor, involving transactions related to the subcontract. The term "subcontract" as used in this clause excludes (1) purchase orders not exceeding $2,500, and (2) subcontracts or purchase orders for public utility services at rates established for uniform applicability to the general public.

(d) The periods of access and examination described in (b) and (c) above, for records which relate to (1) appeals under the "Disputes" clause of this contract, (2) litigation or the settlement of claims arising out of the performance of this contract, or (3) costs and expenses of this contract, as to which exception has been taken by the Comptroller General or any of his duly authorized representatives, shall continue until such appeals, litigation, claims, or exceptions have been disposed of.

15. COST ACCOUNTING STANDARDS

(The following clause shall be applicable if this contract exceeds $100,000.)

(a) Unless the Cost Accounting Standards Board has prescribed rules or regulations exempting the Contractor or this contract from standards, rules, and regulations promulgated pursuant to 50 U.S.C. App. 2168 (Public Law 91-379, Aug. 15, 1970), the Contractor, in connection with this contract shall:

(1) By submission of a Disclosure Statement, disclose in writing his cost accounting practices as required by regulations of the Cost Accounting Standards Board. The required disclosures must be made prior to contract award unless the Contracting Officer provides a written notice to the Contractor authorizing postaward submission in accordance with regulations of the Cost Accounting Standards Board. The practices disclosed for this contract shall be the same as the practices currently disclosed and applied on all other contracts and subcontracts being performed by the Contractor and which contain this Cost Accounting Standards clause. If the Contractor has marked the Disclosure Statement to indicate that it contains trade secrets and commercial or financial information which is privileged and confidential, the Disclosure Statement will be protected and will not be released outside of the Government.

(2) Follow consistently the cost accounting practices disclosed pursuant to (1), above, in accumulating and reporting contract performance cost data concerning this contract. If any change in disclosed practices is made for the purposes of any contract or subcontract subject to Cost Accounting Standards Board requirements, the change must be applied prospectively to this contract, and the Disclosure Statement must be amended accordingly. If the contract price or cost allowance of this contract is affected by such changes, adjustment shall be made in accordance with subparagraph (a) (4) or (a) (5), below, as appropriate.

(3) Comply with all Cost Accounting Standards in effect on the date of award of this contract or if the Contractor has submitted cost or pricing data, on the date of final agreement on price as shown on the Contractor's signed certificate of current cost or pricing data. The Contractor shall also comply with any Cost Accounting Standard which hereafter becomes applicable to a contract or subcontract of the Contractor. Such compliance shall be required prospectively from the date of applicability to such contract or subcontract.

(4) (A) Agree to an equitable adjustment as provided in the changes clause of this contract if the contract cost is affected by a Disclosure Statement change which the Contractor is required to make pursuant to (3), above. If the Contractor has not been required to file a Disclosure Statement but is required pursuant to (a) (3), above to change an established practice, then an equitable adjustment shall similarly be agreed to.

(B) Negotiate with the Contracting Officer to determine the terms and conditions under which any Disclosure Statement change other than changes under (4) (A), above, may be made. A change to a Disclosure Statement may be proposed by either the Government or the Contractor. Provided, however, That no agreement may be made under this provision that will increase costs paid by the United States under this contract.

(5) Agree to an adjustment of the contract price or cost allowance, as appropriate, if he or a subcontractor fails to comply with an applicable Cost Accounting Standard or to follow any practice disclosed pursuant to subparagraphs (a) (1) and (a) (2), above, and such failure results in any increased costs paid by the United States. Such adjustment shall provide for recovery of the increased costs to the United States together with interest thereon computed at the rate determined by the Secretary of the Treasury pursuant to Public Law 92-41, 85 Stat. 97, or 7 percent per annum, whichever is less, from the time the payment by the United States was made to the time the adjustment is effected.

(b) If the parties fail to agree whether the Contractor or subcontractor has complied with an applicable Cost Accounting Standard, rule, or regulation of the Cost Accounting Standards Board and as to any cost adjustment demanded by the United States, such failure to agree shall be a dispute concerning a question of fact within the meaning of the disputes clause of this contract.

(c) The Contractor shall permit any authorized representatives of the head of the agency, the Cost Accounting Standards Board, or the Comptroller General of the United States to examine and make copies of any documents, papers, or records relating to compliance with the requirements of this clause.

(d) The Contractor shall include in all negotiated subcontracts which he enters into the substance of this clause except paragraph (b), and shall require such inclusion in all other subcontracts of any tier, except that this requirement shall apply only to negotiated subcontracts in excess of $100,000 where the price negotiated is not based on:

(1) Established catalog or market prices of commercial items sold in substantial quantities to the general public; or

(2) Prices set by law or regulation.

NOTE—Subcontractors shall be required to submit their Disclosure Statements to the Contractor. However, if a subcontractor has previously submitted his Disclosure Statement to a Government Contracting Officer he may satisfy that requirement by certifying to the Contractor the date of such Statement and the address of the Contracting Officer.

In any case where a subcontractor determines that the Disclosure Statement information is privileged and confidential and declines to provide it to his Contractor or higher tier subcontractor, the Contractor may authorize direct submission of that subcontractor's Disclosure Statement to the same Government offices to which the Contractor was required to make submission of his Disclosure Statement. Such authorization shall in no way relieve the Contractor of liability as provided in paragraph (a) (5) of this clause. In view of the foregoing and since the contract may be subject to adjustment under this clause by reason of any failure to comply with rules, regulations, and Standards of the Cost Accounting Standards Board in connection with covered subcontracts, it is expected that the Contractor may wish to include a clause in each such subcontract requiring the subcontractor to appropriately indemnify the Contractor. However, the inclusion of such a clause and the terms thereof are matters for negotiation and agreement between the Contractor and the subcontractor. Provided, That they do not conflict with the duties of the Contractor under its contract with the Government. It is also expected that any subcontractor subject to such indemnification will generally require substantially similar indemnification to be submitted by his subcontractors.

(e) The terms defined in § 331.2 of Part 331 of Title 4, Code of Federal Regulations (4 CFR 331.2) shall have the same meanings herein. As there defined, "negotiated subcontract" means "any subcontract except a firm fixed-price subcontract made by a Contractor or subcontractor after receiving offers from at least two firms not associated with each other or such Contractor or subcontractor, providing (1) the solicitation to all competing firms is identical, (2) price is the only consideration in selecting the subcontractor from among the competing firms solicited, and (3) the lowest offer received in compliance with the solicitation from among those solicited is accepted."

(f) The terms defined in § 331.2 of Part 331 of Title 4, Code of Federal Regulations (4 CFR 331.2) shall have the same meanings herein. As there defined, "negotiated subcontract" means "any subcontract except a firm fixed-price subcontract made by a Contractor or subcontractor after receiving offers from at least two firms not associated with each other or such Contractor or subcontractor, providing (1) the solicitation to all competing firms is identical, (2) price is the only consideration in selecting the subcontractor from among the competing firms solicited, and (3) the lowest offer received in compliance with the solicitation from among those solicited is accepted."

16. PRICE REDUCTION FOR DEFECTIVE COST OR PRICING DATA

(The provisions of this clause shall be applicable only if the amount of this contract exceeds $100,000.)

(a) If the Contracting Officer determines that any price, including profit or fee, negotiated in connection with this contract or any cost reimbursable under this contract was increased by any significant sums because the Contractor, or any subcontractor pursuant to the clause of this contract entitled "Subcontractor Cost or Pricing Data" or "Subcontractor Cost or Pricing Data—Price Adjustments," or any subcontract clause therein required, furnished incomplete or inaccurate cost or pricing data or data not current as certified in his Contractor's Certificate of Current Cost or Pricing Data, then such price or cost shall be reduced accordingly and the contract shall be modified in writing to reflect such reduction.

(b) Failure to agree on a reduction shall be a dispute concerning a question of fact within the meaning of the "Disputes" clause of this contract.

NOTE—Since the contract is subject to reduction under this clause by reason of defective cost or pricing data submitted in connection with certain subcontracts, it is expected that the Contractor may wish to include a clause in each such subcontract requiring the subcontractor to appropriately indemnify the Contractor. It is also expected that any subcontractor subject to such indemnification will generally require substantially similar indemnification for defective cost or pricing data required to be submitted by his lower tier subcontractors.

17. PRICING OF ADJUSTMENTS

When costs are a factor in any determination of a contract price adjustment pursuant to the "Changes" clause or any other provision of this contract, such costs shall be in accordance with Part 1-15 of the Federal Procurement Regulations as in effect as of the date of this contract.

18. SUBCONTRACTOR COST AND PRICING DATA

(The provisions of this clause shall be applicable only if the amount of this contract exceeds $100,000.)

(a) The Contractor shall require subcontractors hereunder to submit in writing cost or pricing data under the following circumstances:

(1) Prior to award of any cost-reimbursable type, time and material, labor-hour, incentive, or price redeterminable subcontract, change or other modification, the price of which is expected to exceed $100,000, and

(2) Prior to the award of any other subcontract, the price of which is expected to exceed $100,000 or to the pricing of any subcontract change or other modification for which the price adjustment is expected to exceed $100,000, where the price or price adjustment is not based on adequate price competition, established catalog or market prices of commercial items sold in substantial quantities to the general public, or prices set by law or regulation.

(b) The Contractor shall require subcontractors to certify, in substantially the same form as that used in the Certificate by the Prime Contractor in the Government, that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, the cost and pricing data submitted under (a), above, are accurate, complete, and current as of the date of the execution, which date shall be as close as possible to the date of agreement on the negotiated price of the subcontract or subcontract change or modification.

(c) The Contractor shall insert the substance of this clause including this paragraph (c) in each of his cost-reimbursable type, time and material, labor-hour, price redeterminable, or incentive subcontracts hereunder, and in any other subcontract hereunder which exceeds $100,000 unless the price thereof is based on adequate price competition, established catalog or market prices of commercial items sold in substantial quantities to the general public, or prices set by law or regulation. In each such excepted subcontract hereunder which exceeds $100,000, the Contractor shall insert the substance of the following clause:

SUBCONTRACTOR COST AND PRICING DATA—PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

(a) Paragraphs (b) and (c) of this clause shall become operative only with respect to any change or other modification made pursuant to one or more provisions of this contract which involves a price adjustment in excess of $100,000. The requirements of this clause shall be limited to such price adjustments.

(b) The Contractor shall require subcontractors hereunder to submit cost or pricing data under the following circumstances:

(1) Prior to award of any cost-reimbursable type, time and material, labor-hour, incentive, or price redeterminable subcontract, the price of which is expected to exceed $100,000; and

(2) Prior to award of any other subcontract, the price of which is expected to exceed $100,000, or to the pricing of any subcontract change or other modification for which the price adjustment is expected to exceed $100,000, where the price or price adjustment is not based on adequate price competition, established catalog or market prices of commercial items sold in substantial quantities to the general public, or prices set by law or regulation.

(c) The Contractor shall require subcontractors to certify, in substantially the same form as that used in the Certificate by the Prime Contractor to the Government, that, to the best of their knowledge and belief, the cost and pricing data submitted under (b), above, are accurate, complete, and current as of the date of the execution, which date shall be as close as possible to the date of agreement on the negotiated price of the contract modification.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

(d) The Contractor shall insert the substance of this clause including this paragraph (d) in each subcontract hereunder which exceeds $100,000.

19. ASSIGNMENT OF CLAIMS

(a) Pursuant to the provisions of the Assignment of Claims Act of 1940, as amended (31 U.S.C. 203, 41 U.S.C. 15), if this contract provides for payments aggregating $1,000 or more, claims for moneys due or to become due the Contractor from the Government under this contract may be assigned to a bank, trust company, or other financing institution, including any Federal lending agency, and may thereafter be further assigned and reassigned to any such institution. Any such assignment or reassignment shall cover all amounts payable under this contract and not already paid, and shall not be made to more than one party, except that any such assignment or reassignment may be made to one party as agent or trustee for two or more parties participating in such financing.

(b) In no event shall copies of this contract or of any plans, specifications, or other similar documents relating to work under this contract, if marked "Top Secret," "Secret," or "Confidential," be furnished to any assignee of any claim arising under this contract or any other person not entitled to receive the same. However, a copy of any part or all of this contract so marked may be furnished, or any information contained therein may be disclosed, to such assignee under the prior written authorization of the Contracting Officer.

20. UTILIZATION OF SMALL BUSINESS CONCERNS

(The following clause is applicable if this contract exceeds $5,000.)

(a) It is the policy of the Government as declared by the Congress that a fair proportion of the purchases and contracts for the supplies and services for the Government be placed with small business concerns.

(b) The Contractor agrees to accomplish the maximum amount of subcontracting to small business concerns that the Contractor finds to be consistent with the efficient performance of this contract.

21. UTILIZATION OF LABOR SURPLUS AREA CONCERNS

(The following clause is applicable if this contract exceeds $5,000.)

(a) It is the policy of the Government to award contracts to labor surplus area concerns that (1) have been certified by the Secretary of Labor (hereafter referred to as certified-eligible concerns with first or second preferences) regarding the employment of a proportionate number of disadvantaged individuals and have agreed to perform substantially (1) in or near sections of concentrated unemployment or underemployment or in persistent or substantial labor surplus areas or (2) in other areas of the United States, respectively, or (2) are non-certified concerns which have agreed to perform substantially in persistent or substantial labor surplus areas, where this can be done consistent with the efficient performance of the contract at prices no higher than are obtainable elsewhere. The Contractor agrees to use his best efforts to place his subcontracts in accordance with this policy.

(b) In complying with paragraph (a) of this clause and with paragraph (b) of the clause of this contract entitled "Utilization of Small Business Concerns," the Contractor in placing his subcontracts shall observe the following order of preference: (1) Certified-eligible concerns with a first preference which are also small business concerns; (2) other certified-eligible concerns with a first preference; (3) certified eligible concerns with a second preference which are also small business concerns; (4) other certified-eligible concerns with a second preference; (5) persistent or substantial labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns; (6) other persistent or substantial labor surplus area concerns; and (7) small business concerns which are not labor surplus area concerns.

(c) The Contractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the Contractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

(d) The Contractor will send to each labor union or representative of workers with which he has a collective-bargaining agreement or other contract or understanding, a copy of this contract and a copy of the following clause: (1) Certified-eligible concerns with a first preference which are also small business concerns; (2) other certified-eligible concerns with a first preference; (3) certified eligible concerns with a second preference which are also small business concerns; (4) other certified-eligible concerns with a second preference; (5) persistent or substantial labor surplus area concerns which are also small business concerns; (6) other persistent or substantial labor surplus area concerns; and (7) small business concerns which are not labor surplus area concerns.

22. UTILIZATION OF MINORITY BUSINESS ENTERPRISES

The following clause is applicable if the amount of this contract is in excess of $5,000 except (1) contracts which, including all subcontracts, hereunder, are to be performed entirely outside the United States, its possessions, and Puerto Rico and (2) contracts for services which are personal in nature.

(a) It is the policy of the Government that minority business enterprises shall have the maximum practicable opportunity to participate in the performance of Government contracts.

(b) The Contractor agrees to use his best efforts to carry out this policy in the award of his subcontracts to the fullest extent consistent with the efficient performance of this contract. As used in this contract, the term "minority business enterprise" means a business, at least 50 percent of which is owned by minority group members or, in case of publicly owned businesses, at least 51 percent of the stock of which is owned by minority group members. For the purposes of this definition, minority group members are Negroes, Spanish-speaking American persons, American Eskimos, and American Aleuts. Contractors may rely on written representations by subcontractors regarding their status as minority business enterprises in lieu of an independent investigation.

23. EQUAL OPPORTUNITY

(The following clause is applicable unless this contract is exempt under the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor (41 CFR Ch. 60).)

During the performance of this contract, the Contractor agrees as follows:

(a) The Contractor will not discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. The Contractor will take affirmative action to insure that applicants are employed, and that employees are treated during employment without regard to their race, color, religion, sex, or national origin. Such action shall include, but not be limited to, the following: Employment, upgrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment, or recruitment advertising; layoff or termination; rates of pay or other forms of compensation; and selection of training, including apprenticeship. The Contractor agrees to post in conspicuous places, available to employees and applicants for employment, notices to be provided by the Contracting Officer setting forth the provisions of this equal opportunity clause.

(b) The Contractor will, in all solicitations or advertisements for employees placed by or on behalf of the Contractor, state that all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

(c) The Contractor will send to each labor union or representative of workers with which he has a collective-bargaining agreement or other contract or understanding, a notice, to be provided by the agency Contracting Officer, advising the labor union or workers' representative of the Contractor's commitments under this equal opportunity clause, and shall post copies of the notice in conspicuous places available to employees and applicants for employment.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

(d) The Contractor will comply with all provisions of Executive Order No. 11246 of September 24, 1965, Executive Order No. 11375 of October 13, 1967, and of the rules, regulations, and relevant orders of the Secretary of Labor.

(e) The Contractor will furnish all information and reports required by Executive Order No. 11246 of September 24, 1965, and by the rules, regulations, and orders of the Secretary of Labor, or pursuant thereto, and will permit access to his books, records, and accounts by the contracting agency and the Secretary of Labor for purposes of investigation to ascertain compliance with such rules, regulations, and orders.

(f) In the event of the Contractor's non-compliance with the equal opportunity clause of this contract or with any of the said rules, regulations, or orders, this contract may be canceled, terminated, or suspended, in whole or in part, and the Contractor may be declared ineligible for further Government contracts in accordance with procedures authorized in Executive Order No. 11246 of September 24, 1965, and such other sanctions may be imposed and remedies invoked as provided in Executive Order No. 11246 of September 24, 1965, or by rule, regulation, or order of the Secretary of Labor, or as otherwise provided by law.

(g) The Contractor will include the provisions of paragraph (a) through (g) in every subcontract or purchase order unless exempted by rules, regulations, or orders of the Secretary of Labor issued pursuant to section 204 of Executive Order No. 11246 of September 24, 1965, so that such provisions will be binding upon each subcontractor or vendor. The Contractor will take such action with respect to any subcontract or purchase order as the contracting agency may direct as a means of enforcing such provisions, including sanctions for noncompliance. Provided, however, That in the event the Contractor becomes involved in, or is threatened with, litigation with a subcontractor or vendor as a result of such direction by the contracting agency, the Contractor may request the United States to enter such litigation to protect the interests of the United States.

24. LISTING OF EMPLOYMENT OPENINGS

(This clause is applicable pursuant to 41 CFR Part 50-250 if this contract is for $10,000 or more and will generate 400 or more man-days of employment.)

(a) The Contractor agrees that all employment openings of the Contractor which exist at the time of the execution of this contract and those which occur during the performance of this contract, including those not generated by this contract and including those occurring at an establishment of the Contractor other than the one wherein the contract is being performed but excluding those of independently operated corporate affiliates, shall, to the maximum extent feasible, be offered for listing at an appropriate local office of the State employment service system wherein the opening occurs and to provide such periodic reports to such local office regarding employment openings and hires as may be required.

(b) Listing of employment openings with the employment service system pursuant to this clause shall be made at least concurrently with the use of any other recruitment source or effort and shall involve only the normal obligations which attach to the placing of a bona fide job order but does not require the hiring of any job applicant referred by the employment service system.

(c) The periodic reports required by paragraph (a) of this clause, shall be filed at least quarterly with the appropriate local office or, where the Contractor has more than one establishment in a State, with the central office of that State employment service. Such reports shall indicate for each establishment the number of individuals who were hired during the reporting period and the number of hires who were veterans who served in the Armed Forces on or after August 5, 1964, and who received other than a dishonorable discharge. The Contractor shall maintain copies of the reports submitted until the expiration of one (1) year after final payment under the contract, during which time they shall be made available, upon request, for examination by any authorized representatives of the Contracting Officer or of the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Whenever the Contractor becomes contractually bound to the listing provisions of this clause, he shall advise the employment service system in each State wherein he has establishments of the name and location of each such establishment in the State. As long as the Contractor is contractually bound to these provisions and has so advised the State employment service system, there is no need to advise the State system of subsequent contracts. The Contractor may advise the State system when it is no longer bound by this contract clause.

(e) This clause does not apply (1) to the listing of employment openings which occur outside of the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands, and (2) to contracts with State and local governments.

(f) This clause does not apply to openings which the Contractor proposes to fill from within his own organization or to fill pursuant to a customary and traditional employer-union hiring arrangement. This exclusion does not apply to a particular opening once an employer decides to consider applicants outside of his own organization or employer-union arrangement for that opening.

(g) As used in this clause:

(1) "All employment openings" includes, but is not limited to, openings which occur in the following job categories: Production and nonproduction; plant and office; laborers and mechanics; supervisory and nonsupervisory; technical; and executive, administrative, and professional openings which are compensated on a salary basis of less than $18,000 per year. This term includes full-time employment, temporary employment of more than 3 days' duration, and part-time employment.

(2) "Appropriate office of the State employment service system" means the local office of the Federal-State national system of public employment offices with assigned responsibility for serving the area of the establishment where the employment opening is to be filled, including the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands.

(3) "Openings which the Contractor proposes to fill from within his own organization or to fill pursuant to a customary and traditional employer-union hiring arrangement" means employment openings for which no consideration will be given to persons outside the Contractor's organization (including any affiliates, subsidiaries, and parent companies) or outside of a special hiring arrangement which is part of the customary and traditional employment relationship which exists between the Contractor and the representatives of his employees and includes any openings which the Contractor proposes to fill from regularly established "recall" or "rehire" lists or from union hiring halls.

(4) "Man-day of employment" means any day during which an employee performs more than one (1) hour of work.

(h) The Contractor agrees to place this clause (excluding this paragraph (h)) in any subcontract directly under this contract.

25. WALSH-HEALEY PUBLIC CONTRACTS ACT

If this contract is for the manufacture or furnishing of materials, supplies, articles, or equipment in an amount which exceeds or may exceed $10,000 and is otherwise subject to the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act, as amended (41 U.S.C. 35-45), there are hereby incorporated by reference all representations and stipulations required by said Act and regulations issued thereunder by the Secretary of Labor, such representations and stipulations being subject to all applicable rulings and interpretations of the Secretary of Labor which are now or may hereafter be in effect.

26. CONTRACT WORK HOURS AND SAFETY STANDARDS ACT—OVERTIME COMPENSATION (40 U.S.C. 327-333)

The contract is subject to the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act and to the applicable rules, regulations, and interpretations of the Secretary of Labor.

(a) Overtime requirements. No Contractor or subcontractor contracting for any part of the contract work which may require or involve the employment of laborers or mechanics shall require or permit any laborer or mechanic in any workweek in which he is employed on such work to work in excess of 8 hours in any calendar day or in excess of 40 hours in such workweek on work subject to the provisions of the Contract Work Hours Standards Act unless such laborer or mechanic receives compensation at a rate not less than one and one-half times his basic rate of pay for all such hours worked in excess of 8 hours in any calendar day or in excess of 40 hours in such workweek, whichever is the greater number of overtime hours.

(b) Violation; liability for unpaid wages; liquidated damages. In the event of any violation of the provisions of paragraph (a), the Contractor and any subcontractor responsible therefor shall be liable to any affected employee for his unpaid wages. In addition, such Contractor and subcontractor shall be liable to the United States for liquidated damages. Such liquidated damages shall be computed with respect to each individual laborer or mechanic employed in violation of the provisions of paragraph (a) in the sum of $10 for each calendar day on which such employee was required or permitted to be employed on such work in excess of 8 hours or in excess of the standard workweek of 40 hours without payment of the overtime wages required by paragraph (a).

(c) Withholding for unpaid wages and liquidated damages. The Contracting Officer may withhold from the Government Prime Contractor, from any moneys payable on account of work performed by the Contractor or subcontractor, such sums as may be necessary to satisfy any liabilities of such Contractor or subcontractor for unpaid wages and liquidated damages as provided in the provisions of paragraph (b).

(d) Subcontracts. The Contractor shall insert paragraphs (a) through (d) of this clause in all subcontracts, and shall require their inclusion in all subcontracts of any tier.

(e) Records. The Contractor shall maintain payroll records containing the information specified in 29 CFR 516.2(a). Such records shall be preserved for 3 years from the completion of the contract.

27. CONVICT LABOR

In connection with the performance of work under this contract, the Contractor agrees not to employ any person undergoing sentence of imprisonment at hard labor.

28. BUY AMERICAN ACT

(a) In acquiring end products, the Buy American Act (41 U.S.C. 101a-d) provides that the Government give preference to domestic source end products. For the purpose of this clause:

(1) "Components" mean those articles, materials, and supplies which are directly incorporated in the end products;

(2) "End products" mean those articles, materials, and supplies which are to be acquired under this contract for public use; and

(3) A "domestic source end product" means (A) an unmanufactured end product which has been mined or produced in the United States and (B) an end product manufactured in the United States if the cost of the components thereof which are mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States exceeds 50 percent of the cost of all its components. For the purposes of this (a) (3) (B), components of foreign origin of the same type or kind as the products referred to in (b) (2) or (3) of this clause shall be treated as components mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States.

(b) The Contractor agrees that there will be delivered under this contract only domestic source end products, except end products:

(1) Which are for use outside the United States;

(2) Which the Government determines are not mined, produced, or manufactured in the United States in sufficient and reasonably available commercial quantities and of a satisfactory quality;

(3) As to which the Administrator determines the domestic preference to be inconsistent with the public interest; or

(4) As to which the Administrator determines the cost to the Government to be unreasonable.

(The foregoing requirements are administered in accordance with Executive Order No. 10582, dated Dec. 17, 1954.)

29. OFFICIALS NOT TO BENEFIT

No Member of or delegate to Congress, or resident commissioner, shall be admitted to any share or part of this contract, or to any benefit that may arise therefrom; but this provision shall not be construed to extend to this contract if made with a corporation for its general benefit.

30. COVENANT AGAINST CONTINGENT FEES

The Contractor warrants that no person or selling agency has been employed or retained to solicit or secure this contract upon an agreement or understanding for a commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee, excepting bona fide employees or bona fide established commercial or selling agencies maintained by the Contractor for the purpose of securing business. For breach or violation of this warranty, the Government shall have the right to annul this contract without liability or in its discretion to deduct from the contract price or consideration the full amount of such commission, percentage, brokerage, or contingent fee.

31. GRATUITIES

(a) The Government may, by written notice to the Contractor, terminate the right of the Contractor to proceed under this contract if it is found, after notice and hearing, by the Administrator or his duly authorized representative, that gratuities (in the form of entertainment, gifts, or otherwise) were offered or given by the Contractor, or any agent or representative of the Contractor, to any officer or employee of the Government with a view toward securing a contract or securing favorable treatment with respect to the awarding or amending, or the making of any determinations with respect to the performing of such contract. Provided, That the existence of the facts upon which the Administrator or his duly authorized representative makes such findings shall be in issue and may be reviewed in any competent court.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

(b) In the event this contract is terminated as provided in paragraph (a) hereof, the Government shall be entitled (1) to pursue the same remedies against the Contractor as it could pursue in the event of a breach of the contract by the Contractor, and (2) as a penalty in addition to any other damages to which it may be entitled by law, to exemplary damages in an amount (as determined by the Administrator or his duly authorized representative) which shall be not less than three nor more than 10 times the costs incurred by the Contractor in providing any such gratuities to any such officer or employee.

(c) The rights and remedies of the Government provided in this clause shall not be exclusive and are in addition to any other rights and remedies provided by law or under this contract.

32. AUTHORIZATION AND CONSENT

The Government hereby gives its authorization and consent for all use and manufacture of any invention described in and covered by a patent of the United States in the performance of this contract or any part hereof or any amendment hereto or any subcontract hereunder (including any lower-tier subcontract).

33. RIGHTS IN DATA

(a) Definitions. (1) Technical Data, as used in this clause, means recorded information, regardless of form or characteristic, of a scientific or technical nature. It may, for example, document research, experimental, developmental, or engineering work; or be usable or used to define a design or process or to procure, produce, support, maintain, or operate material. The data may be graphic or pictorial delineations in media such as drawings or photographs; text in specifications or related performance or design type documents; in machine forms such as punched cards, magnetic tape, computer memory printouts; or may be retained in computer memory. Examples of technical data include research and engineering data, engineering drawings and associated lists, specifications, standards, process sheets, manuals, technical reports, catalog item identifications, and related information. Technical data does not include financial, administrative, cost and pricing, and management data, or other information incidental to contract administration.

(2) Limited Rights means rights to use, duplicate, or disclose technical data, in whole or in part, by or for the Government, with the express limitation that such technical data shall not, without the written permission of the party furnishing such technical data, be (a) released or disclosed in whole or in part outside the Government, (b) used in whole or in part by the Government for manufacture or procurement, or (c) used by a party other than the Government, except for:

(1) Emergency repair or overhaul work only, by or for the Government, where the item or process concerned is not otherwise reasonably available to enable timely performance of the work; Provided, That the release or disclosure thereof outside the Government shall be made subject to a prohibition against further use, release, or disclosure; or

(11) Release to a foreign government, as the interest of the United States may require, for emergency repair or overhaul work by or for such government under the conditions of (1) above.

(3) Unlimited rights means rights to use, duplicate, or disclose technical data, in whole or in part, in any manner and for any purpose whatsoever, and to have or permit others to do so.

(b) Government rights. (1) The Government shall have unlimited rights in:

(i) Technical data resulting directly from performance of experimental, developmental, or research work which was specified as an element of performance in this or any other Government contract or subcontract;

(ii) Technical data necessary to enable manufacture of end-items, components, and modifications, or to enable the performance of processes, when the end-items, components, modifications, or processes have been, or are being, developed under this or any other Government contract or subcontract in which experimental, developmental or research work is, or was specified as an element of contract performance.

(iii) Technical data prepared or required to be delivered under this or any other Government contract or subcontract and constituting corrections or changes to Government-furnished data;

(iv) Technical data pertaining to end-items, components, or processes, prepared or required to be delivered under this or any other Government contract or subcontract, for the purpose of identifying sources, size, configuration, mating and attachment characteristics, functional characteristics, and performance requirements ("form, fit, and function" data, e.g., specification control drawings, catalog sheets, envelope drawings, etc.);

(v) Manuals or instructional materials prepared or required to be delivered under this contract or any subcontract hereunder for installation, operation, maintenance, or training purposes;

(vi) Technical data which is in the public domain, or has been or is normally furnished without restriction by the contractor or subcontractor; and

(vii) Technical data listed or described in an agreement incorporated into the schedule of this contract, which the parties have predetermined, on the basis of subparagraphs (1) through (vi) above, and agreed will be furnished with unlimited rights.

(2) The Government shall have limited rights in technical data, listed or described in an agreement incorporated into the schedule of this contract, which the parties have agreed will be furnished with limited rights: Provided, That such piece of data to which limited rights are to be asserted is marked with the following legend in which is inserted the number of the prime contract under which the technical data is to be delivered and the name of the contractor or subcontractor by whom the technical data was generated:

This technical data, furnished under U.S. Government Contract No. _____, shall not, without the written permission of _____, be either (a) used, released, or disclosed in whole or in part outside the Government, (b) used in whole or in part by the Government for manufacture or procurement, or (c) used by a party other than the Government, except for: (1) Emergency repair or overhaul work only, by or for the Government where the item or process concerned is not otherwise reasonably available to enable timely performance of the work provided that the release or disclosure hereof outside the Government shall be made subject to a prohibition against further use, release, or disclosure; or (ii) release to a foreign government, as the interest of the United States may require, for emergency repair or overhaul work by or for such government under the conditions of (i) above. This legend shall be marked on any reproduction hereof in whole or in part.

No legend shall be marked on, nor shall any limitation on rights of use be asserted as to, any data which the Contractor has previously delivered to the Government without restriction. The limited rights provided for by this paragraph (b)(2) shall not impair the right of the Government to use similar or identical data if such data is or becomes a part of the public domain or public knowledge by publication or otherwise, or is acquired by the Government from other sources, without restrictions. In preparation of the final report (if required under the contract), any and all technical data in which the Government has limited rights as set forth in (b)(2) above, shall be submitted under separate cover with the final report and marked with the legend set forth above. However, the final report shall include a complete disclosure of all materials, processes, and equipment employed in such full, clear, concise, and exact detail, including data such as mathematical, graphic, and written descriptive materials and other means of disclosure appropriate in the circumstances to enable any person skilled in the art to comprehend the results of the work performed under the contract.

(c) Material covered by copyright. (1) In addition to the rights granted under the provisions of (b), above, the Contractor agrees to and does hereby grant to the Government, and to its officers, agents, and employees acting within the scope of their official duties, a royalty-free nonexclusive and irrevocable license throughout the world to publish, translate, reproduce, deliver, perform, dispose of, and to authorize others so to do, all technical data now or hereafter covered by copyright.

(2) No copyrighted matter shall be included in technical data furnished hereunder without the written approval of the Contracting Officer unless there has been obtained the written permission of the copyright owner for the Government to use such copyrighted matter in the manner described in paragraph (c)(1) above.

(3) The Contractor shall report to the Government (or higher tier Contractor) promptly and in reasonable written detail each notice or claim of copyright infringement received by the Contractor with respect to any technical data delivered hereunder.

(d) Except for those items set forth in (b)(2) above, the Contractor shall not affix any restrictive markings upon any technical data, and if such markings are affixed, the Government shall have the right at any time to modify, remove, obliterate, or ignore any such markings.

(e) Relation to patents. Nothing contained in this clause shall imply a license to the Government under any patent or be construed as affecting the scope of any license or other right otherwise granted to the Government under any patent.

(f) Right to publish. The Contractor agrees that he will not publish, have published, or otherwise disseminate any information of whatever nature resulting from the work being performed under this contract except as may be approved by the Project Officer. Provided, however, That the Contractor may without the approval of the Project Officer for internal use only, disseminate such information within his own organization.

(g) Acquisition of data from subcontractors. (1) Whenever any technical data is to be obtained from a subcontractor under this contract, the Contractor shall use this same contract, the subcontractor, without alteration, clause in the subcontract shall be used to enlarge or diminish the Government's or the Contractor's rights in that subcontractor data which is required for the Government.

(2) Technical data required to be delivered by a subcontractor shall normally be delivered to the next higher-tier Contractor. However, when there is a requirement in the prime contract, or in any deferred order, for data which may be supplied with limited rights pursuant to (b)(2) above, a subcontractor may fulfill such requirement by submitting such data directly to the Government rather than through the prime Contractor.

(3) The Contractor and higher-tier subcontractors will not use their power to award subcontracts as economic leverage to acquire rights in data from their subcontractors for themselves.

34. DATA REQUIREMENTS

(a) To the extent that the following data is not elsewhere required to be furnished to the Government under this contract, and is of the type customarily retained in the normal course of business, the Contractor, upon written request of the Contracting Officer at any time during contract performance or within 1 year after final payment, shall furnish the following:

(1) A set of engineering drawings which will be sufficient to enable the manufacture of items or equipment furnished under this contract (other than components or items of standard commercial design, or items fabricated heretofore) by a firm skilled in the art of manufacturing items or equipment of the general type and character of the items or equipment furnished under this contract or a set of flow sheets and engineering drawings which will be sufficient to enable performance of any process developed with this contract by a firm skilled in the art of practicing processes of the general type and character of such process. Such set or sets of drawings and flow sheets shall be reproducible copies incorporating all changes made in the equipment or process in the form in which it was delivered to the Government.

(2) Any of the following data which is necessary to explain or help Government technical personnel understand any equipment, items, or process developed under the contract and furnished to the Government:

(i) A copy (which shall be a reproducible master if one is so requested) of drawings and other technical data used in or prepared in connection with the development, practice, and testing of any process or processes required under the contract, or with the development, fabrication, and testing of prototype models of equipment or items (other than items of standard commercial design or items fabricated heretofore), if required under the contract.

(ii) A report of all studies made in planning the work, and in developing background research for the work, including citation references to all such background research, and a copy of all compilations, digests, or analyses of such background research compiled in connection with the performance of this contract.

(iii) A copy (which shall be a reproducible master if one is so requested) of design studies, research notes, parameter and tolerance studies, drawings, including Contractor's identifications of symbol and markings, specifications, test results, and any other technical information used in any research, development, design, engineering, and testing required in the performance of this contract, including test equipment and related items, together with any information as to safety precautions which may be necessary in connection with the manufacture, storage, or use of the equipment, material, or process, if any, in the event that equipment, material, or process is the subject of research under this contract.

The Contractor shall not be required to furnish any background data which may be described in (ii) and (iii) above unless such data is essential and closely related to the contract work.

(b) All reports, data, and recorded information which are required to be furnished by the Contractor under this provision, as well as all other reports of a technical nature required to be furnished under this contract, are "Technical Data" within the meaning of the clause of the General Provisions of this contract entitled "Rights in Data."

(c) Nothing contained in this "Data Requirements" clause shall require the Contractor to deliver data previously developed by parties other than the Contractor, independently of this contract and acquired by the Contractor prior to this contract under conditions restricting the Contractor's right to disclose the name. Unless otherwise directed by the Contracting Officer, if any of the data requested is in the public domain or copyrighted, it will be sufficient for the Contractor to identify the data and furnish a citation as to where it may be found.

(d) Any reproducible copies requested under this "Data Requirements" clause shall be of a type and prepared in accordance with good commercial practice.

(e) In the event the Contracting Officer requests the delivery of data by the Contractor, as contemplated by (a), above, prior to final payment, such request shall be treated as a change under the clause of this contract entitled "Changes" and an equitable adjustment in the price, if this is a fixed-price contract, or estimated cost and any fixed fee, if this is a cost-type contract, shall be made to cover the cost of preparing drawings called for in (a)(1), above, and of collecting, preparing, editing, duplicating, assembling, and shipping the data requested under (a), above, but only to the extent that the Contractor warrants that such costs were not included in the price (or estimated cost and fixed fee) of the contract. The Contractor shall comply with requests of the Contracting Officer made under (a), above, within 1 year following final payment. Provided, That suitable provision is made for reimbursement of the additional costs of complying with such request, together with a reasonable fee or profit thereon, such additional costs being limited to the costs set forth above, and warranted to have been excluded from the price (or estimated cost and fixed fee) of the contract. Any adjustment or payment under this paragraph (e) shall not include any amount for the value of the data, as distinguished from the costs set forth above.

35. NOTICE AND ASSISTANCE REGARDING PATENT AND COPYRIGHT INFRINGEMENT

(The provisions of this clause shall be applicable only if the amount of this contract exceeds $10,000.)

(a) The Contractor shall report to the Contracting Officer, promptly and in reasonable written detail, each notice or claim of patent or copyright infringement based on the performance of this contract of which the Contractor has knowledge.

(b) In the event of any claim or suit against the Government, on account of any alleged patent or copyright infringement arising out of the performance of this contract or out of the use of any supplies furnished or work or services performed hereunder, the Contractor shall furnish to the Government, when requested by the Contracting Officer, all evidence and information in possession of the Contractor pertaining to such suit or claim. Such evidence and information shall be furnished at the expense of the Government except where the Contractor has agreed to indemnify the Government.

36. PROTECTION OF GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS, EQUIPMENT, AND VEGETATION

The Contractor shall use reasonable care to avoid damaging existing buildings, equipment, and vegetation (such as trees, shrubs, and grass) on the Government installation. If the Contractor fails to do so and damages any such buildings, equipment, or vegetation, he shall replace or repair the damage at no expense to the Government as directed by the Contracting Officer. If he fails or refuses to make such repair or replacement, the Contractor shall be liable for the cost thereof which may be deducted from the contract price.

37. INDEMNIFICATION FOR GOVERNMENT LIABILITY TO THIRD PERSONS

Notwithstanding any other provision of this contract, Contractor agrees to hold the Government harmless from and indemnify the Government for the total amount of any judgment, compromise, or settlement based on the death of, injury to, or damage to the property of any third person if such death, injury, or property damage arose out of or in connection with the performance of this contract and was caused, in whole or in part, by the Contractor, its subcontractor, or any agent or employee of the Contractor or of its subcontractor, regardless of whether any negligent or wrongful act of the Government, its officers, employees, or agents caused in part such death, injury, or property damage.

38. SERVICE CONTRACT ACT OF 1965 (REV. DEC. 1972)

This contract, to the extent that it is of the character to which the Service Contract Act of 1965 (79 Stat. 1034, 41 U.S.C. 351) applies, is subject to the following provisions and to all other applicable provisions of the Act and regulations of the Secretary of Labor thereunder.

(a) Compensation. Each service employee employed in the performance of this contract by the Contractor or any subcontractor shall be paid not less than the minimum monetary wage and shall be furnished fringe benefits in accordance with the wages and fringe benefits determined by the Secretary of Labor or his authorized representative, as specified in any attachment to this contract. If there is such an attachment, any class of service employees which is not listed therein, but which is to be employed under this contract, shall be classified by the Contractor so as to provide a reasonable relationship between such classifications and those listed in the attachment, and shall be paid such monetary wages and furnished such fringe benefits as are determined by agreement of the interested parties, who shall be deemed to be the contracting agency, the Contractor, and the employees who will perform on the contract or their representatives. If the interested parties do not agree on a classification or reclassification which is, in fact, conformable, the Contracting Officer shall submit the question, together with his recommendation, to the Office of Special Wage Standards, Employment Standards Administration (ESA), of the Department of Labor for final determination. Failure to pay such employees the compensation agreed upon by the interested parties or finally determined by the Administrator or his authorized representative shall be a violation of this contract.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

lation of this contract. No employee engaged in performing work on this contract shall in any event be paid less than the minimum wage specified under section 6(a)(1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended.

(b) Adjustment. If, as authorized pursuant to section 4(d) of the Service Contract Act of 1965, as amended, the term of this contract is more than 1 year, the minimum monetary wages and fringe benefits required to be paid or furnished thereunder to service employees shall be subject to adjustment after 1 year and not less often than once every 2 years, pursuant to wage determinations to be issued by the Employment Standards Administration of the Department of Labor as provided in such Act.

(c) Obligation to furnish prime benefits. The Contractor or subcontractor may discharge the obligation to furnish fringe benefits specified in the attachment or determined conformably thereto by furnishing any equivalent combinations of fringe benefits, or by making equivalent or differential payments in cash in accordance with the applicable rules set forth in 29 CFR Part 4, Subparts B and C, and not otherwise.

(d) Minimum wage. In the absence of a minimum wage attachment for this contract, neither the Contractor nor any subcontractor under this contract shall pay any of his employees performing work under the contract (regardless of whether they are service employees) less than the minimum wage specified by section 6(a)(1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938. Nothing in this provision shall relieve the Contractor or any subcontractor of any other obligation under law or contract for the payment of a higher wage to any employee.

(e) Obligations attributable to predecessor contracts. If this contract succeeds a contract, subject to the Service Contract Act of 1965, as amended, under which substantially the same services were furnished and service employees were paid wages and fringe benefits provided for in a collective bargaining agreement, then in the absence of a minimum wage attachment for this contract neither the Contractor nor any subcontractor under this contract shall pay any service employee performing any of the contract work less than the wages and fringe benefits, provided for in such collective bargaining agreements, to which such employee would be entitled if employed under the predecessor contract, including accrued wages and fringe benefits and any prospective increases in wages and fringe benefits provided for under such agreement. No Contractor or subcontractor under this contract may be relieved of the foregoing obligation unless the Secretary of Labor or his authorized representative determines that the collective bargaining agreement applicable to service employees employed under the predecessor contract was not entered into as a result of arms-length negotiations, or finds, after a hearing as provided in Department of Labor regulations, 29 CFR 4.10, that the wages and fringe benefits provided for in such agreement are substantially at variance with those which prevail for services of a character similar in the locality.

(f) Notification to employees. The Contractor and any subcontractor under this contract shall notify each service employee commencing work on this contract of the minimum monetary wage and any fringe benefits required to be paid pursuant to this contract, or shall post a notice of such wages and benefits in a prominent and accessible place at the worksite, using such poster as may be provided by the Department of Labor.

(g) Safe and sanitary working conditions. The Contractor or subcontractor shall not permit any part of the services called for by this contract to be performed in buildings or surroundings or under working conditions provided by or under the control or supervision of the Contractor or subcontractor which are unsanitary or hazardous or dangerous to the health or safety of service employees engaged to furnish these services, and the Contractor or subcontractor shall comply with the safety and health standards applied under 29 CFR Part 1925.

(h) Records. The Contractor and each subcontractor performing work subject to the Act shall make and maintain for three (3) years from the completion of the work records containing the information specified in subparagraphs (1) through (5) of this paragraph for each employee subject to the Act and shall make them available for inspection and transcription by authorized representatives of the Employment Standards Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor.

(1) His name and address.

(2) His work classification or classifications, rate or rates of monetary wages and fringe benefits provided, rate or rates of fringe benefit payments in lieu thereof, and total daily and weekly compensation.

(3) His daily and weekly hours so worked.

(4) Any deductions, rebates, or refunds from his total daily or weekly compensation.

(5) A list of monetary wages and fringe benefits for those classes of service employees not included in the minimum wage attachment to this contract, but for which such wage rates or fringe benefits have been determined by the interested parties or by the Administrator or his authorized representative pursuant to the Labor Standards clause in paragraph (a) of this clause. A copy of the report required in paragraph (m)(1) of this clause shall be deemed to be such a list.

(i) Withholding of payment and termination of contract. The Contracting Officer shall withhold or cause to be withheld from the Government Prime Contractor under this or any other Government contract with the prime Contractor such sums as he, or an appropriate officer of the Department of Labor, decides may be necessary to pay underpaid employees. Additionally, any failure to comply with the requirements of this clause relating to the Service Contract Act of 1965 may be grounds for termination of the right to proceed with the contract work. In such event, the Government may enter into other contracts or arrangements for completion of the work, charging the Contractor in default with any additional cost.

(j) Subcontractors. The Contractor agrees to insert this clause relating to the Service Contract Act of 1965 in all subcontracts. The term "Contractor" as used in this clause in any subcontract, shall be deemed to refer to the subcontractor, except in the term "Government Prime Contractor."

(k) Service employee. As used in this clause relating to the Service Contract Act of 1965, the term "service employee" means guards, watchmen, and any person engaged in a recognized trade or craft, or other skilled mechanical craft, or in unskilled, semiskilled, or skilled manual labor occupations; and any other employee including a foreman or supervisor in a position having trade, craft, or laboring experience as the paramount requirement; and shall include all such persons regardless of any contractual relationship that may be alleged to exist between a Contractor or subcontractor and such persons.

(l) Comparable rates. The following classes of service employees expected to be employed under the contract with the Government would be subject, if employed by the contracting agency, to the provisions of 5 U.S.C. 5341 and would, if so employed, be paid not less than the following rates of wages and fringe benefits:

Employee
classMonetary wages—
fringe benefits

(m) Contractor's report. (1) If there is a wage determination attachment to this contract and one or more classes of service employees which are not listed thereon are to be employed under the contract, the Contractor shall report to the Contracting Officer the monetary wages to be paid and the fringe benefits to be provided each such class of service employee. Such report shall be made promptly as soon as such compensation has been determined, as provided in paragraph (a) of this clause.

(2) If wages to be paid or fringe benefits to be furnished any service employees employed by the Government prime Contractor or any subcontractor under the contract are provided for in a collective-bargaining agreement which is or will be effective during any period in which the contract is being performed, the Government prime Contractor shall report such fact to the Contracting Officer, together with full information as to the application and accrual of such wages and fringe benefits, including any prospective increases, to service employees engaged in work on the contract, and a copy of the collective-bargaining agreement. Such report shall be made upon commencing performance of the contract, in the case of collective-bargaining agreements effective at such time, and in the case of such agreements or provisions or amendments thereof effective at a later time during the period of contract performance, such agreements shall be reported promptly after negotiation thereof.

(n) Exemptions. This clause relating to the Service Contract Act of 1965 shall not apply to the following:

(1) Any contract of the United States or District of Columbia for construction, alteration, and/or repair, including painting and decorating of public buildings or public works;

(2) Any work required to be done in accordance with the provisions of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (49 Stat. 2036);

(3) Any contract for the carriage of freight or personnel by vessel, airplane, bus, truck, express, railway line, or oil or gas pipeline where published tariff rates are in effect, or where such carriage is subject to rates covered by section 22 of the Interstate Commerce Act;

(4) Any contract for the furnishing of services by radio, telephone, telegraph, or cable companies, subject to the Communications Act of 1934;

(5) Any contract for public utility services, including electric light and power, water, steam, and gas;

(6) Any employment contract providing for direct services to a Federal agency by an individual or individuals;

(7) Any contract with the Post Office Department (U.S. Postal Service), the principal purpose of which is the operation of postal contract stations;

(8) Any services to be furnished outside the United States. For geographic purposes, the "United States" is defined in section 8 (d) of the Service Contract Act to include any State of the United States, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Outer Continental Shelf Lands, as defined in the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act, American Samoa, Guam, Wake Island, Eniwetok Atoll, Kwajalein Atoll, and Johnston Island. It does not include any other territory under the jurisdiction of the United States or any U.S. base or possession within a foreign country;

(9) Any of the following contracts exempted from all provisions of the Service

RULES AND REGULATIONS

Contract Act of 1965, pursuant to section 4(b) of the Act, which exemptions the Secretary of Labor, prior to amendment of such section by Public Law 92-473, found to be necessary and proper in the public interest or to avoid serious impairment of the conduct of Government business:

(i) Contracts entered into by the United States with common carriers for the carriage of mail by rail, air (except air star routes), bus, and ocean vessel, where such carriage is performed on regularly scheduled runs of the trains, airplanes, buses, and vessels over regularly established routes and accounts for an insubstantial portion of the revenue therefrom;

(ii) Any contract entered into by the U.S. Postal Service with an individual owner-operator for mail service where it is not contemplated at the time the contract is made that such owner-operator will hire any service employee to perform the services under the contract except for short periods of vacation time or for unexpected contingencies or emergency situations such as illness or accident.

(o) Special employees. Notwithstanding any of the provisions in paragraphs (b) through (i) of this clause, relating to the Service Contract Act of 1965, the following employees may be employed in accordance with the following variations, tolerances, and exemptions, which the Secretary of Labor, pursuant to section 4(b) of the Act prior to its amendment by Public Law 92-473, found to be necessary and proper in the public interest or to avoid serious impairment of the conduct of Government business:

(1) (i) Apprentices, student-learners, and workers whose earning capacity is impaired by age, physical or mental deficiency, or injury may be employed at wages lower than the minimum wages otherwise required by section 2(a)(1) or (b)(1) of the Service Contract Act of 1965, without diminishing any fringe benefits or cash payments in lieu thereof required under section 2(a)(2) of that Act, in accordance with the procedures prescribed for the employment of apprentices, student-learners, handicapped persons, and handicapped clients of sheltered workshops under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, in the regulations issued by the Administrator.

(ii) The Administrator will issue certificates under the Service Contract Act of 1965 for the employment of apprentices, student-learners, handicapped persons, or handicapped clients of sheltered workshops not subject to the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, or subject to different minimum rates of pay under the two acts, authorizing appropriate rates of minimum wages (but without changing requirements concerning fringe benefits or supplementary cash payments in lieu thereof), applying procedures prescribed by the applicable regulations issued under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 CFR Parts 520, 521, 524, and 525);

(iii) The Administrator will also withdraw, annul, or cancel such certificates in accordance with the regulations in Parts 525 and 528 of Title 29 of the Code of Federal Regulations.

(2) An employee engaged in an occupation in which he customarily and regularly receives more than $20 a month in tips may have the amount of his tips credited by his employer against the minimum wage required by section 2(a)(1) or section 2(b)(1) of the Act in accordance with the regulations in 29 CFR Part 531: Provided, however, That the amount of such credit may not exceed 80 cents per hour.

PART 1033—CAR SERVICE

Central California Traction Co.

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Railroad Service Board, held in Washington, D.C., on the 15th day of March 1973.

It appearing, that the Central California Traction Co. (CCT) is unable to operate over its line between Stockton, Calif., and Polk, Calif., because of damage to a bridge located at CCT milepost 21-B; that CCT operations can be accomplished by use of tracks of the Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (SP) between SP milepost 103.3 at Lodi, Calif., and SP milepost 132.0 at Polk, Calif., a distance of approximately 28.7 miles; that the SP has consented to use of such tracks by the CCT; that operation by the CCT over the aforementioned tracks of the SP is necessary in the interest of the public and the commerce of the people; that notice and public procedure herein are impracticable and contrary to the public interest; and that good cause exists for making this order effective upon less than 30 days' notice.

It is ordered, That:

§ 1033.1127 Service Order No. 1127.

(a) Central California Traction Co. authorized to operate over tracks of Southern Pacific Transportation Co. The Central California Traction Co. (CCT) be, and it is hereby, authorized to operate over tracks of the Southern Pacific Transportation Co. (SP) between SP milepost 103.3 at Lodi, Calif., and SP milepost 132.0 at Polk, Calif., a distance of approximately 28.7 miles.

(b) Application. The provisions of this order shall apply to intrastate, interstate, and foreign traffic.

(c) Rates applicable. Inasmuch as this operation by the CCT over tracks of the SP is deemed to be due to carrier's disability, the rates applicable to traffic moved by the CCT over these tracks of the SP shall be the rates which were applicable on the shipments at the time of shipment as originally routed.

(d) Effective date. This order shall become effective at 11:59 p.m., March 15, 1973.

(e) Expiration date. The provisions of this order shall expire at 11:59 p.m., April 30, 1973, unless otherwise modified, changed, or suspended by order of this Commission.

(Secs. 1, 12, 15, 17(2), 24 Stat. 379, 383, 384, as amended; 49 U.S.C. 1, 12, 15, and 17(2). Interprets or applies secs. 1(10-17), 15(4), and 17(2), 40 Stat. 101, as amended, 54 Stat. 911; 49 U.S.C. 1(10-17), 15(4), 17(2))

It is further ordered, That copies of this order shall be served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and car hire agreement under the terms of that

PART 1048—COMMERCIAL ZONES

Commercial Zones and Terminal Areas,
New Orleans, La.

At a Session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Review Board Number 2, Members Mills, Boyle, and Parker, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 9th day of February 1973.

It appearing, that the limits of the New Orleans, La., commercial zone were originally defined in 48 MCC 95; that subsequently the limits have been redefined in 48 MCC 441, 62 MCC 151, 66 MCC 709, and 81 MCC 726 (49 CFR 1048.27); and that by petition filed November 16, 1972, the New Orleans Traffic and Transportation Bureau seeks redefinition of the limits of the zone adjacent to and commercially a part of New Orleans, La., within which transportation by motor vehicle, in interstate or foreign commerce, not under a common control, management, or arrangement for a continuous carriage or shipment to or from points beyond the zone, is partially exempt from certain requirements of the Interstate Commerce Act under the provisions of section 203(b)(8) thereof, so as to include a described area adjacent to the present western boundary and an area south of the existing zone limits described as follows: From the point on the present boundary approximately 2 miles south of Gretna where a high tension transmission line crosses Louisiana Highway 31; thence in a southerly direction along Harvey Canal (Gulf Intracoastal Waterway), including Peters and Destrehan Roads on the east and west bank thereof respectively to Augusta Canal, also from Peters Road in a westerly direction along both sides of Lapalco Road to Barataria Road; thence in a northerly direction to a point on the present boundary approximately 2 miles south of the Mississippi River where a high tension transmission line crosses Barataria Road;

It further appearing, that pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, notice of the filing of the petition was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 1, 1972, which notice stated that no oral hearing was contemplated, and that persons desiring to participate in the proceeding were invited to file representations supporting or opposing the relief sought;

It further appearing, that representations were filed in support of the petition by petitioner, Avondale Shipyards, Inc., Lennox Industries, Inc., Tull Metal Co., Jefferson Truck Equipment Co., and DuPont Machinery, Inc., and no representations were filed in opposition to the petition;

It further appearing, that the areas described in the first appearing paragraph above, adjacent to, but not now within the New Orleans, La., commercial zone, are, in fact, economically and commercially a part of New Orleans, La.;

And it further appearing, that the area described in the first appearing paragraph above is ambiguous and difficult to interpret in part and, therefore, will be rephrased to conform to the evidence and current Commission practice; and that it is possible that other parties, who have relied upon the notice of the petition as published, may have an interest in and would be prejudiced by the lack of proper notice of the revision described in the findings in this order, a notice of the commercial zone as actually redefined will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER and final revision of 49 CFR 1048.27 will be withheld for a period of 30 days from the date of such publication, during which period any proper party in interest may file an appropriate petition for leave to intervene in this proceeding setting forth in detail the precise manner in which it has been prejudiced;

Wherefore, and good cause appearing therefor:

It is ordered, That the proceeding be, and it is hereby, reopened for reconsideration.

It is further ordered, That § 1048.27 as prescribed in the order entered in this proceeding on October 13, 1959 (49 CFR 1048.27), be, and it is hereby, vacated and set aside, and the following revision is hereby substituted in lieu thereof, subject to the prior publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER of a notice of the following revision:

§ 1048.27 New Orleans, La.

The zone adjacent to and commercially a part of New Orleans, La., within which transportation by motor vehicle, in interstate or foreign commerce, not under common control, management, or arrangement for a continuous carriage or shipment to or from a point beyond the zone is partially exempt from regulation under section 203(b)(8) of the Interstate Commerce Act (49 U.S.C. 303(b)(8)), includes and is comprised of all points in the area bounded as follows:

Commencing at a point on the shore of Lake Pontchartrain where it is crossed by the Jefferson Parish-Orleans Parish line; thence easterly along the shore of Lake Pontchartrain to the Rigolets; thence through the Rigolets in an easterly direction to Lake Borgne; thence southwesterly along the shore of Lake Borgne to the Bayou Bienvenue; thence in a general westerly direction along the Bayou Bienvenue (which also constitutes the Orleans Parish-St. Bernard Parish line) to Paris Road; thence in a southerly direction along Paris Road to the Back Protection Levee; thence in a southeasterly direction along the Back Protection Levee (across Lake Borgne Canal) to a point 1 mile north of Louisiana Highway 46; thence in an easterly direction 1 mile north of Louisiana Highway 46 to longitude 89°50' W.; thence south along longitude line 89°50' W. (crossing Louisiana Highway 46 approximately three-eighths of a mile east of Toca) to Forty Arpent Canal; thence westerly, northwesterly, and southerly along Forty Arpent Canal to Scarsdale Canal; thence northwesterly along Scarsdale Canal and beyond it in the same direction to the middle of the Mississippi River; thence southerly along the middle of the Mississippi River to the Augusta Canal; thence in a westerly direction along the Augusta Canal to the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway; thence in a northerly direction along the middle of the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway (Harvey Canal) to the point where Lapalco Boulevard runs perpendicular to the Gulf Intracoastal Waterway (Harvey Canal); thence in a westerly direction along Lapalco Boulevard to its junction with Barataria Boulevard; thence north on Barataria Boulevard to a point approximately 2 miles south of the Mississippi River where a high tension transmission line crosses Barataria Boulevard; thence in a westerly direction following such transmission line to the intersection thereof with U.S. Highway 90; thence westerly along U.S. Highway 90 to the Jefferson Parish-St. Charles Parish line; thence north along such parish line to the middle of the Mississippi River; thence westerly along the middle of the Mississippi River to a point south of Almedia Road; thence north to Almedia Road; thence in a northerly direction along Almedia Road to its junction with Highway 61; thence north to the shore of Lake Pontchartrain; thence along the shore of Lake Pontchartrain in an easterly direction to the Jefferson Parish-Orleans Parish line, the point of beginning. (49 Stat. 543, as amended, 544, as amended, 546, as amended; 49 U.S.C. 302, 303, and 304.)

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective on the 11th day of May 1973, and shall continue in effect until further notice of this Commission.

And it is further ordered, That notice of this order shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy thereof in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, at Washington, D.C., and by filing a copy with the Director, Office of the Federal Register.

By the Commission, Review Board Number 2.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

CUSTOMS FIELD ORGANIZATION

Proposed Changes in San Ygnacio, Tex.,
Laredo District, Region VI

The Customs station at San Ygnacio, Tex., Laredo District, Region VI, does not have sufficient volume of business to justify retaining its status as a Customs station. It is, therefore, proposed to revoke the designation of San Ygnacio, Tex., as a Customs station.

Accordingly, by virtue of the authority vested in the President by section 1 of the Act of August 1, 1914, 38 Stat. 623, as amended (19 U.S.C. 2), which was delegated to the Secretary of the Treasury by the President by Executive Order No. 10289, September 17, 1951 (3 CFR Ch. II), and pursuant to authority provided by Treasury Department Order No. 165, Revised (T.D. 53654), it is hereby proposed to revoke the designation of San Ygnacio, Tex., as a Customs station.

Data, views, or arguments with respect to the foregoing proposal may be addressed to the Commissioner of Customs, Attention: Regulations Division, Washington, D.C. 20229. To insure consideration of such communications, they must be received in the Bureau on or before April 25, 1973.

Written material or suggestions submitted will be available for public inspection in accordance with § 103.3(b) of the Customs regulations (19 CFR 103.3(b)), at the Bureau of Customs, Regulations Division, Washington, D.C., during regular business hours.

[SEAL] VERNON D. ACREE,
Commissioner of Customs.

Approved: March 16, 1973.

MILK IN UPPER FLORIDA MARKETING AREA

Notice of Proposed Suspension of the Order

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U.S.C. 601 et seq.), the suspension of the order regulating the handling of milk in the Upper Florida Marketing Area is being considered.

All written submissions made pursuant to data, views, or arguments in connection with the proposed suspension should file the same with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, Administration Building, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250, on or before April 2, 1973. All documents filed should be in quadruplicate.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Hearing Clerk during regular business hours (7 CFR 1.27(b)).

Suspension of the order was requested by the Upper Florida Milk Producers Association, whose members constitute a majority of the producers on the market.

Signed at Washington, D.C., on March 21, 1973.

1974 WHEAT MARKETING QUOTA PROGRAM

Proposed Determinations

As required by the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938, as amended (7 U.S.C. 1301, 1332, 1333, 1334, 1334a, 1336, 1379b), including amendments contained in the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962, the Agricultural Act of 1964, and the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, the Secretary of Agriculture is preparing to determine whether marketing quotas for wheat are required to be proclaimed for the 1974-75 marketing year; to determine and proclaim the national acreage allotment for the 1974 crop of wheat, to apportion among States and counties the national acreage allotment for the 1974 crop of wheat, to designate the 1974 commercial wheat-producing area, to determine a projected national yield for the 1974 crop of wheat, to formulate regulations for establishing projected county yields for the 1974 crop of wheat; and, if marketing quotas are proclaimed, to establish the date of the referendum to determine whether farmers favor the marketing quotas so proclaimed, the amount of the national marketing quotas, wheat marketing allocation, and the national allocation percentage, for the 1974-75 marketing year. If marketing quotas are proclaimed for the 1974-75 marketing year, the Secretary will also determine and declare whether marketing quotas shall be in effect for the 1975-76 marketing year or for the 1975-76 and 1976-77 marketing years as necessary to effectuate the policy of the Act.

Subsections (a) and (b) of section 332 of the Act, as amended, read as follows:

SEC. 332(a) Whenever prior to April 15 in any calendar year the Secretary determines that the total supply of wheat in the marketing year beginning in the next succeeding calendar year will, in the absence of a marketing quota program, likely be excessive, the Secretary shall proclaim that a national marketing quota for wheat shall be in effect for such marketing year and for either the following marketing year or the following 2 marketing years, if the Secretary determines and declares in such proclamation that a 2- or 3-year marketing quota program is necessary to effectuate the policy of the Act.

(b) If a national marketing quota for wheat has been proclaimed for any marketing year, the Secretary shall determine and proclaim the amount of the national marketing quota for such marketing year not earlier than January 1 or later than April 15 of the calendar year preceding the year in which the national marketing quota for wheat for any marketing year shall be an amount of wheat which the Secretary estimates (i) will be utilized during such marketing year for human consumption in the United States as food, food products, and beverages, composed wholly or partly of wheat, (ii) will be utilized during such marketing year in the United States for seed, (iii) will be exported either in the form of wheat or products thereof, and (iv) will be utilized during such marketing year in the United States as livestock (including poultry) feed, excluding the estimated quantity of wheat which will be utilized for such purpose as a result of the substitution of wheat for feed grains under section 328 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962; less (A) an amount of wheat equal to the estimated imports of wheat into the United States during such marketing year and, (B) if the stocks of wheat owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation are determined by the Secretary to be excessive, an amount of wheat determined by the Secretary to be a desirable reduction in such marketing year in such stocks to achieve the policy of the Act: Provided, That if the Secretary determines that the total stocks of wheat in the Nation are insufficient to assure an adequate carryover for the next succeeding marketing year, the national marketing quota otherwise determined shall be increased by the amount the Secretary determines to be necessary to assure an adequate carryover: And provided further, That the national marketing quota for wheat for any marketing year shall be not less than 1 billion bushels.

Section 333 of the Act, as amended, reads as follows:

SEC. 333 The Secretary shall proclaim a national acreage allotment for each crop of wheat. The amount of the national acreage allotment for any crop of wheat shall be the number of acres which the Secretary determines on the basis of the projected national yield and expected underplantings (acreage other than that not harvested because of program incentives) of farm acreage allotments will produce an amount of wheat equal to the national marketing quota for wheat for the marketing year for such crop, or if a national marketing quota was not proclaimed, the quota which would have been determined if one had been proclaimed.

Section 334(a) of the Act, as amended, reads as follows:

SEC. 334(a) The national allotment for wheat, less a reserve of not to exceed 1 percent thereof for apportionment as provided in this subsection and less the special acreage reserve provided for in this subsection, shall be apportioned by the Secretary among the States on the basis of the preceding year's allotment for each such State, including all amounts allotted to the State and including for 1967 the increased acreage in the State allotted for 1966 under section 335, adjusted to the extent deemed necessary by the Secretary to establish a fair and equitable apportionment base for each State, taking into consideration established crop rotation practices, estimated decrease in farm allotments because of loss of history, and other relevant factors. The reserve acreage set aside herein for apportionment by the Secretary shall be used (1) To make allotments to counties in addition to the county allotments made under subsection (b) of this section, on the basis of the relative needs of counties for additional allotments because of reclamation and other new areas coming into production of wheat, or (2) to increase the allotment for any county, in which wheat is the principal grain crop produced, on the basis of its relative need for such increase if the average ratio of wheat acreage allotment to cropland on old wheat farms in such county is less by at least 20 percent than such average ratio on old wheat farms in an adjoining county or counties in which wheat is the principal grain crop produced or if there is a definable contiguous area consisting of at least 10 percent of the cropland acreage in such county in which the average ratio of wheat acreage allotment to cropland on old wheat farms is less by at least 20 percent than such average ratio on the remaining old wheat farms in such county, provided that such low ratio of wheat acreage allotment to cropland is due to the shift prior to 1951 from wheat to one or more alternative income-producing crops which, because of plant disease or sustained loss of markets, may no longer be produced at a fair profit and there is no other alternative income-producing crop suitable for production in the area or county. The increase in the county allotment under clause (2) of the preceding sentence shall be used to increase allotments for old wheat farms in the affected area to make such allotments comparable with those on similar farms in the adjoining areas or counties but the average ratio of increased allotments to cropland on such farms shall not exceed the average ratio of wheat acreage allotment to cropland on old wheat farms in the adjoining areas or counties. There also shall be made available a special acreage reserve of not in excess of 1 million acres as determined by the Secretary to be desirable for the purposes hereof which shall be in addition to the national acreage reserve provided for in this subsection. Such special acreage reserve shall be made available to the States to make additional allotments to counties on the basis of the relative needs of counties, as determined by the Secretary, for additional allotments to make adjustments in the allotments on old wheat farms

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

... on which the ratio of wheat acreage allotment to cropland on the farm is less than one-half the average ratio of wheat acreage allotment to cropland on old wheat farms in the county. Such adjustments shall not provide an allotment for any farm which would result in an allotment-cropland ratio for the farm in excess of one-half of such county average ratio and the total of such adjustments in any county shall not exceed the acreage made available therefor in the county. Such apportionment from the special acreage reserve shall be made only to counties where wheat is a major income-producing crop, only to farms on which there is limited opportunity for the production of an alternative income-producing crop, and only if an efficient farming operation on the farm requires the allotment of additional acreage from the special acreage reserve. For the purposes of making adjustments hereunder the cropland on the farm shall not include any land developed as cropland subsequent to the 1963-crop year.

Section 334(b) of the Act requires that the State acreage allotment of wheat for the 1974 crop, less a reserve of not to exceed 3 percent thereof, be apportioned among the counties in the State on the basis of the preceding year's wheat allotment in each such county, including for 1967 the increased acreage in the county allotted for 1966 pursuant to section 335, adjusted to the extent deemed necessary to establish a fair and equitable apportionment base for each county, taking into consideration established crop rotation practices, estimated decrease in farm allotments because of loss of history, and other relevant factors.

Section 334a of the Act, as added by section 314 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962, provides that if the acreage allotment for any State for the 1974 crop of wheat is 25,000 acres or less, the Secretary, in order to promote efficient administration of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 and the Agricultural Act of 1949, may designate such State as outside the commercial wheat-producing area for the 1974-75 marketing year. That section also provides that if any State is so designated, acreage allotments for the 1974 crop of wheat and marketing quotas for the 1974-75 marketing year shall not be applicable to any farm in such State, and that acreage allotments in any State shall not be increased by reason of such designation.

Section 336 of the Act, as amended, provides that if a national marketing quota for wheat for 1, 2, or 3 marketing years is proclaimed, the Secretary shall, not later than August 1 of the calendar year in which such national marketing quota is proclaimed, conduct a referendum, by secret ballot, of farmers to determine whether they favor or oppose marketing quotas for the marketing year or years for which proclaimed. Section 336 further provides that the Secretary shall proclaim the results of any referendum within 30 days after the date of such referendum, and if he determines that more than one-third of the farmers voting in the referendum voted against marketing quotas, he shall proclaim that marketing quotas will not be in effect with respect to the crop of wheat produced for harvest in the calendar year following the calendar year in which the referendum is held. Section 336 of the Act also provides that if the Secretary determines that two-thirds or more of the farmers voting in a referendum approve marketing quotas for a period of 2 or 3 marketing years, no referendum shall be held for the subsequent year or years of such period.

Section 301(b)(8)(B) of the Act, as amended by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, provides for the determination of a projected national yield of wheat on the basis of the national yield per harvested acre of wheat during each of the 5 calendar years immediately preceding the year in which such projected national yield is determined, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions affecting such yield, for trends in yields and for any significant changes in production practices.

Section 301(b)(13)(J) of the Act, as amended by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1965, provides for the determination of projected county yields of wheat on the basis of the yield per harvested acre of wheat for the county during each of the 5 calendar years immediately preceding the year in which such projected county yield is determined, adjusted for abnormal weather conditions affecting such yield, for trends in yields and for any significant changes in production practices.

Section 324 of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962 added a new subtitle, designated "Subtitle D—Wheat Marketing Allocation," to title III of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938. Under the sections of the Act comprising this subtitle (379a to 379j, inclusive), during any marketing year for which a national marketing quota is in effect for wheat, beginning with the marketing year on the 1964 crop, a wheat marketing allocation program shall be in effect. Whenever such a program is in effect for any marketing year the Secretary is required to determine the wheat marketing allocation for such year, which shall be the amount of wheat which in determining the national marketing quota for such marketing year the Secretary estimated would be used during such year for food products for consumption in the United States, and that portion of the amount of wheat which in determining such quota he estimated would be exported in the form of wheat or products thereof during such marketing year on which the Secretary determines that marketing certificates should be issued to producers in order to achieve, insofar as practicable, the price and income objectives of subtitle D. The Secretary is also required to determine the national allocation percentage which shall be the percentage which the national marketing allocation is of the national marketing quota.

It is proposed that in connection with apportionment of the national wheat acreage allotment among States a reserve of not to exceed 1 percent of the national acreage allotment shall be withheld for apportionment to counties as provided in section 334(a) of the Act. It is also proposed that a special acreage reserve of not in excess of 1 million acres be withheld for apportionment to counties as provided in section 334(a) of the Act.

It is proposed that in connection with the apportionment of the State acreage allotments among counties of the State, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee for each State with the approval of the Secretary shall determine the percentage of the State acreage allotment, not in excess of 3 percent, which shall be reserved for apportionment to farms in the State on which wheat will be produced in 1974, but classified as new wheat farms in 1974, because such farms do not have a wheat allotment.

States with acreage allotments of 25,000 acres or less were designated as being outside the commercial wheat-producing area for each of the years 1955 through 1963. In view of the fact, however, that marketing certificates are required to be issued for farms both within and without the commercial wheat-producing area for 1974, it is proposed that all wheat-producing States, including each State for which a State wheat acreage allotment of 25,000 acres or less is determined, shall be designated as being within the commercial wheat-producing area.

Prior to making any of the foregoing determinations with respect to marketing quotas and national, State, and county acreage allotments, including the determination and allocation of reserves for the 1974 crop of wheat, the designation of the 1974 commercial wheat-producing area, the date of the referendum, the formulation of regulations for the establishment of projected county yields for the 1974 crop of wheat, the wheat marketing allocation, and the national allocation percentage for the 1974-75 marketing year, consideration will be given to data, views, and recommendations pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing to the Director, Grain Division, ASCS, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250. To be sure of consideration, all written submissions must be postmarked on or before April 10, 1973.

All written submissions made pursuant to this notice will be made available for public inspection at the office of the Director during regular business hours (8:15 a.m. to 4:45 p.m.).

EARL L. BUTZ,
Secretary.

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Federal Aviation Administration

[14 CFR Part 39]

[Docket No. 73-NE-8]

PRATT &amp; WHITNEY MODEL JT3D ENGINES

Proposed Airworthiness Directive

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering amending Part 39 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by adding an airworthiness directive applicable to Pratt & Whitney Model JT3D Engines with specified thin lug turbine cases and incorporating vented second stage outer air seals. There have been failures of the third stage turbine vane retaining lugs on the above engines which have resulted in turbine blade and disc failures. Since this condition is likely to develop in other JT3D engines with the turbine cases and vented seals mentioned above, the proposed airworthiness directive would require the inspection of the turbine nozzle case for missing lugs within 1,000 hours' time in service and at 1,000-hour intervals thereafter. If missing lugs are found, the proposed airworthiness directive would require either more frequent inspections or removal of the engine depending on the number of missing lugs found. By the terms of the applicability language, compliance with this proposed AD would no longer be required after installation of the new turbine case with strengthened lugs or after completion of plugging of the vented second stage outer air seal.

Interested parties are invited to participate in the making of the proposed rule by submitting written data and views. Communications should identify the docket number and be submitted in duplicate to the Department of Transportation, Federal Aviation Administration, New England Region, Attention: Regional Counsel, Airworthiness Rules Docket, 154 Middlesex Street, Burlington, MA 01803. All communications received on or before April 25, 1973, will be considered before taking action upon the proposed rule. The proposals contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received. All comments will be available in the Office of Regional Counsel for examination by interested parties.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of sections 313(a), 601, and 603 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1354(a), 1421, and 1423), and of section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

In consideration of the foregoing, it is proposed to amend § 39.13 of the Federal Aviation Regulations by adding the following new airworthiness directive:

PRATT & WHITNEY. Applies to all Pratt & Whitney JT3D-1, JT3D-1-MC8, JT3D-1-MC7, JT3D-3, and JT3D-3B model engines containing turbine nozzle case Part Numbers 399065, 496859, 570618, 628669, 669047, 694937, 694938, 390197, 694935, and 691326 incorporating vented second stage outer air seals.

Compliance required as follows:
To preclude possible turbine blade or disc failures resulting from turbine case lug failures, inspect the turbine nozzle case for missing lugs by performing ultrasonic, isotope, or visual inspection at the time intervals specified below.

First inspection, 1,000 hours' time in service after the effective date of this AD unless already accomplished.

(a) If there are no missing lugs, repeat the inspection every 1,000 hours' time in service thereafter.

(b) If one lug is found missing, repeat the inspection every 100 hours' time in service.

(c) If two or three lugs are found missing, remove the engine from service within the next 80 hours' time in service.

(d) If four (4) or more lugs are missing, remove the engine from service immediately.

Turbine cases removed in accordance with paragraphs (c) and (d) above may be repaired in accordance with the procedures outlined in the Overhaul Manual, section 72-51-2, or replaced.

Note: Pratt & Whitney Service Bulletin 3993, or later FAA approved revisions, pertains to this same subject.

Issued in Burlington, Mass., on March 16, 1973.

W. E. CROSSY,
Deputy Director,
New England Region.

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate the Pulaski, Tenn., transition area.

Interested persons may submit such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Federal Aviation Administration, Southern Region, Air Traffic Division, Post Office Box 20636, Atlanta, GA 30320. All communications received on or before April 25, 1973, will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Chief, Airspace and Procedures Branch. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received.

The official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Southern Region, Room 724, 3400 Whipple Street, East Point, Ga.

The Pulaski transition area would be designated as:

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 9-mile radius of Abernathy Airport (latitude 35°08'45" N., longitude 87°03'30" W.); excluding the portion within Lawrenceburg, Tenn., transition area.

The proposed designation is required to provide controlled airspace protection for IFR operations at Abernathy Airport. A prescribed instrument approach procedure to this airport, utilizing the Giles (Private) Nondirectional Radio Beacon, is proposed in conjunction with the designation of this transition area.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)) and of section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in East Point, Ga., on March 14, 1973.

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations which would alter the description of the Logan, Utah, transition area.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Park Hill Station, Post Office Box 7213, Denver, CO 80207. All communications received on or before April 18, 1973, will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 10455 East 25th Avenue, Aurora, CO 80010.

A new public-use instrument approach procedure has been developed for the Logan-Cache Airport, Logan, Utah, utilizing the Logan VOR as a navigational aid. Consequently, an extension to the north of the existing 700-foot transition area is necessary in order to provide additional controlled airspace for the protection of aircraft executing the proposed VOR instrument approach procedure.

In consideration of the foregoing, the FAA proposes the following airspace action:

In § 71.181 (38 FR 435) the description of the Logan, Utah, transition area is amended to read:

LOGAN, UTAH

That airspace extending upward from 700 feet above the surface within a 5-mile radius of the Logan-Cache Airport (latitude 41°47'09" N., longitude 111°50'53" W.) and within 4.5 miles east and 9.5 miles west of and parallel to the Logan VOR 344° radial, extending from the 5-mile radius to 11 miles north of the Logan VOR; that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface bounded on the north by the south edge of V4, on the east by longitude 111°40'30" W., on the south by the north edge of V288, on the west by the east edge of V21; and that airspace extending upward from

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

10,500 feet MSL bounded on the northeast by the southwest edge of V48, on the west by longitude 111°40'30" W., and on the south by the north edge of V288.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)), and of section 6(c), of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

TRANSITION AREA

Proposed Alteration

The Federal Aviation Administration is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations which would alter the transition area at West Yellowstone, Mont.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should be submitted in triplicate to the Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Park Hill Station, Post Office Box 7213, Denver, CO 80207. All communications received on or before April 18, 1973, will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. No public hearing is contemplated at this time, but arrangements for informal conferences with Federal Aviation Administration officials may be made by contacting the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief. Any data, views, or arguments presented during such conferences must also be submitted in writing in accordance with this notice in order to become part of the record for consideration. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received.

A public docket will be available for examination by interested persons in the office of the Regional Counsel, Federal Aviation Administration, 10455 East 25th Avenue, Aurora, CO 80010.

A 1,200-foot transition area extension is proposed to provide controlled airspace for air carrier flights operating between the St. Anthony, Idaho, intersection and the Yellowstone, Mont., Airport.

In consideration of the foregoing, the FAA proposes the following airspace action:

In § 71.181 (38 FR 435) the description of the West Yellowstone, Mont., transition area is amended as follows:

In line three of the text, after " * * * 19½ miles south of the airport; * * * " insert " * * * that airspace extending upward from 1,200 feet above the surface within 5 miles either side of the 209° bearing from the Yellowstone Airport extending from the airport to 51 miles southwest of the Airport * * * "

This amendment is proposed under authority of section 307(a) of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended (49 U.S.C. 1348(a)), and section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Aurora, Colo., on March 14, 1973.

CONTROL ZONE

Proposed Designation

The Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) is considering an amendment to Part 71 of the Federal Aviation Regulations that would designate a control zone for Mayaguez, P.R.

Interested persons may participate in the proposed rule making by submitting such written data, views, or arguments as they may desire. Communications should identify the airspace docket number and be submitted in triplicate to the Director, Southern Region, Attention: Chief, Air Traffic Division, Federal Aviation Administration, Post Office Box 20636, Atlanta, GA 30320. All communications received on or before April 25, 1973, will be considered before action is taken on the proposed amendment. The proposal contained in this notice may be changed in light of comments received.

An official docket will be available for examination by interested persons at the Federal Aviation Administration, Office of the General Counsel, Attention: Rules Docket, 800 Independence Avenue SW., Washington, DC 20591. An informal docket also will be available for examination at the office of the Regional Air Traffic Division Chief.

As part of this proposal relates to the navigable airspace outside the United States, this notice is submitted in consonance with the ICAO International Standards and Recommended Practices.

Applicability of International Standards and Recommended Practices by the Air Traffic Service, FAA, in areas outside domestic airspace of the United States is governed by Article 12 of and Annex 11 to the Convention on International Civil Aviation, which pertain to the establishment of air navigation facilities and services necessary to promoting the safe, orderly and expeditious flow of civil air traffic. Their purpose is to insure that civil flying on international air routes is carried out under uniform conditions designed to improve the safety and efficiency of air operations.

The International Standards and Recommended Practices in Annex 11 apply in those parts of the airspace under the jurisdiction of a contracting state, derived from ICAO, wherein air traffic services are provided and also whenever a contracting state accepts the responsibility of providing air traffic services over high seas or in airspace of undetermined sovereignty. A contracting state accepting such responsibility may apply the International Standards and Recommended Practices to civil aircraft in a manner consistent with that adopted for airspace under its domestic jurisdiction.

In accordance with Article 3 of the Convention on International Civil Aviation, Chicago, 1944, state aircraft are exempt from the provisions of Annex 11 and its Standards and Recommended Practices. As a contracting state, the United States agreed by Article 3(d) that its state aircraft will be operated in international airspace with due regard for the safety of civil aircraft.

Since this action involves, in part, the designation of navigable airspace outside the United States, the Administrator has consulted with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Defense in accordance with the provisions of Executive Order 10854.

The proposed amendment would:

Designate a control zone within a 5-mile radius of the Mayaguez, P.R., Airport including an extension 3 miles each side of the Mayaguez VOR 243° T (252° M) radial to a point 8.5 miles west of the VOR.

The proposed control zone is needed to provide controlled airspace for aircraft executing instrument approach and departure procedures in accordance with existing criteria.

This amendment is proposed under the authority of section 307(a) and 1110 of the Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (49 U.S.C. 1348(a) and 1510), Executive Order 10854 (24 FR 9565) and section 6(c) of the Department of Transportation Act (49 U.S.C. 1655(c)).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on March 19, 1973.

Acting Chief, Airspace and Air Traffic Rules Division.

CARGO SECURITY ADVISORY STANDARDS
Seal Accountability and Procedures

By notice of proposed rule making (Docket 32; Notice 72-3) in the FEDERAL REGISTER of November 30, 1972 (37 FR 25401), the Department of Transportation proposed establishment of a program for the issuance of Cargo Security Advisory Standards. The preamble stated that the advisory standards would be issued as appendices to procedural regulations which the Department proposed. By a document published in the FEDERAL REGISTER of March 15, 1973 (37 FR 6997), the procedural regulations were adopted as Part 85 of the Regulations of the Office of the Secretary of Transportation (49 CFR Part 85). This is the first of the proposed Cargo Security Advisory Standards to be issued by the Department's Office of Transportation Security.

The first step in prevention of cargo theft is determination of where in the transportation system cargo is being lost. Accountability procedures help identify problem locations and basic to accountability in transportation is the use of door seals on trailers, freight cars, containers, piggyback trailers, and air cargo containers moving between terminals and interchange points. The proper use of seals enables the person receiving a shipment to determine whether it has been tampered with.

Expedient, claim-free movement of Shipper Load and Count railcars, containers, and trailers depends on seal protection, especially in intermodal exchanges. To a great extent claims are settled among shippers, carriers, and consignees on the basis of seal checks and records. Seal procedures and records maintained for liability purposes serve also to illuminate how and where security problems are occurring, thereby enabling affected shippers, carriers, and consignees to act to prevent further losses. It is for this latter reason that even freight moving between two terminals operated by the same company, regardless of mode, should be moved under seal protection. Regardless of how detailed and efficient is the accountability procedure (e.g., tallies, stripping methods) at origin and destination, without effective seal protection losses can occur anywhere between terminals, including the original terminal yard prior to outbound line haul and the destination terminal yard prior to stripping.

Seals do not afford physical security similar to that afforded by locks. A company with effective seal and security procedures can avoid sharing liability with a company having ineffective or non-existent procedures. This is in addition to the loss prevention benefit, in both interchange and captive movements, of knowing where in the chain of custody a loss occurred. For those desiring both physical security and protection from liability, "seal locks" are available which, consistent with each mode's freight claim procedures, offer both types of protection.

The advisory standard which follows suggests procedures and policies intended to assist all parts of the transportation industry in reducing the incidence of loss and theft of cargo entrusted to their care. This advisory standard is not mandatory, and nothing in it replaces or modifies any statutory requirement or any regulatory authority vested in any Federal, State, or local governmental body.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Department proposes to establish Part 1 of the Appendix to Part 85 of Title 49 of the Code of Federal Regulations to read as follows:

APPENDIX—CARGO SECURITY ADVISORY STANDARDS

PART 1—SEAL ACCOUNTABILITY AND PROCEDURES
SUBPART A—GENERAL

Sec. 85-1.1 Purpose. (a) The purpose of this part is to set forth minimum procedures and guidelines that should be observed in order to institute and maintain an effective seal program.

(b) The advisory standards herein are general and each may not apply to every transportation mode.

Sec. 85-1.3 Definitions. As used in this part—

"Seal" means a device applied to a railcar, trailer, marine container, or air cargo container door fastening which—

(1) Indicates whether the door has been opened or the fastening tampered with, and, if so, at what point in the chain of custody the tampering occurred;

(2) Is easily applied to all types of fastenings;

(3) Readily shows when it is not properly fastened;

(4) Is of sufficient strength to resist accidental breaking;

(5) Cannot be made to appear intact when broken;

(6) Has sufficient letters to identify the carrier or shipper; and

(7) Is serially numbered to facilitate identification of the person who applied the seal.

"Trailer" means a container, piggyback trailer, or standard semitrailer used by a motor carrier.

SUBPART B—Distribution and Accountability

Sec. 85-1.11 Purpose. The purpose of this subpart is to suggest measures designed to assure that seals are strictly accounted for from receipt from the manufacturer to time of application. Resources devoted to a seal program are wasted unless this goal is achieved.

Sec. 85-1.13 Ordering seals from the manufacturer. (a) (1) To simplify security control for both the company using the seals and the manufacturer, all seals should be ordered from the manufacturer by one person or office, preferably in company headquarters, regardless of the number of terminals or other locations involved.

(2) The manufacturer can send the necessary seals directly to the individual terminals, but only at the request of the person or office identified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph.

(b) Seals should be ordered for each terminal in such a way that the terminal responsible for a particular group of seals is readily identifiable. This can be done by assigning specific blocks of numbers to each terminal, or more easily in most cases, by using terminal prefix numbers.

Sec. 85-1.15 Company identification. In addition to a prefix and a serial number, the name or initials of the company using the seal should be stamped on each seal.

Sec. 85-1.17 Storage. (a) The purpose of storage is to prevent seals from being acquired by unauthorized persons for substitution or other illegal use.

(b) Seals should be stored in a locked room, cabinet or drawer, depending on the number of seals to be stored.

Sec. 85-1.19 Records. (a) If seals are sent from the manufacturer to a central office for further distribution to terminals, precise records, by seal serial number, should be maintained showing how many seals were sent to each location.

(b) When the terminals or other locations receive seals, either directly from the manufacturer or from company headquarters, a log should be maintained showing the lowest number and highest number of any seal received, and the date the seals were received.

Sec. 85-1.21 Employee accountability. (a) To maintain positive accountability, each employee authorized to apply seals should be required to sign or initial for the seals he applies, by their serial numbers.

(b) The person responsible for dispensing seals at a terminal should maintain a Seal Application Log showing, for each seal, the

(1) Date the seal is applied;

(2) Number of the trailer to which it is applied;

(3) Name of the person to whom the seal is issued; and

(4) Name of the person applying the seal to the trailer, if other than the person to whom the seal is issued.

Sec. 85-1.23 Accountability at terminals. The manager of the terminal where seals are applied should assign one person responsibility for the safekeeping, insurance, and recordkeeping of seals applied at that terminal. This is the most important step in an effective seal program.

SUBPART C—Seal Records

Sec. 85-1.31 Purpose. (a) Common sense and the particular circumstances of each company dictate the types of records necessary. The goal of seal records is to pinpoint where in the chain of custody a trailer's security was breached, in order to simplify determination of where the loss occurred, who was responsible, and other information necessary to prevent future losses. Problem areas cannot be pinpointed unless there are adequate accountability and complete records.

(b) The purpose of this subpart is to suggest measures designed to determine—

(1) Who had custody of each seal;

(2) When, where, and to which unit each seal was applied; and

(3) When, where, and by whom each seal was broken.

Sec. 85-1.33 Seal serial numbers. (a) Records should be maintained of the serial numbers of seals—

(1) Received at each terminal; and

(2) Issued to authorized employees for application to trailers.

(b) In addition to being entered in seal record books, forms, and logs used by a company, seal serial numbers should also be entered on all pertinent documents (e.g., manifests, load charts or diagrams, travel orders, gate passes, bills of lading, freight bills).

Sec. 85-1.35 Broken seals. When necessary to break a seal en route or at an intermediate terminal, the following minimum information should be entered on the manifest (and seal log, if used):

(a) Date and time seal was broken;

(b) Name of person who broke seal;

(c) Reason seal was broken;

(d) Serial number of the seal replacing the broken seal (and the serial number of the broken seal, if a seal log is used);

(e) Name of person applying the replacement seal; and

(f) Names of witnesses.

Sec. 85-1.37 Use of guards. Where a gate guard is used, he should check the seal serial number against the gate pass and travel order and, ideally, enter in a gate log the serial number of—

(a) Each seal;

(b) The trailer to which the seal is applied; and

(c) The tractor to which the trailer is attached.

SUBPART D—Seal Application

Sec. 85-1.41 Time of seal application. (a) A trailer should be sealed as soon as the load is "closed out" (complete). Specifically—

(1) Roll-up doors should be sealed at the dock; and

(2) Swing-out doors should be sealed by the person pulling the unit away from the dock as soon as the unit is far enough away from the dock for the doors to be closed.

(b) Application of seals should be supervised. Failure to supervise or allowing the hostler to move an unsealed trailer to a staging area offers opportunity to—

(1) Pilfer prior to applying the seal; or

(2) Apply a bogus seal, break the seal later, remove cargo, and then apply the legitimate seal.

Sec. 85-1.43 Authority to apply seals. (a) The manager of the terminal should authorize specific persons on each shift to apply seals at that terminal, and only those so authorized should be permitted to apply seals.

(b) The number of persons who should be authorized to apply seals depends on the particular circumstances at each terminal. The number should be kept to a minimum to facilitate adequate supervision to assure that operational expediency does not permit application of seals by unauthorized persons.

Sec. 85-1.45 Application. (a) Before the seal is locked, it should be put through the latch hole twice.

(b) Locking device nuts on trailers should be spot welded to prevent release of the locking handle without disturbing the seal.

Sec. 85-1.47 Final check. (a) The seal should be checked by the line haul or interline driver before the vehicle to which it is applied leaves the terminal.

(b) If there is a guard at the gate, he should insure that the seal is legitimate and intact before releasing the vehicle to which it is applied.

SUBPART E—Destination Removal

Sec. 85-1.51 Authority to remove seals. (a) The terminal manager should authorize specific persons to remove seals from inbound trailers, and, except as otherwise provided in paragraph (b) of this section, only those so authorized should be permitted to remove seals.

(b) To insure before unloading that the seal removed is the original, if a hostler has to break and remove a seal on a swing-door trailer before spotting it at the dock, the breaking of the seal should be witnessed from the dock by an authorized person described in paragraph (a) of this section, who should physically check the serial number on the seal against the seal serial number entered on the pertinent documents. A hostler should not be permitted to break a seal prior to spotting the trailer to which it is applied when the breaking cannot be observed from the dock.

Sec. 85-1.53 Discrepancies. (a) A seal removed from a trailer should be kept with the manifest and bills until the trailer is stripped.

(b) If there is not a discrepancy between the manifest and the cargo the seal may be discarded; if there is a discrepancy, especially in full-loaded freight, the seal should be sent with a report on the discrepancy to the security section.

(c) A discrepancy between the serial number of the seal and the seal serial number entered on the manifest should be reported immediately to a supervisor and a notation of the details made on the manifest and other pertinent documents.

SUBPART F—Road Procedures

Sec. 85-1.61 Truck trailers. (a) Each seal should be checked prior to leaving the terminal and at each stop en route to destination, including truck stops, diners, and other service areas.

(b) If a road unit's seal has been tampered with, the driver should immediately contact home terminal, central dispatch, or the nearest company terminal for instructions.

Sec. 85-1.63 Container and piggyback operations. (a) In a container or piggyback operation each seal should be checked at each transfer point and the serial number on each seal recorded.

(b) As used in this section, "transfer" includes—

(1) Movement of containers on and off vessels;

(2) Movement of trailers on and off flatcars; and

(3) Trailer-on-flatcar movements from one railroad to another.

Sec. 85-1.65 Railcars. Consistent with manpower and available time, but at the very least when high value/high risk shipments are involved, each seal on a railcar should be checked at each interchange point to establish the responsibility of individual railroads for losses that occur.

SUBPART G—Shipper's Load and Count (SL&C)

Sec. 85-1.71 General. It is to the advantage of carriers in every mode to insure the security of Shipper's Load and Count Seals. This should be accomplished by use of "seal locks," offering both physical and liability protection, or, at a minimum, strong wire or cable in addition to a normal seal. This precaution increases the time and effort necessary to break into a rail car, container, or trailer, with concomitant protection to a carrier against errors in count by shipper and/or consignee.

Sec. 85-1.73 Application. (a) The Shipper's Load and Count Seal should be applied at the shipper's premises by the shipper's representative.

(b) The seal serial number should be recorded on all copies of the bill of lading and transcribed to the waybill.

Sec. 85-1.75 Removal for inspection. When a Shipper's Load and Count Seal is removed to inspect the load, the following minimum information should be entered in the bill of lading and freight bills:

- (a) Date seal was removed;
- (b) Name of person who broke the original seal and applied the new seal;
- (c) Reason the seal was broken;
- (d) Serial number of the seal which replaced the broken seal; and
- (e) Location where seal was broken.

Sec. 85-1.77 Destination procedure. At destination, whether interline or consignee, the person receiving a trailer or railcar seal with a Shipper's Load and Count Seal should examine the seal and record its serial number above his signature on the delivery receipt and or interchange agreement.

Sec. 85-1.79 Responsibility of the driver. (a) A driver should not break a Shipper's Load and Count (SL&C) Seal under any circumstances unless he is so directed by the consignee or his representative and the person so directing witnesses the breaking of the seal.

(b) If the consignee or his representative directs a driver to break an SL&C seal—

(1) The consignee or his representative should examine the broken seal; and

(2) The consignee or his representative, or if necessary, the driver, should record the seal serial number on the delivery receipt.

Sec. 85-1.81 U.S. Government and "in bond" seals. (a) Special care should be taken with U.S. Government seals and "in bond" seals applied under U.S. Customs supervision.

(b) An "in bond" seal should not be broken unless a U.S. Customs representative is present.

Before taking final action to issue the proposed advisory standard, the Department will consider the timely comments of all interested persons. Comments should identify the docket or notice number (see above) and be submitted to the Docket Clerk, Office of the General Counsel, TGC, Department of Transportation, Washington, D.C. 20590. Comments received on or before May 10, 1973, will be considered before final action is taken. All docketed comments will be available for public inspection and copying, both before and after the closing date for comments, in the Office of the Assistant General Counsel for Regulation, Room 10100, Department of Transportation Headquarters (Nassif) Building, 400 Seventh Street SW., Washington, DC, between 9 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. local time, Monday through Friday, except Federal holidays.

This proposal is issued under authority of section 9(e) (1) of the Department of Transportation Act (80 Stat. 944, 49 U.S.C. 1657(e) (1)), and § 85.3 of the regulations of the Office of the Secretary of Transportation (49 CFR 85.2).

Issued in Washington, D.C., on March 22, 1973.

Director of Transportation Security.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR Part 83]

[Docket No. 19706; FCC 73-288]

STATIONS ON SHIPBOARD IN MARITIME SERVICE

Reduction of Minimum Required Power Output and Designation of Primary Supply Voltage for Type Acceptance

In the matter of amendment of Part 83 to reduce the minimum required power output and designate the primary supply voltage to be used to determine the minimum power required for compliance with title III, part III of the Communications Act and to designate the nominal primary supply voltage for type acceptance, Docket No. 19706.

1. The Commission's field engineers have found that some VHF transmitters, in normal working order when tested on the battery, have failed to meet the carrier power output of 20 watts, required by § 83.518 for VHF transmitters used for compliance with part III of title III of the Communications Act, even though they have been type accepted for 25 watts. The discrepancy between rated power and tested power may be attributed, in part, to the lack of having specified the supply voltage to be used when conducting tests for type acceptance or for compliance with the compulsory radio requirements of the rules.

2. Some manufacturers have used the Electronics Industries Association (EIA) standard of 13.8 volts for tests. When testing a transmitter for compliance with the compulsory radio requirements, our field engineers use an input voltage of 12 volts. This is assumed to be the nominal operating voltage since it is the voltage of a fully charged lead-acid storage battery and simulates emergency operating conditions.

3. We propose to specify the EIA standard of 13.8 volts, for systems using lead storage batteries, as the nominal primary supply voltage for type acceptance and 85 percent of this value when conducting tests for minimum carrier power output for compliance with compulsory radio requirements.

4. During the considerations leading to our proposed changes to the Great Lakes Agreement it was determined that a minimum of 15 watts power for VHF was sufficient to provide adequate communications for safety purposes. Consistent with our proposed Great Lakes Agreement power minimum of 15 watts and our continuing effort to keep transmitters operating at acceptable minimum power, we are proposing that the minimum power requirements of § 83.518 be reduced from 20 to 15 watts.

5. The proposed amendments to the rules are issued pursuant to the authority contained in sections 4(i) and 303 (e) and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

6. Pursuant to applicable procedures set forth in § 1.415 of the Commission's rules, interested persons may file comments on or before April 27, 1973, and reply comments on or before May 10, 1973. All relevant and timely comments and reply comments will be considered by the Commission before final action is taken in this proceeding. In reaching its decision in this proceeding, the Commission may also take into account other relevant information before it, in addition to the specific comments invited by this notice.

7. In accordance with the provisions of § 1.419 of the Commission's rules, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs or comments filed shall be furnished to the Commission. Responses will be available for public inspection during regular business hours in the Commission's Public Reference Room at its headquarters in Washington, D.C.

Adopted: March 13, 1973.

Released: March 19, 1973.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] BEN F. WAPLE,
Secretary.

Part 83 of Chapter I of Title 47 of the Code of Federal Regulations is amended as follows:

1. Section 83.134(f) is amended and new footnote 3 is added to read as follows:

§ 83.134 Transmitter power.

(f) Ship station transmitters using F3 emission in the band 156-162 MHz shall not exceed a carrier power of 25 watts<sup>1</sup> and, additionally, shall include the capability to reduce, readily, the carrier power to 1 watt<sup>2</sup> or less.

<sup>1</sup> The 25 watts carrier power limit shall be determined at the nominal primary power supply voltage. Nominal primary supply voltage is considered to be 13.8 volts for equipment employing a conventional 12 volt lead acid storage battery as a source of primary power.

2. Section 83.518(c) (2) is amended to read:

§ 83.518 Very high frequency transmitter.

(c) . . . . .

(2) The transmitter has been demonstrated, or is of a type which has been demonstrated, to the satisfaction of the Commission as capable, with an applied primary power supply voltage equal to 85 percent of the nominal value, of delivering not less than 15 watts carrier power into 50 ohms effective resistance on each of the carrier frequencies 156-300 MHz, 156.800 MHz and on any one of the ship-to-shore public correspondence channels: Provided, however, That an individual demonstration of the power output capability of the transmitter, with the radiotelephone installation, normally installed on board ship, may be required whenever in the judgment of the Commission this is deemed necessary.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

Occupational Safety and Health Administration

[29 CFR Part 1912]

STANDARDS ADVISORY COMMITTEES Application of Federal Advisory Committee Act

It is proposed to revise Part 1912 of Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations, in the manner indicated below in order to implement the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Public Law 92-463), Office of Management and Budget Circular A-63, and to be in furtherance of the general departmental rules implementing the Act which are to be published in Part 15 of Title 29, Code of Federal Regulations.

Part 1912 prescribes the policies and procedures dealing with the organization and duties of advisory committees which have been established, or which may be established, to assist the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health in the development of occupational safety and health standards which may be adopted under section 6 of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (29 U.S.C. 655). In applying the Federal Advisory Committee Act and other provisions cited above to Part 1912, significant changes are proposed dealing with the organizational instruments establishing advisory committees; the procedures governing the meetings of advisory committees, including more explicit rules governing the notice of committee meetings and the nature and degree of public participation in the meetings; rules applying the Freedom of Information Act to committee activities, and availability of transcripts; and important rules dealing with the termination of advisory committees.

Interested persons are invited to submit written comments or suggestions concerning the proposed revision to the Solicitor, Attention: Associate Solicitor for Occupational Safety and Health, U.S. Department of Labor, Washington, D.C. 20210, not later than April 25, 1973.

As revised, Part 1912 would read as follows:

PART 1912—ADVISORY COMMITTEES ON STANDARDS

AUTHORITY: Secs. 6(b), 7(b), 8(g), Public Law 91-596, 84 Stat. 1593, 1597, 1600 (29 U.S.C. 655(b), 656(b), 657(g)). Interpret or apply Public Law 92-463, 86 Stat. 770-778.

§ 1912.1 Purpose and scope.

This part prescribes the policies and procedures governing the composition and functions of advisory committees which have been, or may be, appointed under section 7(b) of the Act to assist the Assistant Secretary in carrying out the standards-setting duties of the Secretary of Labor under section 6 of the Act. Such committees are specifically authorized by section 7(b). The policies and practices herein are intended to reflect those expressed in the Federal Advisory Committee Act (Public Law 92-463, 86 Stat. 770) and will be applied in a manner consistent with the Act, Office of Management and Budget Circular A-63, "Committee Management," and the Department of Labor's general rules under that Act which are published in Part 15 of this title.

ORGANIZATIONAL MATTERS

§ 1912.2 Types of standards advisory committees.

The Assistant Secretary establishes two types of advisory committees under section 7(b) of the Act to assist him in his standards-setting duties. These are: (a) Continuing committees which have been, or may be established, from time to time, to assist in the development of standards in areas where there is frequent rule-making and the use of ad hoc committees is impractical; and (b) ad hoc committees which are established to render advice in particular rulemaking proceedings.

§ 1912.3 Advisory Committee on Construction Safety and Health.

(a) This part also applies to the Advisory Committee on Construction Safety and Health which has been established under section 107 of the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act (40 U.S.C. 333), commonly known as the Construction Safety Act. The aforesaid section 107 requires the Secretary of Labor to seek the advice of the Advisory Committee in formulating construction standards thereunder. The standards which have been issued under section 107 are published in Part 1926 of this chapter. In view of the far-reaching coverage of the Construction Safety Act, the myriad of standards which may be issued thereunder, and the fact that the Construction Safety Act would also apply to much of the work which is covered by the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, whenever occupational safety or health standards for construction activities are proposed, the Secretary shall consult the Advisory Committee. The composition of the Advisory Committee is consistent with that of advisory committees which may be appointed under section 7(b) of the Act. See paragraph (c) of this section. An additional advisory committee will not normally be established under section 7(b) of the Act, unless the issue or issues involved include, but extend beyond construction activity. See § 1912.4 concerning the general policy against duplication of activity by advisory committees.

(b) The Advisory Committee is a continuing advisory body. It is composed of 15 members appointed by the Assistant Secretary, one of whom is appointed by him as Chairman. The composition of the Advisory Committee is as follows:

(1) One member who is a designee of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare;

(2) Five members who are qualified by experience and affiliation to present the viewpoint of the employers involved and five members who are similarly qualified to present the viewpoint of the employees involved;

(3) Two representatives of State safety and health agencies; and

(4) Two members who are qualified by knowledge and experience to make a useful contribution of the work of the Committee.

(c) As originally constituted, the Advisory Committee was composed of nine members. However, pursuant to section 105 of the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act (40 U.S.C. 331), it has been found necessary and proper in the public interest and in order to prevent possible injustice, to vary the composition of the Advisory Committee: (1) By having its membership and representation conform to the provisions of section 7(b) of the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act, and (2) by increasing its membership to 15 members as permitted under the aforementioned section 7(b). Greater membership and greater representation serves the public interest and avoids possible injustice by permitting for the most part the use of one advisory committee, rather than possibly several advisory committees, in situations where both the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act and the Williams-Steiger Occupational Safety and Health Act may be expected to apply to construction activity and by affording a greater opportunity for representation on the Advisory Committee within the construction industry.

(d) See paragraph (c) of § 1912.5 regarding the general policy role of the Advisory Committee.

(e) Except as provided in remaining paragraphs of this section, each member of the Advisory Committee shall serve for a period of 2 years, unless he becomes unable to serve, or resigns, or ceases to be qualified to serve on the Committee because he no longer meets any relevant representational requirements, or is removed by the Assistant Secretary in the interests of the administration of legislation involved. In such cases, the Assistant Secretary may appoint a new member to serve for the remainder of the unexpired term, who shall be representative of the same interest.

(f) The designee of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare shall have no fixed term.

(g) To provide for continuity in the membership of the Committee, the terms of the members commencing July 1, 1972, shall be appropriately staggered for terms of 1, 2, and 3 years.

(h) Members may be appointed to successive terms.

(i) A member who is otherwise qualified may continue to serve until a successor is appointed.

§ 1912.4 Avoidance of duplication.

No standards advisory committee shall be created if its duties are being, or could be, performed by an existing advisory committee established under section 7(b) of the Act.

§ 1912.5 National Advisory Committee on Occupational Safety and Health distinguished.

(a) Section 7(a) of the Act established a National Advisory Committee on Occupational Safety and Health. The Committee is to advise, consult with, and make recommendations to the Secretary and the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare on matters relating to general administration of the Act.

(b) Advisory committees appointed under section 7(b) of the Act, which are the subject of this part, have a more limited role. Such advisory committees are concerned exclusively with assisting the Assistant Secretary in his standards-setting functions under section 6 of the Act.

(c) On the other hand, the Advisory Committee on Construction Safety and Health, established under the Construction Safety Act, provides assistance in both the setting of standards thereunder and policy matters arising in the administration of the Construction Safety Act. To the extent that the Advisory Committee on Construction Safety and Health renders advice to the Assistant Secretary on general policy matters, its activities shall be coordinated with those of the National Advisory Committee on Occupational Safety and Health.

§ 1912.6 Conflict of interest.

No members of any advisory committee other than members representing employer or employee members shall have an economic interest in any proposed rule.

§ 1912.7 Reports.

The Assistant Secretary shall prepare or cause to be prepared, for the Department of Labor's Committee Management Officer reports describing the committee's membership, functions, and actions as may be necessary for the performance of the duties of the Committee Management Officer.

§ 1912.8 Committee charters.

(a) Filing: No advisory committee shall take any action or conduct any business subsequent to January 5, 1973, until a committee charter has been filed with the Secretary of Labor, the standing committees of the Congress having legislative jurisdiction of the Department of Labor and the Library of Congress.

(b) Committee charter information: Each committee charter shall contain the following information:

(1) The committee's official designation;

(2) The committee's objectives and scope of activity; i.e., the standard or standards to be developed.

(3) The period of time necessary for the committee to carry out its purposes;

(4) The agency to whom the advisory committee reports (i.e., the Assistant Secretary);

(5) The agency responsible for providing support (i.e., the Occupational Safety and Health Administration);

(6) Description of the committee's duties;

(7) The estimated number and frequency of committee meetings;

(8) The estimated annual operating costs in dollars and man-years;

(9) The committee's termination date or other fixed period of termination, if less than 2 years; and

(10) The date the charter is filed with the Department of Labor's Committee Management Officer.

(c) Applicability of this section to subgroups: The applicability of this section to subgroups of an advisory committee depends upon the nature of the subgroup. With regard to formal subgroups, such as a formal subcommittee of an advisory committee, the requisite information should be set forth either in the charter of the parent committee or in a separate charter. Informal subgroups of an advisory committee, particularly those temporary in nature, need not be reflected expressly in a charter.

(d) The Assistant Secretary shall file any charter to the Department's Committee Management Officer which shall constitute filing with the Secretary of Labor. The Department's Committee Management Officer shall have the responsibility for assuring the appropriate filings of the charters outside the Department. See § 15.3 of this title.

§ 1912.9 Representation on section 7(b) committees.

(a) Any advisory committee appointed by the Assistant Secretary under section 7(b) of the Act shall contain the following:

(1) At least one member who is a designee of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare;

(2) At least one member who is qualified by experience and affiliation to present the viewpoint of the employers involved, and at least one member who is similarly qualified to present the viewpoint of the employees involved. There shall be an equal number of representatives of employers and employees involved; and

(3) At least one representative of State health and safety agencies.

(b) The advisory committee may include such other persons as the Assistant Secretary may appoint who are qualified by knowledge and experience to make a useful contribution to the work of the committee, including one or more representatives of professional organizations of technicians or professionals specializing in occupational safety or health and one or more persons of nationally recognized standards-producing organizations, but the number of persons so appointed shall not exceed the number of persons appointed as representatives of Federal and State agencies.

(c) Each committee shall consist of not more than 15 members.

(d) The representation in the Advisory Committee on Construction Safety and Health is described in § 1910.3 of this chapter.

§ 1912.10 Terms of continuing committee members.

(a) Each member of a continuing committee established under section 7(b) of the Act, other than those appointed to a committee when it is formed initially shall serve for a period of 2 years, unless he becomes unable to serve, or resigns, or ceases to be qualified to serve because he no longer meets the representation requirements of section 7(b) of the Act or is removed by the Assistant Secretary in the interest of the administration of the Act. In such cases the Assistant Secretary may appoint a new member to serve for the remainder of the unexpired term, who shall be representative of the same interest.

(b) To provide for continuity in the membership of each continuing committee the initial appointments of its members shall be varied. For example, in the case of a 15-member committee, the Secretary could appoint four members representing Federal and State agencies and four members representing nongovernmental interests to terms which expire within the year in which they are appointed, and four members representing Federal and State agencies and three members representing nongovernmental interests to terms which expire within the second year following their appointment. Thereafter, at the expiration of such terms, members would be appointed or reappointed for a regulation term of 2 years. The initial appointments of committees with fewer than 15 members would be similarly varied.

(c) Any vacancies on standing committees shall be filled as soon as practicable.

§ 1912.11 Terms of ad hoc committee members.

Each member of an ad hoc advisory committee shall serve for such period as the Assistant Secretary may prescribe in his notice of appointment unless he becomes unable to serve, or resign, or cease to be qualified to serve because they no longer meet the representational requirements of section 7(b) of the Act, or is removed by the Secretary of Labor in the interest of the administration of the Act. In such cases the Secretary may appoint a new member to serve for the remaining portion of the period prescribed in the notice appointing the original member of the committee.

§ 1912.12 Termination of advisory committees; renewal.

(a) Every standards advisory committee established under section 7(b) of the Act shall terminate not later than 2 years after its charter has been filed, unless its charter is renewed by appropriate action for a successive period of not more than 2 years. The procedure for renewal shall be the same as that specified in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Each advisory committee established under section 7(b) of the Act which is in existence on January 5, 1973, shall terminate by January 5, 1975, unless it is renewed before the latter date.

(c) The notice shall announce that the meeting is open to the public. (d) The notice shall indicate that interested persons have an opportunity to file statements in written form with the committee. The notice shall specify whether the statements are to be filed before or during the meeting. However, when a committee is consulted at the decisional stage of a proceeding under § 1911.18 of this chapter, no additional opportunity shall be afforded for written presentations.

(1) In the discretion of the chairman of the meeting, upon consultation with counsel if made available to the committee, oral statements may be made before the committee by interested persons after taking into consideration the number of persons in attendance, the nature and extent of their proposed individual participation, the extent to which presentations would anticipate presentations which may be made in any rule making proceeding held under section 6 of the Act subsequent to the recommendations of the committee, and the time, resources, and facilities available to the committee. In the discretion of the chairman,

(d) Unless provided otherwise by the Assistant Secretary, the duration of a subgroup of a committee shall be the same as that of the parent committee.

(e) No advisory committee required to file a new charter under this section shall take any action (other than the preparation and filing of charter) before the date on which the charter is filed.

OPERATION OF ADVISORY COMMITTEES

§ 1912.25 Call of meetings.

No advisory committee shall hold any meeting except at the call of, or with the advance approval, of the Assistant Secretary or his representative designated for this purpose. The Department of Labor's Committee Management Officer shall be promptly informed of any meeting that is called.

§ 1912.26 Approval of agenda.

Each meeting of an advisory committee shall be conducted in accord with an agenda approved by the Assistant Secretary or his representative designated for this purpose. No particular form for the agenda is prescribed.

§ 1912.27 Notice of meetings.

Public notice of any meeting of an advisory committee shall be given by the officer or employee calling the meeting at least seven (7) days in advance of the meeting; except when it is impractical to do so, or in an emergency situation, in which event shorter advance notice may be given to the extent that any advance notice is practical. Such notice shall be given by publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER. In addition, notice may be given by such other means as press releases.

§ 1912.28 Contents of notice.

(a) The notice shall give the name of the committee, and the time and place of the meeting.

(b) The notice shall describe fully or summarize adequately the agenda.

(c) The notice shall announce that the meeting is open to the public.

(d) The notice shall indicate that interested persons have an opportunity to file statements in written form with the committee. The notice shall specify whether the statements are to be filed before or during the meeting. However, when a committee is consulted at the decisional stage of a proceeding under § 1911.18 of this chapter, no additional opportunity shall be afforded for written presentations.

(1) In the discretion of the chairman of the meeting, upon consultation with counsel if made available to the committee, oral statements may be made before the committee by interested persons after taking into consideration the number of persons in attendance, the nature and extent of their proposed individual participation, the extent to which presentations would anticipate presentations which may be made in any rule making proceeding held under section 6 of the Act subsequent to the recommendations of the committee, and the time, resources, and facilities available to the committee. In the discretion of the chairman, upon consultation with counsel if made available to the committee, may allow or preclude the questioning of committee members or other participants.

(2) The person calling the meeting may provide in the notice of the meeting that summaries of any proposed oral presentations be filed in advance of the meeting, and may allow or preclude the questioning of committee members or other participants.

(3) Under no circumstances will an opportunity for an oral presentation be afforded when an advisory committee is consulted at the decisional stage of a rule making proceeding.

§ 1912.29 Attendance by members.

Any person appointed by the Assistant Secretary to an advisory committee has the right to attend any duly called meeting. In addition, if any person representing the interests of employers or employees is unable for any reason to attend a duly called meeting of his committee and desires to have someone else represent him at the meeting, he may submit the name of his delegate in advance to the person designated for this purpose by the Assistant Secretary in order that appropriate arrangements may be made before the time of the meeting for the representative to attend and participate in the meeting as a member.

§ 1912.30 Quorum; committee procedure.

(a) A majority of the members of any advisory committee including the Construction Safety Advisory Committee, shall constitute a quorum, so long as there are present at least one member representative of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare, one member representative of a State agency, one member representative of involved employers, and one member representative of involved employees.

(b) In the absence of its chairman, the committee may designate a member to preside at any meeting thereof.

(c) For the purpose of this section, the term "member" shall include any delegate of a member named under § 1912.29.

§ 1912.31 Experts and consultants.

At the request of an advisory committee or the person calling a meeting of an advisory committee, the Assistant Secretary may make available to the committee any experts or consultants in the field involved. Any expert or consultant so made available may participate in the deliberations of the committee with the consent of the committee.

§ 1912.32 Presence of OSHA officer or employee.

The meetings of all advisory committees shall be in the presence of an OSHA officer or employee designated for this purpose. Such officer or employee shall be empowered to adjourn any meeting whenever he determines adjournment to be in the public interest.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

§ 1912.33 Minutes.

(a) Detailed minutes of advisory committee meetings shall be prepared and certified as accurate by the Chairman of the committee for the committee appointed by the person calling the meeting. In addition to the minutes there shall be kept verbatim transcripts of all advisory committee meetings.

(b) The minutes shall include at least the following:

(1) A list of the advisory committee members and agency employees who were present at the meeting;

(2) Any significant conclusions reached which are not recommendations;

(3) Any written information made available for consideration by the committee, including copies of all reports received, issued, or approved by the committee;

(4) Any recommendations made by the committee to the Assistant Secretary and the reasons therefor;

(5) An explanation of the extent, if any, of public participation, including a list of interested persons who presented oral or written statements; and an estimate of the number of the members of the public who attended the meeting.

§ 1910.34 Freedom of Information Act.

Subject to the Freedom of Information Act (5 U.S.C. 552) and Part 70 of this title and Part 1913 of this chapter, there shall be available for public inspection and copying in the Office of Standards, Occupational Safety and Health Administration, documents which were made available to or prepared for or by each advisory committee.

§ 1910.35 Availability and cost of transcripts.

Except where prohibited by contractual agreements entered into before the effective date of the Federal Advisory Committee Act (January 5, 1973), any transcripts of advisory committee meetings are to be made available to any person at the actual cost of duplication.

§ 1912.36 Advice of advisory committees.

Approval by a majority of all the members of an advisory committee is encouraged for rendering advice or making recommendations. However, a failure to marshal a majority of all members of an advisory committee shall not be a reason for not giving advice to the Assistant Secretary. The Assistant Secretary shall be informed of any concurring or dissenting views. If the advice of an advisory committee is not forthcoming within a period of time prescribed by the Assistant Secretary or by the Act, the Assistant Secretary may direct the immediate return of any materials which may have been submitted to the advisory committee.

§ 1912.40 General services.

The Assistant Secretary shall provide supporting services to advisory committees. Such services shall include clerical, stenographic, and other forms of technical assistance.

§ 1912.41 Legal services.

The Solicitor of Labor shall provide such legal assistance as may be necessary or appropriate for advisory committees to carry out their functions in accordance with the requirements of this part.

§ 1910.42 Reservation.

The policies and procedures set forth in this part are intended for general application. In specific situations where the Assistant Secretary determines that different policies or procedures would better serve the objectives of the Act, such policies or procedures may be modified upon appropriate notice to any persons affected by the modification to the extent that such policies or procedures are consistent with the Federal Advisory Committee Act and OMB Circular A-63, and are approved by the Solicitor under Part 15 of this title.

§ 1912.43 Petitions for changes in the rules; complaints.

(a) Each interested person shall have the right to petition for the issuance, amendment, or repeal of rules published in this part. Any such petition will be considered in a reasonable time. Prompt notice shall be given of the denial in whole or in part of any petition. Except in affirming a prior denial or when the denial is self-explanatory, the notice shall be accompanied by a brief statement of the reasons therefor.

(b) Any advisory committee member or any other aggrieved person may file a written complaint with the Assistant Secretary alleging noncompliance with the rules in this part. Any complaint must be timely filed, but in no case shall any complaint be filed later than seven (7) days following the act of alleged noncompliance. Any complaint shall be acted upon promptly and a written notice of the disposition of the complaint shall be provided to the complainant.

§ 1912.44 Definitions.

As used in this Part 1912, unless the context clearly requires otherwise:

(a) "Act" means the Williams-Stelger Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (84 Stat. 1590; 29 U.S.C. 650).

(b) "Advisory Committee" has the meaning set forth in section 3(2) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act. In this part, the term includes any committee or subcommittee appointed under section 7(b) of the Act to provide advice to the Assistant Secretary in the development of occupational safety and health standards under the Act. The term includes subcommittees whether they be formal or informal subgroups. An informal subgroup is a type having few characteristics of a formal advisory committee (e.g., during a meeting of a formal advisory committee it might divide itself into informal subgroups to permit simultaneous discussion of several topics).

(c) "Assistant Secretary" means the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health.

(d) "Committee charter" means an order, statement or proclamation of the Assistant Secretary establishing, continuing, or using an advisory committee, as the case may be.

(e) "Construction Safety Act" means section 107 of the Contract Work Hours and Safety Standards Act (83 Stat. 96; 40 U.S.C. 333).

Signed at Washington, D.C. this 20th day of March 1973.

CHAIN ROBBINS,
Acting Assistant
Secretary of Labor.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[49 CFR Part 1322]

[Ex Parte Nos. 73, MC-1]

MOTOR CARRIERS

Payment of Rates and Charges

At a general session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 14th day of March 1973.

In these proceedings we propose to study recent developments which may have caused or significantly contributed to difficulties being encountered by certain carriers subject to our jurisdiction in the proper extension of credit and the timely collection of their lawful charges. Our inquiry herein will also be aimed at determining what, if any, effect upon carrier compliance with our current credit regulations may stem from various practices assertedly engaged in by shippers and other parties responsible for payment of the lawful charges of those carriers and what corrective measures may or should be implemented to bring about any improvement therein in the public interest.

On December 22, 1971, the American Trucking Associations filed a petition requesting the Commission to reopen Ex Parte No. MC-1 for the purpose of considering the desirability of amending the Commission's rules and regulations governing the extension of credit by motor common carriers of property to shippers, 49 CFR Part 1322, and more specifically for the consideration of the following proposed amendment to those regulations, to be designated as § 1322.6:

§ 1322.6 Required payment by shippers within prescribed period.

Shippers to whom credit has been extended under the provisions of this part must pay the required transportation charges within the credit period prescribed herein.

Good cause has been shown for reopening for further hearing this proceeding for the purpose of considering whether the credit regulations may and/or should be amended as proposed and, further, to consider all alternatives available to assure the prompt payment of freight bills by shippers and the proper extension of credit by certain carriers.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Examples of the possible alternatives available are:

(1) Extending the credit period;

(2) Tariff provisions containing penalties for the late payment of rates and charges; and

(3) A regulation requiring any carrier whose rates and charges have not been paid by the responsible party within the credit period to report that fact to the Commission together with the name of the offending party, the publication by the Commission on a periodic basis of a list of parties in arrears, and a regulation prohibiting any carrier subject to section 3(2) and/or 223 of the Interstate Commerce Act from extending credit to the parties on the current periodic list.

Consideration should also be given to amending in similar fashion, or by means of available alternatives, the credit regulations relating to common carriers by railroad, 49 CFR 1100.1320 et seq. and, therefore, good cause exists for reopening for further hearing the proceeding in Ex Parte No. 73.

Unless a need therefor should later appear, no oral hearing should be scheduled, for the receipt of testimony, but respondents or any other interested party should be permitted, after a service list has been compiled, to file written statements of facts, views, and arguments under the modified procedure.

It is ordered, That the petition of American Trucking Association, Inc., filed December 22, 1971, be, and it is hereby, granted to the extent indicated above; that Ex Parte No. 73 and Ex Parte No. MC-1 be, and they are hereby, reopened for the purposes mentioned above; and that consideration be given not only to the proposed amendment but also to all alternatives available to assure prompt payment of freight bills by shippers, and the proper extension of credit by common carriers by railroad and motor common carriers.

It is further ordered, That all common carriers by railroad and all motor common carriers of property which are subject to the Interstate Commerce Act be, and they are hereby, made respondents in these proceedings, respectively.

It is further ordered, That the Commission's Bureau of Enforcement be, and it is hereby, authorized and directed to participate in these proceedings.

It is further ordered, That the Executive Office of the President, Office of Consumer Affairs and the U.S. Department of Transportation be, and they are hereby, invited to participate actively in these proceedings.

It is further ordered, That these proceedings be handled on a consolidated record.

It is further ordered, That any person intending to participate in these proceedings by submitting initial or reply statements, or otherwise, shall notify this Commission, by filing with the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, on or before April 30, 1973, the original and one copy of a statement of his intention to participate.

It is further ordered, That, to save time and expense to the public, the service of pleadings shall be limited to parties who file a statement of intention to take an active part in the proceedings which describes their interests and whether such interests extend either to:

(a) Receiving only Commission releases, or (b) additionally receiving or filing initial or reply statements including a statement explaining whether the parties' interests can be expressed jointly with other parties (and any other suggestions to reduce the service list); that this Commission shall then prepare and make available to all such persons a list containing the names and addresses of all parties desiring to participate in these proceedings and upon whom copies of all statements must be filed; and that at the time of service of this service list the Commission will fix the time for filing and serving statements under the modified procedure.

It is further ordered, That while this proceeding does not currently appear to be a major Federal action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment within the meaning of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, statements filed by parties participating in these proceedings shall indicate the presence or absence of any effect of the recommendations made therein to this Commission on the quality of the human environment. Cf. Implementation-National Environmental Policy Act, 1969, 340 ICC 431 (1972).

And it is further ordered, That statutory notice of the institution of these proceedings be given to the general public by mailing a copy of this order to the Governor of every State and to the Public Utilities Commissions or Boards of each State having jurisdiction over transportation, by depositing a copy of this order in the Office of the Secretary, Interstate Commerce Commission, Washington, D.C., for public inspection, and by delivering a copy thereof to the Director, Division of the Federal Register, for publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Note: Statements submitted will be available for public inspection at the offices of the Interstate Commerce Commission, 12th and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C., during regular business hours.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] ROBERT L. OSWALD,
Secretary.

Notices

This section of the FEDERAL REGISTER contains documents other than rules or proposed rules that are applicable to the public. Notices of hearings and investigations, committee meetings, agency decisions and rulings, delegations of authority, filing of petitions and applications and agency statements of organization and functions are examples of documents appearing in this section.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR Bureau of Mines

METAL AND NONMETALLIC MINE HEALTH AND SAFETY SYMPOSIUM ON TALC DUST HAZARDS

Notice of Public Meeting

The Bureau of Mines is conducting a study on the hazards caused by talc dust to those persons working in the metal and nonmetallic mineral industries. Federal mandatory standards §§ 55.5-1, 56.5-1, and 57.5-1, codified in Title 30, Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 55, 56, and 57, respectively, provide that exposure to airborne contaminants of persons working in a metal and nonmetallic mine shall not exceed, on a time weighted average, the threshold limit values adopted by the American Conference of Governmental Industrial Hygienists. Excursions above the listed threshold limit values shall not be of a greater magnitude than is characterized as permissible by the Conference. Talc is considered under two classifications by the Conference. One is for talc alone and the other is for talc fibrous. Fibrous talc generally contains tremolite and both fibrous talc and tremolite are treated as asbestos by the Conference.

The Bureau of Mines is gathering data relating to the occupational hazards of talc, fibrous talc and tremolite. Notice is hereby given that a symposium open to the public will be held in Washington, D.C., starting at 9 a.m., on May 8, 1973, in the auditorium, Department of the Interior, 18th and C Streets NW.

Any member of the public and all interested persons including miners, representatives of miners, labor officials, mine operators, associations, members of the medical profession, and State and Federal officials wishing to make a presentation may do so by notifying the Chief, Division of Health, Room 4518, Metal and Nonmetal Mine Health and Safety, Bureau of Mines, Washington, D.C. 20240, telephone number 202-343-6315. Presentations should include information relating to the characterization of airborne dust from mining and milling of minerals containing talc and tremolite, and where possible, medical data related to disease and exposure to talc and tremolite dust from mining and milling. All persons attending the symposium will be given an opportunity to make an oral presentation. Written presentations may be mailed or delivered to the Chief, Division of Health, before, during and for a reasonable time after the public meeting, which will be announced at the conclusion of the meeting.

JOHN B. RIGG,
Deputy Assistant
Secretary of the Interior.

Sec. 2. In accordance with approved procedures, the following vessels listed in this section which called at Cuba after January 1, 1963, have reacquired eligibility to carry U.S. Government-financed cargoes from the United States by virtue of the persons who control the vessels having given satisfactory certification and assurance:

(a) That such vessels will not, thenceforth, be employed in the Cuban trade so long as it remains the policy of the U.S. Government to discourage such trade; and

(b) That no other vessels under their control will thenceforth be employed in the Cuban trade, except as provided in paragraph (c); and

(c) That vessels under their control which are covered by contractual obligations, including charters, entered into prior to December 16, 1963, requiring their employment in the Cuban trade shall be withdrawn from such trade at the earliest opportunity consistent with such contractual obligations.

Notice of Decision on Application for Duty-Free Entry of Scientific Article

The following is a decision on an application for duty-free entry of a scientific article pursuant to section 6(c) of the Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Materials Importation Act of 1966 (Public Law 89-651, 80 Stat. 897) and the regulations issued thereunder as amended (37 FR 3892 et seq.).

A copy of the record pertaining to this decision is available for public review during ordinary business hours of the Department of Commerce, at the Office of Import Programs, Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

Docket No. 73-00244-33-90000. Applicant: Mayo Foundation, 200 First Street SW., Rochester, MN 55901. Article: Emiscanner System. Manufacturer: E.M.I., Ltd., United Kingdom. Intended use of article: The article is intended to be used for radiologic examination of the head during screening of groups of patients and for more accurately delineating the disease processes found in a study aimed at developing protocol for clinical trial thereof. Comments: No comments have been received with respect to this application. Decision: Application approved. No instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, is being manufactured in the United States.

Reasons: The foreign article is a newly developed instrument for radiologic examination of the head which is designed to provide a more precise localization and delineation of brain tumor and other disease. We are advised by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW) in its memorandum dated March 6, 1973, that the high sensitivity and precision with minimum dosage which the foreign article provides is pertinent to the applicant's research studies. HEW further advises that it knows of no domestic instrument of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article for the applicant's intended purposes.

The Department of Commerce knows of no other instrument or apparatus of equivalent scientific value to the foreign article, for such purposes as this article is intended to be used, which is being manufactured in the United States.

B. BLANKENHEIMER,
Acting Director,
Office of Import Programs.

ADVISORY PANEL

Notice of Meeting

The meeting of the Tuskegee Syphilis Study Ad Hoc Advisory Panel to be held on March 28, 1973, as previously announced in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 14 will be open to the public for the morning session only.

The afternoon session will be closed to the public in accordance with a determination made by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. This session will be devoted solely to the formulation of the advice which will be submitted to the Assistant Secretary for Health in the Panel's final report, taking into consideration the materials discussed at prior meetings, as well as testimony received from persons associated with the study and materials submitted by the general public. No person other than members of the Panel, and staff members who are DHEW employees will be present. The formulation of this report will involve the exchange of opinions, views, and judgments of the members. These opinions, views, and judgments if reduced to writing would be protected from mandatory disclosure under 5 U.S.C. 552(b)(5). The final report will be made available to the public after it has been received by the Assistant Secretary for Health.

This meeting will begin at 10 a.m. in Conference Room 3, Building 31, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md. A summary of the meeting and a roster of Panel members may be obtained from Mr. John Blamphin (202-962-7906), Room 5614, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, North Building, 330 Independence Avenue SW., Washington DC 20201.

Federal Highway Administration
URBAN HIGHWAY SYSTEMS
Exemption From Highway Beautification Program

Notice is hereby given that on March 6, 1973, the Acting Federal Highway Administrator made the following determination under the cited authority:

Under 23 U.S.C. section 103(2) and the powers delegated to me by 49 CFR 1.48(b), I hereby determine that the provisions of 23 U.S.C. sections 131 and 136, shall not apply to the Federal-aid urban system. I believe application of 23 U.S.C. sections 131 and 136 to other roads in the urban system would be inconsistent with 23 U.S.C. 103(d) for the following reasons:

1. It was not the purpose or intent of creation of the Urban System to subject more highways to outdoor advertising and junkyard control.

2. Outdoor advertising and junkyards are already largely subject to zoning control in urban areas. Additional control is not there needed and such control might be inconsistent with the goals and objectives of local planning.

3. The purpose of the Highway Beautification Act, with its exemption of commercial and industrial areas, would not particularly be served by having it apply to urban areas where local zoning usually already controls outdoor advertising and junkyards.

4. The Urban System is presently being developed and new routes should not be made subject to outdoor advertising and junkyard control until the system is less subject to change.

5. The Highway Beautification Commission created by the 1970 Federal-Aid Highway Act is going to report on changes in outdoor advertising control, and new areas should not be subject to control in the interim.

6. The beautification cost estimates and appropriations upon which Congress acted did not consider the new Federal-aid Urban System areas for control.

7. State highway beautification laws passed prior to the creation of the Urban System only apply to the primary and Interstate systems.

Issued on March 14, 1973.

Acting Federal Highway
Administrator.

National Highway Traffic Safety Administration NATIONAL HIGHWAY SAFETY ADVISORY COMMITTEE AD HOC TASK FORCE ON ADJUDICATION

Notice of Public Meeting

On March 31 and April 1, 1973, the National Highway Safety Advisory Committee's Ad Hoc Task Force on Adjudication will hold an open meeting at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel, Powell and Sutter Streets, San Francisco, Calif.

The National Highway Safety Advisory Committee is composed of 35 members appointed by the President in accordance with the Highway Safety Act of 1966 (23 U.S.C. 401 et seq.). The Committee consists of representatives of State and local governments, State legislatures, public and private interests contributing to, affected by, or concerned with highway safety, other public and private agencies, organizations, and groups demonstrating an active interest in highway safety, and research scientists and other experts in highway safety.

The Advisory Committee advises, consults with, and makes recommendations to the Secretary of Transportation on matters relating to the activities of the Department in the field of highway safety. The Committee is specifically authorized: (1) To review research projects or programs, and (2) to review, prior to issuance, standards proposed to be issued by the Secretary under the national highway safety program.

The Ad Hoc Task Force on Adjudication is composed of attorneys and judges from the full Committee and has been assigned the task of exploring means for effective adjudication of traffic offenses, including administrative adjudication, and to consider the ramifications of sentencing alternatives. The task force will report the results of its findings to the full Committee at its spring meeting.

The Ad Hoc Task Force will meet from 9:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on March 31 with the following agenda:

Review Court Reorganization Program in California;
Effect on Traffic Safety of California's Traffic Safety Adjudication Program; Report of Denver Symposium on Effective Highway Safety Offense Adjudication.

On April 1, the Ad Hoc Task Force will meet from 9:30 a.m. until noon preparing the task force report to the National Highway Safety Advisory Committee.

This notice is given pursuant to section 10(a)(2) of Public Law 92-463, Federal Advisory Committee Act (FACA), effective January 5, 1973.

[Dockets Nos. 50-295, 50-304]

COMMONWEALTH EDISON CO.

Notice of Time and Place of Hearing

Take notice, that pursuant to the Atomic Energy Commission's notice of hearing issued September 29, 1972, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (37 FR 20995, Oct. 5, 1972) and in accordance with the Commission's rules of practice, a hearing will be held to consider the application of the Commonwealth Edison Co., for facility operating licenses to authorize the operation of pressurized water reactors, identified as Zion Nuclear Power Station, Units 1 and 2, at the applicant's site in Lake County, Ill. The evidentiary hearing on health and safety issues will commence on April 2, 1973, at 12 noon, local time, in the Lake County Assembly Room, 10th floor, Lake County Building, Waukegan, Ill. 60085. The portion of the hearing relating to environmental issues will immediately follow the close of the health and safety portion.

The evidentiary hearings will continue from 12 noon, local time on Monday until 12 noon, on Friday of each week, with daily hours of 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. After the first 2 weeks (April 2-13), a determination will be made on a schedule for the week of April 16th, which week contains both Passover and Good Friday.

All members of the public are entitled to attend the hearing.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 20th day of March 1973.

DUKE POWER CO.

Notice and Order for Special Prehearing Conference

In the matter of Duke Power Co. (Catawba Nuclear Station Units 1 and 2), Dockets Nos. 50-413, 50-414.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the Atomic Energy Commission's Notice of Hearing on Application for Construction Permit, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on December 1, 1972 (37 FR 25560), and in accordance with § 2.751a of said Commission's rules of practice, 10 CFR Part 2, a Special Prehearing Conference will be held in the above-captioned proceeding on Thursday, April 5, 1973, at 10 a.m., local time in the Magistrates' Courtroom at 529 South York Street, Rock Hill, SC 29730.

This Special Prehearing Conference will be held before the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board established by the Commission on January 30, 1973, and composed of Dr. Frederick P. Cowan, Mr. Ralph S. Decker, and Max D. Faglin, Esq., Chairman, with Dr. Marvin M. Mann, the technically-qualified alternate, and Frederic T. Suss, Esq., the alternate chairman.

This Special Prehearing Conference will deal with the following matters:

1. Pending petitions for intervention and oppositions and responses thereto filed in this proceeding;
2. Requests for limited appearances;
3. Consideration of a schedule for further action; and
4. Such other matters as may aid in the orderly and expeditious conduct of the hearing.

At the Special Prehearing Conference, the Board will entertain oral argument on the pending petition to Intervene by The Carolina Environmental Study Group. In connection with said oral argument, petitioner and counsel for the parties shall address themselves to the matters regarding the basis for intervention, including particularly the matters set forth in § 2.714 dealing with untimely petitions to intervene and the matters set forth in section III, Intervention and limited appearances of Appendix A to Part 2 of the Commission's rules of practice, as amended.

In addition, the Board will expect to be advised by the petitioner for intervention regarding the identity of the members of its organization and other members of the public which it purports to represent, and to state how the aforementioned individuals' interests will be affected by the proposed Catawba Nuclear Plant.

Members of the public are invited to attend this Special Prehearing Conference as well as the Evidentiary Hearing to be held at a later date to be fixed by the Board. Members of the public wishing to make limited appearances may identify themselves at this Special Prehearing Conference, but oral or written statements to be presented by limited appearance will not be received at this Conference. The Board will receive such statements at the aforementioned Evidentiary Hearing.

It is so ordered.

Issued at Washington, D.C., this 21st day of March 1973.

AER LINGUS TEORANTA AND AERLINTE EIREANN TEORANTA

Order of Investigation and Suspension Regarding Transatlantic Fare Structure

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 8th day of March 1973.

By tariffs filed on January 29, 1973, Aerlinite Eireann Teoranta (Irish), and Aer Lingus Teoranta (Aer Lingus) propose for effect from April 1, 1973, to revise the existing fare structure over the North Atlantic between the United States and Ireland. As in the case of our recent disposition of U.S. carrier transatlantic fare proposals (Order 73-1-76), this order will be concerned with the Irish proposal as it relates to the period from April 1, 1973, through October 31, 1973.

Irish proposes to retain all present fare categories, and to overlay this structure with an APEX fare. First-class fares would be increased by $10 round trip and normal economy fares would be increased by 3 percent; 14-21-day excursion fares would be increased by 5 percent; and the 22-45-day excursion, affinity group, and 14-21-day group inclusive tour fares would be increased by 5 and 7 percent, respectively, in the shoulder and peak season periods. The 14-45-day advance purchase excursion fare (APEX) would be structured on a directional four-season basis. Fares for eastbound originating travel during the shoulder season would exceed those proposed by the U.S. carriers by $16; would be $23 less than the U.S. carrier proposal for travel during the peak season and $7 more during the westbound originating travel are proposed for all periods at $50 less than those available for U.S.-originating traffic.

Complaints have been filed by Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American), Trans World Airlines, Inc. (TWA), and the member carriers of the National Air Carrier Association (NACA), all of which request that immediate steps be taken to suspend the filing as unjust, unreasonable, and uneconomic. The thrust of the complainants' argument is that the proposed structure is more complicated than that presently in effect; that it increases the disparity between normal and promotional fare levels and includes an APEX fare with a directional fare differential which is objectionable.

Irish also proposed to retain the currently available youth fares. The issue of youth fares is under investigation in Docket 23780 and will not be further dealt with herein. We intend to dispose of the pending request for suspension of these fares promptly by separate order.

The U.S. carriers project revenue increases over retention of status quo fares were the Irish proposal introduced throughout the transatlantic market. However, both carriers indicate that, compared with revenues projected to result from their proposal, the result would be a decrease in revenue, $9.6 million for Pan American and $7 million for TWA.

The year 1972 saw an encouraging increase in traffic growth on the North Atlantic, and along with it a significant increase in load factor for most carriers. Notwithstanding this favorable trend, however, overall economic results for the industry continued to be substandard. As for the U.S. carriers, despite an annual average load factor of about 60 percent, Pan American remained in a negative return position, and TWA's earnings were only 8.38 percent on investment.<sup>1</sup> Similar results have apparently been sustained by the foreign-flag carriers. For this reason, there seems to be a consensus among the carriers that improved yields and revenues are necessary if transatlantic scheduled services are to continue on an economically viable basis. It also seems clear that the 22-45-day excursion fare has been largely responsible for the erosion in average yield which has occurred this past year. There can be little doubt that this fare generated new travel. By the same token, it appears to have resulted in significant diversion from higher-fare services, as evidenced by the fact that 25 percent of the total traffic carried by the U.S. carriers moved on these fares. In our opinion, the economic validity of a fare introduced for promotional reasons and established on the basis of incremental costs is brought into serious question when its usage achieves such a magnitude.

By Order 73-1-76, the Board indicated that it was not disposed to suspend the fare package proposed by the U.S. carriers.<sup>2</sup> This decision was based on the understanding that the structure was not advanced as a definitive one for the future, but rather as an acceptable one for the travel season immediately ahead. Indeed the carriers did not support their proposal as one that would adequately compensate for the cost of providing scheduled service, but rather as a reasonably competitive response to changing market conditions which they anticipated would produce moderately improved yields and increased revenues. The U.S. carriers' structure incorporates a fare category which is somewhat lower than the level now offered on the 22-45-day excursion fare. However, the conditions applicable to use of this APEX fare are quite restrictive and should curtail uneconomic diversion from other services. By the same token, the level of the 14-45-day excursion fare, which would be available with minimum restrictions, would be significantly above the level now applicable to the comparable fare. On this basis, the Board indicated its willingness to accept the structure proposed for the upcoming season, the most important consideration being a projected improvement in yield and a conclusion that the structure moved in the direction of more closely relating fares to the cost of providing the respective services.

We do not mean to imply that the Board considers the U.S.-carrier proposal as the only, or necessarily the best, solution to the question of North Atlantic fares. As indicated in our earlier order, we believe it contains certain elements which represent distinct improvements which should be pursued over the longer term. This is not to say that the Board stands committed to the particular structure which the U.S. carriers propose. We are committed, however, to the necessity for improving the overall average yield from scheduled services on the North Atlantic.

It is estimated that the Irish proposal would, in fact, result in some improvement in the carriers' overall average yield. However, we are inclined to suspect that this would be due largely to the proposed increases in normal fares and in the 14-21-day excursion fare. While a modest increase in the 22-45-day excursion fare is contemplated, this fare would remain at a relatively low level vis-a-vis the economy fare when consideration is given to the minimal restrictions on its use. In addition, with the exception of the eastbound peak of the peak, the APEX fares would significantly undercut the levels proposed by the U.S. carriers. For these reasons, we are of the opinion that the structure does little if anything to bring the various fares into more reasonable balance from the standpoint of the cost of providing the services or their relative value to the passenger and we are, accordingly, unable to accept this proposal.

As we have indicated in connection with disposition of other carrier proposals, it seems apparent that the present 22-45-day excursion fares, although generative, have resulted in a significant amount of diversion, and that these two developments taken together were largely responsible for the decline in yield in 1972. U.S.-carrier traffic during the second and third quarters of 1972 showed an overall growth rate of 24 percent over the same period in 1971. In the face of this trend, however, the number of normal-economy and short-duration excursion-fare passengers actually declined, from 726,165 to 680,762, a decrease of 7 percent. At the same time, long range excursion-fare passengers more than doubled, increasing from 263,210 in 1971 (29-45-day excursion fare at New York-Shannon round trip level of $257, peak) to 570,853 (22-45-day excursion fare at $278 fare New York-Shannon). We recognize that Irish proposes a moderate increase in the level of this fare. By the same token, however, some increase in the normal economy fare would also occur, with the net result that the discount would be narrowed by no more than 2 percent. For this reason, we do not foresee that the Irish proposal would stem the growing use of this low and relatively unrestricted fare. To the extent it did not, of course, the downward pressure on yield would continue.

The U.S. carriers have proposed an APEX fare at levels slightly below the present 22-45-day excursion fare. While the Board has some concern with perpetuation of this fare level on scheduled services, we nevertheless decided against suspension in view of the restrictive conditions on its use. The Irish proposal, on the other hand, would significantly undercut this level. Except for the 1-peak month of the peak, Irish would set the APEX fare at 10 percent below the U.S. carrier level for eastbound originations, and some 30 percent below that level for westbound-originating traffic. Stated differently, the APEX fares here proposed would involve peak-season discounts from normal economy fares of 55 and 62 percent for eastbound and westbound originations, respectively. We are not persuaded of the need for discounts of this magnitude and, as we have stated on other occasions, are not prepared to accept the argument that scheduled services need be priced comparably with charter service in order to maintain independent and profitable competitive operations.

In opting to maintain the present fare structure virtually intact, Irish would also propose to continue the provision of free stopovers where this privilege is now available. The majority of the proposals recently filed with the Board, on the other hand, would impose a surcharge for this service. In the Board's opinion, the dilution in revenue which stems from the circuitous routings of multi-stop travel creates an unnecessary downward pressure on yield which should be compensated for by an appropriate charge. Finally, we would point out that the Irish proposal, which preserves the present structure with overlay of an APEX fare, runs directly counter to the simplification sought by the U.S. carriers and likewise by a majority of the European carriers as well. As we have said before, the Board endorses the objective of a more simplified fare structure as being in the interest of both buyers and sellers of air transportation.

For the reasons stated, the Board finds that the first-class fares, the normal economy fares, the 14-21-day excursion fares, the 22-45-day excursion fares, the affinity-group fares, the 14-21-day group inclusive tour fares and the APEX fare proposed by Irish may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial and should be suspended pending investigation.<sup>3</sup>

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, 801, and 1002, thereof:

It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof,<sup>4</sup> and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such fares and provisions, and subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, are or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unduly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and if found to be unlawful, to take appropriate action to prevent the use of such fares and provisions or rules, regulations, or practices;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof are suspended and their use deferred from April 1, 1973, to and including March 31, 1974, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. This order shall be submitted to the President<sup>5</sup> and shall become effective on April 1, 1973;

CESKOSLOVENSKE AEROLINIE

Order of Investigation and Suspension Regarding Transatlantic Fare Structure

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the eighth day of March 1973.

By tariffs filed January 19, 1973, for effect from April 1, 1973, Ceskoslovenske Aerolinie (CSA) proposes to revise the existing fare structure over the North Atlantic between the United States and Czechoslovakia. As in the case of our recent disposition of U.S.-carrier transatlantic fare proposals (Order 73-1-76), this order will be concerned with CSA's proposal as it relates to the period from April 1, 1973, through October 31, 1973.

CSA proposes a simplified fare structure which is limited to four distinct categories of fares.<sup>1</sup> First-class fares would be retained at status quo while normal economy fares would be reduced by $26 during the shoulder period and by $16 during the peak season. CSA would also introduce a new 14-45-day excursion fare and a 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fare at levels which are similar to the 14-45-day advance purchase excursion fare proposed by the U.S. carriers. CSA would permit a free stopover in conjunction with its individual inclusive tour fare and impose a charge of $15 for stopovers on its 14-45-day excursion fare. By contrast, the U.S. carriers would offer no free stopovers and where this privilege is permitted would impose a charge of $20 per stopover. The CSA and U.S.-carrier proposals are summarized in the attachment hereto.

Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American), has filed a complaint requesting suspension of the CSA proposals. Pan American alleges that the CSA proposal is similar to that filed by Lufthansa,<sup>2</sup> except that CSA would also reduce normal economy fares and its reductions in promotional fares exceed those proposed by Lufthansa in every instance. Pan American contends that the impact of CSA's proposal would exceed the $8.9 million negative impact on operating profit which was forecast in its complaint against Lufthansa's filing.

By Order 73-1-76, the Board indicated that it was not disposed to suspend the fare package proposed by the U.S. carriers. This decision was based on the understanding that the structure was not advanced as a definitive one for the future, but rather as an acceptable one for the travel season immediately ahead. Indeed the carriers did not support their proposal as one that would adequately compensate for the cost of providing scheduled service, but rather as a reasonable competitive response to changing market conditions which is anticipated.

<sup>1</sup> CSA also proposes to retain the currently available youth fares. The issue of youth fares is under investigation in Docket 23780 and will not be further dealt with herein. We intend to dispose of the pending request for suspension of these fares promptly by separate order.

pated to produce moderately improved yields and increased revenues.

For the reasons articulated in Order 73-2-103 in connection with Lufthansa's filing, the Board is unable to accept the filing here before us. We endorse the simplification which it represents, and the increased emphasis which would be placed on development of individual travel on scheduled services. However, as indicated, both the 14-45-day excursion fare and 14-21-day IIT fare are set virtually at the level proposed by the U.S. carriers for APEX travel. This level approximates that now available on the 22-45-day excursion fare, which we have stated on numerous occasions seems quite clearly responsible for the decline in yield and substandard earnings experienced on the North Atlantic in 1972. In our opinion, the diversion to these fares which is likely to occur makes it extremely unlikely that transatlantic services could be operated at a profit. On the other hand, the APEX fare, although not one which we would like to see become imbedded in the fare structure for the longer term, is sufficiently restrictive in its application that it can reasonably be expected to be more generative than diversionary this upcoming season. Finally, while we believe the long-term objective should be an appropriate reduction in fares for normal economy service, we are not prepared to accept a reduction in these fares in the absence of a more economically sound pattern of promotional fares.

For the reasons stated, the Board finds that the normal economy fares, the 14-45-day excursion fares and the 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fares proposed by CSA may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial and should be suspended during investigation.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, 801, and 1002, thereof:

It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof,<sup>3</sup> and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such fares and provisions, and subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, are or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unduly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and if found to be unlawful, to take appropriate action to prevent the use of such fares and provisions or rules, regulations, or practices;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof are suspended and their use deferred from April 1, 1973, to and including March 31, 1974, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

[Docket No. 25338; Order 73-3-78]

EASTERN AIR LINES, INC.

Order of Investigation and Suspension
Regarding Jetstar Charter Rate Revision

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 21st of March 1973.

By tariff revisions<sup>1</sup> marked to become effective March 22, 1973, Eastern Air Lines, Inc. (Eastern) proposes to increase and revamp its charter rates for Jetstar aircraft, changing from a mileage to an hourly basis of stating its rates and introducing "bulk" discount rates for charterers who contract in advance for 50 or more hours within a 12-month period. The proposed increases would range from 40.9 to 65.2 percent for live charters and from 12.5 to 31.9 percent for ferry operations. The proposal would also add a layover charge of $50 per hour.

No complaints have been filed.<sup>2</sup>

In support of its proposal, Eastern alleges that the proposed rates are oriented toward attracting business charters; that the tapered discount will encourage some rather than purchase business aircraft; that the concept will interest other companies to enter into charter contracts which could not justify the purchase of such aircraft; and that the proposed discounts are cost related in that they are based on unit cost reductions resulting from increased aircraft utilization.

<sup>2</sup> Executive Jet Aviation, Inc. submitted a complaint against an earlier similar filing of Eastern which was rejected for technical reasons but did not complain against the instant filing.

Upon consideration of the tariff proposal and all relevant matters, the Board finds that the proposed revisions may be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful and should be investigated. The Board has also concluded to suspend the proposal pending investigation.

The services would be like and contemporaneous and provided under substantially similar circumstances for all charterers—those paying the maximum proposed rates and those paying the proposed discounted "bulk" contract rates. In a similar charter rate case<sup>3</sup> the Board found unjustly discriminatory the charging of lower rates for the "bulk" charterer. The only significant difference here is that in the previous case the applicability of the reduced rates was based on the number of flights contracted for in advance, whereas in Eastern's proposal it is based on number of hours per year. Eastern has failed to provide any justification which would warrant permitting it to establish the proposed rates which on their face depart from the well entrenched rule of equality in pricing air service. Also, Eastern has made no attempt to justify the need for increases in the magnitude involved.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, and 1002 thereof:

It is ordered that:

1. An investigation be instituted to determine whether the rates, charges and provisions described in Appendix A<sup>4</sup> hereto, and rules, regulations, and practices affecting such rates, charges and provisions, are or will be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, unduly prejudicial, or otherwise unlawful, and if found to be unlawful, to determine and prescribe the lawful rates, charges and provisions, and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such rates, charges and provisions;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the rates, charges and provisions described in Appendix A hereto are suspended and their use deferred to and including June 19, 1973, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. The investigation ordered herein be assigned for hearing before an Administrative Law Judge of the Board at a time and place hereafter to be designated; and

4. Copies of this order be filed in the aforesaid tariff and served upon Eastern Air Lines, Inc.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

FINNAIR OY

Order of Investigation and Suspension
Regarding Transatlantic Fare Structure

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 8th day of March 1973. By tariffs filed on February 23, 1973, for effect from April 1, 1973, Finnair Oy (Finnair) proposes to revise the existing fare structure over the North Atlantic between the United States and Finland. As in the case of our recent disposition of the U.S.-carrier transatlantic fare proposals (Order 73-1-76), this order will be concerned with Finnair's proposal as it relates to the period from April 1, 1973, through October 1, 1973.

Finnair proposes to retain first-class and peak-season economy fares at present levels and reduce normal economy fares by $24 in the shoulder period.<sup>1</sup> Additionally, Finnair proposes to establish a 14-45-day excursion fare at levels slightly above ($20 and $11 shoulder and peak periods, respectively) the existing 22-45-day excursion fares. Two free stopovers would be permitted. A 14-28-day individual inclusive tour fare would also be offered at the same level proposed for the 14-45-day excursion fare. Two free stopovers would likewise be permitted, and an additional two permitted at a charge of $10 each. Finnair would retain the existing group inclusive tour fares, but at lower levels ($26 in the shoulder period and $24 in the peak period), and the maximum validity of this fare would be increased from 21 days to 28 days. One free stopover in each direction would continue to be offered, with one additional in each direction available at a $10 charge. Affinity-group fares would be retained at significantly reduced levels. For eastbound originating travel the fares would be reduced by $12 and $44 in the shoulder and peak periods, respectively. Fares for westbound-originating passengers are proposed at differentials of $59 and $67 for shoulder and peak periods, respectively. Finally, Finnair proposes the introduction of an advance-booking group fare at the low levels proposed for the affinity-group fares. This fare would apply to groups of 40, require advance booking 90 days prior to departure with payment 30 days prior to departure, and would be subject to a 25-percent non-refundable deposit. The ticket would be valid for 1-full year from the date of commencement of travel, with a 7-day minimum stay for eastbound-originating travel and a 14-day minimum for westbound-originating travel.

<sup>1</sup> Finnair also proposes to retain the currently available youth fares. The issue of youth fares is under investigation in Docket 23780 and will not be further dealt with herein. We intend to dispose of the pending request for suspension of these fares promptly by separate order.

By Order 73-1-76, the Board indicated that it was not disposed to suspend the fare package proposed by the U.S. carriers. This decision was based on the understanding that the structure was not advanced as a definitive one for the future, but rather as an acceptable one for the travel season immediately ahead. Indeed the carriers did not support their proposal as one that would adequately compensate for the cost of providing scheduled service, but rather as a reasonably competitive response to changing market conditions which is anticipated to produce moderately improved yields and increased revenues. The U.S. carriers' structure incorporates a fare category which is somewhat lower than the level now offered on the 22-45-day excursion fare. However, the conditions applicable to use of this APEX fare are quite restrictive and should curtail uneconomic diversion from other services. By the same token, the level of the 14-45-day excursion fare, which is available with minimal restrictions, would be significantly above that now applicable to the comparable fare. We do not mean to imply that the Board stands committed to the particular structure which the U.S. carriers propose. We are committed, however, to the necessity for improving the overall average yield from scheduled services on the North Atlantic.

It is for this reason that we are unable to accept Finnair's proposal. It seems clear that the present 22-45-day excursion fare has been largely responsible for the erosion in yield and substandard earnings experienced on the North Atlantic in 1972. Yet Finnair would set both its 14-45-day excursion fare and its 14-28-day IIT fare at levels only nominally above the present long duration fare. In addition, Finnair proposes significant reductions in the affinity-group fares applicable to eastbound originations amounting to an approximate 15 percent in the peak season, and would introduce a fare for westbound originations which reflects a $67 differential.<sup>2</sup> The new advance-booking group fare would be established at these same low levels. In summary, it appears that under the Finnair proposal, the majority of passengers would travel at fares equal to or significantly below the present 22-45-day excursion fare. For this reason, it seems highly unlikely that transatlantic services could be operated profitably were this structure in effect throughout the market.

We are also unable to accept the liberal approach adopted by Finnair in connection with the provision of free stopovers. Finnair would permit free stopovers in conjunction with all of its promotional fares other than the affinity and advance-booking group fares. By contrast the U.S. carriers would prohibit stopovers altogether for APEX travel, and would assess a charge of $20 for each stopover where permitted on other promotional fares. In the Board's opinion, the dilution in revenue which stems from the circuitous routings involved in multi-stop travel creates an unnecessary downward pressure on yield which should be compensated for by an appropriate charge for the service. Finally, we would point out that Finnair's proposal, which would essentially maintain the present structure with an overlay of two new fares, runs directly counter to the simplification sought by the U.S. carriers and a majority of European carriers as well. As we have said before, the Board endorses the objective of a more simplified fare structure as being in the interest of both buyers and sellers of air transportation.

<sup>2</sup> Finnair also proposes to reduce the level of present GIT fares but by a lesser amount, and would extend the period of validity from 21 to 28 days. No directional differential would apply, however.

IBERIA, LINEAS AEREAS DE ESPANA, S.A.

Order of Investigation and Suspension
Regarding Transatlantic Fare Structure

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the eighth day of March 1973.

By tariffs filed February 16, 1973, for effect from April 1, 1973, Iberia, Lineas Aereas de Espana, S.A. (Iberia), proposes to revise the existing fare structure over the North Atlantic between the United States and Spain. As in the case of our recent disposition of the U.S.-carrier transatlantic fare proposals (Order 73-1-76), this order will be concerned with Iberia's proposal as it relates to the period from April 1, 1973, through October 1, 1973.

Iberia proposes to retain first-class and peak-season economy fares at present levels and to reduce normal economy fares by $24 in the shoulder period. Iberia would also consolidate the existing two excursion fares into one of 14-45-day duration and introduce a 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fare and a 14-45-day advance-purchase excursion fare (APEX). To this extent the structure matches that proposed by the U.S.-flag carriers.<sup>1</sup> However, the 14-45-day excursion fare and the 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fare would be set at the level applicable to the present 22-45-day excursion fare, which is substantially below that proposed by the U.S. carriers. In the case of the 14-45-day excursion fare, the undercuts would amount to $103 and $119 in the shoulder and peak periods, respectively. However, Iberia would permit no stopovers. Iberia's proposed 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fare would undercut that proposed by the U.S. carriers by only moderate amounts. However, one free stopover in each direction would be permitted whereas the U.S. carriers would impose a charge of $20 each. An APEX fare is proposed at levels consistent with those of the U.S. carriers, and a nonaffinity group fare would be introduced at the level for eastbound originations which presently applies to affinity groups. For westbound-originating passengers, the fares are set at reduced differential of $44 and $51, shoulder and peak period, respectively. One free stopover would be permitted in each direction.

A complaint has been filed by Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American), which requests that Iberia's proposals be suspended and investigated. Pan American contends that Iberia's proposal consists of a series of fare reductions which would reduce all promotional fares to or below the level of the present uneconomically low 22-45-day excursion fare. Pan American estimates that, were this structure applied throughout the transatlantic market, 75 percent of the total traffic would move at fares which are below cost.

By Order 73-1-76, the Board indicated that it was not disposed to suspend the fare package proposed by the U.S. carriers. This decision was based on the understanding that the structure was not advanced as a definitive one for the future, but rather as an acceptable one for the travel season immediately ahead. Indeed the carriers did not support their proposal as one that would adequately compensate for the cost of providing scheduled service, but rather as a reasonable competitive response to changing market conditions which is anticipated to produce moderately improved yields and increased revenues.

The year 1972 saw a heartening resurgence in traffic growth on the North Atlantic, and along with it a significant increase in load factor for most carriers. Notwithstanding this favorable trend, however, overall economic results for the industry continued to be substandard. The U.S. carriers ended the year with an annual average load factor of about 60 percent; yet Pan American remained in a negative return position, and TWA's earnings were only 8.38 percent on investment. Similar results have apparently been sustained by the foreign-flag carriers. For this reason, there seems to be a consensus among the carriers that improved yields and revenues are necessary if transatlantic scheduled services are to continue on an economically viable basis. It also seems clear that the 22-45-day excursion fare has been largely responsible for the erosion in average yield which has occurred this past year. Of the total traffic carried by the U.S. carriers, 25 percent moved on these fares. In our opinion, the economic validity of a fare introduced for promotional reasons and established on the basis of incremental costs is brought into serious question when its usage achieves such a magnitude.

Iberia, on the other hand, proposes to set the 14-45-day excursion fare and its IIT fare at the level now applying to this long-duration excursion fare. In the case of the peak-season excursion fare, this would represent a reduction from the level proposed by the U.S. carriers in excess of 25 percent. In addition, Iberia would convert the present affinity-group fare level into one available for eastbound-originating nonaffinity groups, and would establish a westbound differential which amounts to an approximate 20-percent reduction. While we have some concerns about directional fares, the Board would be prepared to accept a more moderate differential for the interim season immediately ahead. However, we are of the opinion that this pattern of promotional fares, all of which are at or below the level of the 22-45-day excursion fares, makes it extremely unlikely that transatlantic services could be conducted at a profit. The very low fares which would be available to non-affinity groups would, in our opinion, in and of itself significantly impair the economics of this service.

The Board also has considerable concern with Iberia's proposal to continue the practice of offering free stopovers in connection with discount-fare travel. As indicated, Iberia would permit one free stopover in conjunction with its proposed nonaffinity group fare and the 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fare. By contrast, the U.S. carriers would assess a $20 charge for each stopover where permitted on all promotional fares. In the Board's opinion, the dilution in revenue which stems from the circuitous routings involved in multistop travel creates an unnecessary downward pressure on yield which should be compensated for by an appropriate charge for the service.

Accordingly, for the reasons stated the Board finds that the 14-45-day excursion fares, the 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fares and the nonaffinity group fares proposed by Iberia may be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial and should be suspended pending investigation.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, 801, and 1002, thereof:

It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof,<sup>2</sup> and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such fares and provisions, and subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, are or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and if found to be unlawful, to take appropriate action to prevent the use of such fares and provisions or rules, regulations, or practices;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof are suspended and their use deferred from April 1, 1973, to and including March 31, 1974, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. This order shall be submitted to the President<sup>3</sup> and shall become effective on April 1, 1973;

4. Except to the extent granted herein, the complaint filed in Docket 25245 is hereby dismissed; and

5. Copies of this order be filed in the aforesaid tariffs and be served upon Iberia, Lineas Aereas de Espana, S.A., and Pan American World Airways, Inc., who are hereby made parties to the investigation.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

TRANS WORLD AIRLINES, INC., AND EL AL
ISRAEL AIRLINES LTD.

Order of Investigation and Suspension
Regarding Transatlantic Fares Between United States and Israel

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the eighth day of March 1973.

By tariffs filed on January 31, 1973, for effect from April 1, 1973, El Al Israel Airlines Ltd. (El Al), proposes to revise the existing fare structure over the North Atlantic between the United States and Israel. On February 7, 1973, Trans World Airlines, Inc. (TWA), filed its proposed fare structure in this market. As in the case of our recent disposition of U.S.-carrier transatlantic fare proposals to Europe (Order 73-1-76), this order will be concerned with the fare proposals as they relate to the period from April 1, 1973, through October 31, 1973.

El Al would generally maintain the existing fare structure which is directed primarily toward the carriage of non-affinity group travel.<sup>1</sup> El Al does, however, propose to consolidate the present two excursion fares into one of the 14-45-day duration, and would introduce a group APEX fare in the shoulder season. TWA proposes a structure of fares comparable to that which it has proposed to Western Europe, essentially involving a 14-45-day excursion fare, a 14-21-day IIT fare, and an APEX fare, and would cancel presently offered group fares. The proposals are shown in the attachment hereto.

<sup>1</sup>TWA's earlier transatlantic fare proposal which was disposed of in Order 73-1-76 did not contain fares to and from Israel.

<sup>2</sup>El Al also proposes to retain the currently available youth fares. The issue of youth fares is under investigation in Docket 23780 and will not be further dealt with herein. We intend to dispose of the pending request for suspension of these fares promptly by separate order.

Both carriers would retain first-class and peak-period economy-class fares at status quo. However, TWA would reduce the normal economy fare in the shoulder period by $24 to $900 while El Al would increase this fare by $6 to $930. Both propose one consolidated 14-45-day excursion fare, TWA at levels slightly below the present 14-21-day excursion, and El Al at levels significantly below those which presently exist for the 22-45-day excursion fare. El Al's excursion fare would undercut TWA by $127 and $112 in the shoulder and peak seasons, respectively. TWA proposes an individual APEX fare while El Al proposes a group APEX fare for 35 or more passengers which would be available only during the shoulder season.

As indicated, El Al would retain the presently available three categories of nonaffinity group fares. The 45-365-day fares would be maintained approximately at existing levels. The 8-45-day nonaffinity group fares would be reduced by $100 and $52 for shoulder and peak-season travel, respectively, and a peak-season group fare valid for 8-21-day travel would be introduced at $504. All of these nonaffinity group fares would be available to groups of 15 passengers as compared with the present minimum requirement of 20 passengers. One free stopover would be permitted, with one additional stopover available at a $20 charge, and weekend surcharges in varying amounts up to $40 would be imposed on the APEX and group fares for eastbound originations only as compared with the $15 charge presently in effect for both eastbound- and westbound-originating travel.

Complaints have been filed by Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American), and Trans World Airlines, Inc., requesting that the Board act promptly to suspend El Al's filing, since it would allegedly destroy the balanced and logical interrelationship of fares advanced by the U.S. carriers in the overall transatlantic market and would have a significantly more adverse impact on revenue than would the U.S.-carrier proposal. Pan American directs specific attention to the extremely low fare levels proposed; the extent of availability of the low-priced promotional fares, and the degree of complexity of the fare structure; and contends that the fares are so low as to probably be predatory.

TWA, while acknowledging that El Al's filing is essentially similar to the existing pattern of U.S.-Israel fares, contends that it is in complete contradiction to the objective of a fare structure oriented toward individual travel. TWA anticipates that were El Al's fare structure in effect throughout the transatlantic market, it would suffer a loss of more than 200,000 passengers and a revenue reduction of over $2.7 million as compared with projected results under its proposal. TWA ascribes this principally to El Al's liberalized stopover provisions, the general lack of a weekend surcharge, and the fare levels proposed for nonaffinity groups which are sufficiently higher than its APEX fare level that scheduled service would not be competitive with travel group charters. As a result, TWA concludes that, while it would experience an increase in yield of 11 cents over its own proposal, this improvement would be more than offset by loss of traffic.

In reply, El Al denies each and every material allegation of the complaints and objects to the suspension of its proposed fares unless the Board suspends the fares of all carriers serving the North Atlantic effective April 1, 1973.

By Order 73-1-76, the Board indicated that it was not disposed to suspend the fare package proposed by the U.S. carriers. This decision was based on the understanding that the structure was not advanced as a definitive one for the future, but rather as an acceptable one for the travel season immediately ahead. Indeed the carriers did not support their proposal as one that would adequately compensate for the cost of providing scheduled service, but rather as a reasonably competitive response to changing market conditions which is anticipated to produce moderately improved yields and increased revenues. On the other hand, the Board expressed the opinion that the proposed pattern of fares reflected improvements which appear desirable for the longer term, among them an overall simplification of the structure, imposition of charges for stopover travel on all promotional fares where the privilege would be offered, and a reemphasis on fares designed to promote individual travel. The Board also expressed the belief that the present 22-45-day excursion fares, although generative, have resulted in a significant amount of diversion, and that these two developments taken together were largely responsible for the decline in yield and substandard earnings generally experienced on the North Atlantic in 1972.

While El Al proposes to consolidate the present two excursion fares into one of 14-45-day duration as do the U.S. carriers, its overall structure does little to achieve the objective of simplification, and would perpetuate primary reliance upon group travel. As we have previously indicated, the Board believes that scheduled services by their nature are more appropriately adapted to development of individual travel and that the demand for low-cost group travel can more adequately be met by charter service.

Most importantly, however, El Al would set the 14-45-day excursion fare at levels even lower than today's comparable long-duration excursion fare, undercutting the U.S.-carrier level by 15 percent in the peak season and 20 percent in the shoulder period. It also proposes substantial reductions in the 8-45-day nonaffinity group fare, approaching 10 percent in the peak season and 20 percent in the shoulder months, and would introduce a peak-season fare of $504 for 8-21-day nonaffinity group travel. The latter fare is some 15 percent below the lowest fare now available for nonaffinity group travel, and all would undercut TWA's proposed 14-21-day IIT fares, which with the exception of an APEX fare are the lowest fares it contemplates. The significance of the low group fares which El Al proposes is magnified by the fact that the minimum group size would be reduced from 20 to 15 passengers, which in all likelihood would mean that these fares would be essentially the effective fares in this market.

The Board also has considerable difficulty with that aspect of the El Al proposal which would continue to offer free stopovers on promotional fares. We note that, where stopover privileges would be liberalized, each would be assessed a $20 charge and we are in accord with that approach. However, we believe it extremely important to the development of an economically sound transatlantic fare structure that stopover travel on all promotional fares be permitted only when subject to an appropriate charge. As we have previously stated, the circuitous travel which free stopovers encourage creates an unnecessary downward pressure on yield which should be appropriately compensated for. Finally, El Al proposes to surcharge weekend travel on its promotional fares for eastbound originations only. We find the preference thus accorded passengers originating in Israel to be clearly objectionable. Moreover, we believe the varying charges proposed, depending on duration of travel, season, and day of the week, would be needlessly complex from the standpoint of achieving a readily saleable fare structure.

In determining not to suspend the fare structure to Western Europe proposed by the U.S. carriers, the Board noted that the APEX fare was quite clearly proposed in part at least as a competitive response to charter operations recently authorized by this and other governments. At the same time, we expressed the view that demand for low-cost transportation can be met economically if the service is provided on a plane-load basis and is subject to advance contractual arrangements, and that these particular features do not inhere to scheduled service by its very nature. Our decision to permit APEX fares between the United States and Europe for the upcoming season was taken against the background of an evolving new demand for air service in that market and the conclusion that a certain amount of pricing experimentation is to be expected in both scheduled and charter services.

However, by order of the Government of Israel, charter operations are prohibited between that country and the United States. Accordingly, the need for an APEX fare in this market is not apparent. Quite apart from this consideration, we are unable to accept an APEX fare at the level proposed by TWA, notwithstanding the restrictive conditions of availability. TWA would set this fare at $277 or almost 40 percent below the level of its 14-45-day excursion fare for peak-season travel, a reduction which amounts to 30 percent from the present 22-45-day excursion fare. By way of comparison, the relationship between the U.S. carriers' proposed APEX and excursion fares to Western Europe is in the range of 27 to 31 percent.

Accordingly, for the reasons stated, the Board finds the shoulder season normal economy fares, the 14-45-day excursion fares, the 14-45-day group advance-purchase excursion fare, the 45-365-day nonaffinity group fares, the 8-21-day nonaffinity group fare, and the 14-21-day nonaffinity group fares proposed by El Al and the 14-45-day advance purchase excursion fares proposed by TWA may be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial and should be suspended pending investigation.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, 801, and 1002, thereof:

It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof,<sup>1</sup> and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such fares and provisions, and subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, are or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and if found to be unlawful, to take appropriate action to prevent the use of such fares and provisions or rules, regulations, or practices;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix<sup>2</sup> hereof are suspended and their use deferred from April 1, 1973, to and including March 31, 1974, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. This order shall be submitted to the President<sup>3</sup> and shall become effective on April 1, 1973;

4. Except to the extent granted herein, the complaints filed in Dockets 25201 and 25202 are hereby dismissed; and

5. Copies of this order be filed in the aforesaid tariffs and be served upon El Al Israel Airlines Ltd., Pan American World Airways, Inc., and Trans World Airlines, Inc., who are hereby made parties to the investigation.

This order will be published in the Federal Register.

TRANSPORTES AEREOS PORTUGUESES, S.A.R.L.

Order of Investigation and Suspension Regarding Transatlantic Fare Structure

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the eighth day of March 1973.

By tariffs filed January 26, 1973, for effect from April 1, 1973, Transportes Aereos Portugueses, S.A.R.L. (TAP), proposes to revise the existing fare structure over the North Atlantic between the United States and Portugal. As in the case of our recent disposition of the U.S.-carrier transatlantic fare proposals (Order 73-1-76), this order will be concerned with TAP's proposal as it relates to the period from April 1, 1973, through October 1, 1973.

TAP proposes to retain first-class and peak-season economy fares at present levels and to reduce normal economy fares by $24 in the shoulder period, as does the U.S.-carrier proposal.<sup>1</sup> TAP would also introduce a 14-45-day APEX fare and a 14-21-day IIT fare, both at levels consistent with those proposed by the U.S. carriers. However, with the exception of 14-21-day GIT fares, all promotional fares presently available would be retained. The 14-21-day excursion fare would be reduced to the level contemplated by the U.S. carriers for the <sup>1</sup> TAP also proposes to retain the currently available youth fares. The issue of youth fares is under investigation in Docket 23780 and will not be further dealt with herein. We intend to dispose of the pending request for suspension of these fares promptly by separate order.

14-45-day excursion, and the 22-45-day excursion would be increased slightly, by $15 and $7 during the shoulder and peak-season periods, respectively. The affinity-group fares would continue, but at a somewhat higher peak-season level. All of the promotional fares would be surcharged by $15 for weekend travel, and two free stopovers would be allowed in connection with each such fare. Additional stopovers where permissible would be charged at $15 each.

Complaints against TAP's proposal have been filed by Pan American World Airways, Inc. (Pan American), and Trans World Airlines, Inc. (TWA). TWA contends that the filing does not reflect a well-rounded and viable structure for the transatlantic market, and Pan American objects to the complexity which the proposal would introduce into the transatlantic fare structure. Both carriers indicate that implementation of TAP's proposals would provide them with more revenue than would accrue under existing fares ($3.6 million in operating profit for Pan American, and $1.9 million in revenues for TWA). However, the revenue gain would allegedly fall far short of the carriers' expectations under their own proposal, $12.6 million in operating profit in the case of Pan American and $23.9 million in revenues in the case of TWA. Both carriers object to the retention of the 14-21-day and 22-45-day excursion fares and the liberal provision of free stopovers on promotional fares, the effect of which would be a substantial dilution of revenue with little offsetting generation.

The year 1972 saw a heartening resurgence in traffic growth on the North Atlantic, and along with it a significant increase in load factor for most carriers. Notwithstanding this favorable trend, however, overall economic results for the industry continued to be substandard. The U.S. carriers ended the year with an annual average load factor of about 60 percent; yet Pan American remained in a negative-return position, and TWA's earnings were only 8.38 percent on investment.<sup>2</sup> Similar results have apparently been sustained by the foreign-flag carriers. For this reason, there seems to be a consensus among the carriers that improved yields and revenues are necessary if transatlantic scheduled services are to continue on an economically viable basis. It also seems clear that the 22-45-day excursion fare has been largely responsible for the erosion in average yield which has occurred this past year. There can be little doubt that this fare generated new travel. By the same token, it appears to have resulted in significant diversion, principally from the normal economy and 14-21-day excursion fares, as evidenced by the fact that 25 percent of the total traffic carried by the U.S. carriers moved on these fares. Stated differently, excluding youth-fare travel, one in every four transatlantic passengers traveled at the lowest individual fare. In our opinion, the economic validity of a fare introduced for promotional reasons and established on the basis of incremental costs is brought into serious question when its usage achieves such a magnitude.

By Order 73-1-76, the Board indicated that it was not disposed to suspend the fare package proposed by the U.S. carriers.<sup>3</sup> This decision was based on the understanding that the structure was not advanced as a definitive one for the future, but rather as an acceptable one for the travel season immediately ahead. Indeed the carriers did not support their proposal as one that would adequately compensate for the cost of providing scheduled service, but rather as a reasonably competitive response to changing market conditions which is anticipated to produce moderately improved yields and increased revenues. The U.S. carriers' structure incorporates a fare category which is somewhat lower than the level now offered on the 22-45-day excursion fare. However, the conditions applicable to use of this APEX fare are quite restrictive and should curtail uneconomic diversion from other services. By the same token, the level of the 14-45-day excursion fare, which is available with minimal restrictions, would be significantly above that now applicable to the comparable fare. On this basis, the Board decided not to suspend the structure as proposed for the upcoming season, the most important consideration being a projected improvement in yield and a conclusion that the structure moved in the direction of more closely relating fares to the cost of providing the respective services.

We do not mean to imply that the Board considers the U.S.-carrier proposal as the only, or necessarily the best, solution to the question of North Atlantic fares. As indicated in our earlier order, we believe it contains certain elements which represent distinct improvements which should be pursued over the longer term. This is not to say that the Board stands committed to the particular structure which the U.S. carriers propose. We are committed, however, to the necessity for improving the overall average yield from scheduled services on the North Atlantic.

It is for this reason that the Board is unable to accept TAP's proposal. Our primary difficulty lies with the retention of 22-45-day excursion fares which would be only nominally higher than present fares for this service, $7 round trip in the peak season. We have previously stated in connection with proposals of other carriers that we are not prepared to accept the argument that scheduled services need be priced comparably with charter services in order to maintain independent and profitable competitive operations. We have also indicated our belief that the present 22-45-day excursion fares, although generative, have resulted in a significant amount of diversion and that these two developments taken together were largely responsible for the decline in yield in 1972.

U.S.-carrier traffic during the second and third quarters of 1972 showed a total growth rate of 24 percent over the same period in 1971. In the face of this trend, however, the number of normal economy and short-duration excursion-fare passengers actually declined from 726,165 to 680,762, a decrease of 35,383 or 7 percent. At the same time, long-range excursion-fare passengers more than doubled, increasing from 263,210 in 1971 (29-45-day excursion fare at New York-Lisbon round-trip level of $332, peak) to 570,853 (22-45-day excursion fare at $313 fare New York-Lisbon). We believe there is every reason to expect that this trend in traffic development would continue were TAP's long-duration excursion fare to be permitted to become effective, with a consequent continuing erosion in yield. In this connection, Pan American and TWA anticipate a yield of 4.4 cents per mile under TAP's structure, as compared with respective estimates of 4.7 and 5.1 cents per mile under the U.S.-carrier proposal. We are aware that the APEX fare level contemplated by the U.S. carriers, and which TAP proposes to match, is somewhat lower than the level we are discussing here. However, the conditions attached to use of the APEX fare are sufficiently restrictive, in our opinion, that the fare can reasonably be expected to be more generative than diversionary this upcoming season.

We are also unable to accept the very liberal approach adopted by TAP in connection with provision of free stopovers. Two would be permitted for travel on each of the promotional fares. More importantly, TAP would extend this privilege to the 22-45-day excursion fare where it does not now exist, and also to the APEX and 14-21-day IIT fares. By contrast, the U.S. carriers would prohibit stopovers altogether on the low APEX fare, and would assess a charge of $20 for each of the limited number of stopovers permitted on the somewhat higher IIT fare. In the Board's opinion, the dilution in revenue which stems from the circuitous routings involved in multistop travel creates an unnecessary downward pressure on yield which should be compensated for by an appropriate charge for the service. Finally, we would point out that TAP's proposal, which would essentially maintain the present structure with an overlay of two new fares, runs directly counter to the simplification sought by the U.S. carriers and a majority of European carriers as well. As we have said before, the Board endorses the objective of a more simplified fare structure as being in the interest of both buyers and sellers of air transportation.

Accordingly, for the reasons stated,<sup>4</sup>

<sup>4</sup> The Board has no difficulty with the levels proposed by TAP as regards the 14-21-day excursion fares, the 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fares, and the affinity-group fares. We are concerned that the free stopovers associated with these fares (as opposed to charging for stopovers when they are permitted) would prove to be uneconomic and not geared to cost of providing the service.

NOTICES

the Board finds the 14-21-day excursion fares, the 22-45-day excursion fares, the 14-21-day individual inclusive tour fares, the 14-45-day advance-purchase excursion fares and the affinity-group fares proposed by TAP may be unjust, unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory, unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial and should be suspended pending investigation.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, as amended, and particularly sections 204(a), 403, 404, 801, and 1002, thereof:

It is ordered, That:

1. An investigation is instituted to determine whether the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof,* and rules, regulations, or practices affecting such fares and provisions, and subsequent revisions and reissues thereof, are or will be unjust or unreasonable, or unjustly discriminatory, or unduly preferential, or unduly prejudicial, and if found to be unlawful, to take appropriate action to prevent the use of such fares and provisions or rules, regulations, or practices;

2. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the fares and provisions set forth in the appendix hereof are suspended and their use deferred from April 1, 1973, to and including March 31, 1974, unless otherwise ordered by the Board, and that no changes be made therein during the period of suspension except by order or special permission of the Board;

3. This order shall be submitted to the President* and shall become effective on April 1, 1973;

4. Except to the extent granted herein, the complaints filed in Dockets 25177 and 25198 are hereby dismissed; and

5. Copies of this order be filed in the aforesaid tariffs and be served upon Transportes Aereos Portugueses, S.A.R.L., Pan American World Airways, Inc., and Trans World Airlines, Inc., who are hereby made parties to the investigation.

This order will be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

UNITED AIR LINES, INC.

Order of Suspension

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 20th day of March 1973.

By tariff revisions* marked to become effective April 1, United Air Lines, Inc. (United) proposes to increase domestic air freight rates as summarized below:

15 percent for hauls 550 miles or less, declining in increments of 50 miles to 1.5 percent for hauls 951-999 miles; 5 percent for hauls 1,000 miles or over in eastbound and northbound directions, except for specific commodity rates, which are not increased. No increase in westbound general commodity rates over 1,000 miles.

A complaint requesting suspension and investigation of United's proposal has been filed by Shulman Air Freight, Inc. (Shulman).

The complaint alleges, inter alia, that United has supplied absolutely no justification for the increases proposed in its container rates; that data supplied by United combined with other known data indicate that container rates produce yields which generally cover their fully allocated costs excluding return on investment; that United is simply lumping together loose traffic and container traffic, and attempting to increase its revenue by disproportionate increases on container traffic, which already bears more than its share; that United's proposal to increase its eastbound directional general commodity rates while leaving its eastbound specific commodity rates unincreased is unjustly discriminatory; and that there have been substantial reductions in capacity costs by virtue of United's improved load factor and it is quite probable that drastically reduced capacity has further reduced capacity costs for United.

In answer to the complaint, United contends that justification of its proposed filing is based totally on cost considerations, all of which show the need for additional revenue; that, while it is true load factors have improved in 1972, United has considered such improvement in its justification by using the year ending June 30, 1972 to determine cost; that, since United's justification shows that short-haul freight operations in question are not profitable even at 100 percent bulk load factor, Shulman is incorrect in denying that United's proposed increases are cost justified merely because load factors have been improving; that, in support of its unfounded proposition that container traffic pays more than its proportionate share, Shulman reverts to using out-of-date nonfully allocated cost data of other carriers, not pertinent to normal air freight operations; and that Shulman has totally failed to show sufficient facts to indicate that United's proposed short-haul container rate increases are not fully cost justified or that such increases discriminate between container versus bulk shippers.

The proposed rates come within the scope of the Domestic Air Freight Rate Investigation, Docket 22859, and their lawfulness will be determined in that proceeding. The issue now before the Board is whether to suspend the proposals or to permit them to become effective pending investigation.

The Board concludes that United has adequately demonstrated a need for an increase in air freight revenues. For the 12 months ended June 30, 1972, United reports operating revenues of $82.9 million and operating expenses of $90.1 million from scheduled domestic all-cargo services, resulting in an operating loss of $7.2 million. All-cargo services account for approximately 63 percent of the carrier's total domestic freight traffic in terms of ton-miles and thus are a fair indication of the profitability of its air freight services in general.

United presents cost data purporting to support rate increases as high as 6 to 15 percent for hauls 850 miles or less, with declining increases for longer hauls.

While there may be merit in United's attempt to base rate increases upon the costs of shipments at various lengths of haul, we believe that United's proposal has serious deficiencies.

First, United does not fully reflect in its proposals the various results of the cost data presented. For example, no increased rates are proposed for westbound hauls over 1,000 miles, although the costs shown, if extended to such hauls, would appear to justify rate increases in such cases. Secondly, United utilizes an average shipment size of 300 pounds in its costing methodology and ignores other sized shipments, for which cost-rate relationships might be different. Finally, we believe that the rate increases in markets up to 350 miles appear prima facie excessive and might have an undue impact on shippers, especially in view of the rate increases granted to the carrier during the past few years. Therefore, we will suspend these increases pending investigation.

We shall permit to become effective proposed eastbound and northbound directional rates in view of the Board's policy of reducing directional rate differences.

Much of Shulman's complaint is devoted to protesting United's higher container rates. As pointed out by United, Shulman applies cost data of other carriers to United's operations, and these data cover different time periods. Furthermore, we believe that container rates should bear their share of increased carrier costs.*

PRICE STABILIZATION CONSIDERATIONS

Section 229.3 of the Board's economic regulations sets forth the criteria that must be satisfied for Board approval of rate increases under the price stabilization program. Based on the data before us, the Board has determined that the rate increases authorized herein satisfy these criteria.

Accordingly, pursuant to the Federal Aviation Act of 1958, and particularly sections 204(a) and 1002 thereof,

It is ordered that:

1. Pending hearing and decision by the Board, the increased rates, charges, and provisions described in Appendix A* hereto are suspended and their use deferred to and including June 29, 1973, un-

* The Society of American Florists (SAF), on March 16, submitted a "Motion for Leave to File an Otherwise Unauthorized Document," requesting that the Board accept a late-filed request for suspension of domestic freight rate increases proposed by American Airlines, Inc., The Flying Tiger Line Inc. (Tiger), Trans World Airlines, Inc., and United, marked to become effective April 1 or May 1. We shall deny the motion because it does not contain valid reasons justifying the filing of a request for suspension that is (except with respect to Tiger's proposal) at least 16 days late. The time for filing timely requests for suspension of Tiger's proposal expired on March 19 and the motion is not necessary with respect to that proposal.

Ninilchik Small Boat Harbor, Alaska. The proposed action involves annual maintenance operations for the harbor, including dredging to authorized dimensions and repair of beach erosion protection measures. There will be resulting adverse impact to marine biota. (57 pages) (ELR Order No. 00438) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0438-D)

Draft, March 15

McKinney Bayou, Ark. and Tex. The proposed project involves the construction of 2 major outlet channels to the Red River, with related control works, channel enlargement of 15.6 miles of McKinney Bayou, and interior drainage improvements. The project will provide flood protection and/or improved drainage to 41,600 acres of cleared land. Counties affected are Miller in Arkansas and Bowie in Texas. As a result of the project 3,600 acres of bottom forest will be cleared for agricultural production, with adverse impact to wildlife and fish resources. (103 pages) (ELR Order No. 00449) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0449-D)

Draft, March 14

Nawiliwili Small Boat Harbor, Hawaii. The proposed project involves the construction of a small boat harbor in Nawiliwili Bay on Kauai. Project features include a breakwater, and navigation channels. There will be some loss of crab habitat. (13 pages) (ELR Order No. 00442) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0442-D)

Draft, March 15

West Agurs Levee, La., county: Caddo. The proposed action involves the construction of 232 wells along the levee at Twelvemile Bayou, in order to insure the integrity of the structure at high-water levels. Approximately 600 cu. yds. of material will be removed and spread on the levee. (36 pages) (ELR Order No. 00448) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0448-D)

Final, March 15

Rush Island, Mo., county: Jefferson. The statement refers to the proposed granting of a permit to the Union Electric Co. for the construction of two 600,000 kw. coal-fueled electrical generating units on the west bank of the Mississippi River. Approximately 150 acres of flood plain land would be committed to the action; cooling water would be drawn from and returned to the Mississippi. The plant would consume 2.5 million tons of coal per year; oxides of nitrogen and sulfur and particulate matter would be released. Fish and larvae may be lost on intake screens and in the cooling system. (approx. 400 pages) Comments made by: EPA, OEO, USDA, DOI, DOT, agencies of Illinois and Missouri, and concerned citizens. (ELR Order No. 00454) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0454-F)

Draft, March 15

Trident Wharf and Turning Basin, Port Canaveral, Fla., county: Brevard. The proposed project involves the construction of a new turning basin, the deepening of an existing harbor entrance channel, and the construction of a wharf and attendant facilities in order to serve Trident missile-carrying submarines. Approximately 12,600,000 cubic yards of spoil will be dredged. One hundred acres of terrestrial environment will be converted to marine environment; 156 acres of upland will be covered with spoil; 2.8 miles of Atlantic shoreline beach will be restored. There will be adverse impact upon marine biota. (199 pages) (ELR Order No. 00452) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0452-D)

Granite Reef Aqueduct, Ariz. The proposed project is a feature of the Central Arizona Project. The aqueduct and its pumping plants will convey water from Lake Havasu at Buckskin Mountains Tunnel, 182 miles southeast to the Central Arizona service area. An annual average of 1.1 million acre-feet will be pumped through the system for multiple-use purposes. This import of water will utilize the major portion of Arizona's remaining entitlement to Colorado River water. Approximately 8,900 acres will be committed to the project. ## NATIONAL PARK SERVICE

Draft, March 15

Moore's Creek National Military Park, N.C., county: Pender. The proposed action is the adjustment of the east, west, and north boundaries of the park, and the relocation of the present State highway around rather than through the park, in order to protect and interpret those areas of prime historical importance with the lands acquired. There will be displacement of one store and six residences. (28 pages) (ELR Order No. 00456) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0456-D)

Final, March 14

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., National Memorial Parkway, Wyo., county: Teton. The proposed action is the legislative designation of a corridor between Grand Teton and Yellowstone National Parks, along with connecting roads, as the John D. Rockefeller, Jr., National Memorial Parkway. The action will result in increased visitation, and the possible disturbance of wildlife. (51 pages). Comments made by: USDA, DOI, DOT, EPA, and one State agency. (ELR Order No. 00439) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0439-F)

FEDERAL HIGHWAY ADMINISTRATION

Draft, March 12

Safety Sound Estuary Bridge, Alaska. The statement refers to the proposed replacement of an existing ferry facility on the Nome-Council Highway. The 805-foot-long bridge and 900-foot-long causeway would provide passage across Safety Inlet. Two approaches to the bridge and causeway, 2,400 feet and 1,900 feet respectively, will tie the new facility to the existing road. Some turbidity and siltation will result from causeway construction. (13 pages) (ELR Order No. 00433) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0433-D)

Fifth Street Bridge (Kentucky 8), Ky., counties: Campbell and Kenton. The statement refers to the proposed construction of an additional bridge across the Licking River on Kentucky 8. The 0.4 mile facility will provide a one-way roadway for eastbound traffic between Covington and Newport. Adverse effects include displacement of residences and noise and air pollution. (59 pages) (ELR Order No. 00428) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0428-D)

U.S. Highway 30, Nebr., county: Hall. The statement refers to the proposed improvement and/or relocation of a segment of existing U.S. 30 and the extension of First Street in Grand Island. The purpose of the project is to provide a highway facility which will extend the present one-way system and merge the traffic on the one-way system through the Central Business District of Grand Island back into the two-directional traffic on U.S. 30. Adverse effects include acquisition of right of way and relocation impacts on wildlife. (28 pages) (ELR Order No. 00429) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0429-D)

Vermont Route 100, Vt., county: Lamoille. The proposed project is the reconstruction on new location of 1.8 miles of Route 100 to provide a bypass of the village of Morrisville. The highway will provide a two-lane facility and a new crossing of Lake Lamoille. Thirty-eight acres of agricultural land will be acquired for right of way; three residences, one commercial operation and a warehouse will be displaced. (110 pages) (ELR Order No. 00426) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0426-D)

State Route 93, Wis., county: Trempealeau. The proposed project is the reconstruction of 6 miles of Highway 93 from north of Elk Creek to the village of Eleva. Grading, placing of base course, and surfacing of the roadbed will be involved. One farm family will be displaced; 55 acres of crop, wood, and pastureland will be acquired for right of way. (10 pages) (ELR Order No. 00431) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0431-D)

Final, March 6

FAS Route 09, Ala., county: Clay. The statement refers to the proposed construction of approximately 500 feet of bridge over Crooked Creek and the Seaboard Coastline Railroad, with approximately 1,500 feet of approaches. The project is located on Federal Aid Secondary Route No. 09. Six acres of land will be committed to right of way. Unavoidable effects include inconvenience to the traveling public during construction. (28 pages) Comments made by: EPA, DOI, DOT, HUD, and State agencies. (ELR Order No. 00367) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0367-F)

U.S. 280, Ala., counties: Shelby and Talladega. The proposed project is the improvement of present two-lane U.S. 280 to a four-lane facility with a new bridge over the Coosa River. The facility will extend from Harpersville to Childersburg, a distance of 8.04 miles. Approximately 94 acres of land will be acquired for right of way; 18 families and six businesses will be displaced. Temporary inconvenience to traffic during construction, and its associated dust and noise are adverse effects of the action. (66 pages) Comments made by: EPA, DOD, HUD, DOI, USDA, HEW, State, and regional agencies. (ELR Order No. 00375) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0375-F)

Final, March 6

M-24 Extension, Michigan, counties: Tuscola and Huron. The statement refers to a corridor location study for the construction of a 15-mile extension to M-24. Approximately 150 acres of agricultural land and 150 acres of marginal wildlife habitat will be committed to right-of-way. Adverse effects will include loss of local tax base, displacement of residential and farm structures, disruption of surface drainage patterns, and erosion and sedimentation of existing watercourses. (122 pages) Comments made by: USDA, DOC, EPA, COE, DOI, DOT, State, and local agencies. (ELR Order No. 00374) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0374-F)

Final, March 5

U.S. 82, N. Mex., county: Eddy. The statement refers to the proposed upgrading of U.S. 82 from Artesia to Loco Hills, a distance of 25 miles. The facility will consist of two 12-foot driving lanes, two box culverts and a bridge across the Pecos River flood plain and a 386-foot bridge across the Pecos River. Adverse effects include displacement of three businesses, one individual, and five vacant structures; conversion of 19.9 acres of farmland and minor acreage of grazing land to right-of-way; and pollution and erosion during construction. (26 pages) Comments made by: USDA, COE, DOI, and State agencies. (ELR Order No. 00365) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0365-F)

Final, March 6

Bridge replacement for County Road No. 8, Ohio, county: Shelby. The statement refers to the proposed replacement of the bridge carrying County Road No. 8 over the Penn Central Railroad and the improvement of the approaches to the bridge. Three families will be displaced by the project; 3,849 acres of open space will be committed to road use. (48 pages) Comments made by: USDA, EPA, HUD, DOI, DOT, and State agencies. (ELR Order No. 00377) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0377-F)

State Route 3, Covington, Tenn., counties: Tipton and Lauderdale. The proposed project is the improvement of a 6.71-mile section of State Route 3 from Main Street in Covington to north of the Tipton-Lauderdale County line. The project consists of a four-lane facility throughout, and crosses three watercourses (Hatchie River, Town Creek, and a drainage ditch). Adverse effects include relocation of 12 families, loss of esthetic quality, siltation of water courses during construction, and increases in the emission of carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons. (68 pages) Comments made by: USDA, COE, EPA, DOI, TVA, and State agencies. (ELR Order No. 00376) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0376-F)

Reconstruction of Century Avenue (CTH "M"), Wisconsin, county: Dane. The statement refers to the proposed reconstruction of Century Avenue, also known as County Trunk Highway "M", in the city of Middleton, between U.S. Highway 12 and County Trunk Highway "Q". The action consists of replacing the existing two-lane roadway with four lanes, and widening two bridges crossing Pheasant Branch Creek. The 2.37-mile project will be constructed on existing alignment. Temporary erosion and siltation to Pheasant Branch Creek and an increase in the ambient noise level will occur. (31 pages) Comments made by: EPA, DOI, State, and regional agencies. (ELR Order No. 00368) (NTIS Order No. EIS 73 0368-F)

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[FCC 73-269]

FOREIGN LANGUAGE PROGRAMS Licensee Responsibility to Exercise Adequate Control

In the matter of licensee responsibility to exercise adequate control over foreign language programs.

Memorandum opinion and order. 1. The Commission has before it a request of the National Association of Broadcasters (NAB) filed September 8, 1971, in accordance with § 1.2 of the rules for a declaratory ruling "concerning acceptable modes of station operation in the foreign language programming area." (32 FR 5523.)

2. NAB seeks clarification of the Commission's policies regarding licensee knowledge of and control over foreign language programming in light of the Commission's public notice of March 30, 1967, 9 RR 2d, 1901, the Commission's rulings in various individual cases, and particularly, the language of the Hearing Examiner in his initial decision in "Trans America Broadcasting Corp.", 33 FCC 2d 606 (1970).

3. In the cited public notice we cautioned licensees to maintain adequate controls over foreign language programming, pointing out that in order to exercise such responsibility the licensee must have knowledge of the content of such broadcasts. We pointed out that certain procedures then being followed by some licensees were, in and of themselves, inadequate, i.e., permitting "only persons of established reputation for judgment and integrity to use their facilities; requiring submission in advance of English translations of copies of commercial announcements used in such programs; making recordings of all such broadcasts and retaining them for future reference." We stated further that,

Licensee responsibility requires that internal procedures be established and maintained to insure sufficient familiarity with the foreign languages to know what is being broadcast and whether it conforms to the station's policies and to requirements of the Commission's rules.

Failure of licensees to establish and maintain such control over foreign language programming will raise serious questions as to whether the station's operation serves the public interest, convenience, and necessity.

4. NAB contrasts this general language with a passage from the Hearing Examiner's initial decision in Trans America, supra, at page 620:

In particular, there must be assurance that the licensee will exercise real control over the foreign language programs which are broadcast over its facilities. This control must encompass a systematic and regular preaudit of all foreign language programs by a paid employee of the station who has demonstrated capability to understand the language involved.

NAB states that,

Several broadcast licensees have demonstrated to NAB that strict compliance with the FCC directive specified in the "Trans America" case effectively precludes continued broadcast of their foreign language programming and denies service to a significant segment of their audience which looks to this programming as their only real source of broadcast service. Yet, judged by a general standard of licensee responsibility for, and control over, programming, these licensees in the past have made more than scrupulous efforts to insure that their broadcasts in foreign languages are consistent with the public interest.

NAB does not deny "the clear responsibility of all licensees to maintain control over their programming," but it believes that "licensees fully aware and/or fully reminded of their duty with respect to specific subjects of programming are, in turn, fully capable on their own of establishing the appropriate and effective internal procedures demanded." NAB asserts that the propriety of the "self-determination" approach was recognized by the Commission itself in its report and order in Docket No. 18928, terminating a rule-making proceeding regarding telephone interview programs.

5. Petitioner contends that "several of the controls which the Commission has spelled out are really no controls at all; licensees are thus bound to implement a set of awkward and costly procedures which in fact still don't create any greater protection against programming problems." It asks what insurance there is that a person paid to monitor a foreign language program is any more or less trustworthy than the individual presenting the program, and states that "a thorough background check on a particular performer or announcer and a determination of his reliability is worth more than a routine hiring of someone who simply speaks the language in question" and that "This is all the more true when the performer or announcer is a paid station employee himself." NAB further states that the problem of program content "is evidenced more frequently in English programming than in programming presented in a foreign language." Accordingly, NAB believes "the Commission should relegate the matter of control over foreign language programming to the same general status of the well established treatment licensees are expected to give all programming * * *

6. Specifically, NAB objects to a requirement that all foreign language programming be monitored or preaudited by a paid employee with a demonstrated capability to understand the language involved. It believes "stations should be permitted to use their own regular employees in foreign language programming without the need for additional monitors." When a foreign language program is presented by a nonemployee, NAB asserts use of a monitor should not be required (1) "where a thorough background check of the performing individual(s) has been undertaken, (2) the station is satisfied with his judgment and integrity and has apprised the person of the station's policies and the FCC requirements and (3) has received from the performer a certification that his presentation contains no improper material." If a background check is not possible or the FCC will not accept the above-proposed arrangement, NAB states that "a station should be permitted to use as a monitor any individual with a demonstrated capability to understand the language involved, whether he be a paid employee or not, so long as he is of known good character, has been apprised of the station's policies and the requirements of the Commission's rules, and certifies as to the propriety of the foreign language broadcast which he has monitored." NAB concludes that,

Overall, a relaxation of the apparent Commission policy on foreign language programming control would return to the air a needed and highly valuable type of program matter upon which so many individuals newly arrived to this country depend.

DISCUSSION

7. We agree that a clarification of our policies in this area is desirable, in view of the apparent (and perhaps understandable) confusion among some licensees as to their responsibilities, and of some of the arguments set forth in NAB's petition—most particularly that as the result of some licensees' understanding of our requirements, broadcast service to persons unfamiliar with the English language has been seriously curtailed. It should be noted initially that we have never held or implied that foreign-language programming should be denied when a demonstrable need for it exists. Thus, the Review Board in "La Fiesta Broadcasting Co.", 6 FCC 2d 65 (1965), found in a comparative proceeding that an applicant which proposed to broadcast all-Spanish-language programming was entitled to a preference in satisfying demonstrated needs over another which proposed only part-Spanish-language programming, on the basis of a showing of an unfulfilled need for Spanish-language programming. Moreover, as set forth in our Programming Policy Statement, 25 FR 7291, 7295, one of the major elements usually necessary to meet the needs of the community is "Service to Minority Groups," and from the earliest days of regulation the FCC and the FCC have commended broadcasters for foreign language programming designed to serve the needs of minority groups in their communities. Johnson-Kennedy Radio Corp., (WJKS), Docket No. 1156, affirmed sub nom "F.R.C. v. Nelson Bros. Co.," 289 U.S. 266, 270-71 (1933); United States Broadcasting Corp., 2 FCC 208, 233 (1935).

8. The desirability of foreign-language program service does not, however, relieve the broadcaster of his responsibility for his programming, which in turn necessarily depends upon his adoption of reasonable procedures for assuring himself that the programming conforms to his policies and the requirements of the law. We cannot carve out in this area a special exception to licensee responsibility. Rather, our task is to set forth policies and to suggest certain procedures for implementation of them which will substantially assure exercise of licensee responsibility, while at the same time seeking to avoid imposition of unnecessary burdens.

9. We begin by reaffirming the general policy set forth in our public notice, supra, including our conclusion that certain procedures upon which some licensees were relying for knowledge of and control over foreign language programming appeared, in and of themselves, to be inadequate. For the same reasons, we must reject some of the contentions of the petitioner here: e.g., that a "background check" of a performer would assure licensee control and that letting a performer monitor his own program would be as efficacious as arranging for another party to monitor it. Nor do we agree with NAB that our termination of the proposed rule making in Docket No. 18928 is precedent for the requested relief sought. The proposed rules would not have required greater licensee knowledge of or control over what was being broadcast in telephone interview programs; rather, they would have required the licensee to obtain (but not broadcast) the names of persons who called in, and to retain such names, as well as recordings of the programs, for 15 days in order that they might be inspected or audited by "interested parties," e.g., persons attacked by anonymous callers.

10. Although we reaffirm our policy statement of 1967, we believe in light of NAB's petition and numerous inquiries the Commission itself has received as to interpretation of that statement, that amplification of it is in order. First, we disavow any requirement that every foreign language broadcast be preaudited by a paid, outside monitor. In many cases, such programs are broadcast by regular employees of the stations—employees who are familiar with statutory requirements and the Commission's rules and policies on program matters, as well as the licensee's own policies, and who have demonstrated such knowledge to the licensee as well as their own responsibility. This does not mean, of course, that the licensee can disclaim responsibility for the content of such broadcast by employees any more than he can disclaim responsibility for violations by his English-language announcers.

11. Moreover, we think that, so long as the licensee recognizes his responsibility for overall adherence to the statutes, rules and Commission policies, and has fully familiarized those using his facilities with them and station policies, the licensee could conclude that he need not engage an outside monitor to listen to and report on every broadcast by a nonemployee in a language with which no employee of the licensee is familiar. Unless the licensee has reason to suspect that the nonemployee is violating the requirements of the licensee and the Commission, he may, for example, arrange for an outside monitor to listen to, and report to the licensee on such broadcasts on a spot basis, choosing broadcasts at random—for example, one or more broadcasts a week of a daily program and one or more a month of a weekly program. It is, of course, assumed that the outside monitor has been made familiar with the licensee's policies and the Commission's requirements with respect to the programming; e.g., obscenity, personal attacks, the fairness doctrine, broadcast of false or misleading advertising, lottery information, fraudulent schemes, equal opportunities for political candidates, the licensee's limitations on total commercial content, sponsorship identification. On the other hand, a licensee could reasonably conclude that more stringent precautions are required to carry out his public trust.

12. As for NAB's contention that there is no assurance that a person paid to monitor a program is any more trustworthy than the individual presenting the program, we believe it is obvious that a third party, independent of the performer and responsible only to the licensee, is likely to be a more reliable source of information regarding violations than the performer himself. Many foreign-language programs are broadcast by independent time-brokers, who buy time in blocks from the station, sell their own advertising, and produce their own programs. Thus, there may be a basic conflict of interest between the time-broker's tendency to increase his income by accepting false or misleading commercials, for example, and his duty to observe the Commission's and the licensee's policies. Similarly, the Commission has discovered over the years many instances in which time-brokers were devoting more of their broadcast time to commercials than the licensee's policy permitted; also instances in which brokers have sold time to competing political candidates at different rates, or at higher than regular commercial rates, in violation of the statute and the Commission's rules. Thus, mere reliance on a foreign-language broadcaster who is not a station employee to report his own violations to the licensee obviously would not be likely to assure licensee exercise of his responsibilities.

13. NAB also apparently objects to a condition that outside monitors be paid. We will not lay down a flat requirement that the monitors be paid, but it has been our experience in many cases that where monitors are not paid by the licensee they do not regularly monitor and report on the programs; in fact, in most cases coming to our attention, the device of unpaid, voluntary monitors has proved to be a sham. We do not rule, however, that there may not be circumstances in which an unpaid monitor would serve as efficiently and responsibly as one who is paid. We merely point out that it is the licensee's responsibility to assure that his and the Commission's requirements are complied with in his programming, and that if unpaid monitors are used, the licensee should take special precautions to assure himself that his purpose in engaging a monitor is being fulfilled.

14. In the foregoing paragraphs, we have suggested some guidelines for the licensee, and have tried to make clear that although some procedures have proven inadequate for that purpose, we do not intend to lay down any rigid formula for achievement of it. It is clear that a licensee cannot insure operation in the public interest unless he has a familiarity with the content of his programs; for example, he cannot provide suitable access to ideas, opinions, and information of public importance if he has no such familiarity, nor can he comply with the fairness doctrine, personal attack rules, or any of the other requirements of the statute or the Commission's rules and policies. However, as we stated in Wolfe Broadcasting Corp., 32 FCC 2d 761, 763 (1971):

[W]e believe it would be administratively impossible to determine for each licensee who presents foreign language programming, whether or not the internal procedures he has implemented to exercise proper control are "required," unnecessarily stringent, or "reasonable" in light of all the factors involved. Certainly the individual licensee is in a far better position than we to assess his problems and requirements in this area. Again, we state that, absent substantial extrinsic evidence of intentional abuse, our only legitimate concern can be whether the procedures followed allow a broadcaster to maintain sufficient control over his programming.

15. Thus, while again reminding licensees of their responsibility in this matter and pointing out some methods of exercising this responsibility which have in our experience proved effective and others which have proved ineffective, we still leave to the licensee the determination of what particular procedures are in his case necessary to the exercise of proper control over programming.

16. Accordingly, the request of the National Association of Broadcasters is to the extent reflected above granted and, in certain respects, as also indicated above, is denied.

Adopted: March 7, 1973.

Released: March 13, 1973.

NOTICES

[Dockets Nos. 19709, 19710; FCC 73-295]
RADIO GENEVA, INC., AND BUCCANEER BROADCASTING LTD.*Order Designating Applications on Consolidated Hearing on Stated Issues

In regard applications of Radio Geneva, Inc., Geneva, N.Y., requests: 101.7 MHz, No. 269A; 3 kW (H & V); 222 feet. Docket No. 19709, File No. BPH-7645; Buccaneer Broadcasting Ltd., Geneva, N.Y., requests: 101.7 MHz, No. 269A; 3 kW (H & V); 125 feet, Docket No. 19710, File No. BPH-7821; for construction permits.

1. The Commission has before it the captioned applications which are mutually exclusive in that operation by the applicants as proposed would result in mutually destructive interference. Therefore, a comparative hearing is required to determine which of the applications should be granted.

2. Based on cost estimates contained in its application, Buccaneer Broadcasting Ltd. (Buccaneer), will require $48,983 to construct and operate the proposed station for 1 year. To meet this requirement, Buccaneer relies on $3,295 in cash, a $10,000 bank loan, an $11,000 loan from Bogart Plumbing and Heating Co., Inc., and $25,120 in anticipated advertising revenues. Although Buccaneer has established the availability of $24,295 in cash and loans, it has not adequately documented the availability of the $25,120 in anticipated advertising revenues.

3. In "Ultravision Broadcasting Company," 1 FCC 2d 544, 547 (1965), we instituted a policy of requiring each applicant for commercial broadcast facilities to demonstrate its financial ability to construct and operate its proposed station for 1 year. We further stated that if an applicant relies on expected advertising revenues to meet its first-year costs, it must submit a convincing evidentiary showing that revenues are, in fact, available. Buccaneer has submitted 14 agreements, all of which are presented on identical standard forms with appended standard conditions, by which potential advertisers appear to agree to purchase up to $25,120 of advertising once Buccaneer's proposed station is on the air. After careful scrutiny of these agreements, however, we find that they are too conditional to demonstrate the availability of any significant amount of advertising revenues for Buccaneer's proposed station. Six of the agreements indicate that they may be canceled at any time. In addition, the standard conditions include a provision which allows any advertiser to terminate its commitment to buy advertising time by giving written notice of cancellation within 28 days after Buccaneer is on the air. Furthermore, most of the commitments are for broadcasts of less than 5 minutes' duration. For these latter broadcasts, the standard form permits an advertiser to terminate its commitment by giving written notice of cancellation within 14 days after broadcasts under the agreement have begun. These conditions and ambiguities pertaining to the duration of the agreements leave the actual amount of advertising to be purchased in considerable doubt. In view of the foregoing, we find that Buccaneer has not established the validity of its estimated advertising revenues. Thus, since Buccaneer has not established the availability of sufficient funds to meet its first-year costs, appropriate financial issues will be specified.

*Buccaneer's first-year costs consist of the following: Down payment on equipment, $4,341; first-year equipment payments, $3,580; remodeling and lease payments, $2,500; interest on bank loan, $900; miscellaneous expenses, $3,000; and working capital, $34,662.

4. In their original applications, Radio Geneva, Inc. (Radio Geneva), and Buccaneer filed for authority to construct an FM broadcast station on Channel 272A, which was then allocated to Geneva. At that time, both applicants complied with our spacing requirements (§ 73.207(a) of the rules). Subsequently, in our report and order in Docket No. 19244 (RM-1632), adopted March 23, 1972, we allocated Channel 272A to Canandaigua, N.Y., and assigned Channel 269A to Geneva. Radio Geneva and Buccaneer later amended their applications to specify operation on Channel 269A. The transmitter sites of both Geneva applicants are approximately 14 miles from the current reference point in Canandaigua instead of the 15 miles required by our spacing rules. Section 73.207(a) requires that applicants for new FM broadcast stations must meet certain specified spacing limitations in regard to proposed and existing stations, while § 73.208 (b) of our rules requires an applicant for a new FM station to meet the spacing requirements of § 73.207(a) with respect to specific reference points in communities if the channels allocated there are not assigned to stations. Thus, we note that although the Geneva applicants are short spaced to the current reference point in Canandaigua, they are more than the required 15 miles from the transmitter site proposed by Canandaigua Broadcasting Co., Inc., the only present applicant for Channel 272A in Canandaigua (File No. BPH-7950). In addition, the transmitter site proposed in the Canandaigua application is more than the required 15 miles from the reference point in Geneva. Moreover, engineering studies indicate that if some other applicant should apply for Channel 272A in Canandaigua, there would be a considerable number of areas where another site could be selected which would not involve short spacings with the Geneva reference point or the sites proposed in the two Geneva applications.

Radio Geneva requested a waiver of § 73.207 of our rules in the event that we did not approve and authorize a site for Channel 272A in Canandaigua which met the required mileage separation to Radio Geneva's proposed site. Since Canandaigua Broadcasting Co., Inc.'s application for an FM construction permit in Canandaigua has not yet been granted, we find that a waiver of § 73.207(a) of our rules is warranted with respect to both Geneva applicants.* A waiver in this instance would preserve the integrity of our spacing requirements since no de facto short spacing is likely to occur. Any future applicants for Channel 272A in Canandaigua must propose transmitter sites which are at least 15 miles from each of the Geneva applicants' transmitter sites. In light of this fact, the apparent availability of such sites, and the slight amount of short spacing between the current Canandaigua reference point and the Geneva applicants' transmitter sites, the provisions of § 73.207 will be waived for both applicants.

5. Except as indicated by the issues specified below, the applicants are qualified to construct and operate as proposed. However, because the proposals are mutually exclusive, they must be designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding.

6. Accordingly, it is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309(e) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding, at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order, upon the following issues:

1. To determine, with respect to the application of Buccaneer Broadcasting, Ltd.:

(a) Whether the applicant can demonstrate the availability of advertising revenues in the amount of $25,000, and if not, whether the applicant has available other sources of funds to meet its requirements;

(b) Whether, in light of the evidence adduced under the preceding issue, the applicant is financially qualified.

2. To determine which of the proposals would, on a comparative basis, better serve the public interest.

3. To determine, in light of the evidence adduced pursuant to the foregoing issues, which of the applications for construction permit should be granted.

7. It is further ordered, That the request of Radio Geneva, Inc., for waiver of § 73.207(a) of the rules is granted; and that on our own motion, § 73.207(a) of the rules is waived with respect to Buccaneer Broadcasting, Ltd.'s application.

8. It is further ordered, That the applicants shall file a written appearance stating an intention to appear and present evidence on the specified issues, within the time and in the manner required by § 1.221(c) of our rules.

9. It is further ordered, That the applicants shall give notice of the hearing within the time and in the manner specified in § 1.594 of the rules, and shall *Sec. 73.208(b) provides that, in licensing proceedings, station separations shall be determined by the coordinates of authorized transmitter sites where such sites exist. Thus, the current Canandaigua reference point would not be considered under our spacing rules if Canandaigua Broadcasting Co., Inc., had an FM construction permit. Furthermore, as explained previously, Canandaigua Broadcasting Co., Inc.'s proposed transmitter site is not short spaced with the transmitter site of either Geneva applicant.

seasonably file the statement required by § 1.594(g).

DIALER DEVICES ADVISORY SUBCOMMITTEE*Notice of Public Meeting

MARCH 20, 1973.

In accordance with Public Law 92-463, announcement is made of a public meeting of the Dialer Devices Advisory Subcommittee of the Dialer and Answering Advisory Committee to be held April 17 and 18, 1973, at the Executive House Hotel, 71 East Wacker, Chicago, IL. The meeting will commence at 10:30 a.m.

1. Purpose. The purpose of this Subcommittee is to prepare recommended standards and procedures to the FCC, in order to permit the interconnection of customer provided dialer devices to the public switched network without the need for carrier provided connecting arrangements.

2. Activities. As at prior meetings, subcommittee members and observers present their suggestions and recommendations regarding the various technical criteria and standards that should be considered with respect to the interconnection of dialer devices to the public telephone network. Subcommittee members include representatives of the Federal Government, State regulatory bodies, manufacturers, carriers, and users.

3. Agenda. The agenda for the April 17 and 18, 1973, meeting will be as follows:

1. Review of enforcement procedures.
2. Review of equipment standards.
3. Review of quality control.
4. Plan future work.

MARCH 20, 1973.

In accordance with Public Law 92-463, announcement is made of a public meeting of the Dialer Devices Ad Hoc Task Group to be held April 2 and 3, 1973. The Task Group will meet at the Executive House, 71 East Wacker, Chicago, IL, at 10:30 a.m.

1. Purposes. The purpose of the Dialer Devices Subcommittee is to prepare recommended standards and procedures for submission to the FCC, in order to permit the interconnection of dialer devices to the public switched network without the need for carrier provided connecting arrangements. The purpose of the Ad Hoc Task Group is to prepare recommended procedures for review and approval by the Dialer Devices Subcommittee.

2. Activities. The Ad Hoc Task Group will prepare a recommended draft of procedures and enforcement to the Dialer Devices Subcommittee.

3. Agenda. The agenda for the April 2 and 3, meeting will be as follows:

- a. Review of Procedures and Enforcement Document PED-12.
- b. Review anticipated submission on procedures, administration, records, and reporting procedures.
- c. Review enforcement criteria and/or submission.

Dockets Nos.	Date filed	Name of applicant	Action
E-7832	10-20-72	Central Maine Power Co.	Applicant files July 1, 1971, agreement between Central Maine Power Co. and Bangor Hydro-Electric Co., providing for the sale of a portion of Central Maine's power purchases from the New England Power Co. and Connecticut Light & Power Co. to Bangor Hydro-Electric. The arrangement also includes a transmission agreement with the Public Service Company of New Hampshire. This rate filing covers the terms for billing purposes over the life of the contract from July 1, 1971, to Apr. 30, 1972.
E-8000	12-1-72	Iowa Public Service Co.	Applicant files Oct. 29, 1971, agreement between Corn Belt Power Cooperative and Iowa Public Service Co., supplementing the Nov. 2, 1961, interchange agreement between the companies, designated Iowa Public Service Co. Rate Schedule FPC No. 16, to the extent of providing an additional point of interconnection on Iowa Public Service Co.'s Blackhawk-Fort Dodge 161 kv. transmission line near Fort Dodge, Iowa. This 6th supplement to interchange agreement also eliminates the monthly carrying charges presently being paid by Iowa Public Service Co. to Corn Belt Power Cooperative for facilities provided by Corn Belt in the first and second supplement to interchange agreement.
E-8037	2-16-73	Duke Power Co.	Applicant files Jan. 29, 1973, supplement to Duke Power Co.'s electric power contract with South Carolina Electric & Gas Co., designated Duke Power Co. Rate Schedule FPC No. 197. The supplement provides for a temporary delivery point, to be put into service Mar. 21, 1973, for approximately 1 year, and abandoned thereafter.
E-8040	2-20-73	Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.	Applicant files Dec. 29, 1972, Rock Tavern Substation Agreement between Central Hudson and Consolidated Edison Company of New York, providing for the installation, operation, and maintenance by Central Hudson of certain substation facilities for the sole use and benefit of Con Edison. The agreement provides for an effective date of Sept. 1, 1972.

E-8047	2-26-73	Arizona Public Service Co.	Applicant filed Nov. 1, 1972, Amendment No. 1 to the wholesale power supply agreement between Arizona Public Service Co. and the Navajo tribe of Indians, designated Arizona Public Service Co. Rate Schedule FPC No. 6. This amendment permits the tribe to commingle power and energy purchased from the Colorado River Storage Project with power and energy purchased from Arizona Public Service at a point near Kayenta, Ariz. The amendment provides the procedure to determine the quantities of power and energy delivered by Arizona Public Service at Four Corners for the Kayenta delivery point, and is to take effect Dec. 1, 1972, retroactively.
E-8049	2-26-73	Wisconsin Public Service Corp.	Applicant filed Feb. 22, 1973, interconnection and emergency energy agreement between Consolidated Water Power Co. and Wisconsin Public Service Corp. The new agreement, effective Apr. 1, 1973, revises and replaces in its entirety the Aug. 1, 1967, agreement between the parties, and amendments and supplements thereto, designated Wisconsin Public Service Corp. Rate Schedule FPC No. 23 and Consolidated Water Power Co. Rate Schedule FPC No. 1.
E-8061	2-26-73	Virginia Electric & Power Co.	Applicant filed Dec. 4, 1972, contract supplement between Virginia Electric & Power Co. and Mecklenburg County, Va., to be designated Clarksville Delivery Point upon the projected connection date in April 1973. The Clarksville Delivery Point replaces the Buffalo Delivery Point established by Virginia Electric & Power Co. Rate Schedule FPC No. 79-20, dated Apr. 10, 1970.
E-8064	12-18-72	Washington Water Power Co.	Applicant filed seven amendatory agreements which revise transfer limits of parent agreements under Washington Water Power Co. Rate Schedule FPC No. 40. The revisions reasonably reflect load requirements, and affect the following recipients of service: Kootenai R.E.A., Lincoln Electric Cooperative, Idaho-Country Light & Power Association, Northern Lights, Inland Power & Light Co., and Clearwater Power Co.

BANGOR HYDRO-ELECTRIC CO.
Notice of Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 20, 1973.

Take notice that Bangor Hydro-Electric Co. (Bangor), on February 11, 1972, filed proposed changes in its FPC Rate Schedules 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, and 7. The proposed effective date was March 1, 1972, and the company requested waiver of the notice requirement. By letter of March 17, 1972, the Secretary requested that certain deficiencies in Bangor's filing be corrected, and on February 26, 1973, Bangor refiled its application. The refiled application requests that Rate Schedule No. 6 be canceled. The proposed changes would increase by $15,357.13 revenues from jurisdictional sales and service based on a volume of sales for the 12-month period preceding March 1972. The proposed rate change is described in the company's transmittal letter as being necessary to meet increased operating costs. Bangor proposes an effective date of May 1, 1973.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before April 3, 1973. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

[Docket No. E-7918]

CAROLINA POWER AND LIGHT CO.

Order Approving Proposed Settlement and Instituting Investigation

MARCH 12, 1973.

On December 18, 1972, Carolina Power and Light Co. (Carolina), filed a proposed increase in rates to its municipal and private utility customers. Notice of this filing was issued on January 10, 1973, with comments due on January 30, 1973. A petition to intervene was filed on January 29, 1973, by Electricities of North Carolina (Electricities), representing 24 of the 26 municipal customers of Carolina affected by the proposed increase. No other protests or petitions to intervene have been filed.

On February 1, 1973, Carolina filed a motion requesting a 30-day suspension in this proceeding and indicated that Carolina and Electricities intended to file a proposed settlement agreement in this proceeding. The proposed settlement agreement (Agreement) with an accompanying cost of service was filed on February 2, 1973. Public notice of the proposed settlement agreement was issued on February 6, 1973, with comments due February 26, 1973.

By order issued February 16, 1973, we suspended the proposed increase for 30 days, acknowledging the fact that Carolina had filed the motion and settlement. The proposed Agreement would reduce the amount of the proposed increase from the $2,889,015, or a percentage increase of 13.3 percent to $2,243,630, or an increase of 10.4 percent, based on 1971 billing data. The proposed Agreement would reduce Carolina's indicated rate of return from the affected customers from 7.73 percent to 7.28 percent. The changes in the proposed rates consist of reductions in the demand and energy charges and elimination of the Reactive KVA charge of 10 cents.

The Commission Staff filed its comments on February 26, 1973, in which the Staff concurred in the Agreement and recommended its adoption by the Commission. No other comments were filed.

Staff, in its comments, pointed out that the Agreement contained a moratorium provision which prevents Carolina from unilaterally changing the Agreement rates until January 1, 1975. Staff noted that this moratorium coincided with the moratorium presently in effect between Carolina and its cooperatives as a result of a settlement in Docket No. E-7564.

We have previously stated that moratorium provisions may not be in the public interest. (Illinois Power Co., Docket No. E-7806, order issued December 29, 1972.) Such provisions would appear to be the equivalent of fixed rate contracts, albeit for a limited term. (cf.

Philadelphia Electric Co., Docket No. E-7795, ordered issued January 4, 1973.) While moratorium provisions are commonly included in settlement proposals and, furthermore, appear to be a positive inducement to settlement, our policy in favor of settlements must be balanced against the positive public interest considerations inherent in the Commission's maintenance of continuous surveillance of wholesale rates. Since the moratorium contained in this settlement is of unusually long duration, it is proper that the justness and reasonableness of such provision should be further investigated.

Finally, we note that the availability clause of Carolina's proposed tariff contains a provision which might not be in the public interest. The clause provides that service under Rate Schedule RS-9B is available " * * * for use and resale to its ultimate consumers by a private or municipal utility." This clause, on its face, appears to prevent further wholesaling of the purchased power and thereby limits the customers' use of power purchased under Rate schedule RS-9B. In the investigation instituted herein, Carolina will be expected to show how this clause is not anticompetitive and that it is in the public interest.

The record in this case consists of the original filing of Carolina, the filed Agreement and accompanying cost of service, and Staff's comments.

Based on our review of the terms and provisions of the Agreement, and the cost of service which accompanied the Agreement (Appendices A and B), we conclude that the proposed Agreement provides a reasonable and appropriate resolution of the issues herein and that the public interest will be served by our approval of the settlement.

With respect to the moratorium and the availability clause we will, however, institute an investigation under section 206 of the Federal Power Act to determine whether or not the moratorium and the availability clause contained in the Agreement is in the public interest.

The Commission finds:

(1) The settlement of these proceedings on the basis of the Agreement as filed on February 2, 1973, and subject to the terms and conditions of this order is reasonable and proper in the public interest in carrying out the provisions of the Federal Power Act, and should be approved and made effective as herein-after provided.

(2) The rate increase granted in this case has been reviewed in light of and is consistent with the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 as amended, Executive Order 11695, and the rules and regulations issued thereunder.

(3) An investigation under section 206 of the Federal Power Act should be ordered to determine whether the moratorium provision and availability clause contained in the Agreement is in the public interest.

The Commission orders:

(A) The Settlement Agreement submitted by Carolina on February 2, 1973, is incorporated herein by reference, and is approved and made effective, subject to the terms and conditions of this order, as of March 1, 1973.

(B) Carolina shall fully comply with each of the provisions of the Agreement and the terms and conditions of this order.

(C) On or before April 11, 1973, Carolina shall file revised tariff sheets conforming to the terms and conditions of the Agreement.

(D) In view of our approval of the Agreement the procedures set forth in our order of February 16, 1973, are hereby canceled.

(E) This order is without prejudice to any findings or orders which have been made, or may hereafter be made, by the Commission, and is without prejudice to any claims or contentions which may be made by the Commission, its Staff, or any other party or person affected by this order, in any proceeding now pending or hereafter instituted by or against Carolina Power and Light Co., or any other person or party.

(F) An investigation into the justness and reasonableness of the moratorium provision and the availability clause contained in the Agreement is hereby instituted under section 206 of the Federal Power Act. Those parties wishing to file testimony and exhibits supporting or opposing these provisions shall file such testimony and exhibits on or before April 3, 1973. Cross examination of the testimony and exhibits filed shall take place on April 24, 1973, before a Presiding Administrative Law Judge, to be designated by the Chief Administrative Law Judge (see Delegation of Authority, 18 CFR 3.5(d)), beginning at 10 a.m., e.s.t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426.

(G) The Secretary shall cause prompt publication of this order to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

[SEAL] KENNETH F. PLUMB,
Secretary.

necessity pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act by authorizing Michigan Wisconsin to continue for 1 year the storage and related transportation service for Northern Natural Gas Co. (Northern), and Natural Gas Pipeline Company of America (Natural), all as more fully set forth in the subject petition which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

Take further notice that on March 8, 1973, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. (Consolidated), 1 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, MI 48226, filed in Docket No. CP72-278 a petition pursuant to section 1(c) of the Natural Gas Act to amend the Commission's order issued October 2, 1972, in said docket to continue Consolidated's exemption from the provisions of the Natural Gas Act, all as more fully set forth in said petition which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The order of October 2, 1972, among other things, authorized Michigan Wisconsin to render for 1 year a transportation and related underground natural gas storage service for Natural and Northern. During off-peak periods in 1972, Michigan Wisconsin received, transported, and stored a total of 2,800,000 Mcf of gas for Northern and 5,800,000 Mcf of gas for Natural. Michigan Wisconsin redelivered equivalent volumes during the period November 1972, through February 1973. Incident thereto, Michigan Wisconsin arranged for storage of the gas by Consolidated. Said order, in connection with the implementation of these arrangements, continued Consolidated's exemption under section 1(c) of the Natural Gas Act and excused said company from the Commission's accounting and reporting requirements.

Northern and Natural have requested Michigan Wisconsin to continue the transportation and storage service for a 1-year period and Consolidated states that it has the temporary ability to provide the required storage capacity. Michigan Wisconsin states that the continued service will have the effect of converting off-peak gas supplies to winter high end-use utilization by the customers of Northern and Natural and will thus assist Northern and Natural in meeting the requirements of their customers for the 1973-74 heating season. No additional facilities are required for the proposed continued service.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said petitions to amend should, on or before April 13, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) and the regulations under the Natural Gas Act (18 CFR 157.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to the proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 20, 1973.

Take notice that on March 12, 1973, Northern Natural Gas Co. (Northern), tendered for filing revised tariff sheets, Original Volume No. 2, First Revised Sheet Nos. 440 and 443. Northern states that the sheets are being filed to effectuate an increase in the rate for Rate Schedule X-32 of its PPC Gas Tariff from 33 cents per Mcf to 34.19 cents per Mcf. The proposed effective date is February 27, 1973. Northern states that the 1.19 cents increase represents the estimated increase in its average cost of purchased gas, per Mcf of gas sales volumes for the year 1973. Northern requests the Commission to waive the notice requirements of 18 CFR 154.22. Northern also states that a copy of this filing has been mailed to Southern Union Gas Co.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). All such petitions or protests should be filed on or before April 6, 1973. Protests will be considered by the Commission in determining the appropriate action to be taken, but will not serve to make protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party must file a petition to intervene. Copies of this application are on file with the Commission and are available for public inspection.

NORTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

Notice of Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 20, 1973.

Take notice that on March 12, 1973, Northern Natural Gas Co. (Northern), tendered for filing amended Tariff Sheets, Original Volume No. 2, Substitute Original Sheet Nos. 442, 454, and 455, Second Substitute Original Sheet Nos. 440 and 443. Northern states that Substitute Original Sheet Nos. 440 and 443 were submitted for filing by letter of February 16, 1973, for the purpose of increasing the rate from 27 cents per Mcf to 33 cents. The February 16 filing is currently pending in Docket RP73-83. Northern states that these sheets are being resubmitted at this time for the purpose of requesting a waiver of 18 CFR 154.22 to permit these tariff sheets to become effective December 26, 1972, and with regard to Sheet No. 440 to indicate maximum volumes of 536,000 Mcf. Northern also states that Sheets Nos. 454 and 455 are being tendered for filing at this time to provide for new Delivery Stations. Northern further states that a copy of this filing was mailed to Southern Union Gas Co.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said application should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). ## PACIFIC POWER &amp; LIGHT CO.

Notice of Proposed Changes in Rates and Charges

MARCH 19, 1973.

Take notice that Pacific Power & Light Co. (Pacific), on February 12, 1973, tendered for filing an executed sales agreement between Pacific and Southern California Edison Co. (Edison), dated January 29, 1973, to become effective February 1, 1973. Services will be rendered to Edison under Pacific's "Wholesale Non-Firm Energy Rates Tariff" filed October 31, 1972, in this docket.

Any person desiring to be heard or to protest said filing should file a petition to intervene or protest with the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426, in accordance with §§ 1.8 and 1.10 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8, 1.10). ## PHILADELPHIA ELECTRIC CO.

Accepting for Filing and Suspending Tended Filing; Consolidation of Proceedings; Hearing; and Submission of Updated Cost Data

MARCH 19, 1973.

On January 19, 1973, Philadelphia Electric Co. (PE), tendered for filing a Notice of Cancellation<sup>1</sup> of Rate Schedule FPC No. 24 which provides for service to the Borough of Lansdale (Lansdale) up to 8,000 kw. demand, to become effective March 20, 1973. Concurrently with the cancellation, PE proposes that the terms of the Supplemental Rate Schedule filed October 24, 1972, for demand greater than 8,000 kw.<sup>2</sup> be made effective for all of Lansdale's service from PE, thereby effecting an increase in rates of approximately $229,122 based upon the test year ended December 31, 1971, as adjusted.

The instant filing was noticed on February 22, 1973. On March 12, 1973, Lansdale filed a "Protest, Motion to Reject and Petition to Intervene." In support of its motion to reject, Lansdale incorporates by reference its objections to the original filing of PE's Supplemental Rate Schedule on October 24, 1972, in Docket No. E-7795 which requested rejection of such filing as a violation of the Mobile-Sierra doctrine. Lansdale also alleges that PE's filing does not comply with § 35.13 of the Commission's regulations under the Federal Power Act since it incorporates by reference cost data filed by PE on May 1, 1972, in Docket No. E-7726 and on October 24, 1972, in Docket No. E-7795 which is based on the test year 1971, as adjusted. Alternatively, Lansdale requests that the Commission suspend the proposed rate increase for 5 months, consolidate the proceeding with Docket No. E-7795 and set new dates for hearing.

Our review of Lansdale's pleadings indicates that rejection of the filing is not justified. Lansdale's Mobile-Sierra arguments were answered in our order issued January 4, 1973, in Docket No. E-7795 and require no further discussion in this order. However, our review of the filing indicates that certain issues are raised which require development in evidentiary proceedings. The proposed rates and charges have not been shown to be justified and may be unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory, preferential, or otherwise unlawful. Moreover, the fact that certain issues of law and fact in this proceeding are substantially the same in Docket No. E-7795 makes it appropriate that the filing in Docket No. E-7989 be suspended for 1 day until March 21, 1973, subject to refund, and consolidated with the proceedings in Docket No. E-7795 for purposes of hearing and decision.

NOTICES

Finally, so that the Commission will have a full, complete, and up-to-date record on all of the issues presented we shall require PE to submit cost and revenue data for calendar year 1972 in both parts of this consolidated proceeding. In this connection we would point out that our caveat on page 7 in Duke Power Company, Opinion No. 641 in Docket No. E-7557, is particularly appropriate, wherein we stated:

"... our filing requirements are not to be construed as a limitation on evidence which may be proffered as an aid to us in determining just and reasonable rates. All evidentiary material relevant to a fair determination of cost and revenue expectations may be appropriately presented in filings before us.

In view of this action, we will extend the present service and hearing dates set in Docket No. E-7795 as noted below. The Commission finds:

It is reasonable and appropriate in the public interest and to aid in the enforcement of the Federal Power Act that:

(1) PE's filing be accepted for filing, suspended, and the use thereof deferred as hereinafter provided.

(2) The Commission enter upon a hearing concerning the lawfulness of the rates and charges contained in PE's filing.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Federal Power Act, including sections 205, 308, and 309 thereof, the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, and the regulations under the Federal Power Act, a public hearing shall be held concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges, classifications, and services contained in PE's filing.

(B) Dockets Nos. E-7989 and E-7795 are hereby consolidated for purposes of hearing and decision.

(C) Pending hearing and a final decision in these consolidated proceedings, PE's filing is hereby accepted for filing, suspended, and the use thereof deferred until March 21, 1973.

(D) Lansdale's motion to reject is hereby denied.

(E) PE's Supplemental Rate Schedule filed October 24, 1972, in Docket No. E-7795 is hereby redesignated Rate Schedule FPC No. 38 and the revised fuel adjustment clause filed on January 2, 1973, in Docket No. E-7795 is hereby redesignated as Supplement No. 1 thereto, effective March 21, 1973.

(F) On or before May 1, 1973, PE shall file cost and revenue data for the 1972 calendar year. Staff and intervenors will serve their prepared testimony and exhibits on or before June 12, 1973. Any rebuttal evidence by PE shall be served on or before June 28, 1973. Cross-examination of the evidence shall commence on July 17, 1973, at 10 a.m., e.d.t.

(G) The Secretary shall cause prompt publication of this order to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. E-7766]

PUBLIC SERVICE ELECTRIC &amp; GAS CO.

Order Permitting Proposed Rates To Become Effective and Initiating Investigation

MARCH 9, 1973.

On August 30, 1972, Public Service Electric & Gas Co. (PSE&G) tendered for filing proposed changes in its Electric Rate Schedules FPC Nos. 47, 48, and 49.<sup>1</sup> These proposed rates would constitute a revenue increase of approximately $785,238 based on a 1971 test year.

The notice of proposed increase, issued on September 12, 1972, provided that the closing date for petitions to intervene, protests, and comment would be September 29, 1972. However, on October 10, 1972, the borough of Milltown (Milltown), a municipal customer of PSE&G, filed a letter protesting the proposed rate increase and requesting intervention. By order issued October 30, 1972, we suspended the proposed increase 1 day, allowed Milltown to intervene in the proceeding and requested that the parties (Milltown and Staff) file offers of proof within thirty (30) days supporting their positions as to the necessity of an evidentiary hearing to assist the Commission in determining whether such a hearing is justified in this case. PSE&G was allowed 15 days from the filing of these pleadings to answer. Milltown, upon petition to the Commission, was allowed until December 11, 1972, to file its offer of proof, and PSE&G was allowed until December 27, 1972, to answer. Pleadings were filed by all the parties of record within the time specified.

Finally, on December 11, 1972, the borough of South River filed an untimely petition to intervene. Staff filed its offer of proof, consisting of two documents, on November 28 and 29, 1972, stating its position that the proposed increase is completely cost justified. Furthermore, staff states it does not intend to sponsor an evidentiary case in its own behalf. Staff's offer of proof showed an adjusted rate of return under Rate Schedule LPL-R (Milltown) of 5.51 percent compared to the company's figure of 5.30 percent. However, staff points out that certain of its downward adjustments to PSE&G's expenses, notably charitable contributions, may be found to be reasonable allowable expenses. On that basis, the rate of return shown in staff's offer of proof may be

Milltown's offer of proof does not dispute the cost justification of PSE&G's proposed increased rates, but rather attacks the proposed increase on the grounds it is discriminatory to Milltown. Milltown's allegations as to discrimination are as follows:

(1) Milltown's charge per kw.-hr. is greater than the charge of the other two customers served under Rate Schedule HTS-R, the other wholesale tariff proposed to be changed in this docket.

(2) Jersey Central Power & Light, another customer of PSE&G, is currently paying too low a rate and the losses alleged in PSE&G's filing are due to this low rate.

(3) The proposed rates produce a higher rate of return on service to Milltown under Rate Schedule LPL-R than on service under Rate Schedule HTS-R (applicable to Jersey Central Power & Light and the Borough of South River).

(4) PSE&G currently has a rate proceeding pending before the New Jersey Board of Public Utility Commissioners which amounts to lesser increase, percentage-wise, to retail customers than the percentage increase of this proposed increase to jurisdictional customers.

(5) PSE&G may be attempting to eliminate municipal distribution of electricity, or force Milltown to accept service at a higher voltage.

PSE&G's principal answer to the above allegations can be summarized by saying that comparisons with the Rate Schedule HTS-R are irrelevant because the services are completely different. Furthermore, PSE&G states that the allegations with regard to the percentage of the proposed increase in its retail rates are meaningless standing alone. Finally, PSE&G denies there is discrimination between its retail and jurisdictional rate structures.

We believe the proposed rates should be approved as filed without further proceedings and that the refund provision contained in our October 30, 1972, order should be lifted. Our review of the cost of service accompanying PSE&G's filing indicates that PSE&G has properly allocated costs including return to each class of wholesale service and the rates are properly designed to recover those allocated costs and produce no more than a just and reasonable return on both classes of service. Furthermore, although we do not here decide whether comparisons with retail service are relevant to a charge of discrimination, the bare allegations of Milltown, based on percentage of increases in pending dockets in different jurisdictions, do not convince us that a hearing is merited on the issue of discrimination. The rate of return shown in PSE&G's filing, as well as that shown in Staff's Offer of Proof, is well within the limits of reasonableness.

Finally, it should be noted that the Borough of South River on December 11, 1972, filed an untimely petition to intervene and also petitioned for leave to file an offer of proof. This petition is opposed in all respects by PSE&G. The Borough of South River (South River) alleges that PSE&G's sales to South River and Milltown have been "lumped" with sales to Jersey Central Power and Light in order to justify the proposed increase. PSE&G denies this allegation. Our analysis of PSE&G's filing shows us that PSE&G has provided an allocated cost of service for each class of service rather than "lumping" sales to different customers. While we will allow South River to intervene as a party in this proceeding, we will not further delay this proceeding for purposes of its filing an offer of proof. Furthermore, as we have found, our investigation of the data supporting the proposed rates assures us that they are just and reasonable. In view of our findings that the proposed rates are clearly just and reasonable, further delay would not be in the public interest.

Milltown, in its December 11, 1972, offer of proof, also seeks to challenge the general terms and conditions of PSE&G's rate schedules. Milltown's challenge is directed at the provisions in the existing rate schedules the substance of which PSE&G is not proposing to change in this proceeding. Specifically, Milltown objects to the 1-year term of the rate schedule and the 5-day notice of termination provision, to the inclusion of special provisions "c" and "d" in the schedule, and to the inclusion in the schedule of the following standard terms and conditions: paragraphs 3, 4, 8, 9, 12, 13, 14, 15, 21, and 29. Finally Milltown requests that the Federal Power Commission order PSE&G not to limit the amount of power Milltown can purchase at 4kV. Since Milltown is challenging existing provisions, we shall construe their offer of proof as it relates to the terms and conditions as a complaint for the initiation of an investigation under section 206 of the Federal Power Act and shall order such an investigation.

The Commission finds:
(1) The proposed rates, filed by PSE&G on August 2, 1972, are just and reasonable within the meaning of section 205 of the Federal Power Act and should be approved without further proceedings.

(2) Granting of the Borough of South River's petition to intervene may be in the public interest.

(3) The rate increase granted in this case has been reviewed in the light of the Economic Stabilization Act of 1970 as amended, Executive Order 11695, and the rules and regulations issued thereunder and is consistent therewith.

The Commission orders:

(A) The Borough of South River is hereby permitted to intervene in this proceeding subject to the rules and regulations of the Commission: Provided, however, That the participation of such intervenor shall be limited to matters affecting rights and interests specifically set forth in its petition to intervene and shall not further delay this proceeding; and, Provided further, That the admission of such intervenor shall not be construed as recognition by the Commission that it might be aggrieved because of any order or orders issued by the Commission in this proceeding.

(B) The request by the Borough of Milltown for an evidentiary hearing on the justness and reasonableness of the proposed rates and charges is denied.

(C) The proposed rate schedules tendered herein are accepted for filing to be effective as of November 1, 1972, without further refund liability.

(D) Milltown's challenge to the terms and conditions of PSE&G's Rate Schedule FPC No. 48 as hereinbefore specified is accepted as a complaint for an investigation under section 206 of the Federal Power Act.

(E) On or before April 6, 1973, Milltown shall file its prepared testimony and exhibits to support its position that the terms and conditions of Rate Schedule FPC No. 48 (LPL-R) are unjust or unreasonable. PSE&G shall file its direct testimony on or before April 20, 1973. Milltown shall file its rebuttal testimony and exhibits on May 2, 1973. Cross-examination of the testimony and exhibits of the parties shall commence on May 8, 1973, commencing at 10 a.m. e.d.t., in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street NW., Washington, DC 20426. Cross-examination shall take place before a Presiding Administrative Law Judge, to be designated by the Chief Administrative Law Judge (See Delegation of Authority 19 CFR 3.5(d)) for that purpose.

(F) The Secretary shall cause publication of this order to be made in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

By the Commission.

[Docket No. CP72-118]

SEA ROBIN PIPELINE CO.

Notice of Amendment to Application

MARCH 20, 1973.

Take notice that on March 12, 1973, Sea Robin Pipeline Co. (Applicant), Post Office Box 1407, Shreveport, LA 71158, filed in Docket No. CP72-118 an amendment to its application filed November 3, 1971, in said docket, pursuant to section 7(c) of the Natural Gas Act, providing for a contract demand level of 35,000 Mcf of gas per day for the transportation service proposed to be performed for Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., a Division of Tenneco Inc. (Tennessee), all as more fully set forth in the amendment which is on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The original application in this docket requests authorization, among other things, for Applicant to transport up to 102,000 Mcf of natural gas per day for Tennessee from various points offshore Louisiana to the terminus of Applicant's pipeline near Erath, Vermilion Parish, onshore Louisiana. The two companies entered into a transportation agreement, dated September 29, 1971, providing for the proposed service. On December 29, 1972, Applicant and Tennessee entered into a letter agreement reducing from 102,000 Mcf per day to 35,000 Mcf per day the maximum daily quantity of gas to be transported and the subject amendment reflects this reduction.

Any person desiring to be heard or to make any protest with reference to said amendment should on or before April 13, 1973, file with the Federal Power Commission, Washington, D.C. 20426, a petition to intervene or a protest in accordance with the requirements of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10). All protests filed with the Commission will be considered by it in determining the appropriate action to be taken but will not serve to make the protestants parties to the proceeding. Any person wishing to become a party to a proceeding or to participate as a party in any hearing therein must file a petition to intervene in accordance with the Commission's rules.

Secretary.

[Docket No. E-7711]

SOUTHWESTERN ELECTRIC POWER CO.

Order Providing for Hearing

MARCH 20, 1973.

On February 7, 1972, Southwestern Electric Power Co. (the Company) filed in this docket a notice of cancellation of its FPC Rate Schedule No. 56 under which it sells electric power to Tex-La Electric Cooperative, Inc. of Quitman, Tex., for resale to Tex-La's distribution cooperative members. After all participants agreed it was preferable to continue existing service arrangements, the Company filed rate schedule SPA/Tex-La/SWEPCO applicable to existing service arrangements. By order issued August 8, 1972, the Commission accepted this rate schedule for filing, the rates thereunder to be effective August 9, 1972, subject to refund. Tex-La objects to the new rate schedule, contending that service should continue under FPC Rate Schedule 56 because the Company had no right to cancel it. Staff and the Company say the contract cancellation is valid. This matter is before the Commission without an initial decision.

The Southwest Power Authority (SPA) sells to Tex-La 142 megawatts of power and 1,800 hours per kilowatt of energy. The entire output of Narrows Dam Project, about 25,000 kilowatts, is included in the sale; the remaining 117,000 kilowatts comes from other reservoir projects. The power and energy Tex-La buys from SPA is sold to the Company at no profit. The Company then resells power and energy to Tex-La.

The Company claimed the right to cancel the old rate agreement under section 5 of article VII, which provides:

SEC. 5. Review of compensation to the Company. The rates and terms and conditions of the compensation paid by Tex-La to the Company under section 4 of this article VII shall be reviewed at the time of receipt of notice from SPA under either section 4, article I, or section 5, article II, of the SPA contract, of any modification, amendment, or supersession of the then existing schedule of rates and compensation to be paid by

Tex-La in connection with the purchase by Tex-La from SPA of Narrows Dam power and energy and peaking power capacity and peaking energy upon written request of:

(1) The Company, if such modification, amendment, or supersession puts into effect an increase in the cost to Tex-La for such Narrows Dam power and energy or for such peaking capacity and peaking energy; and if, within 5 months after the receipt of such notice from SPA, Tex-La and the Company are unable to agree upon a new schedule of compensation to be paid by Tex-La to the Company for service rendered by the Company under this article VII, the Company may at its option terminate this agreement in its entirety upon written notice to Tex-La at any time within 1 year after the end of such review, such termination to be effective on the date specified by the Company, but not later than 36 months from the date of such notice.

There was no agreement upon a new schedule of compensation within 5 months. On August 5, 1971, President Pirkey of the Company wrote to President Nichols of Tex-La: "Pursuant to the terms of section 5 of article VII, you are hereby notified that [the Company] hereby exercises its option to terminate the agreement dated the 11th day of May 1960, . . . the effective date of such termination to be on the 29th day of February 1972."

Tex-La argues that the cancellation clause was intended to be used only to compensate the Company for the increased cost of purchases from Tex-La, and since Tex-La did not increase its rates to the Company when SPA rates were increased, Section 5 does not apply. Tex-La also introduced evidence that it was intended in the 1962 and 1963 amendments to the 1960 contract to obtain firm prices subject only to a revision to reflect increased SPA hydro costs, whereas the Company now seeks cancellation to obtain rate increases reflecting increased costs throughout its system, including thermal generation. Tex-La says it would never have approved, nor would the REA have approved, the contract amendments had they known of the Company's "present strained interpretation" of section 5, allowing immediate cancellation following a failure to agree on thermal rates . . . (Tex-La Brief, pages III-10-III-11)

Whatever the original reasons for section 5, the plain language of that section permits the Company to cancel under the circumstances here set forth. A hearing will be ordered as to the justness and reasonableness of the latest rate schedule.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority of the Federal Power Act, particularly sections 205, 206, 308, and 309 thereof, and the Commission's rules and regulations, a public hearing shall be held commencing with a prehearing conference on September 20, 1973, at 10 a.m. (e.d.t.), in a hearing room of the Federal Power Commission, 441 G Street, NW., Washington, DC 20426, concerning the lawfulness of the rates, charges, classifications, services and other provisions contained in Southwestern Electric Power Company's Rate Schedule SPA/Tex-La/SWEPCO.

NOTICES

(B) At the prehearing conference on September 20, 1973, Southwestern Electric Power Co.'s prepared testimony pertaining to the rate level issues, together with its rate filing relevant to those issues, shall be admitted to the record as Southwestern Electric Power Co.'s complete case-in-chief, subject to appropriate motions, if any, by parties to the proceeding. Any prepared testimony and exhibits of the Commission staff shall also be admitted to the record subject to appropriate motions. All parties shall be prepared to effectuate the provisions of § 1.18 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(C) On or before May 21, 1973, Southwestern Electric Power Co. shall file a complete cost of service presentation based upon 1972 calendar year data.

(D) On or before September 13, 1973, the Commission staff shall serve its prepared testimony if any and exhibits if any on the rate level issues. The prepared testimony if any and exhibits if any on those issues of any and all intervenors shall be served on or before September 27, 1973. Any rebuttal evidence by Southwestern Electric Power Co. shall be served on or before October 11, 1973. Cross-examination of all evidence relevant to the rate level issues shall commence October 29, 1973. The Presiding Administrative Law Judge, upon a showing of good cause, may grant such extensions of time as he deems appropriate.

(E) A Presiding Administrative Law Judge to be designated by the Chief Administrative Law Judge for that purpose (see Delegation of Authority, 18 CFR 3.5(d)), shall preside at the hearings in this proceeding, shall prescribe relevant procedural matters not herein provided, and shall control this proceeding in accordance with the policies expressed in § 1.18 of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

GENEVA INVESTMENT CO.

Formation of Bank Holding Company and Proposed Retention of Bixby Insurance Agency

Geneva Investment Co., Lincoln, Nebr., has applied for the Board's approval under section 3(a)(1) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(a)(1)) to become a bank holding company through acquisition of 94.67 percent or more of the voting shares of Fillmore County Bank, Geneva, Nebr. The factors that are considered in acting on the application are set forth in section 3(c) of the Act (12 U.S.C. 1842(c)).

Geneva Investment Co. has also applied, pursuant to section 4(c)(8) of the Bank Holding Company Act (12 U.S.C. 1843(c)(8)) and § 225.4(b)(2) of the Board's Regulation Y, for permission to retain the assets of Bixby Insurance Agency, Geneva, Nebr. Notice of the application was published on December 7, 1972, in the Nebraska Signal, a newspaper circulated in Geneva, Nebr.

Applicant states that the proposed subsidiary would engage in the activities of a general insurance agency in a community of less than 5,000 people. Such activities have been specified by the Board in § 225.4(a) of Regulation Y as permissible for bank holding companies, subject to Board approval of individual proposals in accordance with the procedures of § 225.4(b).

Interested persons may express their views on the question whether consummation of the proposal can "reasonably be expected to produce benefits to the public, such as greater convenience, increased competition, or gains in efficiency, that outweigh possible adverse effects, such as undue concentration of resources, decreased or unfair competition, conflicts of interests, or unsound banking practices." Any request for a hearing on this question should be accompanied by a statement summarizing the evidence the person requesting the hearing proposes to submit or to elicit at the hearing and a statement of the reasons why this matter should not be resolved without a hearing.

The application may be inspected at the offices of the Board of Governors or at the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City.

Any views or requests for hearing should be submitted in writing and received by the Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551, not later than April 16, 1973.

Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, March 19, 1973.

GULF POWER CO.

Notice of Proposed Issue and Sale of First Mortgage Bonds at Competitive Bidding

Notice is hereby given that Gulf Power Co., 75 North Pace Boulevard, Pensacola, FL 32502 (Gulf), an electric utility subsidiary company of the Southern Co. (Southern), a registered holding company, has filed a declaration with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (Act), designating sections 6(a) and 7 of the Act and Rule 50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transaction. All interested persons are referred to the declaration, which is summarized below, for a complete statement of the proposed transaction.

Gulf proposes to issue and sell, subject to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule 50 under the Act, $25 million principal amount of First Mortgage Bonds. ----- Percent Series due

The proposed series of bonds will bear a single maturity date within the range of 5 to 30 years, such maturity date to be determined prior to the filing of the registration statement relating to the bonds. The interest rate (which will be a multiple of one-eighth of 1 percent) and the price, exclusive of accrued interest, to be paid to Gulf (which will be not less than 99 percent nor more than 102½ percent of the principal amount thereof) will be determined by the competitive bidding. The bonds will be issued under the provisions of the Indenture dated as of September 1, 1941, between Gulf and the Chase Manhattan Bank (National Association) and the Citizens & Peoples National Bank of Pensacola, as trustees, as heretofore supplemented and as to be further supplemented by a supplemental indenture to be dated as of May 1, 1973. It is provided that the bonds will not be refunded prior to May 1, 1978, directly or indirectly, with funds borrowed at a lower effective interest cost.

The net proceeds received from the issue and sale of the bonds, together with $6 million in equity funds from Southern and any excess cash on hand, will be used by Gulf (1) to finance, in part, its 1973 construction program estimated at $40,750,000, (2) to pay outstanding short-term notes incurred for construction purposes (of which it is estimated $22,300,000, will be outstanding at the time of the sale of the new bonds), and (3) for other lawful purposes. Gulf estimates that it will not be necessary to sell any additional securities in 1973 for construction purposes except for short-term notes estimated to be outstanding in the amount of $9,500,000 on December 31, 1973.

The Florida Public Service Commission has authorized the proposed issue and sale of the bonds. It is stated that no other State commission and no Federal commission, other than this Commission, has jurisdiction over the proposed transaction. The fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transaction will be supplied by amendment.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than April 16, 1973, request in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert; or he may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, Washington, D.C. 20549. A copy of such request should be served personally or by mail (airmail if the person being served is located more than 500 miles from the point of mailing) upon the declarant at the above-stated address, and proof of service (by affidavit or, in case of an attorney at law, by certificate) should be filed with the request. At any time after said date, the declaration, as filed or as it may be amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule 23 of the general rules and regulations promulgated under the Act, or the Commission may grant exemption from such rules as provided in Rules 20(a) and 100 thereof or take such other action as it may deem appropriate. Persons who request a hearing or advice as to whether a hearing is ordered will receive notice of further developments in this matter, including the date of the hearing (if ordered) and any postponements thereof.

For the Commission, by the Division of Corporate Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.

Secretary.

ADVISORY COUNCIL ON EMPLOYEE WELFARE AND PENSION BENEFIT PLANS

Recommendations for Appointment

Section 14 of the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act Amendments of 1962 (76 Stat. 40, 41, 29 U.S.C. 308e) provides for the establishment of an "Advisory Council on Employee Welfare and Pension Benefit Plans" which is to consist of 13 members to be appointed as follows: One from the insurance field, one from the corporate trust field, two from management, four from labor, and two from other interested groups, all of whom are to be appointed by the Secretary from among persons recommended by organizations in the respective groups. The additional three representatives are to be appointed from the general public by the Secretary. The prescribed duties of the Council are to advise the Secretary with respect to the carrying out of his functions under the Welfare and Pension Plans Disclosure Act, as amended, and to submit to the Secretary recommendations with respect thereto. The Council is required to meet at least twice each year and at such other times as the Secretary requests.

NOTICES

To assure continuity in the handling of the business of the Council, a rotation system is provided whereby the 2-year terms of approximately half the members expire each year. The groups represented by the members whose terms expire on June 30, 1973, are as follows: Labor (2), the insurance field (1), management (1), the public (1), and other interested groups (1). Appointments of new members will be for terms beginning July 1, 1973.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given that any organization desiring to recommend persons for appointment to the "Advisory Council on Employee Welfare and Pension Benefit Plans" may submit recommendations to the Secretary of Labor, 14th and Constitution Avenue NW., Washington, D.C. 20210, on or before June 1, 1973. The recommendation should be in the form of a letter, resolution, or petition, signed by an authorized official of the organization. Each recommendation shall identify the candidate by name, occupation, or position, and address. It shall specify the field or group which he would represent for purposes of section 14 of the Act, and whether he is available and would accept.

Signed at Washington, D.C., this 21st day of March 1973.

ARCHER DANIELS MIDLAND CO.

Demurrage and Free Time on Freight Cars

Order. At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, acting as an appellate division, held at its office in Washington, D.C., on the 15th day of March 1973.

Upon consideration of the petition filed by the Archer Daniels Midland Co. on March 15, 1973, requesting revision of Service Order No. 1124.

It appearing, that Service Order No. 1124 was issued by Division 3 in accordance with applicable law and upon its determination that an emergency exists because of an acute shortage of freight cars in all sections of the country; that the petitioner has had ample opportunity to review its operations to avoid the excessive detention of freight cars; that numerous cars are held idle for excessive periods awaiting loading or unloading; that the petition seeks to insert the element of car hire into a proceeding relating only to detention of cars by shippers; that, however, such proposal is not of an emergency nature, and, therefore, its consideration is inappropriate herein; and that the petition states no errors of fact or law warranting the relief sought, and for good cause appearing;

It is ordered, That the petition be, and it is hereby, denied.

By the Commission, Division 3, acting as an appellate division.
